Morley's Philatelic Journal.

A Monthly Paper for Collectors of Postage, Revenue, Telegraph, and Railway Stamps.

Vol. I. JANUARY, 1900. No. 1.

Publisher's Introduction.

ON the occasion of the suspension of The Fiscal Philatelist—the joint property of Mr. F. G. C. Lundy and myself—a promise was given that the work commenced in this country by the publication of that journal should be again resumed as soon as circumstances should permit.

During that interval the fiscal movement has made steadily satisfactory progress, and the request for the resuscitation of the late lamented has been heard more and more frequently. For a variety of reasons, it has not been found practicable to comply with this particular demand; and, indeed, I am not sure that as yet a purely fiscal journal could be made self-supporting. I have, however, decided to so far meet the requirements of a very large number of my correspondents as to make another journalistic venture, in which the claims of all classes of philatelists will receive due recognition; and, inasmuch as the needs of the collectors of fiscal and telegraph stamps are the most pressing, the greatest consideration will be shown to them.

On this account I know that great satisfaction will be felt by the large number who are already acquainted with our Editor, when they learn that the sole control of the literary departments of this paper will be vested in Mr. A. Preston Pearce. Since the—it is hoped, but temporary—retirement of Mr. Lundy, Mr. Pearce has borne the brunt of the fiscal propaganda in this country, and to his persistent efforts in the periodical press of England and of America, combined with his unfailing readiness to assist those requiring information or guidance, much of the substantial progress made by the Fiscal Cause in English speaking countries is due.

I have little else to say other than that I guarantee to produce twelve monthly issues of this paper during the year 1900, and that its continuance will depend upon the amount of interest shown in the venture, as indicated not only by the length of the subscription roll, but also by the amount and character of the support given to the Editor by Subscribers.

I leave Mr. Pearce to further expound the policy of this new periodical, and in the hope that the enterprise will favourably commend itself to the notice of our readers and earn due appreciation,

I beg to subscribe myself,

Yours respectfully,

WALTER MORLEY.

THE 4d., VERMILION, CIRCULAR ENVELOPE STAMP.

A Discovery (?)

THE manufacture of four dies of this stamp has long been known: Westoby's The Postage Stamps of the United Kingdom, (1891) p. 62., giving the dates of their registration as follows:—"Dies 2 and 4 were registered 12.11.55; 'and dies 1 and 3, 26.9.89, of which die 1 is that in use at present, 1890. xxxx." In Ewen's Priced Catalogue, No. 6., 1898, the information is added that "Die 3 has not yet been brought into use." This statement appears to be quite correct so far as its employment for home use is concerned; but on examining a number of copies of this stamp there appeared an impression on a provisional Registered envelope of British Bechuanaland that failed to correspond to the "distinguishing marks" of dies 1, 2, or 4. The envelope altogether presents some peculiarities, which perhaps deserve note. The Postage Stamps etc., of Africa of the Philatelic Society, London, (1895, p. 16. Issue vii. 1889) gives the 3 sizes of this provisional envelope: G., H., and K., and remarks that "Sizes G and H are 'found dated 28.2.89, and K dated 1.3.89." (The die is 4 in all these cases.) Two of these envelopes, size G, however, were found to be dated 28.4.90, and they bear the "non-conforming" stamp which can only be die 3. One envelope is unused, the other used (post-marked "Vryburg SP 26 92), and in a good light, a good microscope properly adjusted enables one to clearly distinguish the no. 3, on the unused one. The number is not distinguishable on the used copy, but the stamp agrees in other respects with the undoubted specimen.

It may be that privately printed stationery of approximate dates may bear impressions of this die, but no result has as yet rewarded such search as has been made.

The First American Stamp Duties.

A Remarkable Find.

THE subject of the materia philatelica provided in the latter half of the last century by order of the British Government for use in the British Possessions in North America possesses attractions of an unusually high order. The little bits of fiscal paper with the legend "America" are so pregnant with historical associations, and so provocative of imaginative fancies, that it is not at all surprising that the few fortunate owners of these treasures should assign to them the highest place as regards intensity of interest.

Conceived by the Stamp Act passed by the English Parliament in February, 1765, the birthday appointed to be Nov. 1st., in the same year, and the actual date of burial by repeal being March, 1766, the span of life of these interesting labels was curiously short considering the momentous events of which they were the exciting causes. It is true that, as will shortly be seen, they did not immediately precede the great revolution; but they essentially embodied the iniquitous claim of the ruling power to tax its unrepresented subjects, and the successful opposition to their employment gave birth to that unity of sentiment, co-operation of effort, and consciousness of strength that found such sublime expression ten years later in the great Declaration of Independence.

The stamps and stamped paper called into existence by the Act of 1765 were chiefly intended for use in connection with transfers of real estate, inheritances, suits at law, commercial transactions, publications, and the issue of marriage licences; but so vigorous was the opposition of the incensed colonists, and so eminently practical their method of displaying disapprobation, that it was credibly reported that on the day when the Act should have gone into operation not a stamp nor a revenue officer could be found in the country.

Frustrated in their first attempt to introduce a Stamp Act to an unwilling people, the Ministers of King George the Third devised another scheme whereby this blessing should be conferred upon these distant subjects, and their own depleted treasury be replenished. The Bill passed in May, 1767, attacked the imports by imposing stamp duties on all glass, paper, painters' colours, lead, and tea brought into the colonies; but once more the aims of the promoters failed, for the voluntary abstention from the use of these articles on the part of the colonists rendered the duties so unproductive that, in 1770, all were remitted with the exception of the tax on tea, which was bringing in some £300 per annum.

What followed is too well known to bear extended notice. The loyal adherents to the best traditions of their race felt that the principle involved was too vital for their opposition to be stemmed by any mere concessions, and the famous scene in Boston harbour, on Dec. 16th., 1773, showed the temper of the men who rose in righteous rebellion when the punitive Act closing the port of Boston was promulgated.

Mais revenons à nos moutons, for we, like sheep, have gone astray, having set out with the intention of describing a most important discovery recently made in connection with these early revenue stamps, though too readily beguiled into one of those pleasant philatelic byways beloved of the historian.

It has recently been our good fortune to inspect a portion of a proof sheet from one of the two plates engraved for the fourpence "Almanac Duty," which, with the "Newspaper Duty," came under the heading of "publications" in the Stamp Act of 1765. The part of the sheet preserved is the lower portion, which contains beneath the rows of impressions the following form of receipt in the handwriting of Mr. Thos. Major, at that time the Chief Engraver of the Seal:—

"Received of Thos. Major, Engraver, two engraved copper plates for the America 'Almanac 4d. Duty Stamps, one numbered 151 to 175, and the other 176 to 200, 'and of which this sheet bears the impressions."

Then the following words and initials:—

"Approved by Commissioners 24th May, 1765.

J.B.
G.C.
W.J.T.
W.A.
W.M."

One of the stamps cut from the sheet lies before us as we write, and may be briefly described as a representation of the well-known Insignia of Royalty—the crossed sword and sceptre bearing an imposed cross set in a star on a solid crowned circle. Above, in a curved line, is the word AMERICA, in small capitals, and reading from left to right, between the hilts and points of the sword and sceptre, are the words DUTY—FOUR—PENCE in the same type; below all, appears the control number. This proof impression is in dark red—the colour actually employed for the stamps.

The great value of this discovery lies in the flood of light shed upon the vexed question of the significance of the numbers found beneath the early Almanac and Newspaper Tax stamps of Great Britain and of Ireland. This matter is too important to be introduced at the close of an article, but it is not too much to say that this proof sheet of the American Almanac Duty stamps will be our Rosetta Stone, by the aid of which the mysterious symbols above referred to will be made to disclose their purpose.

Discovery of an Unchronicled Franked Message Form,

ISSUED BY

The Electric Telegraph Company.

(GREAT BRITAIN.)

SOME two years ago I acquired a form, bearing a specimen adhesive, announcing that stamps for the prepayment of messages over the Electric Telegraph Company's routes would come into use on June 1st., 1854. The stamps are without indication of value, but the information contained in this circular supplied the deficiency.

It had previously been held that these adhesives were issued in 1851 or 1852, and The Postage and Telegraph Stamps of Great Britain, by Philbrick and Westoby, to which one always refers for information respecting these private telegraphs, gives the date of issue as late in the former or early in the latter year. The same work gives particulars of a 1s., franked message form issued in 1851, "which continued 'in use till the 1s., rate was raised in 1853 to 1s. 6d." No mention is made of any other form, and, until recently, this was about the whole extent of our knowledge respecting the early issues of this Company.

The form I have now been fortunate enough to obtain, and which I am about to fully describe, evidently came into use in 1853, on the occasion of the increase in the rate just mentioned, and for reasons that will be made clear it can only have discharged its functions for a very short time. It is similar in size and colour to the 1s., form of 1851, described by Messrs. Philbrick and Westoby, but is of the value of 1s. 6d. It measures $7\frac{1}{4}$ x $8\frac{3}{4}$ inches, and is of pink paper watermarked with the name of the company in double-lined capitals. The following inscriptions on both front and back are type-printed in black.

On the face :—

The Electric Telegraph Company.
Franked Message Paper. No. A 5450
Price one shilling and sixpence. 185

This sheet franks a message, the charge for which corresponds with the above amount.

The initials of J.L.R., (the Manager) and of J.S.F., (the Secretary) are at the sides in script letters, and the seal of the company appears in blue.

On the back :—

The charges for messages are as under :—

	s.	d.
Within a circuit of 50 miles	1	6
Beyond 50 miles and within a circuit of 100 miles ...	2	0
„ 100 „ „ „ 150 „ ...	3	0
„ 150	4	0

If the message exceeds 20 words, an extra charge of one half the above rates will be made for each ten words or fraction of ten words additional—or a charge of 3d. per word at the option of the party sending the message.

The circular referred to at the commencement of this article (issued in first half of 1854) gives the rate for the 50 mile circuit as 1s., the next charge being 2s. 6d., and, therefore, as it contains no mention of any reduction, it is evident that this newly discovered value must have been rendered unnecessary by some previously issued regulation.

It is also practically certain that similar forms costing 2s., 3s., and 4s., each, were issued, and I should be glad to have early information of the discovery should one of them be unearthed.

A full description of the official circular referred to, giving particulars and date of issue of the adhesive stamps, appeared in Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal for September 1898.

EDITORIAL.

IT is usually incumbent upon the Editor to endeavour to set matters right at the commencement, either by a laborious effort in the direction of proving that he is about to supply "a long felt want," or by a frank confession that he has no excuse to offer for his intrusion into the crowded area of journalism.

The latter method possesses the decided advantage of enlisting the sympathy of a considerable portion of the readers—though too frequently securing the hearty assent of all of them—whereas the former may, perchance, arouse an argumentative spirit, and draw a withering fire from the captious critics.

In the present case, however, that risk must be run, for the Publisher's preliminary announcement, in calling attention to the forthcoming appearance of a monthly philatelic journal, of novel character, intended to be of service to collectors of postage, revenue, telegraph, and railway stamps, unhesitatingly affirms that "the 'ever increasing number of those who are devot-'ing their attention to these last three sections 'renders it highly necessary that a periodical 'publication should be available for the purposes 'of recording discoveries, of disseminating infor-'mation, and of providing a common ground on 'which collectors may meet for the interchange 'of ideas and the discussion of matters pertaining 'to their hobby."

The raison d'être of the venture is here expounded, and will, it is thought, be deemed a sound one. The earliest opportunity must, however, be taken of correcting the impression that may have been made on the minds of others, as well as on that of friend *H. L. Ewen, to the effect that MORLEY'S PHILATELIC JOURNAL is to be devoted to the interests of collectors of fiscal and telegraph stamps only. The prospectus already cited goes on to say that "articles on 'Postage Stamps embodying the fruits of personal 'research will be a salient feature of the enter-'prise, and interesting items for this department 'conveying special information will be gladly 'published."

This issue will suffice to show that the claims of all four sections of philatelists for whom it is intended to cater have been duly regarded; and though it is true that the greater necessities of some will call for proportionately greater consideration, it is hoped and believed that a goodly number of communications of real service to the largest division of the philatelic world will be presented through the pages of "M.P.J."

Our intention is to conduct this journal on quiet and unobtrusive lines. We propose, therefore, to eschew all sensationalisms, all philatelic gossip, and, particularly, all personal controversies. We have a fair field open before us with much ground ready for tilling and some fruit ripe for harvest, and we mean to employ our energies in honest, and, so far as may be, in productive service.

To this end we cordially invite the hearty co-operation (which may be read as the practical assistance) of all true philatelists.

We are not in a position to make very definite announcements with regard to the features to be introduced in subsequent numbers, for this issue has had to be prepared so hurriedly that some of those writers on whose good and acceptable offices we can confidently rely are not yet aware that the production of such a journal has been under consideration. Promises of contributions have, however, been received from several prominent philatelists, and we expect to be able to give some interesting particulars next month.

An article on the perforations of some recent New Zealand postage stamps is in print but has had to be held over.

* * * *

Speaking now on behalf and in the name of the English reading collectors of revenue stamps, it seems to us that this is the most fitting place and moment in which to proffer our warm thanks for favours tendered and received. The action of our Publisher in placing the sole control of this sadly-needed organ of communication in the hands of a collector, who has not the slightest connection with his business, is highly creditable, and deserves a liberal manifestation of appreciation directed through the channels indicated by him in his introductory statement.

We are also happy to seize this early opportunity of reiterating our expressions of obligation to the Proprietor of Stamps, who, during the past two years, has done much to mitigate the awkwardness of our position since the suspension of The Fiscal Philatelist.

* * * *

A circular, with a request for publication, issued by the Committee of a "Philatelists' War Relief Fund" from Effingham House, Arundel Street, Strand, W.C., has been received by us after all copy had been set up, and we can only cut out sufficient to say that gifts of stamps to be sold by auction for the benefit of the Fund should be forwarded at once to the Hon. Secs.

*Reference is here made to the notice appearing in the Christmas Number of Ewen's Weekly Stamp News, to hand on the day of writing.

RAILWAY LETTER STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN.

ALTHOUGH the Railway Letter Fee Stamp (as the Post Office phrase runs) has been with us nearly nine years, there are many people who have not yet heard of it, and even collectors at large know little about it, and display remarkable ignorance concerning the subject.

Nevertheless, there are a few enthusiasts in this particular department, and so the cult of the Railway Letter Stamp proceeds, if slowly. It seems curious though that those who collect them do not, as a rule, keep used specimens, which indeed they affect to despise and to look down upon. Granted that unused are prettier, clearer, and more difficult to obtain owing to the action of the Companies in refusing to sell them, it must needs be admitted that the used copies are more interesting, especially when on the original envelopes.

As the majority of the Companies issue the stamps in sheets of twelve, it adds greatly to the interest and general appearance of the collection if complete sheets are included whenever possible. If this cannot be done, blocks of four are the best substitutes, and are certainly more manageable than the larger sheets containing some sixty stamps.

Although at first objecting from the philatelic standpoint to the use of control numbers, I have had to recognize their utility in certain ways, for by their aid various printings and issues are more clearly and easily defined. An excellent plan is to collect one out of each thousand issued by the larger Companies, and one out of each hundred printed by the smaller ones; by this means a complete and representative collection may be got together. Such a task will afford ample scope for perseverance, for the numbers of the *N.E., are already above 144,000, the *L. & N.W., 127,000, and the Midland 95,000.

Unused stamps of the early issues are practically unobtainable, and most of the used ones are extremely scarce, so I would advise all would-be collectors to start as early as possible, and to procure duplicates in each thousand when they are offered at a cheap rate, as they will be able to exchange them with other collectors for those of which they are in need.

The new issue of the *S.E., and C. & D., looks neat, and is in a nice shade of green, but it is not equal to the first, or Bemrose, issue of the *S.E., nor to the fine large stamp of the *L.C. & D., with its broad margins. As the old *S.E., and *L.C. & D., stamps are sold out, their places are taken by the new stamps, so collectors may be admonished to secure the parent issues while they can.

G. W. J. POTTER.

*For the benefit of readers abroad who are not likely to be familiar with our railway system it may be advisable to give these names in extenso:—

N.E.—North Eastern.
L. & N.W.—London and North Western.
S.E.—South Eastern.
L.C. & D.—London, Chatham, and Dover.
S.E., and C. & D.—South Eastern, and London, Chatham and Dover. (Amalgamated, 1899.) [Ed.]

RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS.

By "K."

AMIDST the crowd of various kinds of labels, postal, fiscal, and otherwise, that are included in the comprehensive term philately, it is extraordinary how little attention has so far been paid by collectors in this country to the parcel stamps issued by the large railway companies for the conveyance of goods over, may be, hundreds of miles of line, to which system we owe our morning newspaper, our milk and butter very often, and in short, nearly every species of article that is too large or too perishable to entrust to the ordinary machinery of the post office.

I would not, of course, place railway stamps in point of interest above the genuine postal issues of Great Britain and her chief colonies, the United States, and the larger European powers; but I regard them as genuine English locals, and, as such they should be collected by every patriotic philatelist in preference to much of the rubbish annually turned out by the French and Portuguese colonies, and South American republics, to take one or two examples, not to mention such "stamps" (?) as Commemorative and Jubilee issues, speculative surcharges, and Russian and Scandinavian locals, though all these classes of label have, probably, a score of advocates for every one who has so far tried to explore the almost unknown, and therefore far more interesting region of Railway Stamps.

I am glad to see that Railway Letter Fee Stamps are at last, by general opinion, assigned a place among collectable varieties, but Railway parcel and newspaper stamps still languish unsought and unobserved in the collections of school boys, or lie with the waste paper under railway bookstalls. This I attribute to three causes—

1. The great rarity of many of the early varieties.
2. The bewildering array of minor varieties, that at once discourages any attempt made to over-specialise in these stamps.
3. The lack of any reliable descriptive catalogue or list of these stamps, and in consequence the very little that is known about them by collectors or dealers.

LETTERS coming from the seat of War are prepaid with English, Natal, and Cape stamps cancelled "Field Post-Office—British Army. S. Africa" in a double-lined circle. A specimen of the postmark on a Service envelope, submitted by our Publisher, exhibits in centre "4—NO 19—99." The varieties are likely to be much sought after, and we shall be glad to have further information concerning them.

FISCAL TELEGRAPHS, AND TELEGRAPHIC FISCALS.

THERE are a few stamps, which, though bearing the legend "Telegraph," are in all catalogues classed as fiscals. This apparent contradiction is explained by the fact that, after the Civil War, the United States of America levied a tax upon all telegraphic messages, viz., one cent for all messages of 20 words, and three cents upon messages above 20 words. As the telegraphic service in the United States is entirely conducted by private companies, such taxes could not be amalgamated with the telegraph charges, but had to be paid separately by means of the well known U.S. Inter. Rev., stamps with the legend "Telegraph." Later on these taxes seem to have been abandoned*, but a fresh war tax of one cent has been put upon all telegrams since July 1st, 1898, when the Cuban War had emptied Uncle Sam's treasury.

Spain was not loath to follow such good example. After the Carlist War, as well as after the struggle with the United States, telegrams were burdened with an extra duty "Impuesto de Guerra" or "Recargo," amounting to five centimos de peseta and defrayed by the well-known stamps.

A third country not abounding with superfluous money, Mexico to wit, has had recourse to the taxing of the telegraphic correspondence by levying one centavo upon each message, to be paid by the stamps "Documentos y Libros." It may be that some other countries have followed suit, but I am not aware of any other having done so.

Now the question arises as to the standing of such stamps. Certainly they are fiscals, but, on on the other hand, they form an indispensible part of the franking of the telegrams, and, therefore, can also be recognised as telegraph stamps.

On another page comes the provisional use of fiscal stamps instead of telegraph stamps, which has taken place in Cuba, on two occasions, and in the Philippines. But in these cases there can be no doubt that the fiscals were for some time acknowledged as real telegraph stamps.

Fiscal stamps with a special surcharge indicating their use for telegraph purposes, like those issued in India, Ceylon and the Philippines, are certainly nothing but simple telegraph stamps and are free of any fiscal flavour.

REVIEW.

AN HISTORICAL REFERENCE LIST OF THE REVENUE STAMPS OF THE UNITED STATES, INCLUDING THE

PRIVATE DIE PROPRIETARY STAMPS.

Published by the BOSTON (U.S.A.) PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

(Royal Octavo, pp. 423. Price $3 in paper covers.)

IN view of the stupendous character of this great compilation we formed the intention of presenting in this issue an analysis and review commensurate with its importance; but, unfortunately, the demands upon our space, occasioned in great measure by the exigencies of a first number, will not now permit of our giving more than a brief synopsis of its contents, and our meed of praise and of disapproval, our amazement at the wealth of new and intensely interesting information, and our surprise at the non-inclusion of certain absolutely concomitant matter, must be reserved for the succeeding number.

There are, however, two words, that would properly come at the close of our remarks, that we will interpolate here for the sake of those of our readers who may be disposed to accept our advice in this matter, and they are Procure it. Our publisher can either supply it at once, or with the least delay, and we can confidently assert that every one who is interested in the fiscals of the United States will be glad to possess this magnificent work.

Starting with transcripts of certain contracts relating to the manufacture of the stamps, chapters on paper, perforation, color, Government regulations, general notes, and counterfeits, lead up to the individual consideration of every stamp of the first issue. The general notes contain, inter alia, a number of tables, one of which shows the exact date of the first delivery of each stamp to the Government, and several others are of great utility. When dealing with each stamp in turn, the compilers give the date of first printing and of first delivery, the plate nos., the number of stamps per sheet, an exhaustive description, the total number issued, and, in most cases, some valuable notes.

In the general notes preceding the consideration of the second issue will be found a detailed description of the process of printing the bi-coloured stamps; and the plan adopted in connection with the stamps of the first issue is followed out when dealing with those of all the others, including proprietaries, and the series of 1898.

Considerably more than half of the work is devoted to the private proprietaries, in which an even fuller array of statistical information is appended to the description of each stamp, and the interesting notes become more profuse.

An exhaustive reference list of a most ambitious character concludes the volume.

Belgium. In the new type for telegraphs there has appeared the 10 cents, lilac (L'Ami.).

Ceylon. Telegraphs. Type of 1892. 5 cents, magenta, 1.4.97 (H. Thompson); 25 cents, deep blue, cancelled (? dated) 1.12.97 (Le Timbre Poste).

Cuba. Giro. (Bills.) Mr. A. M. South has made a rather important discovery, which, if followed up, should throw some light on the unsettled condition of the early Giros of this region. He has shown us, firmly attached to a piece of the original bill, a stamp of a type hitherto supposed to have been confined to the class of non-adhesives. In a double circle, set in an ornamental frame and inscribed with the "range," appears the embossed head of Queen Isabella to the left, surrounded by the inscription in very small capitals ISAB. 2A. P.L.G.D.D.VI.C. REINA DE LAS ESP. also embossed. The title is at the top and the value at the bottom in white capitals on a blue-lined ground, the whole being enclosed in a double-lined upright rectangular frame measuring 40 x 22 mm., and not perforated. The value is 1esc. 50cs., and the cancellation—HABANA. DIC. 7 1869.

On looking through our collection of non-adhesives we find four stamps of this type and colour printed on various papers, but none of them have been attached to documents. However, on pursuing the subject we have discovered four other varieties of the same type, with the substitution of embossed arms for the head and inscription, and the addition of a date—1870—printed in lilac-brown, all of which have undoubtedly served as adhesives. The values are: 75 centimos; 1esc. 50cs.; 3 escudos; 15 escudos. The first is cancelled 15/9/70, the third, Habana—1870, and the fourth (which still carries a portion of the bill) Enero 31/871.

Great Britain. Life Policy. The catalogue list of values with wmk., foul anchors, single line stock, ends at 5s., but we have just unearthed a couple of specimens of each of the two higher ones:

10s., and 20s., dull red, on blue paper.

The 20s., stamps display the watermark inverted.

Patent. We have received from Mr. H. O. Wells a piece of an original document bearing three Patent stamps, of which the uppermost is the 5s., non-adhesive, die A, cut from a blue form, roughly trimmed to shape and pasted on. Partly overlapping it is the ordinary hexagonal 1s., adhesive of the period, and below this a 4d., adhesive. The dates are, respectively, 18.5.63, 19.2.63, and 13.8.62. The two adhesives are in deep blue, and are unwatermarked. The ordinary cancellation, "Patent Office Great Seal," comes fairly across each stamp, and extends on both sides to the document.

Public Records. Mr. A. White has found the 5s., rose, die G. It is dated 7.4.69.

Holland. We have received from Mr. Ig. Mayr the current 25 cents showing a new perforation—12½ by 12. All the stamps of this issue previously seen have been perforated either 11½, 11½ by 14, or 14 by 11½.

India. Notarial. Overprinted downwards in large block caps, 34½ by 6 mm., on the first issue Foreign Bill:

1 rupee, rose and green, die A, o'p't vermilion. The date of the original stamp is 22.11.60, and it is submitted by Mr. A. M. South.

Telegraphs.* The 2r. 8a., stamp will soon be a thing of the past—the present stock is being used up as fast as possible. A new 2r., stamp is shortly expected to take its place (P. J., of India).

Mauritius. Bills. Mr. H. Thompson has shown us the 3r. 35c., in slate; and the same colour has been adopted for the current 15 cents of the Internal Revenue set forward by Mr. K. Peerbhoy.

Mysore. Receipts. Mr. E. W. Wetherell informs us that these stamps are now watermarked "1898" instead of "Court Fee."

New Zealand. Mr. A. Hamilton is to be credited with the discovery that the 10s. Law Courts was changed a good many years ago from bistre to a reddish-brown, the value remaining in blue.

Straits Settlements. We have seen three more varieties perforated 12½:

Foreign Bill. 4½ dollars (H. Thompson).

Judicial. 25 cents, yellow-brown and deep violet, wmk., crown and CA, cancelled 28/4/74 (G. Gilbert).

Marine Policies. 36 cents (W. Morley).

Trinidad. Fee. We recently saw this overprint on the 3d., Surcharge Postage, black, in Mr. A. B. Kay's collection.

United States. Mekeel's Weekly publishes a letter from the U.S. Treasury Department stating that the current war revenues will soon be issued perforated.

"DISCOVERIES."—An excellent suggestion.

MR. R. Tyeth Stevens in writing to congratulate us upon the first appearance of our Journal, says :—" You seem to have made a good start, particularly 'in the way of recording some new things, both Postal, Fiscal, and 'Telegraphic, and, although not a keen collector of envelope stamps, I 'have read with much interest, the account of Mr. Firth's discovery of the variety 'of the G.B. 4d. Vermilion Circular Envelope Stamp.

'Why not make an effort to continue your "Discovery" list, and let it become 'a feature of your paper? I think you would find it to be of much interest to 'Philatelists generally, and (if all combined to "shove it along") there is doubtless 'a sufficiency of information of this kind to fill a page of your Journal each month.

'To practice what I preach, I append notes of one or two stamps I have found, 'that are not (I believe) as yet recorded :—

VICTORIA. 1862 issue. 3d., pale blue. Error of watermark reading TRЯEE instead of THREE. (The R after the T is very distinct, but the next letter looks like a reversed "R" though it may be only a damaged "H," the maker of that particular "bit" having simply mis-spelt the word THREE by putting the R before the H.)

ICELAND. 1873 issue. 8 Skill. Brown. Variety of perforation. 12½ top, bottom and left side, by 13½ on right side. (I am not a Collector of Europeans but I cannot find any record of this compound perf., and none of my friends, to whom I have spoken, know of it.)

TUSCANY. 1851 issue. 9 crazie, brown-purple, on blue paper. Variety, no watermark. (I know that these stamps have been reprinted on a no watermark paper, but there is no question as to this stamp being an original, because I removed it myself from the letter on which it was used.)

"If you think the foregoing worth publishing, I should be glad if you will kindly 'append a note, asking any of your readers, who may take an interest in these 'stamps, to let me know either direct, or through your columns, whether they 'possess similar stamps, or have heard of them before."

* * * * *

Mr. Stevens' welcome letter did not arrive until after our number had been made up, but we gladly insert it in the place of the matter intended for this page, and have published it almost in its entirety, as we do not see how we could well improve matters by re-writing it.

Accounts of discoveries being always read with especial interest, the suggestion made is undoubtedly one of true philatelic value, and we shall be only too pleased if our readers will adopt it.

[Ed.]

The Perforations of the New Zealand, 1898 (London Printed), Pictorial Issue.

WE shall soon require an "Anti-mal-perforation Society," though, perhaps, the most effective plan would be for Philatelists to buy up the particular Perforating machines that are now boring us with their productions. These remarks are wrung from me after laboriously measuring the perfs., of my stock of Niger Coast, and of a few other countries, and I unexpectedly find the same trouble in connection with this New Zealand set.

Messrs. Stanley Gibbons' catalogue gives the measurements for this issue as "perf. 12 to 14, 14 and 15," but after careful measurement of a large number of used specimens I find the following perfs., and will give a list of the different values found with each. Perf. 15 seems to be the most general one, and all values except the 9d., and 5/- are found with it.

Perf. 16 ... 2d., 9d.
,, 15½ ... ½d., 2½d. (Kat), 5d., 6d.
,, 15 ... ½d., 1d., 2d., 2½d. (Kit), 2½d. (Kat), 3d., 4d., 5d., 6d., 8d., 1/-, 2/-.
,, 14½ ... 2½d. (Kat), 3d., 6d., 2/-, 5/-.
,, 14 ... ½d., 1d., 4d.
,, 16 x 15½ ... 5d.
,, 15½ x 16 ... 3d.
,, 15 x 16 ... 1d.
,, 15 x 14½ ... 1d., 2d., 9d.

Perf. 15 x 14 ... 1d.
,, 14½ x 15 ... 2½d. (Kat), 2/-.
,, 14 x 13½ ... 2½d. (Kat), 4d.
,, 14 x 13 ... 2d.
,, 14 x 12½ ... 4d.
,, 13½ x 14 ... 2d., 2½d. (Kat), 4d.
,, 13½ x 13 ... 2d.
,, 13½ x 12½ ... 2½d. (Kat).
,, 13 x 14 ... 4d.
,, 12½ x 14 ... 4d.

This list is undoubtedly incomplete, for though it is not likely that full sets can be formed with each perforation, many other varieties will yet have to be recorded.

WALTER MORLEY.

Notes on the early Fiscals of British Guiana.

IN the preparation of the following notes I have derived great assistance from Mr. Pearce, Mr. H. Thompson, and Mr. Morley, who have most kindly allowed me to inspect their collections, and have given me much valuable information.—

INLAND REVENUE.

These stamps, as well as the Summary Jurisdiction, are chronicled by Moens, and elsewhere, as having been issued not perforated. Personally, I do not believe that they were ever officially issued in this condition for the following reasons, apart from the fact that satisfactorily cancelled specimens are of the greatest rarity, if not actually unknown. Perforated postage stamps were issued in 1860, and it does not seem probable that Summary Jurisdiction would have been issued six years later imperforate, whilst again Inland Revenue stamps were not issued till three or four years after the Summary Jurisdiction, when the latter had been issued in a perforated condition for some years. More important, however, is the fact that the contemporary postage stamps are well known imperforate, although they were never officially issued in this condition. In connection with this, the following note occurs in the latest edition of Stanley Gibbons' Catalogue. "The imperforate 'varieties met with, are probably proofs; some of them probably passed through 'the post by accident." I see no reason why this explanation should not also apply to fiscals.

The first type of the Inland Revenue Stamps may be divided into four issues by their perforation; perf. 10, 15, 12½, and 12. They are all unwatermarked with the exception of the occasional occurrence of one or more capital letters, doubtless belonging to the name of the paper manufacturers.

I have examined the dates of cancellation on a number of copies with a view to ascertaining the order of the various issues; I am aware that this kind of evidence, when derived from single stamps, is frequently quite untrustworthy, but when a considerable series give the same results, the evidence should be at least sufficient to give the sequence of the different issues. Of the perf. 10 and perf. 15, I have been able to examine a considerable number, but of the perf. 12½, unfortunately only a single satisfactorily dated copy. The following are the years of the cancellations:—

Perf. 15. 1876, and 1877. Perf. 12½. 1878.

None of these stamps are common, whilst some values are of great rarity. The $3, $6, $7, $9, $12, $30, and $40 are all very scarce stamps; next to these comes the $5, which is a decidedly rare stamp, but not so scarce as the preceding; next comes the $10, which is much commoner, whilst the commonest values are $1, $2, $4, $8, $16, and $20. It should be mentioned that most of the rarer values are only obtainable perf. 10, and whether or not full sets occur with each perforation is doubtful. I have so far failed to come across a copy of the $7, but have seen all the other values perf. 10.

Perf. 10. The great majority of the early Inland Revenue stamps met with belong to this issue. The $8 occurs in two distinct colours, blue and purple. Uncancelled specimens of this issue are but rarely seen.

Perf. 15. These stamps are decidedly rarer than the preceding issue; the $1, $2, $4, $8, $16, and $20, are, however, not uncommonly met with.

Perf. 12½. Cancelled specimens of this issue are of considerable rarity; remainders, however, exist of the $1, $8 purple, $8 blue, and $16. These, which are not especially common, may be at once distinguished by their rough perforations.

Perf. 12. I am pleased to be able to chronicle the $1, $2, $4, $8, and $12, with this perforation. These stamps, which are in my own collection, are unfortunately unused, and so give no evidence as to when they were in use. The perforation is very clean cut. The stamps probably represent the latest issue.

SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

These stamps are very much more common than the early Inland Revenue. Mr. Pearce possesses a fine uncancelled copy of the 72c., imperforate, with large margins, but, for the reasons already given, I do not think it sufficient evidence of the issue of these stamps not perforated.

The perforated stamps form five issues: without watermark, perf. 12½, 10, and 15; and watermark Crown CC, perf. 12 and 14.

No watermark, perf. 12½. This was undoubtedly the first issue; I have notes of a number of stamps cancelled in 1866; some values appear to have remained in use until quite recently.

Mr. Pearce possesses the 16c., and 48c., violet, on very thick paper, quite different to the ordinary kind. The 72c., catalogued as yellow-brown, refers to a shade of the 72c., vermilion. All the values of this issue are common except the 96c.

Perf. 10. This is one of the rarest issues, although apparently in use a long time. The 16c., is of considerable rarity, and the 96c., is at present unconfirmed.

Perf. 15. The 16c., and 96c., are unconfirmed, the other values are common.

Watermark Crown CC, perf. 12. Only the 48c., 60c., and 72c., are known with this perforation. They occur both on white and on blue paper, and bear cancellation dates 1883, 1884, 1885, 1886, 1887, and 1888.

Perf. 14. These stamps are still in use, and most values are now becoming common. The 72c., first appeared in vermilion, but is now printed in orange brown; the earlier shade is the rarer.

The Brazilian Telegraph Stamps recently chronicled do not seem to have been put in use, for Mr. Otto Bahne writing from that country says that they are completely unknown there.

The Revenue Stamps of Siam.

By L. W. Fulcher, B.Sc.

Mr. W. Morley has sent me a collection of Siamese Fiscals, containing a great number of varieties which, as far as I am aware, have not been hitherto recorded, as well as some new issues. Chiefly from this collection and with the aid of notes which accompany it, I have drawn up the present list. It will be seen that there are, in all probability, many gaps to fill, which will afford plenty of occupation and interest to the serious fiscal collector.

The currency in Siam is now expressed in "atts" and "ticals," 64 of the former making one tical, but there are other terms in use, of which I append a table.

2 atts	=	1 seeo	8 atts	=	1 fuang	4 ticals	=	1 tamlung
4 ,,	=	1 seek	16 ,,	=	1 salung	80 ,,	=	1 catty

LAND TAX.

? 1883. Design: an oblong, 36 x 21 mm., divided into two equal rectangles by a line drawn vertically through the centre. The left rectangle contains the Siamese crown, with the sign manual (?) of the King underneath, surrounded by bundles of rice stalks tied below by a ribbon. At the base is an inscription in Siamese characters, "Revenue Stamp." There are conventional ornaments in the spandrels. The right rectangle contains an inscription in two lines in Siamese characters, "Payment for the Field," separated by a short double lined bar from an inscription in much larger characters representing the value.

Typographed on white wove paper.

Variety, perf. 12½ x 11½, 8 atts, red-brown.

I am of the opinion, on contemplating the above list, that there exists a set in a particular colour for each year since the date of issue, and that all those represented by blank spaces exist.* I may add that the sets are not arranged in chronological order as I have no information on this point.

* M. Roussin catalogues the 8 and 16 atts, yellow, and the 32 atts, grey. He also lists a 4 atts, green, but this may well be an error. [Ed.]

EDITORIAL.

OWING to the delays incidental to the first publication of even so modest a Journal as this, we are in the regrettable position of having to indite our second causerie within a week of the publication of our initial number.

It happens, therefore, that we do not yet know what reception our maiden effort will meet with outside the circle of our nearest friends, and we are free therefore to address our readers unscathed by blighting criticism, unreddened by cordial greetings, and unsaddened by contemptuous neglect.

Our chief regret, however, is that the breathing space has been too short to permit of our advancing certain contemplated arrangements, and we are still unable to speak of some of the features that it is hoped to introduce.

We feel confident of securing the attachment of as excellent a body of contributors of fiscal and telegraph matter as could be desired; and the arrangements already made with the leading collectors of Railway Letter Fee, and Railway Parcel Stamps, are such that we know that the page to be devoted monthly to these labels will be most worthily occupied.

It is, however, manifestly inevitable that our most difficult task should be that of obtaining good postal copy, and it is in this direction that we stand most in need of assistance from writers at present unknown to us.

* * * * *

We have the liveliest satisfaction in being able to announce that our endeavour to occupy a vacant place in philatelic circles has procured for us the kindly-expressed commendation of His Honour Judge Philbrick, Q.C., and that he has further promised to render us material assistance, which will, in the first place, take the form of revising the M.S., of an article in which it is intended to embody the substance of some letters addressed to us several years ago by that eminent authority. They deal with the early Bill Stamps of the British Isles, and contain so much matter that will be new and of the greatest interest to the numerous collectors of these attractive issues that we are greatly pleased at the prospect of being enabled to present their contents under such supervision.

The philatelists who gave us their services in our first number, and those whose contributions appear now, are all likely to render us further aid, and at the moment of penning these lines we hold promises of future unspecified assistance from Messrs. W. S. Webb, and G. C. Warden, specialists in English postal matters, and from Messrs. F. G. C. Lundy, and M. Langlois, two of the best known writers on fiscal topics.

From Mr. Wm. Fish, M.A., we look for a contribution on Scotch fiscals, and we have been gladdened by the promise of an article, containing much official information anent the interesting emissions of Gloucestershire, from the pen of "Ralph Douglas." To Mr. W. Corfield, of the Philatelic Society of India, we are addressing a request for a serial article on the Telegraph Stamps of Ceylon, and Mr. A. E. Lawrence, writing from New York, kindly expresses his readiness to render us every assistance in his power.

* * * * *

In response to enquiries we wish it to be distinctly understood that it is not our aim to furnish articles that would only be appreciated by advanced collectors. We count it our greatest privilege to be enabled to direct the beginner to some of the pleasantest philatelic highways, and to be always willing to assist him at any portion of his journey. We have not as yet opened a correspondence or an enquiry column, preferring to await the demand for such which will surely come if it be needed, but the Editor is freely accessible, and this page is available for general purposes.

* * * * *

There is one difficulty in connection with the Siamese fiscals that Mr. Fulcher does not touch upon. It is quite impossible for the non-initiate to identify the values, and, as the Land Tax stamps are now coming over in fair numbers, it may be of service to point out a rough method of distinguishing them. As mentioned by our contributor, the large inscriptions in the right lower portion express the denomination, the 8 atts being denoted by four separate characters and two (?) accents, the 16 atts by three and two, the 32 atts by six and two, the 1 tical by two signs, the 2 ticals by five plus five accents, and the 4 ticals by three and three. The only confusion likely to occur is between the 16 atts and the 4 ticals, each of which consists of three characters of which only the first differs, but in the former case the middle sign carries the two accents, and in the latter all three are accented.

* * * * *

Few philatelic papers have ever achieved so great a measure of success as that which rewarded the energetic efforts of the former Editors of The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly, and its recent discontinuance left a gap that remained unfilled until the happy rehabilitation of our old acquaintance under the essentially smart conductorship of Mr. Percy C. Bishop, who appears to have set out with the determined intention of outstripping his earlier triumphs.

IMPERIAL JOURNAL STAMPS OF AUSTRIA.

THE collector of fiscal stamps is wont to smile when in turning over the pages of Gibbons' catalogue his eye falls upon the newspaper-tax stamps of Austria and of Lombardy. He knows very well that they have served no postal purpose, and that the most that can be said for them is that they have postal associations; but, as we are far from seeking to discourage the collection of revenue stamps, we are pleased to know that this little group is an object of interest to two different sections of philatelists.

Our valued correspondent, Mr. E. W. Wetherell, includes an examination of these labels in his "Notes on the Stamps of Austria and Austrian Italy," contributed to The Philatelic Journal of India, and from them we cull the following:

1850. 2 kr. This is found in many shades of green, the rarest shade being pale emerald. I have some twenty distinct shades of this stamp.

1858. In this year a series of similar type, but with balls instead of rosettes in the corners, was issued, in the following values:—1 kr., blue, 2 kr., brown, 4 kr., brown.

The central shield is small, clear or very smudgy; indistinct prints form two sets.

The shades, especially those of the 2 kr., are very numerous, one extreme case being a very bright red-brown or almost brick-red shade of the 2 kr.

The 1 kr., is common, both used and unused, and so are most of the shades of the 2 kr., used.

The 4 kr., is a rare stamp as an original. The copies usually met with are reprints, and I have a very good forgery of the 4 kr., used, and I believe genuinely used, i.e., made to deceive the authorities and not collectors.

The paper varies as usual, the distinct prints being on smooth paper and the indistinct on rough paper.

Gibbons' catalogue the 1 and 2 kr., watermarked, but as nearly all Austrian stamps may be found showing part of some watermark, I do not think that these varieties need be raised to the dignity of a distinct issue.

1878. In this year the central shield was enlarged, and the paper used was confined to the smooth variety. There is a very rare type of the 1 kr., large shield, showing the figure with a sharp top, and this variety is always in a metallic blue shade, and all the specimens which I have seen are considerably obliterated with big letters (part of the newspaper heading).

Although these large shield stamps are very common, forgeries exist, but they are very poor.

I have a diagonal half of the 2 kr., used as 1 kr., on the original newspaper, and no doubt halves of the other values are to be met with.

1890. A new type came into use this year. It was rectangular instead of square, and consisted of three values, viz., 1 kr., 2 kr., and 25 kr. This last stamp is very seldom seen although only priced at 5/-, and seems to have a very limited use.

There are several distinct shades of the low values, and apparently slight varieties of the lettering in the 1 kreuzer value.

RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS.

By "K."

NOW the first of these objections is met by the fact that, owing to their very rarity, the demand for these stamps is so small that their price is ridiculously low, and out of all proportion to their great scarcity. To take one instance, perhaps the most famous "rara avis" of all railway stamps is the one shilling pink of the London and South Western Railway, which was issued back in the early sixties, and of which there are probably not many more than half a dozen copies extant. Yet a copy of this stamp has been on offer for two or three months in Mr. Ewen's "Railway Stamp Exchange Club," at the very modest price of 15/-, and no one has taken it even at that low figure, although the Railway Letter Fee Stamp of the City of Glasgow Union, of which seven copies are known, commands a ready sale at £5, and the far commoner "Post Office Mauritius" Postage Stamp seems to fetch anything up to £1000. Surely, therefore, now is the time for intending collectors to look about them and acquire these interesting stamps, prices cannot fall much lower, and for every big rarity taken out of the market the price of the few remaining in it must inevitably rise.

I do not recommend specialising too much in these stamps, although a most interesting, and fairly cheap, collection can be made by specialising in one great line, such as the Great Western, or Midland, and the small lines dependent on it. I intend, in forthcoming lists of railway stamps, to include as standard varieties only distinct types. Varieties of shade and perforation, and of size, position, and colour of control numbers, when known to exist, will be published in a note for the benefit of specialists, but need not be taken into account by the general collector, who will find it a sufficiently arduous but most interesting task to get together the standard varieties, with a small specialist collection of, perhaps, his own local line.

In conclusion, I fear that the lists published will be, in many cases, very sketchy and incomplete; I shall only list stamps of whose existence I am certain, and which have been genuinely issued for the purposes of carriage, and therefore many stamps must be omitted, although it may be surmised that they have existed, and copies may be extant unknown to me.

I shall be much obliged if any collector possessing such will kindly inform the Editor, and I shall be grateful for an opportunity of inspecting the specimens.

WE expect to commence in our next number the publication of a full list of the Railway Parcel Stamps current in 1900, and to print the first instalment of the lists mentioned in the above article.

ABNORMAL ARRANGEMENT OF BELGIAN BILL STAMPS.

AS every collector well knows, the Bill Stamps of Belgium are printed in sheets each one of which shows but a single denomination.

However, to my great astonishment, I recently received four sheets, each of twenty stamps, displaying (instead of at most four values only) the complete double set of our first emission—1st Sept., 1862—the arrangement of the blue stamps being as shown in the following diagram:

10c.	2f.	4.50	7f.
25c.	2.50	5f.	7.50
50c.	3f.	5.50	8f.
1f.	3.50	6f.	8.50
1.50	4f.	6.50	9f.

9.50	12f.	22.50	45f.
10f.	12.50	25f.	50f.
10.50	15f.	30f.	designs
11f.	17.50	35f.	without
11.50	20f.	40f.	value.

The last three vertical spaces on the second sheet are occupied by stamps perfect in all respects save that they lack the indications of value and "range."

The rose stamps—for bills payable out of the country—are arranged in precisely the same manner, the only differences being in the colour and in the fact that the corresponding values are exactly half of those in the blue set. They run, therefore, from 5 cents to 25 francs, and conclude with three similarly incomplete designs.

In addition, I received a set of the stamps of 1st Jan. 1884 (King's head), that had evidently been printed in a similar fashion, but unfortunately the sheets had been divided up, and the stamps reached me in vertical pairs and strips of 3, 5 and 6.

The blue stamps I can arrange in seven horizontal rows of five, showing each value from 10 cents to 40 francs inclusive, and the rose stamps fall into six horizontal rows of five and one of six, ranging from 5 cents to 22f. 50c. It is worthy of note that the blue stamps of 45 and 50 francs and the rose stamp of 25 francs are not present.

On seeking information about these abnormal impressions, I was informed that sheets were prepared in this way for the Belgian Record-offices (greffes des tribunaux belges), and that all but those preserved for me have been destroyed by fire.

JEAN VERZIJL

REVIEW.

The Revenue Stamps of the United States.

THERE are some strange omissions on the part of the compilers of this work, and of these that which is most noticeable, and will be most severely felt, is the absence of any resumé of the Acts of Congress that called these stamps into existence, supervised their employment, and gradually dismissed them, and the total absence of much information of this kind, that might reasonably be expected in a work that calls itself "An Historical Reference List."

Another curious omission is the failure to give such absolutely necessary information as the table of duties governing the use of the private proprietaries. This is all the more surprising in that whilst corresponding with one of the Members of the Boston Society's Revenue Committee, with the intention of contributing our mite towards the compilation, we took the opportunity of asking for that table and it was readily furnished.

We must also take strong exception to the propriety of the course adopted in preparing the catalogue of imperforate and partly perforated stamps. The compilers state in their preface that indisputable evidence of the existence of each stamp has been required for its inclusion, and that in the case of the classes just referred to "this evidence has been the 'personal knowledge of the existence of said stamps' in unsevered pairs, or blocks." Considering the very short space of time during which stamps were issued without or with partial perforation, and the undoubted fact that many would never be used other than singly, we feel that the line drawn is so severe as to detract from the usefulness of the lists, more especially as we fail to find any saving enumeration of varieties that have not passed the test, but are reasonably entitled to positions in the catalogue.

Two other matters call for adverse notice: one is the unpardonably lengthy list of printers' errors (unfortunately not exhaustive), which looks more like the addendum to a work of half-a-century ago than the complement of a modern book; the other is the poverty of the Index, the compilation of which, however wearisome, is a far more important matter than the authors of this and of many another book seem to realize.

The openings for unfavourable criticism are now exhausted, and the defects sink into microscopical dimensions when viewed in their true proportion against the enormous volume of matter that calls for the warmest praise, and the heartiest thanks from us and our fellow collectors.

Some of our most cherished ideas have been utterly dispelled, and in their place we have a broad and firm foundation to work upon. The amount of fresh, because hitherto unprocurable, information is prodigious, and whether we are being introduced to varieties that have been issued but have never turned up, or are being shown why we should delete certain names appearing in the catalogues, or are immersed in the romance of some of the counterfeits, we are conscious throughout that we are the happy possessors of a philatelic treasure of rare merit.

MONTHLY CHRONICLE.

FISCAL AND TELEGRAPH NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Notes relating to Telegraphs are distinguished by an asterisk.

Alsace and Lorraine. Of the type of the new 2 mark (illustrated in Stamps, December 1898), Le T.P., announces the 1 mark, carmine-rose.

Basle. Bordereaux Stempel. New issue chronicled and illustrated in L'Ami des Timbres. The cut shows a most effective design, consisting of the arms in a large white circle between the name and title in small colourless caps., on a solid ground; the whole being enclosed in an ornamental frame. The value is overprinted in colour in the central part. Paper, white; colour, dull lilac; perf. 11½. 20c., overprint black; 1 and 2fr., overprint red.

Bolivar. Mr. H. N. Terrett has sent for inspection the only catalogued stamp dated 1865—the 30 centavos, black—minus the lower portion containing the value, and bearing across the arms in two lines of fancy letters the overprint Quinhentos Pesos in red.

British Guiana. See Mr. White's article on page 10.

Great Britain. The discovery announced last month in the Patent series, has been handsomely capped by Mr. Jeffrey Grime, who sends us a specimen of the 1d., embossed Receipt of the "cottage-loaf" design, struck 7. 3. 54 by die J, on blue paper, cut out by a many-pointed star punch, and gummed on the reverse. We presume that these stamps were supplied in sheets to some private firm, and that this very unusual and attractive method of separation is quite unofficial.

Honduras. Telegraphs. Mr. G. W. Pepper tells us that he possesses the 1 real, imperforate, on an original form.

India. Notarial. Yet another discovery on the 1 rupee, embossed, Foreign Bill. This time it is die B, and the overprint in small black caps., 20 by 2½ mm., across the centre is unique, as far as our experience goes, in appearing between inverted commas. The stamp has been submitted by Mr. A. E. Lawrence.

Telegraphs.* Mr. W. Corfield sends us the upper used half of the current 2r. 8a., stamp overprinted 2 RUPEES, in black, 21 x 3 mm. across the top.

Niger Coast. Consular. It was announced in Stamps of May last that our Publisher had received the 10s., violet postage stamp overprinted CONSULAR across the bust in small red caps. 20 by 2mm. He has now found the 2s. 6d., olive-brown, similarly treated.

Philippine Islands. Giro. Some six weeks ago a contributor to Mekeel's Weekly gave a partial description of a revenue stamp that had been issued by the United States, and we now find the design described and illustrated in L'Ami des Timbres. Putting the two accounts together we can chronicle a double-lined upright rectangular frame, 19 by 46½ mm., with the following enclosures, commencing at the top: (a) The range. (b) The word GIRO in large rustic caps., framed. (c) Shield, bearing stars and stripes, crossed by UNITED STATES in two lines of small double-lined caps., and having the words INTERNAL REVENUE in thin graduated caps., between its sides and the frame. (d) PHILIPPINE ISLANDS 1899 in three lines of thin block caps. (e) The value. The design and all inscriptions are printed in colour on white paper, and the perf., is 12. L'Ami announces the 15c. de peso, blue, range 100 à 200 p.; and from M.W.S.N., we gather that there is a 20c., with range 200 à 400 p., and a 30 c., but the colours are not given.

Sello. Another U.S. emission, of much more artistic appearance, has been shown to us by Mr. A. M. South. A lateral horizontal frame, 47 by 27 mm., is divided vertically into two parts. In the left and smaller portion appears the arms on a shield from whence issue rays in all directions; above is UNITED STATES in two lines, on the sides INTERNAL REVENUE, and below IN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS, all in small block caps. In the other portion the American Eagle figures as the central device between branches of (?) bay and surmounted by the usual motto, all being on a groundwork composed of stars. At top, appears the title and class, SELLO 10°, and at the bottom, the value, 25C. DE PESO, both in large coloured caps. Printed in pink on white wove paper, roughly perforated 12.

Siam. See Mr. Fulcher's article on page 12.

United States. With the peculiar oblong perforation, gauging 7, that has now been adopted for the revenue stamps, we have received from Mr. H. Clark the 1½c., and from Mr. W. Morley the 1 cent, Proprietary.

RAILWAY PARCEL STAMPS. We received a short time ago from Mr. T. A. Stodart, the 3d., value of a new issue for the London and North Western Railway, and made a note of it for this issue. Ewen's Weekly No. 16, just received, chronicles the same type, and mentions the denominations 1d., 4d., and 6d. The design consists of a colourless numeral of value on a solid scarlet rectangle, 18 by 20 mm., surrounded by the name of the company in coloured block caps. At top and bottom there are lined panels, the upper containing the inscription "PARCEL STAMP," the lower a control letter and figures. Printed in scarlet on white wove paper and rouletted; control, black.

Of the previous type (Britannia), the same paper chronicles the following colour-changes: 3d., lilac-brown; 5d., very pale green; 1/-, very pale blue-green.

"DISCOVERIES."

THE suggestion made in our last number by Mr. R. Tyeth Stevens has borne good if not ample fruit, for Mr. A. M. South has submitted to us an obsolete British Colonial postage stamp showing a watermark not previously recorded in connection with this value.

NEVIS. 6 pence, green, watermarked crown and CC, perf. 14. It is true that the specimen bears the "REVENUE" overprint, which was applied to most of the postage stamps of this Island, but this variety is equally unknown to collectors of fiscals, and, as far as we know, this is the first intimation of the fact that at least one sheet of the 6d., green, Nevis was printed on CC paper.

Mr. Walter Morley has found the following variety:

PARAGUAY. 1892. 10 cents, lilac-blue, with double commemorative overprint.

Zululand Statistics.

FOR the following interesting figures relating to the stamps of Natal, and of Great Britain, overprinted for use in Zululand, we are indebted to Mr. L. H. J. Walker, of Pietermaritzburg, who obtained them from the late Commissioner of Stamps in that country.

It should be borne in mind that all values were used for fiscal as well as for postal purposes; the figures given represent in each case the number of stamps actually sold.

Overprinted Natal Stamps:

½d., green	11,245
1d., lilac	120,224
6d., ,, ...	6,325.

The 6d., was chiefly used for revenue purposes.

Overprinted British Stamps:

½d., vermilion	268,224	4d., green and brown ...	20,250
1d., lilac	459,776	5d., lilac and blue ...	6,428
2d., green and carmine ...	31,987	6d., purple on red ...	11,405
2½d., purple on blue ...	28,544	9d., purple and blue ...	3,701
3d., brown on yellow ...	11,949	1s., green	4,564

5s., carmine ... 998.

Most of the 5 shilling stamps were used fiscally.

Patent Medicine Labels.

SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS BY A MANUFACTURING CHEMIST.

WHETHER it is a wise expedient to levy a tax on medicines or not is a question which admits of grave doubt: if medicines are looked upon as luxuries simply and entirely, no one would have the slightest hesitation in advocating the payment of duty upon them; but if, as we believe is the general opinion, medicines are regarded as necessaries of our civilization, then the same considerations that demand a free breakfast table would also demand free medicines. Probably the consideration that would weigh most with the Government is the fact that so-called patent medicines yield an annual revenue of over a quarter of a million sterling, and it is certain that only the very strongest reasons would induce any Chancellor of the Exchequer to abolish the duty that has been for a long succession of years levied upon them.

Genuine patent medicines are very few indeed, perhaps not more than a dozen in all; the rest of the medicines liable to stamp duty are not patent, never having been the subjects of letters patent, but are merely proprietary articles: such are dutiable by reason of their recommendation for the cure or relief of some human disorder.

The stamps sold for attachment to medicines have varied considerably from time to time. The earliest type, issued September 1st, 1783, differs in that it had four flaps; but, of the two, the present elongated shape is to be preferred, as many of the packages which must bear the label are small and would practically be covered by the former cumbrous addition: the present style, since it may legally be folded in any manner, is adapted for packages of all shapes and sizes.

There is, however, one solid advantage possessed by some of the older stamps, and it lies in the fact that their arrangement prevented the possibility of a species of fraud which the present design most decidedly invites—this is a point that should be brought to the notice of the Legislature. On comparison, it will be found that whereas the wording on the present stamp is like this:—

issues, now discarded, had a blank space in which the name of the manufacturer, or that of the article, had to be inserted. It will readily be noticed that the old style after being marked in this way could not easily be used for any other preparation, whereas the existing form can be employed for any and every proprietary article. Patent Medicine Vendors are allowed to sell some preparations loose, children's powders, for example, being frequently sold singly from a box or packet containing 8, 24, or more, powders. The package broken open must bear a stamp, but the single powders bear none; the stamps, being thus left in the hands of the retailer, may be used, if he be at all fraudulently disposed, for some totally different preparation, and the Revenue is consequently cheated.

It has been stated that certain large users of medicine labels prefer to receive them imperforate, and ungummed, but this is certainly contrary to the views of the great majority of manufacturers, who would welcome the introduction of the more complete form.

These conclusions may be embodied thus:—

To HER MAJESTY'S COMMISSIONERS OF INLAND REVENUE,

SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS IN PATENT MEDICINE LABELS, TO PREVENT FRAUD, AND INCREASE THEIR USEFULNESS.

(i) A vacant space should be left in the body of the stamp.

(ii) The name of the preparation should be compulsorily inserted in this space before use.

(iii) The stamps should be perforated and gummed.

(iv) If altered in size, they should be made smaller rather than larger.

British Foreign Bills.

1851-58.

FOREWORD. Some years before his elevation to the Bench, we received from F. A. Philbrick, Esq., Q.C., two or three letters dealing with our early Foreign Bill stamps, and from them we have extracted and collated the following statements, which in their present form have been kindly revised by His Honour Judge Philbrick, and are thus presented with the full weight of the greatest living authority.

The letters were called forth by the circulation in a Fiscal Stamp Society of a sheet of "Typical Specimens," illustrating the divisions of the long Foreign Bills as recognised by us at that time, the classification being into sets on thick and thin paper: deep blue, medium and white, according to the tints as presented to the eye.

* * * * * [ED.]

YOUR arrangement is very interesting, but shows that you have not quite fathomed all the process of manufacture at the Government Paper Mills.

In the endeavour to obtain a true Safety Paper, the makers tried mixing Prussiate of Potash with the pulp*, but found it a very difficult ingredient to manage, on account of its high specific gravity which caused it to precipitate too quickly in the tub with most capricious results, some sheets showing hardly a trace while others were over laden.

They then tried less, and, towards the end, very little indeed of the prussiate, contenting themselves with a saturated solution whereby the chemical was diffused throughout the pâte (forgive the French word, but we have no exact English equivalent—the nearest perhaps is "substance") of the paper: still much depended on the pulp being kept thoroughly agitated during the process in order that the prussiate should not form a sediment.

During the period of the first attempts, there would be found in the same batch from the Mills both very blue and slightly blued papers, according as the pulp settled down and the prussiate was precipitated in a short time after the stirring up of the contents. Later on, when very little of the chemical was used, the paper sometimes appears almost white, but, with the exception of a single well-marked batch, some prussiate was always present, and the divisions of blue, bluish and white papers as applied to the great bulk of these stamps are not really correct indications, for all these results might well occur in the same batch of paper.

The only true white is a thick glazed machine paper printed on in red-violet. It is seldom seen, and only one value—the 3d.—is known perforated 16.

You have quite naturally sub-divided the series into thick and thin papers, but the contract called for paper weighing so many lbs., to the ream, and, being hand-made, to equalize matters the contractors put thick and thin sheets in the ream to make the weight up to standard. The printers used the sheets in the order delivered, hence the same printing is found on papers of widely different thicknesses.

The colour was officially designated "purple," but at times it was redder, at others more violet, all passed. Well-defined colour groups of two or three or several values may be found, as very large quantities were ordered at a time in order to take advantage of the contract sliding scale, which operated in such a way that the price of 7d., per 1000, charged if forty-eight millions were ordered at one time, rose to 1s. 9½d., per 1000 for lesser quantities than 120,000, and a minimum of 60,000 was charged for in all cases.

Your discovery of a re-arrangement of the wire "bits" forming the watermark is noteworthy. Apparently it coincides with the change of paper from hand-made to machine-made, the "bits" in the latter being set closer together on the dandy roll.

*As is well known, the property of Prussiate of Potash is to "fly" at the action of any acid, and the danger to be guarded against was the use of acid reagents to remove the writing ink used in cancelling the stamps: it also "flies" at the detergents used to remove the printing ink from the stamped cancellations, and thus had the property of being what is known as "doubly fugitive," so that, whether obliterated by pen and ink or by a handstamp and printing ink, the stamps would be spoiled by any attempt to clean them. [F.A.P.]

Notes on the Municipal Stamps of Gloucestershire.

THE collection of Municipal Revenue Stamps forms an interesting branch of fiscal philately. They have much of the authority attached to Government issues, and are sufficiently varied in design and uses to attract the attention of the specialist. A glance at Moens' exhaustive catalogue of Revenues will show that this special field is not too extensive to cope with, and that there is just that amount of rarity and ungetatableness about some of the issues to develop research, and add zest to their collection. The sight of an album showing the Argentine municipals, the considerable series of Spanish towns, the still more extensive issues of Italy, added to those of Great Britain, France, Russia, Roumania, and Turkey, would whet the appetite of many an old anti-fiscalist, and reduce his fashionable and petted "Postals" to their true proportion in the series of Stamp Duties. He would begin to recognize that whilst postage stamps formed an important factor, they are but a part, and that by no means the most artistic and interesting, of the vast system for raising a State Revenue, of which the stamp is a facile and legal record.

By the Local Stamp Act, of 1869, Government gave Justices of the Peace authority to collect statute fees, &c., by means of adhesive stamps. The municipalities of Great Britain have not, however, largely availed themselves of the system, for London, Ely, Southampton, Northamptonshire, and Gloucestershire, are the only local authorities known to have issued these stamps.

Gloucestershire introduced the system from Northamptonshire in 1875, but, for some unascertained reason, soon reverted to its previous method of collection of fees in cash, and consequently the issue is rare. From the most reliable information that can now be obtained, it appears that two series were printed: one for Fees, and one for Fines. They were used solely for the purpose of collecting sums payable to Justices' Clerks in the several divisions of the County (not in Boroughs), including fees levied on Warrants of Overseers' Appointment, on Justices' Certificates of Completion of Rate levied, on all Summonses issued by the County Magistrates, &c. &c. The County Treasurer was the official responsible for their issue and distribution. He did not obtain the stamps locally, but from the well known lithographers, Messrs. Waterlow Bros., and Layton, who, however, I am informed, no longer have the records of their manufacture. Except, perhaps, in a few instances, their use had been discontinued at the end of March, 1880, and certainly they were quite obsolete in 1881.

The "Fee" stamp was printed in colour on white unwatermarked paper. The design consists of the Union Jack, in a shield, on a blue ground of fine network. The name of the County appears, arched in carmine on a white ground, above the shield, and the face value is overprinted in carmine beneath it within a moire oblong. The whole is enclosed in a somewhat ornate and framed border. I have seen two distinct varieties of shade, pale and dark blue.

There are three regular varieties of perforation: 12½, 14, and 15½ x 15; the 6d., has also been met with perf. 13, and the 2/- and 2/6 perf. 14½. The face values are 1d., 3d., 6d., 1/-, 1/6, 2/-, 2/6, 5/-, 10/-, £1. These do not quite agree with catalogue lists, and I have not yet met with the 3d., and 1/6 values, but it is stated on good authority that these existed.* My authority states that the "Fine" stamps were similar in all particulars to the "Fee" stamps, except that the design was printed in brown with the lettering in violet.

Moens shared with most collectors the general obscurity respecting these stamps. He queries most of the data catalogued, and justly so. I have evidence of their use in 1875, or eight years earlier than their supposed first issue. There was no marked change in colour, so that his queried set in "mauve and violet" may be dismissed; so also the change in "1890" to "green and carmine," the stamps being obsolete in 1880.

EDITORIAL.

SO many kind things have been said of the new venture that it is our first and most pleasing duty to thank our journalistic confrères for their friendly notices and many encouraging remarks. It seems to be generally felt that we have a very legitimate mission, and no one has been cruel enough to say that we are unlikely to fulfil it.

In tendering our acknowledgments we would make special mention of the marked favour with which our enterprise has been received by the leading Continental papers. The fiscal division of our hobby has ever received a greater share of attention across the Channel, and our intention to cultivate the subject meets with ready approval.

The suggestions contained in the article on Medicine Labels in this number are far more important than a casual reader would be likely to imagine.

We recently visited a number of vendors of patent medicines with the double object of securing any old stamps that might be found on preparations now unfashionable, and of asking for such labels as they are accustomed to detach from proprietary articles sold in lesser quantities, or used in the course of business. To our great surprise, we found that it is the almost invariable practice to use over again all the current labels thus obtained, and that this is done as a matter of course without any attempt at concealment. Chemists of high repute and eminent respectability have freely admitted their habitual fraudulent evasion of what seems to be regarded as "an unreasonable duty," and when men of such character are found to be regularly defrauding the revenue, it is safe to assume that men of lower position are not likely to be more scrupulous.

The magnitude of the evil may be inferred from the statement—which we are well authorized to make—that the Exchequer is annually defrauded to the extent of many thousands of pounds by the general indulgence in this practice. Such a matter is of direct concern to all law-abiding taxpayers in this country, and we deem it to be our duty to bring it to the immediate notice of the Treasury.

The conclusion of the lists of the Revenue Stamps of Siam is held over until next month, as Mr. Fulcher is daily expecting the arrival of some promised information from that little known country.

Fiscal stamp collectors will read with much pleasure and profit two of the articles referred to in our last Editorial. The one dealing with our early Foreign Bills contains much information that is peculiarly interesting; and the notes on the double issue of Gloucestershire are of special value in that they enable us to delete two whole sets from the catalogues and handbooks.

M. Maurice Langlois, in writing a few words of congratulation, explains that his duties have been so onerous of late as to allow him no time for philatelic matters—we have noticed with regret the absence of the fiscal chronicle in La Revue Philatelique Française—but as a token of his interest he encloses a list of the Revenue stamps of British Central Africa. This, we hope, is but an earnest of favours to come when our friend has more leisure.

We have pleasure in announcing that Rev. E. Bell has promised to write for us a series of short articles, to appear every other month, under the title of "Philately as an Aid to Culture." We know the Reverend gentleman as a clever lecturer on the educational aspect of philately, and the subject of his essays—the first of which may be expected next month—should be one after his own heart.

* * * * *

In each of the preceding numbers we have vainly endeavoured to find room for an account of what is to be done at the International Philatelic Exhibition and Congress to be held in Paris this year, and again we have such a full number that we can only say that intending exhibitors—in addition to the many classes for postal matter, already fully announced in the English press, there is a class with three divisions and seven prizes for collections of fiscals, and one with two awards for telegraphs—have to forward their request for space and particulars of their proposed exhibit before May 31st. We shall be happy to send a copy of the 12 page prospectus and form of request to any intending exhibitor. The exhibits are not required until the 15th of August, but there is no time to lose.

* * * * *

Pressure upon our space obliges us to hold over our monthly review. Various considerations compel us to go to press earlier in each month than is usual, and, at the time of writing, Mr. Morley's Telegraph Catalogue has not come to hand though daily expected from the printers. The latter plead great pressure as the result of the present philatelic activity!

We have received from M. A. Guenin a "History of the Stamped Papers and Adhesive Fiscals of France," and from Mr. S. Stewart "The Stamp Collectors' Almanac," both of which shall be reviewed next month.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS,

CURRENT IN 1900.

By G. W. J. Potter.

It is now some years since stamps were first issued by the railway companies to prepay the carriage of newspapers; apparently the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire were the first to do so, in 1855, and a dozen years later nearly every railway in Great Britain had its own set, usually ranging in value from ½d., to 6d. As time went on special stamps were issued for corn samples, parcels, news letters, and even for milk. Several of these are now extremely difficult to obtain, and the excellent suggestion has been made that would-be collectors should start with those now current.

I propose to give in these pages a list and description of all the stamps that are now in use, and hope to make it fairly complete; but as information is difficult to obtain on some points, I shall be glad to receive any additions and corrections that readers may be able to make.

It may be noted that while the companies have mostly retained their original designs, but few of them keep to the large size that was at first the order of the day. The stamps are now mostly of medium size, perforated, bearing a control number, and with the inscription "At Owner's Risk." Wherever obtainable, size of stamps, colour, perforation, and number of stamps to a sheet will be given; it must be understood that sometimes these vary greatly, but it is hoped that the present list will help collectors in their endeavour to secure a representative collection of British Railway Stamps.

For the sake of convenience I will describe the Welsh issues first, and commence, therefore, with the Barry Railway. In this design the figure of value is in the centre of a lozenge, which is inserted in the base of two triangles whose points, if visible, would meet in the centre of the stamp, the whole being enclosed in an upright oblong. This appears to have been a favourite design, as it appears in several of the present-day issues and in a large number of those that are now obsolete.

There are four values: ½d., 1d., 2d., and 3d. The ½d., which is used for one newspaper, is typeprinted in a lined rectangle, but has no value expressed upon it.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

The earliest press notice of these stamps occurred in the Illustrated London News, 21st July, 1855. Part of it was reprinted in Mr. Ewen's excellent little Weekly Stamp News early last year, but the article gives in itself such an excellent reason for the existence of these stamps, and such a clear description of their use, that I reproduce it here in toto.

"Newspaper Parcel Prepaid Stamps.

'Labels like the one engraved below have 'been adopted by the Midland, Lancashire and 'Yorkshire, North Eastern, M. S. & L.,* and 'East Lancashire Railways for the prepayment 'of newspaper parcels.

'They are issued in pounds worth to news-'paper proprietors only, and the parcel, being 'duly labelled, passes free, not only over one, 'but if a through parcel, over all the lines of the 'associated railways.

'The rates are very low and specially adopted 'to enable the transmission of newspapers to all 'places. It is, in fact, the postage stamp system 'applied to newspaper parcels.

'Some time since it was proposed to apply 'this system to all small parcels, but some of the 'companies did not see their way to the change 'as a general one. This excellent system is at 'present confined to the above companies, but 'surely the L. & N. W., and Great Northern 'Companies will follow and give the metropolitan 'press the advantages of the new system, now 'confined to the country.

'The system of a cheap prepaid label or stamp 'avoids booking, weighing at station, and delay, 'and enables the transmission of newspapers 'into localities where otherwise, from high cost 'of conveyance, they could never penetrate 'except to the houses of the rich."

*Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire.

The illustration is the 3d., stamp of the handsome first issue of the M. S. & L. Railway, and for that reason I should have given it first place in the following catalogue, but for the fact that Mr. Morley has specially asked me to begin with the Great Western Railway.

This, although not one of those lines mentioned above as the pioneers of the movement, was nevertheless amongst the earliest railway companies to issue newspaper stamps, and, in addition to this, the fact of its having, in its rapid growth, engulfed so many smaller lines that could not compete with it, and had to submit to being absorbed in its gigantic system, has caused most of their stamps to become long since obsolete and almost unattainable, and I would therefore select the stamps of this great line, and of the smaller lines connected with it, as, perhaps, the most interesting group for intending collectors to choose out of the vast field open to them for research.

AUSTRIAN MYSTERIES.

Dates of Issue, Paper, and Perfs.

By an Old Collector.

BUY! BUY!! BUY!!! For sale, Austrian Bills, 2/6 per thousand! No offers!

Few fiscal collectors avail themselves of the opportunity, yet to them there is no other country so interesting to study.

The probable excuse will be that one stamp of each value and issue is enough; still whilst varieties of paper and perforations of other countries are collected, in this case they are apparently entirely neglected.

As a fiscal collector of over 20 years standing, I may say that very little is known of the early stamps of this country, although single stamps of most values are exceedingly common (pairs, strips, and blocks of the first issue are scarce).

Watermark. Can any collector say what the watermark of the first issue is? All authorities chronicle it as without any, which is erroneous.

Specimens are obtainable bearing large skeleton Roman letters, with stop between each, vertically on some stamps, horizontally on others. These letters form the words "Stempel Marke," no other letter than these being found, and a pair is known with three letters E.M.P. In the same issue appears a large double-headed eagle, larger in size than the 1 florin value; and the letter R being the final letter of an inscription has been found also. This letter is surrounded on three sides by two lines, on the outer of which are fleur-de-lis ornamentations.

As most specimens bear no watermark, in my own opinion all points to one device in the sheet of Double-headed Eagle (? times), "Stempel Marke," and another framed inscription ending with the letter R.

Perhaps some one else can solve this interesting problem.

Paper. The earliest stamps are on three kinds—stout, medium, and thin.

Perforations. As regards these, there are in the first issue 60, embracing single and compound, from 18 x 15½ to 13 x 13½, and in the common values nearly all exist for each.

Dates of Issue. The second issue is given by all authorities as 8th July, 1858, but from the evidence of the stamps themselves, this must be erroneous—in so far as all the values are concerned. My strong conviction is that prior to that date there was a demand for other values not then existing, and that on that date such only were issued to the public. From the stamps themselves we learn that in order to create the new values the frames of older ones were used, the new figures of values being typographed in the centres. The values were:

½ kr.,	in frame of	6 kr.	7 kr.,	in frame of	3 kr.
2 ,,	,,	3 ,,	12 ,,	,,	6 ,,
4 ,,	,,	3 ,,	25 ,,	,,	45 ,,
5 ,,	,,	6 ,,	60 ,,	,,	45 ,,

72 kr., in frame of 3 kr.

Some of these are scarce.

"REVENUE. B.C.A."

IT was in 1892 that fiscal stamps were first issued in British Central Africa, seven values of the postage stamps of the British South Africa Co., placed in a large frame, being utilized for this purpose.

Description: Upright rectangular frame, 57½ x 28 mm. In the centre a reproduction of the design of the British South Africa Co.'s first postage stamps, which shows the Arms with the name of the Company above and the value below. Above all is the word REVENUE, and in the lower part the letters B.C.A. Engraved and printed in colour on white wove paper; perforated 14.

2½ shillings,	lilac,	value in red.
4 ,,	black,	,,	,,
10 ,,	green,	,,	,,
1 pound,	blue,	,,	,,
10 pounds,	orange	,,	,,
25 ,,	deep blue.
50 ,,	deep green.

Issue of 1893. Two supplementary values—the one shilling and the six shillings—were almost immediately added to the preceding series; they were created by means of a black surcharge on some of the existing stamps.

1s., on 10s.,	green, red, and black.
1s., on £1,	blue,	,,	,,
6s., on £1,	,,	,,	,,
6s., on £10,	orange	,,	,,

All these stamps were shown in collections exhibited at The Imperial Institute—a commercial museum of the British Colonies, situated near the Kensington Museum in London.

Maurice Langlois.

In the January, 1899, number of Stamps, we chronicled the 6s., on £10, cut vertically in half and used for 3s., on the authority of the Monthly Journal. We have since obtained the lower diagonal half of this stamp on part of a document. [Ed.]

TWO BRITISH ERRORS.

I HAVE in my collection of British fiscals a remarkable double impression, and, as I have not yet seen a description of anything of the kind, I thought that a short account of it might interest collectors of these stamps.

The specimen—a 6d., value—belongs to the Marine Insurance series, and to the division described as vermilion, undated, wmk., balances, perf. 12½. The first impression is from die Y, the colour being perfectly full and clear and the embossing sharp and distinct. The overprint is from die Z, and is 4 mm., lower than the first although the sides of both impressions are exactly in line. The stamp is used with an ordinary 1s., and the date of cancellation is 5th February, 1878.

I also possess a copy of the 2s., Consular Service, vermilion, value in words printed twice, with lower line reading "TWO SHILLING."

It is numbered 35685, and is used with a normal specimen of the same value numbered 35694. The cancellation is "British Consulate—Mogador."

MONTHLY CHRONICLE.

FISCAL AND TELEGRAPH NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Notes relating to Telegraphs are distinguished by an asterisk.

Austria. See article on page 23.

Brazil. Consular. Addition to current series signalled by L'Ami. : 300 reis, lilac, value in red.

Bremen. Stempel Abgabe. We have received from Mr. B. Köhler a value that we do not find chronicled : 50 mark, salmon on white, perf. 11½.

British Central Africa. See M. Langlois' article on page 23.

Colombia. 1887. Moens' type 12193. Dr. C. J. Cooke has kindly sent us the 25c., orange, and the 1 p., vermilion, rouletted.

Mr. G. Gilbert has shown us a tête-bêche pair of the 20c., 1859-60.

Great Britain. Consular Service. Marine Policies. Gloucestershire. See articles on pages 20 and 23.

Grenada. There is quite a budget from this small place. Of the 1876 issue, L'Ami chronicles the £3 orange and green, and the 2s., with error "OWT." We fancy that a specimen of the latter has been in our publisher's possession for some time.

Other errors have been shown to us by Mr. H. Thompson, but, although three or four of them are not included in Mr. Morley's catalogue, there is only one of which we can find no previous mention—"ONE SHILLINGS."

Finally, Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits two distinct types of the "1" in the 1d., on 1½d., provisional, one having a straight, the other a sloping, top. We have long known the two types of the 1d., on 2s., where the difference is much more marked.

Honduras. In the note reproduced in last month's Chronicle, Mr. Pepper by a slip of the pen wrote Honduras instead of Salvador.

Hungary. The Monthly Circular chronicles the 1kr., Journal Tax stamp on the paper with the Iron Crown. This duty was thought to be obsolete, but we are informed that it is still levied on foreign papers arriving by post.

India. Court Fees Provisionals. Some most interesting discoveries have reached us from Mr K. Peerbhoy.

On Electric Telegraph. 1 rupee. Horizontal overprint, 20 x 3 mm., plus dot.

On embossed Foreign Bill. 1 rupee, die B. Tête-bêche pair, with overprint, 39 x 4¾ mm., plus dot, downward and upward respectively. 4 rupees, two single copies showing same overprint, one downward the other upward.

On Foreign Bills of 1861, minus upper and lower portions : 2 as., and 4 as., with overprint, 34 x 4½ mm., downward.

Italy. Bills. The two following varieties may be added to the lists of errors :

1868. ,400 on 12 l., red (A. E. Lawrence).
1871. " " (A. P. Pearce).

Mexico. In Stamps of October last we described the current Renta Interior series and listed 9 values ; Mr. Rudolf Krause adds two more : 50 p., brown ; 100 p., red, with head of Liberty in black.

L'Ami announces a change of colour for the set Hilaza y Tejidos : 5c., rose ; 20c., blue ; 1 p., orange ; 5 p., brown ; 20 p., pale green.

Nevis. See "Discoveries" on page 17.

Peru. 1870-1871. Mr. A. E. Lawrence shows us two inverted overprints on the 10 cents—Lima, and Moquegua.

Telegraphs.* Black oblique overprint of "Télégraphos" on the following postage stamps : 2 c., carmine of 1883 ; 50 c., flesh, and 1 sol, grey, of 1886 ; "Deficit :" 1 c., brown, of 1879 ; 20 c., blue of 1874. (Le T.P.)

Portuguese India. Mr. K. Peerbhoy submits a number of postage stamps overprinted "Contribuiçao" at top, "industrial" at bottom, and new value thus : 10 REIS on the effigy between pairs of parallel lines.

On 4½ reis, yellow : 2 r., in black ; 5 r., in blue ; 10 r., in red ; 20 r., in red-brown. On 1 tanga, pale-blue : 10 r., red.

Amongst the specimens we note a pair of the 2 reis on 4½ reis, one of which has no accent.

Roumania. Le Courier des T.P., announces the recent issue of three telegraph cards. There is one for congratulatory telegrams (!) of 25 bani, the others, 80 b., and 1 leu, are for ordinary messages of 10 or 14 words.

Salvador. We have received from Mr. G. W. Pepper the 1 real, green, imperforate.

Santander. Moens' type 13451. 80 c. Tercera Clase, yellow, imperf. (A. E. Lawrence.)

Spain. Sello. 1884. Mr. T. P. Dorman submits a copy of the 25 pesetas, violet, printed on paper already bearing impressions of the 10 pesetas, yellow. The specimen does not appear to have been gummed, and, though quite a curiosity, can hardly be regarded as anything but printers' waste.

United States. Mr. A. E. Lawrence sends us the 2c., Documentary with the new perforation, and from Mr. A. Holland we have received the ⅝ c., Proprietary is similar condition. One dropped and one misplaced word in our Chronicle last month caused an erroneous announcement, we intended to list the 1 c., Documentary, and the 1½ c., Proprietary.

Western Australia. The M.J., has received the 3d., lilac, with wmk., crown and WA.

"DISCOVERIES."—Postal Items Contributed.

OVERPRINT OR CANCELLATION? For mention under our "Discoveries" heading, we have been shown by Mr. G. W. Pepper, of New York, a specimen of a British Indian stamp bearing a strange inscription.

The stamp is the 2 annas, green, of the first (1854) issue, and, placing the stamp on its side with the face looking down, the overprint appears as copied here.

INDIA
UNPAID

The rectangle measures 19½ x 13½ mm., and the top and bottom coincide with the sides of the frame surrounding the profile.

The inscription is in sans serif capitals 4½mm., high. The stamp has been cut at the bottom along a line which appears to be the side of a similar rectangle, though it is not quite parallel; there is no other mark upon it. Though considered to be unused by the owner, it has no gum.

The points in favour of the presumption that the design is an overprint applied before application to the cover are:—

(a) Its conformity to the size and shape of the stamp, and its position thereon.

(b) The line below; this is of the same length and in the same position as one side of the rectangle, though not equi-distant therefrom. (The space at one end is 2½ mm., and at the other 3½mm.)

(c) The improbability that a stamped cover would be marked "Unpaid."

With regard to this last point it has been suggested that the letter may have passed through some native territory for which extra fees payable in cash were demanded. We are not competent to pass an opinion on the probabilities of such a case, but the upright position of the overprint on the stamp is about the last in which we should have expected to find one of this shape struck by hand on a cover.

We hazard the suggestion that the stamp is an essay designed as a Postage Due label and probably never adopted. In any case it raises an interesting question, and we hope to be furnished with a satisfactory explanation.

A LITTLE MATTER OF SUBTRACTION. Even more important than the addition of new varieties to the catalogue is the dismissal of erroneous entries. Messrs. Stanley Gibbons Ltd., have just made some sensational departures in this direction, and we now invite them to remove three more stamps from their lists.

It has probably not escaped notice that the Zululand Statistics, printed on our first page last month, did not include Nos. 17, 18 and 19 of Gibbons' catalogue, these being the 5s., 9s., and 20s., fiscals of Natal overprinted for use in the neighbouring territory. We are now definitely informed by Mr. L. H. J. Walker that they were not issued as postage stamps, and never legitimately did postal service.

Philately as an Aid to Culture.

I. IN THE STUDY OF POETRY.

PHILATELY has advanced very far beyond the stage in which it used to be flouted as a schoolboy's hobby, or wondered at as the mania of eccentric individuals. But now that it has established its position amongst the fine arts and sciences, and commands an extensive literature of its own, there appears to be a very real danger of its suffering in popularity or becoming deteriorated in tone from one or other of two conflicting influences, viz., specialism and speculation.

However desirable and even essential the first of these may be in the case of an expert or an intending author, to the average collector its tendency is to produce weariness of the flesh, and to drive him from his pastime in despair. How far the second may be carried, and what an amount of disgust may be occasioned by such sordid selfishness, can readily be perceived from a note in the admirable catalogue just issued by Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, in which we are informed under the heading of Seychelles that out of a total issue of 12,000 copies of the 36 cent stamp surcharged upon 45c., no less than 11,400 have been acquired and are still being held by a single speculator for the rise in value. And this is by no means a solitary instance, though probably one of the worst. But such transactions are not philately: they savour rather of gambling on the stock exchange, to the detriment and annoyance alike of honest stamp dealers and of genuine collectors.

In the interests of the latter, or at any rate of as many of them as have not an indefinite amount of spare time at their disposal, I have been requested to write a series of short articles to show how, without any attempt at minute specialization, or without being biassed by speculative considerations and monetary values, the intelligent and observant philatelist may derive a vast amount of pleasure in turning over the leaves of his album, and may find in them a veritable storehouse of information for the culture and expansion of his mind.

First of all let us consider this subject from the standpoint of the lover of poetry. As his eye rests upon the various emissions of duchies, kingdoms, and empires which have passed away—some of them quenched in revolution and in blood—he cannot fail by very contrast to be reminded in the words of our late poet laureate of how our own revered sovereign

"Has kept her throne unshaken still,
'Broad-based upon her people's will."

When he looks at the three handsome stamps of the Ionian Islands, or the more recent but very inferior labels which do postal duty in Crete, reminiscences of Byron will arise before him, and of "The isles of Greece, the isles of Greece,

'Where burning Sappho loved and sung."

On his Sydney views, and many treasured specimens of British Guiana, he will find legends which revive distant memories of Virgil and of Horace. But to the English reader, as he lingers over his Egyptian page, it will be more to the point to note that the prediction of the Fairy in Queen Mab concerning the pyramids still remains unfulfilled; while the showy set of stamps now used in Barbados will recall what Campbell sings about Britannia—

"Her march is o'er the mountain waves,
'Her home is on the deep."

What an interest it adds to the fine pictorial envelopes of the Hawaiian Islands, or the 2 cent adhesives of the latest design, to know that we have before us a representation of the dreamy land chosen by Tennyson as the abode of the Lotus-Eaters—

"Far off three mountain tops
'Stood sunset flushed * * *
'The charmed sunset lingered low adown
'In the red West!"

Even the despised productions of Mr. Seebeck have the redeeming feature that, in the issue of Honduras stamps for 1892, the artist has endeavoured to depict the striking passage wherein Keats describes his feelings as being like those of "some watcher of the skies,"—

"Or like stout Cortez, when with eagle eyes
'He stared at the Pacific."

And yet again, when one turns to the beautiful series of "Periodical" stamps for the United States, let him notice that in the highest values—whether 60 or 100 dollars—he has a portrait of the dusky Indian maiden who was wooed and won by Hiawatha. In the distance we have a glimpse of the wigwam

"Where the ancient Arrowmaker
'Made his arrow heads of sandstone,
'Arrow-heads of flint and jasper * *
'With him dwelt his dark-eyed daughter * *
'Minnehaha, laughing water."

But this paper is not intended to be exhaustive: merely indicative of the interesting field for research which Philately throws open to the student of poetry. And should he care to extend his investigations to fiscal as well as to postage stamps he will find himself amply rewarded for his trouble. However, I cannot conclude without remarking that as we turn over the pages of our collections, and see under so many guises, and on the stamps of all six continents, the beloved and familiar features which so largely predominate there, we must all re-echo the sentiment expressed by a living poet in a recent patriotic ode—

"Victoria! Victoria! long may she live and reign,
'The Queen of our inviolate isles, and Empress of the main."

EDWARD BELL, M.A.

Loss of an Exchange Packet.

INVITATION TO CLUB SECRETARIES.

I HAVE to announce with deep regret that the November packet of the LONDON AND COUNTY STAMP CLUB was totally destroyed in a fire, which occurred on the premises of one of the members, on December 17th last. The packet was placed in a safe made by Samuel Withers and Co., to whom I have written respecting the loss, and who reply "We can't hold ourselves liable in any way, as we never 'guarantee Safes Fire Proof, which is a thing no Safe Maker can do. . . . ."

The Insurance Co., state that they cannot admit a claim as the value of the contents of the safe should have been declared. Perhaps some reader of the Journal can suggest a plan by which Club packets can be insured against fire and burglary during the time they are in circulation; it is, I think, a matter for the serious consideration of all Club Secretaries.

W. H. MAUNDER.

FOR several years we have specially insured our personal accumulation of stamps against fire risks through the agency of a firm doing business at Lloyds. Also, at various times during that period, we have effected short term insurances in connection with stamps sent abroad, or to exhibitions, and in all cases the rates have been very moderate.

We think that a quotation would readily be furnished for the combined insurance of a number of Club packets, and, as the risk is really a very small one, the premium should be comparatively trifling. Before making enquiries as to the cost, it seems desirable that we should ascertain what support would probably be given to a joint scheme of this kind, and thereby obtain certain figures to lay before the acceptors of the risk. We beg, therefore, to call the attention of all Club Secretaries to the proposals which, for lack of space elsewhere, will be found in our Editorial notes on page 29. [ED.]

The Fiscals of Siam.

By L. W. Fulcher, B.Sc.

I HAVE seen the 8 atts, carmine, and the 16 atts, vermilion, watermarked. The watermark consists of portions of large letters, or fragments of a design—I am unable to make out what it is. Possibly the stamps bearing it are from the borders of the sheet.

Moens gives some of the above, perforated 10. I think this must be an error.

1899. Design: small upright rectangle, 17 x 24 mm., containing Arms in a circle, with inscribed labels above and below. The characters at the top are translated as "Field Tax," and those below denote the value. Wove paper. Perf. 14.

8 atts, orange	1 tical, orange
16 „ „	2 ticals „

LAW COURTS.

1, 16, 32 atts, dull green.
1, 4, 10, 80 ticals, ?

I have only seen the 1 att, and the first of the two surcharged stamps below, but the values above mentioned are reported to have been issued. It is not stated whether the higher values are printed in dull green like the lower ones, but that is probably the case. The sheet of the 32 atts contains 25 stamps, in 5 rows of 5.

? date. Surcharged with Siamese inscription in one line and two small bars across the value.

1 att on 32 atts, dull green.
1 „ 1 tical, ?

Mr. Morley has sent me a complete sheet of the first of these two stamps. There do not appear to be any errors of surcharge. Only 10 sheets of the 1 tical are said to have been overprinted.

REVENUE.

? 1887. Design: Rectangle, 27 x 35 mm., containing portrait (? of whom) in oval. Inscription in Siamese characters on label extending around the top half of the oval signifying "Revenue Stamp." The centre of the label is interrupted by the Siamese crown. Below is a scroll bearing the words "Revenue—Siam" and the value in English. The lower part of the design is filled in with floral ornament, the upper spandrels by engine turning. Engraved in taille douce by Messrs. Waterlow and Son. Wove paper. Perf. 14½.

1 seeo	=	2 atts,	dark blue.
1 seek	=	4 „	vermilion.
1 fuang	=	8 „	bright carmine.
1 slung	=	16 „	bright yellow (perf. 15).
1 tical	=	64 „	orange.

On the yellow stamp the value is expressed as written above "1 slung" which appears to be an error for 1 salung. The 1 seeo occurs perf. 15, in all probability, as one of the surcharged stamps which follow has this perforation. Perhaps the whole set exists with both perfs., but I have not seen the 1 salung, perf. 14½.

EDITORIAL.

HAVING no case, we must abuse the plaintiff. Such appears to have been the conclusion of the Pharmaceutical Journal after perusing the exposure published in our last number from the pen of A Manufacturing Chemist, and we can but distantly admire the resources of the London journalist in this particular direction.

A sneer at the insignificance of our Journal, a delicate insinuation that the term "philatelist" is merely a longer rendering of the word "fool," and, in conclusion, the tender of the lie direct, such is the reply of our contemporary, the full text of which will be found on page 31.

With regard to the irrelevant attack on our paper we are content to let each number speak for itself; the assumption that stamp collecting betokens a particular weakness is due to the ignorance of our critic; and the imputation of untruthfulness we can afford to treat with the contempt it merits.

Our most effective reply is to publish beneath the P.J's., splenetic 'Annotation,' the more dignified, and vastly more honest, defence proffered by The British and Colonial Druggist.

We are glad to see that this contemporary approves of the method proposed by our contributor for putting an end to the "petty fraud," and though, most naturally, an attempt is made to lessen the force of the indictment, we think that the B., and C. Druggist would support our contention that the slight alteration in the label ought to be made and the additional regulation enforced.

The later enquiries made by us have merely confirmed the opinion already expressed that the practice is so wide-spread as to have become the rule.

In the words of one of the best known members of the profession,—who thoroughly approves of the course we have taken—"it is useless to suppose that many druggists will deliberately tear up and throw away three ha'pence or threepence so long as the label remains as it is."

We hope that the attention of Parliament will be called to the point in question, and that in due time we shall have the satisfaction of announcing that one more leakage has been effectively stopped.

* * * * *

For a paper of this kind, which numbers amongst its subscribers the devotees of several distinct sections, it is not an easy matter to obtain contributions that shall appeal strongly to all of them, but we feel sure that there are very few who will not thoroughly enjoy the remarkable paper published in this number above the name of the Rev. Edward Bell, M.A.

We wish to express our thorough agreement with his warning as to the very real and imminent danger contained in the terms, specialism and speculation.

Very recently, Mr. E. J. Nankivell drew a most telling picture of the baneful results of the former practice when he exhibited the spectacle of a specialist, in say Shanghai, reading a paper to a score of members of the premier society, not more than two or three of whom take the slightest interest in the country: "They listen courteously, grimly, with unenlightened faces."

If financial considerations or the lack of time compel us to limit our range, it is infinitely better to draw the line through minor varieties (a term which may mean little or a very great deal at the option of the collector) than to blot out whole territories and continents. Some, of course, have a genius for specializing, and it is as impossible as it is undesirable to lay down rules for the guidance of other people in this direction, but the fact remains that the general collector is the backbone of the hobby, and gets more real enjoyment and benefit out of his pursuit than the majority of those who are styled "philatelic hermits" by the Editor of The Record.

We publish on page 26 an account of the loss by fire of a Club packet, and in connection therewith we make the following proposals.

We ask each Secretary of an Exchange Club, circulating packets within the British Isles, to let us know promptly if he or she will join in a scheme for mutual protection against loss if the conditions to be submitted prove to be reasonable and the cost nominal.

If replying in the affirmative—as we trust that all will do—we ask to be furnished with the number of packets circulated monthly, the average number of persons seeing each one, the average time each is in circulation, and the average value of the packets circulated during 1899, or since the formation of the Society. This information will be regarded as confidentially communicated for the purpose specified.

We propose to ask for two quotations, one covering the risk of fire only, the other of fire and burglary, and, if our scheme be taken up in the desired manner, it shall rest with the participants to decide as to which of these safeguards shall be adopted.

The general lists of the Revenue Stamps of Siam are completed in this number, and collectors are requested to send in particulars of any varieties in their possession that have not been catalogued for inclusion in the Addenda.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS,

CURRENT IN 1900.

By G. W. J. Potter.

THE Brecon and Merthyr has a neat design on a watered background for the first three values, while the 3d., and 6d., are much larger, and of the same type as the Cambrian. They are evidently survivals of the first issue, as they are without the inscription "At Owner's Risk," although this has been printed at the bottom of the 3d., both being imperforate. The design of the smaller sizes is evidently based upon that of the older issue, and is a decided improvement in general appearance. Some few months ago the colour of the 2d., was an extremely pale green instead of the dark green that it now is; but changes like this do not seem to trouble railway officials as they do philatelists; they are all green, and that is enough for them.

Brecon and Merthyr.

Sheets of 12 (4 rows of 3). Size 2.9 x 4.3 cm.

½d. Black on dark blue, perf. 11.
1d. ,, ,, yellow, ,,
2d. ,, ,, green, ,,

Old Type. Size 5.6 x 7.1 cm.

3d. Black on dull rose, imperf.
6d. ,, ,, white, ,,

The Cambrian still keep to their original size and design, although the 1½d., value has been discarded, the ½d., issued in a smaller size, and "At Owner's Risk" added to all. The figure of value is on a shield partly covering an inverted triangle with an oblong at the bottom; there is a dotted background, the shading of which is very peculiar. The shades of colour and the quality of paper seem to vary considerably with each issue, the figures of value being also in various styles. The present issue is as follows:

Cambrian.

Sheet of 12 (3 rows of 4). Size of ½d., 2.8 x 3.8; others, 6.5 x 7.7 cm.

½d.	Black on red,		perf	11.
1d.	,,	,, white,	,,	10½.
2d.	,,	,, yellow,	,,	,,
3d.	,,	,, pale green (glazed)	,,	,,
6d.	,,	,, red ,,	,,	,,

The stamps issued by the Corris Railway are of 3 values, and show a small and neat design, as befits a small line of only 11 miles, and of the modest gauge of 2 feet 3 in. The figure of value appears in a circle with name of the company in a band around it; at the bottom is the usual inscription in an oblong, and at the top a similar, though smaller, blank rectangle. This is apparently for the control number which however is not given in the higher values, but in the case of the ½d., stamps it has been written in this space.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

THE Great Western Railway first issued stamps about 1860, and the design then adopted has remained unchanged throughout, though the large unwieldly labels of the early issues have given place to a smaller and more workmanlike stamp, and various changes of colour have been necessary, usually to denote changes of value caused by the decreased scale of charges for conveyance of goods.

3lbs. (4d.); 6 (5d.); 12 (7d.); 24 (9d.); 48 (1s. 1d.)

Note.—In specimens I have seen the 48lbs., has control at bottom, the other values have it at top.

2nd Issue. (18—.) Similar, but colour changed to blue, marking a reduction in the rate. Controls at top; perf. 12.

3lbs. (3d.); 6 (4d.); 12 (6d.); 24 (8d.); 48 (1s.)

2 (a). Similar, but surcharged "NORTHERN DIVISION" at sides, and "UNDER 40 miles" in blank space. Printed in red, surcharged in black; perf. 12.

3lbs. 16lbs. 24lbs. 48lbs.

3rd issue. Similar, but value in centre, and weight in blank space. No controls or surcharge. Wove paper; perf. 12.

3lbs. 3d., bistre.

4th Issue. Similar, but value in centre, and black controls at bottom. In this and all succeeding issues the control figures vary greatly in size, shape, and setting.

1d., red, perf. 10, 12.
2d., ,, ,, 10.
3d., ,, ,, 10, 12.
4d., ,, ,, 12.

Note.—There are two distinct types of this issue, one, similar to the preceding issues, and the other very much superior in execution. The difference is easily noticeable in the thicker paper and throughout the design, but perhaps more especially in the small ornamentation above the space for the control nos., which in the finer set rises to a point, instead of being almost flat as in the other issues. The fine set is usually perf. 10, and the coarser 12, but I have seen the fine 3d., perf. 12.

4 (a). Provincial issue. Similar, but inscribed "PREPAID PROVINCIAL NEWSPAPER PARCEL." Coarsely printed in red on thin wove paper; perf. 12.

2d., 3d., 4d.

THE FRAUD ON THE REVENUE.

ANOTHER Baseless Slander on Chemists is being circulated, this time in a trivial publication called Morley's Philatelic Journal. The March issue of that record of human weakness, as revealed by the stamp-collecting craze, contains some suggestions for improvements in "patent" medicine labels, by a person who styles himself "A Manufacturing Chemist." But the slander referred to is embodied in an editorial note referring to those suggestions, wherein chemists are accused of deliberate fraud. The writer of the editorial note states that he recently visited a number of vendors of "patent" medicines with the double object of securing any old stamps that might be found on preparations now unfashionable, and of asking for such labels as they are accustomed to detach from proprietary articles sold in lesser quantities, or used in the course of business. To his great surprise he found, as he alleges, that "it is the almost invariable practice to use over again all the current labels thus obtained, and that this is done as a matter of course without any attempt at concealment." Further, he alleges that "chemists of high repute and eminent respectability have freely admitted their habitual fraudulent evasion of what seems to be regarded as 'an unreasonable duty,'" and that "the Exchequer is annually defrauded to the extent of many thousands of pounds by the general indulgence in this practice." With regard to all the statements quoted an unqualified denial may be offered; in fact, we venture to stigmatise them as deliberate falsehoods.

Pharmaceutical Journal. Mar. 17.

THE question of the illegal use of patent medicine stamps by affixing them to packages of proprietaries after they have already done service on other similar goods is by no means new, but the matter is again brought up in the March number of Morley's Philatelic Journal. As pointed out there, some of the older stamps contained a blank space in which the name of the article or of the manufacturer had to be inserted, and if that condition were insisted on it would prevent the chance of a stamp taken from one proprietary being used to pay the duty on another. As the trade knows well some preparations, notably teething powders, which in packets can only be sold bearing a stamp, may be retailed singly unstamped and the stamps originally affixed to the packets may be made available for use on quite different articles. The editor of the journal quoted goes on to say that a course of enquiries undertaken by him has elicited the fact that chemists of high repute habitually use stamps which have already served their legitimate use on dutiable articles, to frank other preparations. Our contemporary also goes on to say that the Exchequer is annually defrauded to the extent of many thousands of pounds by this practice. While not disputing that occasional misuse of the patent medicine stamp, such as we have outlined above, may take place, we cannot think that chemists as a rule indulge in what is in plain language a petty fraud.

REVIEWS.

CATALOGUE of the Telegraph Stamps of the World. Compiled and published by WALTER MORLEY. (179 pages, 369 illustrations. Price 5s.)

As the salient features of this work have been described each month in our advertisement pages there can be no need to reiterate them here. Mr. Morley has demonstrated once more that the interests of the collector and of the dealer are very much the same, for in supplying this long wanted catalogue he has rendered a very real service to a rapidly increasing body of philatelists. That the action will be properly appreciated scarcely admits of doubt, for the work is one of those few which all dealers and most collectors would class as indispensable.

The printers—Messrs. Pardy & Son, of Bournemouth—have given excellent effect to the wishes of the compiler, and the result is a book of handy size, clearly printed on one side of good paper, and profusely illustrated by means of photo reproductions.

What strikes us most forcibly as we turn over the leaves is the surprisingly small proportion of unpriced varieties. Nearly every stamp is priced either used or unused, and quotations are given for a very large number in both conditions; this is a most satisfactory state of affairs, especially when taken in connection with the preliminary notice that all varieties priced can be supplied at the date of publication.

Historique des Papiers Timbres et des Timbres Fiscaux Mobiles de la France. By A. GUENIN. (41 pages, and 6 plates containing 67 types. Price 1 fr.) A very special word of commendation is due to those who strike out rich fields and pastures new, and then make public the fruits of their researches. As yet the domain of the fiscal non-adhesive has only been entered in one or two places, and to the best of our knowledge this is the first published account of a sustained and successful exploration.

Starting with an Act passed by the Parliament of Paris on March 20th., 1655, our author traces the history of the stamped papers through the ever changing régimes of that fair land. Monarchy and Revolution, Republic and Restoration, each in turn has left its impress on these legal documents, which, therefore, faithfully portray the dominating influence of their time.

There must be many to whom such pioneer work as this would be most congenial, and we should be glad to know that the subject was likely to receive the attention it deserves.

The Stamp Collectors' Almanac. Edited by S. STEWART; London Publishers: W. R. RUSSELL & CO., LIMITED, (55 pages, freely illustrated. Price 6d.) The principal contents are: A Glossary of Philatelic Terms; Illustrations of 110 Watermarks—reproduced from Scotts' Catalogue; an Illustrated Record of New Issues; Patriotic Philately by W. S. Webb; a partial Auction Record for 1899, with photos of Auctioneers; particulars of a number of Philatelic Societies—why not have listed them all?—with photos of some of the Secretaries; Stamps of Baden, an amusing specimen of a translation from the German.

MONTHLY CHRONICLE.

FISCAL AND TELEGRAPH

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Notes relating to Telegraphs are distinguished by an asterisk.

Alsace and Lorraine. At last the full set of the recent issue is announced in Le T.P. Issued on February 9th, 1898, the two types have already been fully described; the values are as follows:

Type 1.	10 pf., carmine
20 pf., ultramarine	40 pf., red-brown
50 pf., brown	80 pf., black.
Type 2.	1 mark, green
1 m. 20 pf., carmine	1 m. 50 pf., carmine
2 marks, reddish-lilac	5 marks, brown
10 ,, grey black	20 ,, yellow.

A third type is now announced, it is very similar to the first but is reduced in size to 20 x 26 mm.

5 pf., yellow green 1 m. 60 pf., brown
2 m. 50 pf., deep green.

Anhalt. Current type (Arms in centre, value in circles at side): 1m. 50pf., green, perf. 11½, cancelled 9/9/97 (A. Wülburn).

Bussahir. Chronicled and illustrated by L'Ami. Realistic tiger in a circle with name of state above, frame differing for each value. The 3r., is on white wove, the others on laid paper. ? imperf.

12 annas, violet 2 rupees, bistre-brown
3 rupees, black 4 ,, green & carmine
5 rupees, rose and yellow-green.

Fribourg. Mr. Paul Gilbert has forwarded several values of an issue previously unknown to us. The type is the customary horizontal rectangle (Moens' type 12702), printed in blue with the exception of the title in the upper margin which is in red block caps., and reads TIMBRE MOBILE GRADUÉ. Those seen bear across the centre large overprinted figures of value in blue or violet reducing the price of the stamp by one-half, but we are given to understand that the set exists unsurcharged, though the stamps may not have been so issued for use. There should be one or two lower values.

1fr. 50c.,	in violet,	on 3	francs,	blue	and	red
2fr.,	,,	,, 4	,,	,,	,,
2fr. 50c.,	,,	,, 5	,,	,,	,,

4fr. 50c.,	in violet,	,, 9	,,	,,	,,
5fr.,	in blue,	,, 10	,,	,,	,,

India. Mr. W. Corfield sends a report to the effect that the recently chronicled provisional 2 rupees Telegraph stamp will soon be replaced by another printed by De La Rue, which will, in turn, give place to a permanent stamp of the "Widow" type.

Peru. Mr. W. Morley possesses the following varieties with inverted overprints:—

1870-71. Puno. Callao with Arms.

Portugal. Mr. H. Thompson sends us specimens of the lower values of several issues.

Cartazes. This should be a new tax on advertising posters. Upright rectangle, 22 x 40 mm. In the centre, arms surrounded by foliage above scrolls containing IMPOSTO DO SELLO; in the upper part is a shell pattern, all being printed in carmine. The date—1900—and the title appear boldly in two lines at the top, and the value in figures at the bottom, all overprinted in black. Printed on white wove paper, roughly perf. 11½. 50 reis, carmine and black.

Contribuicao Industrial. The type remains the same (small triangular), the date—1900—being overprinted at the top, and the value at the bottom, in black. 2r., and 5r., green, 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50r., brown.

Decima de Juros. Same type. The colour is a delicate greyish lilac, and the date —1900—is overprinted in black between the arms and the value. Perf. 11½. We have received the 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 reis.

Espectaculos Publicos. This is another novelty. Horizontally rectangular frame, 40 x 20 mm. 5 mm., from the left side is a vertical line, and in the space cut off there appears the above title and the words LADO DO TALAO (talon), in two lines of small capitals both reading downward. To the right of this is a handsome frame containing the arms; in the upper part of the right hand portion a scroll bears the inscription IMPOSTO DO SELLO, below it there is trellis work, and at the bottom a framed space for the overprinted value in large figures. Printed on white wove paper, perf. 11½. Black overprint.

10 reis, green; 20 reis, blue.

Mr. Hamel says that this evidently represents a duty on theatrical and other public entertainments, the stamps being intended for use on the tickets.

Imposto do Sello. The Bill stamps show a new design though they retain the same shape and size. Arms, on a faint background of yellow diamonds, in an oval between the title and the date engraved on curved scrolls. The value is overprinted in black, in figures at the top, in words at the base, and a chaste floral tracery covers the remaining spaces. Printed in brown on white wove paper, perf. 11½. Received: 10, 15, 20, 30, 40, 50 reis.

Roumania. The colours of two of the telegraph cards announced last month are 25b., blue; 80b., green and carmine.

U.S.A. The Metropolitan Philatelist states that the $1, $3, $5 and $10 have been printed in aniline ink, in new colours, in the hope of putting a stop to the wholesale cleaning of used copies.

$1 red; $3 reddish brown; $5 blue; $10 purple.

Published by WALTER MORLEY, 15, Brownhill Gardens, Catford, S.E.; and printed by JOHN GEORGE PAYN, 12, Market Hill, Sudbury, Suffolk. April, 1900.

Postage, Revenue, Telegraph, and Railway Stamps.

VOL. I. MAY, 1900. No. 5.

"DISCOVERIES."

COLUMBIAN REPUBLIC. STATE OF BOLIVAR. Mr. A. M. South has submitted an uncancelled copy of the 5 centavos of 1879 on white wove paper, rouletted on three sides. The stamp was detached from the sheet by the aid of a pair of scissors, and on two sides there is a good margin outside the roulette.

GREAT BRITAIN. VACCINATION CERTIFICATES. To the list of dates given on page 45 of our publisher's catalogue Mr. T. P. Dorman adds:

½d., green on white, 11/12/71 and 19/1/72.

NEVIS. 6d., GREEN, CC. This postage stamp with REVENUE overprint, first chronicled in our March number, has been found with the addition of "Saint Christopher" in violet in two lines. Evidently a supply of the CC stamps reached the island, and collectors of postage stamps should look out for this probable variety.

Standard Size of Cards.

MAY I inquire if there is any recognised standard size of Cards upon which to mount stamps, postal stationery, etc.? I wish to remount my collections of English stamps, stationery, etc., and if there is any particular size of Cards so generally in use as to be looked upon as a standard, I should like to adopt it. I see very great convenience and advantage in uniformity of method.

Should there not be already any such standard, I should like to suggest to philatelists the desirability of one being agreed upon, suitable for adoption by all who have not any particular predilection of their own. There are two factors which govern the solution of this problem. (1) The sizes in which cards in boards are stocked by paper-makers. (2) The dimensions of the largest pieces of stationery which philatelists are likely to have in their collections.

As to the first, I am informed by a large firm of paper-makers in Leeds that boards are stocked in two sizes—20 x 25 in., and 22 x 32 in.—the dimensions being when trimmed and with straight edges.

As to the second factor, I take it that the full sheet of English stamps—which is 11¼ x 21½ in.—would have to be mounted, and this condition at once disposes of the 20 x 25 in., boards. The other size divides conveniently into two cards, 22 x 16 in., each of which takes a full sheet of stamps, and this again into multiples 11 x 8 in., suitable for mounting collections of single stamps and small blocks.

As it seems to me most advisable that the sizes of large and of small cards for mounting stamps should be multiples of each other, it becomes apparent that the multiples 11 x 8 for small, and 22 x 16 for full-sized cards would be the most logical sizes to adopt for a standard. W. D. R.

Notes on the Telegraph Stamps of Kashmir.

By J. H. Lane.

IN the hope of eliciting from more fully informed Philatelists a complete history and description of the Telegraph Stamps of Kashmir, I have consented to put together a few notes which are based on my own observation only, and which may or may not be correct.

The labels for use with private telegrams were printed in colours, and are classified in Morley's Catalogue as follows:—

1 anna, green.

2 annas, brown.

4 annas, blue.

8 annas, yellow.

1 rupee, vermilion.

2 rupees, green.

5 rupees, chocolate.

10 rupees, vermilion.

The stamps for official telegrams (printed in black) are given as existing in all the above-mentioned values. As regards the former, the classification is undoubtedly correct, as may also possibly be that of the official stamps, but these latter I have only seen in six values, viz : 1, 2 and 4 annas, and 1, 2 and 5 rupees. I am doubtful whether the 10 and 25 rupee values, in black for the use of officials, were ever printed or used. It was only for costly telegrams to countries beyond Indian limits that high value stamps were requisite, and such telegrams were only sent by European residents in, and visitors to Kashmir. The issue of the 8 anna stamp in black seems also open to doubt.

It appears to be generally thought that each sheet of these stamps was printed at one operation from a lithographic stone, but this was evidently not the case. A close examination of labels of any one value will show that they all coincide to an extent that would be impossible had they been separately drawn for transfer to the stone. This close resemblance is noticeable throughout the design, but is most clearly shown in the breaks and faults in the line of the outer frame : pairs or blocks strikingly evidence this fact. From this it may be inferred that a single die was prepared for each value, and that each label was printed separately by hand on the sheet : the die was probably of brass, as I have seen it stated that the postage stamps of Kashmir were printed from brass seals.

As regards the coloured stamps, the shades are very numerous and probably no two printings coincide. I have seen the 1 anna stamp in light and dark green, yellow-green and emerald green, the 2 anna in brown, stone and buff, and so on. Similarly the varieties of paper used were very extensive—laid and wove of various thicknesses and tints. Any suitable paper in stock, or purchasable in the bazaar, at the time required, appears to have been used, and I believe it would be difficult, if not impossible, to make up a complete set on any one kind of paper.

I am inclined to think that the first issue of these stamps must have comprised only the 1, 2 and 4 anna and the 1 rupee values, but although these four values may be considered as practically one issue, there are signs in the drawing of the 2 anna stamp that it was executed by a different draughtsman or at a different time : e.g., the 'a' in 'annas' in the Persian inscription is slanting in the 1 and 4 anna values and almost upright in that of the 2 anna.

The Forthcoming Philatelic Exhibition.

NOTES AND ANNOUNCEMENT OF SOME SPECIAL PRIZES.

AT the eleventh hour we appropriate a page for the purpose of supplementing the information that has appeared in several of our contemporaries with respect to the International Philatelic Exhibition to be held this year in Paris, and of bringing to the notice of our readers the particulars of certain special competitions in connection with the Fiscal Class.

In each copy of this number sent in the regular way to subscribers there will be found an application for space, and, as it is exceedingly probable that some who had not previously intended to compete may now feel inclined to enter the lists, we give such particulars as will enable them to put themselves in order, even though they may not be in possession of the Rules and may not be able to secure a copy in time. The following is a condensed summary of essential points:

Applications to be received by M. Albert Coyette, 138, Rue de Rivoli, Paris, before May 31st. Fiscals come under Class VIII which has three Divisions:—1. General collections. II. French. III. One or more Foreign Countries. Telegraphs form Class IX. Municipals, Class X. If specially mounting, use cards or sheets 33 cm., high by 25 cm., wide so that 12 occupy 1 sq., mètre. Charge for space per sq., mètre: upright cases 10/-, horizontal cases 12/-, one or two albums 16/-, more than two at per sq., mètre. If desired, the Committee will effect all needful insurance at rates to be announced later on. All exhibits have to be delivered by August 15th. Exhibition opens August 25th, and closes September 10th. Arrangements made to prevent Customs examinations.

Subscribers who intend to exhibit can have a copy of the prospectus by making application to our Editorial address.

Three silver and two bronze medals have been offered to the Committee by the members of The Fiscal Stamp Exchange Club and have been accepted. These awards are intended as additional incentives to induce collectors of revenue stamps to display their treasures, and the conditions have been framed in such a way that all ranks and grades may equally compete. It must be understood that fiscal stamps only are spoken of in the following paragraphs, which set forth the terms of the competitions in connection with which the above named prizes are offered.

A silver medal for the best exhibit of rare stamps showing not less than 50 nor more than 75 varieties. In counting the number, stamps in pairs, strips or blocks shall be divided by two.

A silver medal for the most meritorious collection of stamps consisting of not more than five specimens from each country or province, but expressly excluding municipals. The intention is to secure within small compass a representative collection of the world's fiscals, and whilst condition of specimens and general effectiveness of appearance are to be taken into consideration no credit is to be given for rarity.

A silver medal for the best, and a bronze medal for the second best, collection of one country or natural group of countries (such as British West Indies, or Norway and Sweden), showing not less than 100 varieties and exhibited by a member of the Fiscal Stamp Exchange Club. Competitors in Divisions II and III of the Fiscal Section (Classe VIII) are eligible if they fail to gain a prize therein, so those competing in these two divisions if Club members should state that fact when sending in their exhibits.

A bronze medal for the most attractive exhibit consisting of not more than 50 nor less than 30 stamps. Beauty of specimens and effectiveness of arrangement to be taken into account, but no credit to be given for the adornment of the card. This also is open only to members of the Club.

New members, if admitted before the end of July, shall be eligible to compete for the Club medals. In the event of there not being more than one competitor for a medal, the judges may, at their discretion, award it to some more meritorious exhibit of fiscal or telegraph stamps.

The Fiscals of Siam.

By L. W. Fulcher, B.Sc.

SINCE the appearance of my articles in the February and April numbers of this journal, I have received additional information from a variety of sources which necessitate the following supplementary notes.

LAND TAX.

Referring to the list in the February number, Mr. H. S. Terrett reports that he possesses the 32 atts and 2 ticals, grey, and 2 ticals, vermilion; the perforation is not mentioned but is presumably 13½. The same gentleman submits a pair of the 8 atts, olive, perf. 11½ imperforate between vertically. Mr. H. O. Wells shows the 1 tical yellow, perf. 13½, and I have also seen the 2 ticals, dark blue, perf. 11½. Mr. Morley states that his Siam correspondent has been to the Treasury but cannot obtain any definite information as to the first date of issue of these stamps.

They have been in use for "over 15 or 20 years." The dates of the changes of colour are likewise unknown. I have also received from Mr. Morley the following:—

(1) A complete sheet of the 8 atts, bright green, perf. 13½, consisting of 10 rows of 10 stamps. The sheet is ungummed and bears a watermark of the paper maker's name, LACROIX FRERES, which is spread over a block of 12 stamps (3 rows of 4) in the upper left hand corner of the sheet. The watermark is inverted with respect to the stamps.

(2) A similar sheet of the 16 atts. In this, however, the watermark of the paper maker's name is spread over the first four stamps of the 6th and 7th rows. It is not inverted as in the sheet of the 8 atts.

(3) A similar sheet of the 1 tical except that in this value there are only 50 stamps in 10 rows of 5, and the watermark is absent.

(4) A sheet of the 2 ticals containing 50 stamps as in the 1 tical. Here the watermark is along the top margin of the sheet, but the word FRERES partially covers the 2nd to 5th stamps of the first row.

The above explains the existence of the watermark referred to in the March number.

The Land Tax stamps occasionally bear an obliteration in violet which looks somewhat like a surcharge. It is, however, simply a cancellation mark giving the year, named after the Chinese fashion according to one of the signs of the zodiac, which are the rat, ox, tiger, hare, dragon, snake, horse, goat, ape, cock, dog and bear, corresponding to the ram, bull, twins, crab, &c., of the West.*

In order to facilitate the identification of these stamps I append illustrations of the inscriptions which denote the values.

8 atts.

16 atts.

32 atts.

1 tical.

2 ticals.

4 ticals.

LAW COURTS.

Mr. Morley sends me a block of 24 stamps of the 1 att which is interesting as showing another setting up of this value. The sheet previously chronicled contained 25 stamps in 5 rows of 5. The present block is from the top left hand corner of the sheet in 3 rows of 8 stamps. Judging from analogy with the Land Tax Stamps, it seems as if the stamps are in rows of 10 in this setting, but of how many rows it is impossible to say.

(To be concluded).

EDITORIAL.

"YOU will be able to state in your next issue that the matter has been brought before the authorities at your instance by an M.P., and that it is now receiving the careful consideration of the Chancellor of the Exchequer." Thus writes a friend y supporter of Her Majesty's Government in connection with our Medicine Label exposure, and, as we are further assured that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is taking a personal interest in our efforts, we have good reason for hoping that they will speedily be justified by their success.

As might be expected, a considerable amount of interest has been aroused by our very plain speaking, and we have received much curious and interesting information on closely allied topics from those who sympathize with our endeavour to remedy this evil. For the moment we prefer to place on one side most of this recently communicated matter in order that the very definite point at issue may not be confused or evaded, but we feel constrained to make reference to two of the letters received since our last number was published.

One subscriber, who states that for the last ten years he has been a chemists' assistant, writes with regard to our Editorial comments that he heartily coincides with every word of them, and that his experience in various parts of the country fully confirms our contention. He says "If the present stamps all had to have the names of the articles written on them it would prevent a lot of fraud."

The other communication deals with a side-issue, but one that is too interesting to be passed over so we quote a few words, "Some fraudulent Germans, as you doubtless know, forge medicine labels and card stamps and send them here for export and colonial use, for the Colonies take largely of our quack medicines." Colonial subscribers are requested to be on the look out for such forgeries, and to send for inspection any suspicious labels they may come across with full particulars of the preparations concerned. The absence of the Crown watermark is likely to be the best rough test.

* * * * *

The appearance of the Telegraph catalogue has unloosed a flood of wealth, a driblet of which is all that we can find vent for in this issue. The chronicle will now be separated from the Fiscals, and when the first rush is over we hope to arrange for a Telegraph page, one column of which shall be devoted to new issues and additions to the catalogue. Contributors are asked to send specimens whenever possible, especially when describing additions to the Ceylon list as this is the most complicated series and mistakes may very easily be made.

* * * * *

Since the rest of our number went to press some most interesting news has come to hand for which room must certainly be found.

Orange Free State. Ordinary English postage stamps have been ordered for use in Bloemfontein, but, for immediate use, a small supply of Free State stamps left by the Boers on their retirement has been surcharged. They were first issued on March 19th., and we are not informed what values were put on sale, but Staff-Sergeant C. Piens, to whom we are indebted for the news, has received the ½d., and 1d., and the ½d., post card.

He has kindly sent for inspection the two latter, which show the overprint V.R.I. across the tree, and the value in figures beneath it.

The overprinted penny stamp franked a letter to England, but the card bears an additional English penny adhesive.

From Messrs. Whitfield King and Co., of Ipswich, we have received a copy of the second edition of their "Universal Standard Catalogue of the Postage Stamps of the World," published at the very low price of 1/3. It is well printed, fully and clearly illustrated, and its great features are the elimination of all minor varieties and the valuation of every stamp listed. We are unfeignedly glad to have such a tangible proof of the wisdom of the compilers in presenting this arrangement, for it follows so closely on the heels of its predecessor that it seems strange to read that many months have been occupied in the work of revision. The success of this work, coupled with the serial publication of a similar undertaking in Ewen's Weekly, marks a healthy shrinking from the perils of specialism to which we made reference in our last Editorial notes.

We have also received the first two numbers of The Young Stamp Collector, Edited from 32, Ballater Road, Brixton, S.W., by Mr. Fred. J. Melville, and published at the modest rate of 1/6 per annum. Its object is sufficiently indicated by its name, and it has certainly made a remarkably good start. In these two numbers the rising generation is made acquainted by portraits and by biographical sketches with Messrs. E. D. Bacon and M. P. Castle J.P., and embryo Bacons and Castles are introduced to the public at large. We wish our confrère every success in his self-imposed and not too enviable labours.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS,

2d. " " " "

The Manchester and Milford Railway is so-called because it does not go to either place, running only from Aberystwith to Pencader, a distance of 41½ miles, where it joins the Great Western, and is thus purely a Welsh line. It issues four values of stamps, all excepting the ½d., being of the same design, though it cannot be praised. The figure of value is on a shield in the centre of the stamp with "d" in an oval at the side, the name of the Co., and "Prepaid Newspaper Parcel" being in scrolls above and below; all enclosed in a frame with plenty of graining and large margins. The 3d., alone, has vertical control numbers on the left side of the value. The ½d., is extremely curious, for, being printed from the same plate as the Great Northern, it actually contains the shields of England and Scotland, which together form the heraldic device of the G. N. R. The name only of the Co., has been changed, otherwise paper and impression are the same. One can understand the same block or plate, if of conventional type, being used for various companies by changing the title, but the retention of the special device of another company is not so easily explained. Probably it was done in a hurry; however, Messrs. Mc. Corquodale cannot be congratulated on mixing up two companies in such a manner.

Manchester and Milford.

The sheet of the ½d., value contains 12 stamps, of the 1d., and 2d., 9, and of the 3d., 4.

½d. Red on white, black overprint, perf. 11.
Size 2.9 by 4.3 cm.
1d. Black on pink, " "
Size 6.9 by 8.6. cm.
2d. " " pale blue, " 11½.
Size 6.9 by 9.5 cm.
3d. " " yellow, vert, control, " 11.
Size 5.9 by 8.8 cm.

An extremely neat monogram of the letters N. & B. R., in an Oxford frame with value underneath, is used for the stamps of the Neath and Brecon Railway, and it is one of the few original designs to be met with amongst these stamps.

The ½d., and 1d., are in sheets of 6, 2 rows of 3, while the 2d., and 3d., are probably survivals of an earlier issue, being on glazed surfaced paper and having 8 to the sheet. I have a variety of this last stamp, tête bêche.

The arrangement of the stamps of the G.W. R., itself is not a very difficult task, but a very much harder problem is presented by the stamps of the many small lines that have at various times been absorbed into its great system. Little is known of the issues of many of these, and I am afraid that the appended notes are very far from complete.

Bristol & Exeter Railway.

Morley catalogues 1d., black on white, but I have not seen it, and believe it to be a cloak room ticket.

AUSTRIAN MYSTERIES.

By an Old Collector.

THE first issue was in use after the 8th July 1858, as I have plenty used together with the above on documents obliterated in 1859. To my mind, the remaining values of the so-called second issue were only printed as those of the old became exhausted, consequently, each value, except the 6kr., which exists typographed, has its own particular date of issue.

Later on, as they became exhausted, the typographed values enumerated above were replaced by an engraved series. In these, the engraving was apparently very carelessly executed, as distinct, and in some cases absolutely different, figures of value appear.

It is my firm conviction that all the authorities have so far muddled (1) the dates of issue, (2) order of paper, and certainly none have attempted (3) the order of the perforations.

These last, I admit, are difficult to explain satisfactorily, but, obviously, owing to the stamps of each issue being of various sizes, the rows of needles required to be constantly moved, and most probably those in each row were not set to any particular guage. If an entire sheet of the first issue could be found, very likely more than one variety of perforation would be found on the sheet.

In the later issues the perforations are not so numerous, but the workmanship is worse, as the stamps themselves show that the rows of needles in many instances were not even straight.

From cancelled copies of the first issue we know that the oldest have the smallest perforations, and I can only conclude that from 1850 to 1870, and even later, the perforation was gradually widened. Assuming this to be correct, the matter of arranging the order of the papers becomes somewhat easier.

The undernoted table gives the order in which I should chronicle the issues of the early Austrian Bill stamps.

I. 1850. Watermarked Eagle, "Stempel Marke," etc.; perfs. 18 x 15½ to 13 x 13½ (single and compound), 60 varieties of perforation. Paper, white wove (stout, medium, and thin). Values and C.M. (Conventions Münze) engraved, except the two lowest denominations which have values typographed.

1, 2, 3, 6, 10, 15, 30, 45 kr., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 fl.

II. July, 1858. No watermark; perfs. 16½ to 13½ (single and compound). Paper, white wove. Engraved frames, with values (without C.M.) typographed in the centres.

½, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 12, 25, 60, 72 kr.

N.B.—The 6kr., exists typographed, and it is therefore to be assumed that this value of the first issue became exhausted at this time.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

INDIA. We illustrate the recent 2 rupees provisional received from Mr. Corfield and chronicled in our February number.

He has since sent us another variety now doing temporary duty pending the arrival of the new design. Use has been made of the 2 rupees Foreign Bill, blue paper, the original title being struck out, and the word TELEGRAPH overprinted upwards in black caps., at the extreme left.

Persia. This country may be struck off the list as stamps are not used in Persia for the payment of telegraph charges.

Mr. J. H. Lane has pointed out that the two stamps listed are postage stamps that have franked letters emanating from the Indo European Telegraph Office at Teheran, and that they merely afford an example of the frequent custom of privately defacing stamps to prevent theft. We have since verified this statement and have seen some other values bearing the overprint; from a copy now before us it looks as though the words TELEGRAPH SERVICE had been applied after the stamp was affixed to the envelope.

Porto Rico. We have four additions to make to the list of Municipal Telegraphs.

Anasco. Dr. Kalckhoff announces the 9c., red on blue paper, perf. 12; and Mr. Morley finds that the 21c., red on orange exists in two types readily distinguished by the size of the word TELEGRAPHOS.

Cabo Rojo. A stamp of quite a new type has been submitted by Mr. H. S. Terrett and is reproduced herewith.

It appears to be a rather rough local production, and we shall be glad of further information respecting the issue.

(? Date.) 1cts., black on pink, imperf.

Guayanilla. Another addition to the list of places is made by Mr. Terrett who announces in the general type:

21c., red on buff, perf. 12. (Type 319.)

We believe that other towns should be included in the list, and any fresh information, especially if accompanied by the specimen referred to, will be very welcome.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

AMAZONAS. Thesouro. New issue chronicled and illustrated by L'Ami. The 100 reis has the figures of value in the centre on a solid ground with inscription above; the 400 reis shows a chart of the river, surmounted by an eagle, with value in circles at the base; the higher values display an eagle above a panel on which the value is printed in coloured figures. Perf. 12½.

100 reis, pale blue 400 reis, bistre
1000 ,, yellow-green, figures red
2000 ,, ,, ,, ,, blue
5000 ,, vermilion ,, ,,

Canada. Mr. Morley has shown us a doubly-printed copy of the 3c., green, Bill Stamp. The two impressions are so clear that the value in words reads TTHREE.

Cuba. "Giro." Of the type with embossed head chronicled in January number, we have seen one or two other values that appear to have been used as adhesives, but the evidence is not sufficiently strong to include them. We have, however, found one on a portion of original bill with part of an English bill stamp on the reverse. It is the 6 escudos, blue, and is further distinguished by the overprint in 3 lines of black block caps., across the head

HABILITADO
POR LA
NACION. Of the succeeding issue in lilac-brown,—dated 1870—we have found the 4 esc. 50c., with gum on back, cancelled 12/8/71, and the 6 esc., evidently used as an adhesive and cancelled ABR 7 1870.

France. Effets de Commerce. 1864. Another error to be added to the list. 50c., slate and red, with range 200 à 1000 francs instead of 500 à 1000 (Echo de la Timbrologie).

German East Africa. Our Teutonic neighbours are endeavouring to lessen their Colonial financial burden by imposing stamp duties in their African dependencies. The first type shows the Imperial eagle with distended wings in the centre of an oblong frame. At top is the name of the Colony, and at bottom the value, on the sides the inscription STATISTIK DES WAAREN-VERKEHRS (? statistics of the circulation of merchandise). Printed in colour on white paper, perf. 14.

8 pesa, bistre 24 pesa, vermilion
16 ,, green 32 ,, dull blue
1 rupee, violet.

The second type shows the arms embossed in a circle set in an oval inscribed with the name and the title ÜBERZETZUNGS-GEBÜHREN (? fees for translation). The value appears in all four corners. 15 pesa, grey, perf. 14. (Le Timbre-Poste.)

German South-West Africa. Stempelmarke. Arms in a circle set in an oval; name at sides, title above, value below. 50 pfennig, violet, perf. 14. (Le T.P.)

Japan. Almanacs. An interesting discovery made by Mr. A. E. Lawrence is chronicled in Stamps. The new variety is precisely like the type reproduced herewith but measures 16½ x 18½ mm., only. It is printed in blue on (?) yellowish wove paper, and is perf. 10.

Malta. Ewen's Weekly states that the postage stamps found with overprint "Revenue" are the ½d., 1d., 4d., 1/- and 5/-. We received specimens of the first four values immediately after their emission, but have not previously heard of a 5/- value. But for the habitual accuracy of our contemporary we should have been obliged to chronicle it "with all reserve."

Natal. Mr. L. H. J. Walker informs us that the 4d., lilac should be struck out of the catalogue. It may be changed to 6d., and a 9d., value added.

Niger Coast. Consular. Has the whole postage set been overprinted? The latest arrival is the 2½d., blue, crown and CA, submitted by Mr. J. J. Coates.

Para. Thesouro. A much be-feathered Indian head, name above, value in circles below, 400 reis, carmine, perf. 12½ (L'Ami).

Philippines. Giro. 1899. Mr. D. Thomson has sent us several values of the provisional U.S. issue chronicled in our February number. All are lithographed in blue and are very roughly perforated 12. The rate is the same as that in force at the time of the American occupation, so the set up to 5 pesos (the highest value seen) is doubtless constituted as follows:

5c. de peso; 15c.; 20c.; 30c.; 60c.; 80c.; 1 peso 20c.; 1p. 40c.; 1p. 80c.; 2p.; (?) 2p. 60c. 3p.; (?) 3p. 60c.; 4p.; 5p.

Piauhy. Name in a circle, value typographed on a lined panel at base.

400 reis, orange, figures vermilion, perf. 13 (L'Ami).

Portugal. Imposto do Sello. 1864. Twenty-two years after its withdrawal we have discovered a higher value belonging to this issue.

4000 reis, lilac, used.

Rio de Janeiro. Loterias. Value in figures on a white ground in centre, name of state above, name of tax below. Perf. 11½.

100r., violet; 500r., red; 1000r., chestnut, (L'Ami).

Tobago. Mr. H. O. Wells has shown us the 3d., blue, CC, overprinted REVENUE and bearing a postal cancellation, but we fear that this is a bogus variety.

Victoria. The current 5s., stamp is printed in rose on white; Mr. B. Blumenthal has sent us a copy cancelled 17/5/97. Mr. H. Thompson points out that the 6s., may be found in two very different shades of green.

"DISCOVERIES."

TRANSVAAL. The postage stamp catalogues list the lower values of the interesting Queen's head set of revenues under the title of POSTAL FISCALS, but it has been left to Mr. Morley to discover a specimen of the previous issue that has done postal duty.

Probably few non-collectors of revenues are familiar with the type of the first fiscal issue of the South African Republic, but it so closely resembles that still current—rendered familiar by the provisional use of the 6d., value in 1895,—that no long description is necessary. The stamps were smaller and nearly square, and were printed on the coloured papers specially imported for the purpose, the remainders of which were used up for the postage stamps. All were issued imperforate. In due course the V.R., overprints were applied, and it is one of the stamps thus distinguished that passed through the post in 1884.

Two Types of the 4c., carmine and green, Seychelles Postage Stamp.

ON looking through a number of the "small head De la Rue" colonial stamps, with circular frame, the writer was struck by the apparent differences between the heads, both of different impressions of the same stamp, and of the different values, as well as by indications that such differences extended to the octagonal-framed stamps, such as those of the Leewards. The difficulty of obtaining a sufficient number of all these stamps induced him to confine examination to the Seychelles stamps, in the first place, and the following notes on the 4c., value are the result.

It should be most distinctly understood that the following description applies to the two specimens only, and it is very likely that all the characteristics may not be found on every copy of the two types. Perhaps the safest guide would be to take the character of the nose as the salient feature, calling Type 1, "aquiline" and Type 2—shall we say, "retroussé"? It should also be understood that while two types of most of the other values probably exist, the differences, while generally of a similar nature, are not to be described in detail in the terms of the following notes.

TYPE 1.

1. The fillet of the crown ends before reaching the background lines, and the thin upper line of it continues to the right beyond the vertical line which closes the front jewel division.

2. The lines of shading across the nose all reach the thick outline of the eye-ball; the lowest of the four forming by its continuation the uppermost line of shading across the cheek below the eye.

3. The nose, as a whole, is of a refined order, and somewhat aquiline in type; it is outlined only by the cessation of the background lines until quite near the tip, where a rather light line begins to connect the horizontal lines, at the first horizontal line above the tip of the nose itself and continues to the base of the neck, where it joins one of the background lines, forming therewith a somewhat acute angle.

The curved line from the upper lip, extending across the cheek, is almost joined by the curved line forming the upper outline of the lower lip; under this latter line the shading is "split," a companion line proceeding from the small solid block of colour which accentuates the under lip.

4. At the back of the head the uppermost line of the chignon thins off very considerably, and curving downwards goes to form an inner line of the curl shading; the short background line, although reaching it, nevertheless does not appear as though a continuation of it.

TYPE 2.

1. The thick lower line of the fillet connects with one of the background lines, and the upper one stops at its junction with the vertical line.

2. The two lower lines fail to reach the thick one, and the lowest appears as if it would terminate somewhat above the line of the cheek-shading.

3. The nose is made to appear as having a blunter tip by the outline, which is thicker than in type 1, and seems to begin one line higher, ending by a curving angle at its junction with the horizontal line at base of neck.

The lower line is further away from the upper, and is not "split," a solid patch of colour resulting.

4. The line is somewhat more decided, and is rather a continuation of the short background line, though the thin line of curl shading does continue from it.

5. The pendent curl is formed by different lines of shading in the two types, the chief exterior difference being the continuity of the background line, which touches the bottom of the curl in passing in type 1, but shows a breach of continuity in type 2. The differences of the other lines will be appreciated by a comparison of the enlargements, which clearly show the different disposition of the lines of shading.

Notes on the Telegraph Stamps of Kashmir.

By J. H. LANE.

AT a later period, owing to tariff modifications, the want probably showed itself for the 8 anna and 2 rupee values, and later still for those of 5, 10 and 25 rupees. This surmise of mine, as to the first issue having been confined to the 1, 2 and 4 anna and 1 rupee stamps, is based principally on the striking superiority of the execution of the design (especially of the native inscriptions) in these four values. That of the 8 anna and 2 rupee stamps is inferior, and in those of 5, 10 and 25 rupees there is not only a further falling off but they do not exhibit the two dots under the final Persian character (reading from right to left), which are, correctly, shown in the 2 rupee stamps. In fact, the marked differences in these three phases of the design appear to indicate three different engravers and three distinct issues.

In no one value of these Telegraph Stamps of Kashmir, with one exception, have I detected more than one die; (the same dies were used for both the black and coloured stamps) the exception is in the case of the one rupee red, of which I have recently seen some stamps differing so considerably from the original lot that I cannot but think they must be forgeries. If so, they must have been intended for defrauding the Telegraph revenues of the Kashmir Government, as there has hitherto been no sufficient inducement to perpetrate forgeries of telegraph stamps for sale to collectors. The stamps which I suggest to be forged are very roughly drawn, the colour is crude and the printing exceptionally smudgy, the shield is too narrow (under 8 millimetres as compared with 8½ in the original issue), and the three dots in the right hand inner line of (Persian) inscription are not under the letter to which they belong. The most clumsy detail of imitation in these stamps is, however, in respect of the outer lines of characters. In the original 1 rupee stamps these Nagri characters are clear and easily legible by an expert, whereas in those supposed to be forged there is scarcely an attempt at imitation, the lines of unmeaning strokes and dots do not disclose a single correctly formed character, and the three indispensable signs projecting above the letters in each line are altogether omitted. It is, of course, possible that the 1 rupee die was supplemented by a second one or replaced by a new one, and that the progressive deterioration in the execution of the design, which I have already alluded to, culminated in the issue of the exceptionally defective production under notice. In favour of this view is the fact that one rupee was the minimum charge for an ordinary telegram in or from Kashmir, and that stamps of this denomination were accordingly more largely used than the other values. On the other hand, it appears improbable that the Kashmir Officials would have passed for issue a stamp so obviously faulty as regards, what should have been, the inscription in Nagri characters.

GENUINE.

? FORGED.

Philately as an Aid to Culture.

II. IN THE SCHOOL OF MODERN HISTORY.

LEAVING it to the enthusiastic specialist to exult over some stamp, which (by the aid of his perforation guage) he has ascertained to be notched along one of its sides to the scale of nearly 13 instead of the normal 12½: the intelligent and thoughtful philatelist will discover in his Album a veritable treasure-house of information, unfolding to his mind in a sort of dioramic procession a chronicle of many of the most important and striking events which crowd the pages of Modern History.

How instructive and at the same time how pleasurable it is to trace out in this way the story of the unification of Italy; the consolidation of Canada; the transition from cantonal to federal government in Switzerland; or to notice how large a number of stamp-issuing states has finally become merged into the German Empire! But it is not merely with generalities that we have to deal. The internal commotions and political changes of many countries are also graphically described; and Spain will furnish us with a good example by way of illustration.

Beginning with the year 1850, and extending onward until 1867, we are confronted by various emissions of stamps, mostly bearing the profile of Queen Isabella, though occasionally the royal arms. But then a change! The next year shows the same stamps in provisional use, but having the obnoxious features defaced and overprinted with the legend "Habilitado por la Nacion" or (even more explicit and suggestive) "Habilitado por la Junta Rebolucionaria"; in the case of one particular commune the head being first turned upside down, so that no indignity might be wanting. Then we have a regular issue with an allegorical figure; giving way in turn to a kingly portrait during the brief reign of Amadeo, who so keenly experienced the bitter truth of the adage "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown".

Then come more allegorical figures; followed by royal portraits once again in the successive sets of Alphonso XII, possibly indicative of his sorrows and his wasting life, until we arrive at another change which prompts the student to exclaim—

"What is this
'That rises like the issue of a king,
'And wears upon his baby brow the round
'And top of sovereignty?"

And thus we are brought face to face with the present possessor of the Spanish crown—the only instance in modern times of one "born in the purple", a monarch from the very moment of his birth.

In addition to all this, an interesting side-light is thrown upon the narrative by the Carlist stamps, which testify of another claimant to the throne; while the war-tax labels indicate the difficulty experienced in defraying the expenses of resisting the pretender.

But here the story ends, so far at least as the mother country is concerned; though we can pursue it further when we turn to the pages of Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines. In all three cases we are shown how the baby has grown into the boy; but these series of stamps had only a brief course to run. For the American war broke out; and soon we find postage stamps of the United States overprinted with the name of one or other of the three Spanish dependencies. And in the case of each it is curious to notice how accurately the course of subsequent events is reflected on the philatelic page. Cuba with a lovely series of its own, emblematic of a new order of things; Porto Rico retained as a lawful prize of war; and the Philippines with a stamp issued by the insurgents, who are still vainly disputing with the United States for victory and final supremacy.

EDITORIAL.

OUR hope that the special medals offered in connection with the Paris Exhibition would induce some of our leading collectors of fiscals to take part therein seems to have been ill-founded. Several have announced that they are not prepared to send any of their stamps across the Channel, and some have given a reason for this decision that strikes us as being somewhat unreasonable and not quite creditable.

To refuse to take part in an International Exhibition, because it happens to be located in a country in which a certain disreputable portion of the press has acted in a disgraceful manner towards our Sovereign and ourselves, seems to us to show at least a lack of proper discrimination. It has not yet been shown that, apart from inevitable differences of opinion, the real French nation, as discerned in its sober and therefore less noisy representatives, has displayed any particular animus against our nation or our rulers, and to condemn the whole for the wanton acts of a few is not what we are accustomed to regard as "English" treatment.

There is, moreover, another, and a higher, point of view from which a philatelist might be expected to regard this matter. Our pursuit is nothing if not cosmopolitan, its adherents are of all nations and of all ranks, and the fraternal manner in which we unite to prosecute our researches, and to aid each other in every possible way, should serve to lift Philately to a plane sufficiently above "the stormy sea of politics" to remain undisturbed by its commotions.

As philatelists, we are immediately concerned with all the shifting scenes of national life and procedure, but our attitude is that of the spectator, and when we descend to take our part in the fray we are not obliged to drag our hobby into the mêlée.

For the present position of our pastime we owe a heavy debt to the French speaking peoples, and when they invite us to take part in an International Reunion it ill becomes us to display a churlish spirit.

Two months ago we called the attention of our readers to the pioneer work by M. Guenin dealing with the ancient stamp papers of France: to-day we have to accord a hearty welcome to the first Bulletin of an Archæological, Historical, and Artistic Society, regularly incorporated under the name of "Le Vieux Papier," whose first object is the study of these non-adhesives.

This handsome journal (32 pp., profusely illustrated), with its remarkable list of distinguished members, is a striking evidence of the power of our hobby to enlist and to retain the active sympathies of men of culture, and we sincerely trust that it may long continue to record the growth and progress of the Society.

We notice in the lengthy list of subjects suggested for study a recommendation in favour of the stamped paper in foreign countries prior to its adoption in France, and, as some of our readers could usefully contribute to the common stock of knowledge, we hope that those interested will communicate with the secretary, M. Paul Flobert, 82, rue du Ranelagh, Paris.

The annual subscription, which includes the periodical Bulletin, is 12 francs. The price of the first number is 3 francs.

The response to our invitation to Club Secretaries to combine for insurance against fire (and, perhaps, burglary) risks has not been very encouraging, and we are somewhat surprised at the indifference displayed by the custodians of so much valuable property.

In sending the required particulars and expressing a hope that the scheme would be carried out, Mr. Johnston, of the "Caledonia," remarks that the plan would save a great deal of anxiety, and we think that this ought to be the prevailing sentiment.

Mr. G. Johnson, B.A., on behalf of the "Birmingham," was the first to respond to our offer; and the secretaries of the "Greater Britain," and the "Manchester," with the "Caledonia" above mentioned, are the only others who displayed equal care of their members' interests. Messrs. F. A. Wickhart ("Northern" and "Richmond"), F. L. Heygate ("Stamps Exchange"), and W. G. Walton ("Midland Counties"), have all written sympathetically with regard to the proposal but have not given the desired assurances, though the first named states that on many occasions he has unsuccessfully tried to insure his monthly packets.

We shall now lay the particulars furnished before our brokers, and if they can devise a workable plan whereby such perambulating property can be insured on reasonable terms we shall be glad to give it full publicity

We hope to publish in our next number an article on the Revenue Stamps of Grenada by Mr. E. D. Bacon, and readers will be interested to hear that His Honour Judge Philbrick, Q.C., has promised to tell us ere long all that may be told about the most extraordinary stamp ever issued in this country.

The North Wales and Liverpool Railway, being owned jointly by the Great Central and Wrexham, Mold, and Connah's Quay Companies, uses the stamps of the former line, although for the Letter Fee Stamps a separate issue is made. These will be described when the English Companies are reached.

The Rhondda and Swansea Bay is a late comer in railway history, having been incorporated in 1882, and its last section of line finished only in March 1895. Like many others in this part of the country, it is of but short length, 28 miles, and relies principally upon its coal and mineral traffic, its passenger business being somewhat unimportant. Hence there are but two values of stamps; these, however, being of an effective design consisting of the figure of value in colour on a white circle, two monograms in circles in the upper corners, and a scroll in the bottom field. The 1d., are arranged in 3 rows of 2, and the 2d., in 2 rows of 3.

Being one of the early Welsh railways the Rhymney adopts the familiar device of the Barry, and includes the ½d., in this series, thus making a nice set as the colours are not gaudy. The first issues, although of the same design, were much larger and bore control numbers, this feature now being omitted. I have not been able to find out the present disposition of the stamps on the sheet.

The Stamps of the Taff Vale Railway are particularly interesting as they bear a fac-simile of the Secretary's autograph, and there has been a large number of issues. Their shape is a horizontal oblong, and there are four values. The ½d., however, is of later introduction, and is smaller and square shaped.

AUSTRIAN MYSTERIES.

By an Old Collector.

III. After 1858. No watermark; perfs. 16½ to 13½ (single and compound). All engraved. (Without C.M.) Paper, white wove (various).

10, 15, 30, 50, 75 kr. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 fl.

N.B.—The 45kr., is only found in the first (C.M.) series.

IV. ? Date. No watermark; perfs. 16½ to 13½ (single and compound.) All engraved. Paper, white wove (various).

½, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 12, 25, 60, 72 kr.

V. ? Date. No watermark; perfs. 16½ to 13½ (single and compound). All engraved. Paper, bluish wove (thick smooth, and thin rough).

½, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 12, 15, 25, 30, 50, 60, 72, 75 kr. 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 10, 12, 20 fl.

VI. ? Date. No watermark; perfs. 15 to 13½ (single and compound). All engraved. Paper, deep blue wove.

2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 12 kr. 1 fl.

N.B.—The paper of the highest value is different from all others, being pale blue on the face and deep blue on the reverse.

VII. ? Date. No watermark; compound perfs. 12 x 13½ and 13 x 12½. All engraved. Paper, smooth blue wove.

5, 25, 50 kr.

N.B.—In my opinion, these are the scarcest of all Austrian fiscals. So far, these three values are the only ones known though others may exist. They are interesting as forming the connecting links between the foregoing issues and those succeeding. The highest value exists with both perforations.

VIII. ? Date. Watermarked "Stempel Marken" through the sheet. All perf. 12. All engraved. Paper, smooth blue wove.

½, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 10, 12, 15, 30, 36, 50, 60, 72, 75, 90 kr. 1, 2, 2½, 3, 4, 5, 7, 10, 15, 20 fl.

N.B.—It will be observed that the values 36 and 90kr., and 2½ and 7fl., appear for the first time, no copies being known with a smaller perforation than 12. The 6 and 12fl., disappear, being values not often used. I assume they were not printed owing to an ample stock of previous issues being in existence to supply the demand.

IX. ? Date. Watermarked as in previous issue; perf. 12. Typographed. Paper, smooth blue wove.

1 kr.

X. ? Date. Watermarked as before; perfs. 12 to 8½ (single and compound). All engraved except 1 kr. Paper, white wove (various).

½, 1, 5, 12, 15, 25, 36, 50 kr. 1, 2, 2½, 3, 4, 5, 10, 20 fl.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Bavaria. The 1870 issue should be described as watermarked loops, that for 1876 shows wavy lines. Some values in pfennig and marks were known to exist on the earlier paper but for lack of definite information were not included in the catalogue. We can now list the following on the authority of Dr. Kalckhoff, and of M. Jean Verzijl:

1876. Wmk., loops. Type 15.

10 pf., blue	25 pf., carmine
20 pf., violet	2 m., bistre.

We shall be glad to see specimens of any other values belonging to this intermediate series.

Mr. L. W. Fulcher suggests that stamps of the first issue may be found imperforate. It is very likely that imperf., proofs exist, but we have no knowledge of the issue of stamps in this condition; possibly some of our Continental readers can give the desired information.

Belgium. Mr. Fulcher possesses the stamps of the first (1866) issue on thick paper as well as on the ordinary kind.

Mr. H. Clark has submitted reprints of this issue. They are in brighter colours and have much whiter gum.

Mr. T. P. Dorman informs us that the current set (? issued 1899) differs somewhat from type 17, the most noticeable point being that the head is on a lined background. The 60 cents, olive, appears to belong to this set though issued about 1891.

? Date. Type 17 with lined background. Perf. 13½.

10 c., lilac	60 c., olive
25 c., green	1 fr., pale rose
50 c., brown	5 fr., blue.

France. Dr. Kalckhoff adds a third distinct tint for the highest value:

2 francs, pale mauve, perf. 12.

Guatemala. This country is slightly misplaced in our publisher's catalogue, coming before instead of following Great Britain. Only one series has yet been announced—the 1897 postage set overprinted Telegraphos in black—and to this Mr. Morley makes a couple of additions:

2 cent., black on grey, red overprint.
6 ,, ,, orange, red ,,

Luxemburg. Dr. Kalckhoff makes the following additions:

1 franc, red, perf. 14.
1 ,, ,, ,, 11½.

Prussia. The same collector informs us that all values exist in grey as well as in black.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Argentine Republic. L' Ami announces that the hat-tax stamps have been suppressed, but that they appeared in red just prior to the coup de grâce. Our contemporary lists the 30 and 60 cent., and 1 peso.

Bundi. Mr. H. Clark sends us part of a sheet of a new one anna fiscal, the design of which is sufficiently grotesque.

A local god, apparently representing a French soldier armed with a rolling-pin and a pancake (as emblems of culinary skill), occupies the place of honour, having as supporters two bulls rampant. There are native inscriptions above and below, and the whole is most crudely printed in colour on thin white wove paper. Strange to say, the perforation is admirably done.

1 anna, vermilion, perf. 12.

This description was held over from our last number, and, in the meantime, L' Ami des Timbres has come to hand with a cut and a description of the same stamp that shows how very differently things appear from different standpoints.

According to M. Roussin the design shows an Englishman fighting against two bulls, and he endeavours to find therein an uncomplimentary allusion to the Transvaal war, which is so far-fetched and unworthy that we will not reproduce it.

We venture, too, to think that our friend was unwise in entering the allegorical field, for in view of the strong Gallic likeness of the central figure, and his very unenviable situation, a much less strained interpretation would give us our near neighbour assailed on either side by John Bull and a Colonial scion.

Canada. It is more than a year ago since we announced in Stamps that a more ornate design had been chosen for the Weights and Measures series, and that a supply of the 50 cents value had been printed. We do not remember having seen a description, and some copies having just reached us from Mr. W. Kelsey Hall we can now say what it looks like.

A panel, bearing the control number, divides the stamp (which retains its old size and shape) into two parts. The upper, and smaller, bears a foliated oval, containing Her Majesty's profile to the left, above the term SERIES 1897.; the lower is filled with engine-turning, and is inscribed with the name of the country and the duty. Large figures of value appear in each corner, and the word CENTS is along the base line. Printed in black on white wove paper.

50 cents, black, vermilion controls, perf. 12

Italy. Tasse de Registro. M. Sanjurjo has shown L' Ami the 1 lira, lilac and black, with overprint inverted.

New Zealand. Mr. A. Hamilton sent us last year a copy of Land and Deeds, £5, pale blue, perf. 12, and stated that he had seen a specimen of the £10, chocolate. We now hear from him to the effect that he possesses the £3, bistre, £5, ultramarine, and £10, deep carmine, of both the Law Courts and Land and Deeds series. At the same time we have received from Messrs. Wilcox, Smith & Co., a copy of Law Courts, £10, chocolate and blue, perf. 12, and we are wondering if the £10 exists in two colours or if there has been a misdescription.

Parahyba. A hideous novelty from this Brazilian state is furnished by Mr. J. J. Coates. The design shows a sightless female head, turned slightly to the right, and enclosed in a poorly ornamented double circle. The name of the state above, and the value in words below, appear in curved caps., and there are figures of value at the base. All this is printed in red on a yellow ground composed of a wide vertical band with lines at the sides, the form being that of a single-lined upright rectangle.

20 reis, red and yellow, on white wove, perf. 11½.

The Current Postal Fiscals of New Zealand.

WITHIN the last month, three correspondents have called attention to the fact that stamps of the current types (Fig. 24 in Gibbons, R 3, 4, 5, 6, in Scott) are found on paper with the large plain N Z of the earlier issues, the paper now in use being watermarked with small N Z and star.

It was sometime in 1880 that the present designs made their appearance, and the earliest cancellation we can find on the star paper is 1/10/81 (on a copy of the 1/- value), so it is evident that this came into use in less than two years, and possibly in less than twelve months after the adoption of the new types. We possess, however, some twenty values on the older paper, including the little used 15s., and 25s., from which it seems probable that some sheets of all the values were printed at the same time, and, in all probability, the current set now on sale contains some values of this first printing.

One noteworthy point is that all the stamps of this issue we have seen with the earlier watermark are perforated 11½ to 12, though the standard guage used to be 12½, and, at present, machines giving 11½ to 12 and a distinct 12½ seem to be used indifferently.

The following list of high values now current, and available for postal and telegraphic use, appeared in a recent number of The Australian Philatelist:—£3 10s., rose. £4 10s., olive-brown. £15, light-brown. £20, yellow. £25, (?) £30, dark brown-lake. £40, bright rose. £45, (?) £50, olive-grey. £100, mauve.

None of these are catalogued by Gibbons or Scott, but all with the exception of the £25, and £100, will be found in Moens', though he gives the £50 as orange. He gives the colour of the £45 as ultramarine, and lists a £9 10s., blue-green and a £35, green. Gibbons omits the 25s., blue; and our publisher's catalogue fails to list the 35s., yellow.

VOL. I. JULY, 1900. No. 7.

"DISCOVERIES."

ECUADOR. Mr. Walter Morley has found an uncatalogued variety belonging to the 1896 Provisional issue, and a further variety of the foundling:

4 cent, brown, Fiscal, of 1891-92, surcharged CORREOS 10 CTS., in black.
Found with normal, and with inverted, surcharge.

GREAT BRITAIN. VACCINATION CERTIFICATES. Mr. B. W. Warhurst confirms the two dates given in our May list and adds another:

½d., green on white, dated 1/2/72.

He further tells us that his specimen dated 26/2/72 came from the late E. Pemberton, and bears a note to the effect that it is the rarest date, having been used only on a special form of certificate of which but few were printed.

Amongst a number of very minor varieties sent for inspection by Messrs. N. Yaar and Co., of Amsterdam, the two following are the most notable:

HOLLAND. A postally used copy of the EEN GULDEN unpaid stamp, of 1881, apparently showing the result of a "shifted die." The most noticeable defect is in the last letter of the word TEBETALEN which looks more like an "M."

SURINAM. A specimen of the 10c., on 12½c., blue, provisional, emitted in 1898, showing what appears to be an inverted "L" as the last letter in the word CENT. It is hardly necessary to say that, in reality, it is a broken "T."

The Local Postage Stamps of Great Britain.

THE CIRCULAR DELIVERY COMPANIES.

LOCALS have never enjoyed much popularity in this country, and when, as in the case under consideration, the collector is confronted by the fact that at least nine out of every ten specimens encountered are either reprints or forgeries, it is not at all surprising that they should be neglected.

It cannot, however, be denied that these local posts possess strong claims upon the attention of students, and, as will presently be shown, they had a very important effect upon the Governmental service. I hope, therefore, that the publication of the following illustrated description will induce some philatelists to amend their attitude towards the stamps in question.

FIG. 2.

FIG. 3.

The cuts are selected to show three types of cancellations used by the Officials. Stamps thus obliterated are extremely rare, for being almost exclusively used for the prepayment of postage on circulars very few have survived.

The originator of these enterprises was a Mr. R. Brydone, who, in 1865, brought out the EDINBURGH AND LEITH CIRCULAR DELIVERY COMPANY, and issued stamps of the value of one farthing in various colours. Most of these were imperforate, but some were rouletted and others perforated 12. When used, these stamps were obliterated with a hand stamp showing in monogram form the letters "R.B. & Co." (Fig. 1).

Two years later, similar Companies were established in Aberdeen, Dundee, Glasgow, and Liverpool, but I have not seen a genuine cancelled copy from any of these places—most so-called used copies of these towns are rank forgeries, affixed to pieces of printed papers and crossed through with a pen or pencil.

The promoters of the Edinburgh and Leith Company extended their operations to London in 1866 (vide Messrs. Philbrick and Westoby's work, page 228), and established THE LONDON CIRCULAR AND PAMPHLET DELIVERY COMPANY, stamps of the value of ¼d., and ½d., being issued. The name of the Company was altered in 1867 to METROPOLITAN CIRCULAR DELIVERY CO., and subsequently to LONDON AND DISTRICTS.

Fig. 2 shows a stamp of the METROPOLITAN CO., used on part of a circular, and exhibits the cancellation used at the office in Holborn. A second type of this obliteration on part of a circular is shown by Fig. 3.

Presumably these enterprises were found to be profitable, for the Companies soon endeavoured to extend their operations, and the NATIONAL CIRCULAR DELIVERY COMPANY was established towards the end of 1867.

In August, 1867, the Post Office authorities took steps for the suppression of their competitors, who all along had been infringing the privileges of the Postmaster General, and they speedily inflicted a death blow on both these and a number of other Delivery Companies, (Dundee, Manchester, &c.), just commencing operations.

The most important result of this movement was that the attention of the public was directed to the book rate charges, which did not differ from the letter rate of 1d., per half ounce, and this led to greatly reduced rates, and to the issue of a ½d., postage stamp in 1870. (½d., for every two ounces.)

The remainders of the NATIONAL and LONDON AND DISTRICTS stamps were purchased by Mr. Cullum, a London dealer. The plates were bought by another dealer, and reprinting flooded the market to a far greater extent than that known in the case even of the Heligoland stamps. The plates have apparently quite worn out, and several types of forgeries have appeared, though I don't think any fresh ones have been made for the last 10 or 12 years,—the last I saw being in sheet form of all values up to 9d., with the various towns on the same sheet; they came I think from the Midlands.

WALTER MORLEY.

The Fiscal Stamps of Grenada, printed by Messrs. Perkins Bacon, & Co.

By E. D. Bacon.

IN January, 1875, "An Act to provide for the collection of Public Fees by the use of Stamps, and to impose certain Stamp Duties" was passed by the Legislative Council of Grenada, and a set of stamps, varying in value from one penny to one pound, was ordered from England. At the same date a supply of one shilling stamps for postal use was also requested.

The order for both series was entrusted to Messrs. Perkins Bacon & Co., who were at that period still printing the postage stamps of the Island. To save the expense of providing separate plates for all the values required, which would have been a costly proceeding, the printers conceived the idea of making one plate do duty for all. This was done by omitting to engrave on the die, from which the plate was made, any designation of the value or use to which the stamps printed from it could afterwards be employed.

Those intended for fiscal purposes were printed from this plate in yellow to orange and were overprinted, in green, with a crown at the top and the value in a straight line, in words, in small sans-serif type, below the Queen's portrait.

The plate, which was made in February, 1875, contained 120 labels, arranged in ten horizontal rows of twelve, and the following is a complete list of the consignments of fiscal stamps that were printed from it and sent out to Grenada by Messrs. Perkins Bacon, & Co.:—

May 28th, 1875.

1d.	300 sheets	36,000	stamps	9d.	50 sheets	6,000	stamps
1½d.	100 ,,	12,000	,,	1s.	400 ,,	48,000	,,

4d.	50 ,,	6,000	,,	10s.	50 ,,	6,000	,,
6d.	400 ,,	48,000	,,	20s.	25 ,,	3,000	,,

October 15th, 1875. 1s. 600 sheets 72,000 stamps.

January 14th, 1879.

1d.	600 sheets	72,000	stamps	4d.	100 sheets	12,000	stamps
2d.	100 ,,	12,000	,,	2s.	250 ,,	30,000	,,

November 25th, 1881.

1d.	600 sheets	72,000	stamps	5s.	200 sheets	24,000	stamps
1s.	300 ,,	36,000	,,	10s.	200 ,,	24,000	,,
2s.	600 ,,	72,000	,,	20s.	100 ,,	12,000	,,

Before seeing whether it is possible to separate the stamps of the various consignments, I ought to call attention to the fact that stamps of two, three and five pounds—values entirely absent from the above list—have been chronicled and stated to be in existence. I have only been able to obtain the loan of one specimen of these three values viz: a five pounds, and, as I expected, this on examination proved to be a somewhat clever forgery. The colour is orange, the surcharge deep yellow-green, and the perforation clean cut, gauging 16½. The specimen has a forged watermark, the star being much too distinct, and is obliterated with a circular cancellation, having a large letter "A" in the centre "GRENADA" round the upper curve, "JU 28" along the lower, "18" at the left side of the letter "A" and "88" on the right side. There can be no doubt that all other specimens of values over one pound are also forgeries.*

* Since writing this article Mr. H. Thompson has sent me specimens of three other values, viz: seven pounds, eight pounds, and ten pounds. These, unlike the five pounds stamps described, have been made by removing the original value from stamps of the first issue and then printing a new one in its place. The forged values are printed in yellow-green, and the letters are 1¾ mm. in height. All three stamps bear forged obliterations, the seven pounds having a false postal cancellation. Did we not know that no values above one pound were printed for revenue purposes, these "fakes" would be extremely dangerous.

At the moment of going to press, I have received from Mr. Walter Morley a five pounds value, similar in every respect to the three values sent to me by Mr. H. Thompson. The specimen bears a false postal cancellation, like that found on the seven pounds. [E.D.B.]

Fig. 2 shows a stamp of the METROPOLITAN CO., used on part of a circular, and exhibits the cancellation used at the office in Holborn. A second type of this obliteration on part of a circular is shown by Fig. 3.

Presumably these enterprises were found to be profitable, for the Companies soon endeavoured to extend their operations, and the NATIONAL CIRCULAR DELIVERY COMPANY was established towards the end of 1867.

In August, 1867, the Post Office authorities took steps for the suppression of their competitors, who all along had been infringing the privileges of the Postmaster General, and they speedily inflicted a death blow on both these and a number of other Delivery Companies, (Dundee, Manchester, &c.), just commencing operations.

The most important result of this movement was that the attention of the public was directed to the book rate charges, which did not differ from the letter rate of 1d., per half ounce, and this led to greatly reduced rates, and to the issue of a ½d., postage stamp in 1870. (½d., for every two ounces.)

The remainders of the NATIONAL and LONDON AND DISTRICTS stamps were purchased by Mr. Cullum, a London dealer. The plates were bought by another dealer, and reprinting flooded the market to a far greater extent than that known in the case even of the Heligoland stamps. The plates have apparently quite worn out, and several types of forgeries have appeared, though I don't think any fresh ones have been made for the last 10 or 12 years,—the last I saw being in sheet form of all values up to 9d., with the various towns on the same sheet; they came I think from the Midlands.

WALTER MORLEY.

The Fiscal Stamps of Grenada, printed by Messrs. Perkins Bacon, & Co.

BY E. D. BACON.

IN January, 1875, "An Act to provide for the collection of Public Fees by the use of Stamps, and to impose certain Stamp Duties" was passed by the Legislative Council of Grenada, and a set of stamps, varying in value from one penny to one pound, was ordered from England. At the same date a supply of one shilling stamps for postal use was also requested.

The order for both series was entrusted to Messrs. Perkins Bacon & Co., who were at that period still printing the postage stamps of the Island. To save the expense of providing separate plates for all the values required, which would have been a costly proceeding, the printers conceived the idea of making one plate do duty for all. This was done by omitting to engrave on the die, from which the plate was made, any designation of the value or use to which the stamps printed from it could afterwards be employed.

Those intended for fiscal purposes were printed from this plate in yellow to orange and were overprinted, in green, with a crown at the top and the value in a straight line, in words, in small sans-serif type, below the Queen's portrait.

The plate, which was made in February, 1875, contained 120 labels, arranged in ten horizontal rows of twelve, and the following is a complete list of the consignments of fiscal stamps that were printed from it and sent out to Grenada by Messrs. Perkins Bacon, & Co.:—

Before seeing whether it is possible to separate the stamps of the various consignments, I ought to call attention to the fact that stamps of two, three and five pounds—values entirely absent from the above list—have been chronicled and stated to be in existence. I have only been able to obtain the loan of one specimen of these three values viz: a five pounds, and, as I expected, this on examination proved to be a somewhat clever forgery. The colour is orange, the surcharge deep yellow-green, and the perforation clean cut, gauging 16½. The specimen has a forged watermark, the star being much too distinct, and is obliterated with a circular cancellation, having a large letter "A" in the centre "GRENADA" round the upper curve, "JU 28" along the lower, "18" at the left side of the letter "A" and "88" on the right side. There can be no doubt that all other specimens of values over one pound are also forgeries.*

* Since writing this article Mr. H. Thompson has sent me specimens of three other values, viz: seven pounds, eight pounds, and ten pounds. These, unlike the five pounds stamps described, have been made by removing the original value from stamps of the first issue and then printing a new one in its place. The forged values are printed in yellow-green, and the letters are 1¾ mm. in height. All three stamps bear forged obliterations, the seven pounds having a false postal cancellation. Did we not know that no values above one pound were printed for revenue purposes, these "fakes" would be extremely dangerous.

At the moment of going to press, I have received from Mr. Walter Morley a five pounds value, similar in every respect to the three values sent to me by Mr. H. Thompson. The specimen bears a false postal cancellation, like that found on the seven pounds. [E.D.B.]

From an examination of a number of these fiscal stamps and from particulars I have been able to obtain at Messrs. Perkins Bacon, and Cos'., as regards the perforation of the various consignments, I have found it comparatively easy to separate the stamps of the different printings.

Those sent out on May 28th, and October 15th, 1875, were printed in yellow, varying to orange-yellow, on paper watermarked with a large six-rayed star, and they were perforated 14 by one of the comb machines at Somerset House for Messrs. Perkins Bacon, & Co., the holes being perfectly clean cut. The overprint is in yellow-green and the letters forming the words of value are 1½mm. in height.

The overprint for the stamps of all the consignments was set up in type, and consequently the words of value on every stamp on the sheet are liable to vary more or less. Added to which the setting up of the type for the first consignment was very carelessly made, and, as collectors know, there are several mistakes in the spelling of some of the values. Besides these a number of other so-called errors have been catalogued, which are merely due to defective printing or broken type; such as in the six pence value, the word "SIX" sometimes appears like "SHI," "SIV" or "SIY" and in the one shilling the latter word on some specimens looks as if it were spelt "SHILLINS." Varieties such as these are I consider unworthy of more than passing notice, and I have rigorously excluded them from the list of errors I give in the synopsis at the end of this article.

As a further help to collectors in separating the stamps of this issue from those of later printings I give the length of the words of value on those stamps of which a subsequent supply was sent out. These are as follows:—

"ONE PENNY"	10¾ to 12 mm.	"TWO SHILLINGS"	14¾ to 15 mm.
"TWO PENCE"	10¾ mm.	"FIVE SHILLINGS"	14 to 15 mm.
"FOUR PENCE"	11½ to 12 mm.	"TEN SHILLINGS"	14½ mm.
"ONE SHILLING"	13 to 13½ mm.	"ONE POUND"	12¼ mm.

I have not been able to separate the one shilling stamps forwarded on October 15th, 1875, from those sent out in the previous month of May, but I believe that in the latter printing all the errors of spelling were corrected before the stamps were overprinted. My reason for thinking so is that a number of these one shilling stamps were surcharged in 1886 for postal use as one penny and I have not heard of any of the well known errors of spelling being found among the provisional postage stamps. I may add I have myself examined the best part of half a sheet of these one penny stamps without finding a single error.

The fiscal stamps are usually catalogued as having come into use in January 1876, but, looking at the date when the first supply was sent out they were probably issued immediately on their arrival in the Island, in which case July 1st, 1875, cannot be far from the exact day. The earliest dated copy I have seen is a specimen of the three half pence, which was obliterated "19. 8. 75."

The stamps of this and those of the subsequent consignments are frequently found with the pen-marks cleaned out. Such specimens can always be told by the colour, which is paler and has a washed out appearance and also by the paper, which is whiter.

The four values despatched to the Island on January 14th, 1879, differ from the consignment of May 28th, 1875, in the following points. They are printed in a decided orange on paper watermarked with a small six-rayed star. The overprint is in deep yellow-green and the letters of the words of value are 1½ mm. in height. They were perforated, like the first lot, for Messrs. Perkins Bacon, & Co., at Somerset House by one of the comb machines, gauging 14, and the holes are clean cut. The paper of this and also of the next consignment is usually thicker than that used for the stamps of May and October, 1875, with large star, and specimens are not infrequently found, which show portions of the marginal watermarked lines or letters of the word "POSTAGE."

EDITORIAL.

THE current number of La Revue Philatelique Française encloses as supplement the second prospectus of the International Philatelic Exhibition, an interesting publication containing the latest details, and presenting photographic reproductions of both the exterior and interior of the building engaged, with plans of its situation and of the internal arrangement.

An extension of time until the 10th of July has been granted for the reception of application forms. The premium on the optional fire insurance policy has been fixed at 1 fr., per 1000 francs of declared value, and the transport insurance will average 25c., per 1000 fr., each way on international transports, and 10c., per 1000 fr., each way for the journey in France.

In connection with the time extension we have received from the Committee of organization a kindly worded letter, in which they express an earnest hope that those collectors of fiscals to whom we referred at the commencement of last month's editorial as being unwilling to participate will change their minds, and will take their place with the philatelists of other nations. They also make a special request for the reproduction in our Journal of the appeal to English philatelists contained in the current number of their official organ.

To our previous declarations we would only add that the appealing Committee has indeed done all in its power to show that the frank co-operation of English collectors is earnestly desired and will be fully appreciated, and we sincerely hope that even at the eleventh hour the saving grace of good fellowship may not be invoked in vain.

* * * * *

Our endeavour to lessen the risks and anxieties incidental to the working of Stamp Exchange Clubs has not been succesful.

Our brokers, unable to devise a plan themselves for the assessment of the fire, or fire and theft, risks, write as follows:

"We have gone into this matter with 'several Insurance Companies but they 'find it too complicated and are unable
'to give us any quotation whatever."

We fear that this settles the matter, for it does not appear to us to be feasible to promote a scheme for mutual insurance when we think of the amount that would be raised by the largest practical annual premium, and contrast it with the sum that would be required to make good a single total loss.

* * * * *

We believe that a record has been established by the sale by auction in New York of the great collection of United States revenue stamps formed by Mr. H. E. Deats. As far as we know, this is the first time that a collection of fiscals publicly sold piecemeal has realized a sum of over a thousand pounds, and we break through our rule of avoiding all mention of the financial side of the hobby in order to place on record this fact so full of significance.

It is understood that postal philately claims in every country a great preponderance of general collectors; the fiscal philatelist usually pays attention to the issues of but one territory —his own. Thanks mainly to the fostering care of his standard catalogues, though greatly determined by an intelligent appreciation of what his stamps denote, the American philatelist has far outstripped his brethren in this particular direction, but he is merely the foremost runner, and not the only one in the field, as is being now most abundantly manifested in many an older if less progressive empire. The steady advance going on in most of the European countries, the still greater extent of the movement in the countries adjoining the United States, and in the Argentine Republic, with the knowledge that regions such as India and Japan are awakening to a sense of their latent possibilities, together present a most hopeful prospect for the future, and inevitably lead one to speculate on what will be the result of the fusion of all these groups now at work in almost complete isolation.

However, to return to the sale, it is of interest to note that condition was practically everything, perfect copies in many instances being sold at or above catalogue prices, the competition for some of the inverted medallions being especially keen. Six stamps fetched from £10 to £20 each, and five brought from £20 to £65 apiece, the latter sum being given for a mint copy of the $5 Proprietary on violet paper.

* * * * *

Our regular contributor who prefers to be known as "K," writes that in going through a file of an old London weekly, called The Sentinel, he found that up to May 5th, 1855, the stamps were of the D series with name of paper on left and discount on right, on May 12th and 19th the die G2 appeared, with nothing at all on the right side, and that subsequent issues bore stamps of the A and B series with NEWSPAPER on the right side.

He wishes to know if any one can say why these changes were made and whether other papers underwent a similar experience. Also whether all stamps impressed by the dies mentioned exhibit the same characteristics, and whether dies C, E, F, &c., exist.

TO THE PHILATELISTS OF ENGLAND.

WE most sincerely thank our two kind English confrères, The Monthly Journal and Morley's Philatelic Journal for the friendly articles that they have just published anent the Paris Philatelic Exhibition.

We especially thank Mr. Preston Pearce who, in his last editorial, has ardently invited English collectors to come and exhibit amongst us.

We express the sincerest wishes that this appeal may be successful, and we are desirous of believing that the English Philatelists will come to occupy in our August festivals the important place which pertains to them in all respects.

Whilst we have been organizing our Exhibition we have shown in many ways our great desire to have the support of our friends across the Channel.

The list of our patrons includes the names of twenty-four of the best known philatelists in England; in the jury are Messrs. Bacon and Castle who enjoy in the world of English collectors a reputation and an authority merited from every point of view.

To an extent greater than that possessed by any other kind of collecting hobby, Philately is international; it should therefore remain outside of political events periodically occurring in all parts of the world.

All those who have faith in it, all who rightly consider it as an active agent of civilization and of international fraternity, hold it scrupulously aloof from the conflicts of the moment; it has always been so, it would be grievous if this method of sanely regarding our philatelic relations were to disappear with the century.

* * * We have thought it advisable to express these sentiments on the eve of our Exhibition, in our own interest who desire it to be as fine as possible, and in the interest of those who would certainly regret later on that they had not taken part therein.

The opinions that we have just enunciated are those of Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Preston Pearce, Walter Morley, Hamilton-Smith and many others, they will be those of all practical and sensible people. As such are innumerable in England, we feel sure that our appeal will be heard and taken to heart by all our friends.

For the Committee of organization,
A. COYETTE, Secretary.

V. R. I.

WE have been favoured with the following notes concerning the recently overprinted postage stamps of the late Orange Free State:

6 pence, rose. Thirty sheets received the overprint but only twenty reached the post office—the other ten were lost (!) on the way. There are two stamps on each sheet minus the figure "6."

6 pence, blue. About fifty sheets show the same omissions as those of the rose stamps.

1 shilling. One stamp on each sheet is without the figure of value.

5 shillings. Seventy sheets were overprinted. A sheet consists of 240 stamps.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

BY "K."

2nd Issue. Smaller size, 32 x 46 mm. Similar, but no space for controls, and "From –" and "To—" in two lines. Those I have are signed "C. E. Compton, Supt.," and were used in January 1875. Perf. 12½.

NOTE.—A one penny value doubtless existed in this type.

The only one of the above lines still alive in 1891, and therefore able to issue Letter Fee Stamps, was the Pembroke and Tenby. This was responsible for two issues, but no copy of the first is known. Numbers up to 1500 of the second issue had been used up when the line was taken over by the G.W.R., in 1896, and specimens numbered below 1500 are therefore rare. Specimens numbered above 1500 are fairly common, mostly unused.

In conclusion, the foregoing is the result of a long study and close examination of a countless number of stamps, but it is not to be assumed that it is complete. It is to be hoped, however, that the lists will induce fiscal collectors to study this country scientifically, at any rate it should assist them to arrange their stamps in something like proper order.

4c. SEYCHELLES.

Note. In scheduling the points of variance between the two types as shown last month reference to the inscription was omitted, as in the stamps themselves the differences are not very conspicuous. In the very excellent enlargements, however, the word "POSTAGE" on each side of the head is in very clear, clean-cut, letters, in type 1, while in type 2, though most likely the same setting was used, signs of wear and tear are visible, most marked in the letter "A" to left, and in the same letter to right, where, in addition, the cross bar of the "T" in the second type wears a most "inebriate" look.

There are also minor points of difference in the label of value, and in the four spandrels of the centre-piece, where the small "club-headed" white spaces vary considerably.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

OUR publisher evidently hit the right philatelic nail very squarely on the head when he launched his telegraph stamp catalogue. Our contemporaries all round the globe have very handsomely testified to this, but the reception accorded to the work by the esteemed Editor of the Philatelic Journal of India gives us especial pleasure by reason of its practical addenda to the complimentary expressions.

In addition to a two page review in which are found many items of value, a special article is written to supplement the difficult Ceylon portion, and the first instalment of a fully descriptive article dealing with Indian telegraphs appears in the same number.

We will first appropriate Mr. Stewart Wilson's Ceylon 'Note.'

1. Indian stamps used in Ceylon. The "COLOMBO" obliteration is the only one mentioned by Mr. Morley but "KANDY" and others are known.

The 8as., on blue paper; 1 rupee, type I; 5rs., on bluish; 10rs., type I, on bluish; 28r. 8as., and probably the 14r. 4as., should be added to the list.

[We can confirm the first two items and can add the 25rs., type II. M. Jean Verzijl has further shown us an 8as., brown, imperf.; the 1 rupee and 25rs., both type 1 on bluish; and the 50rs., type I.

He also possesses three postage stamps used in 1894 on a telegram the 2c., green, of 1884; 5c., lilac, of 1886; and 25c., brown, of 1886.]

2. Indian Stamps overprinted "CEYLON." It should be noted that the 1 rupee; 2r. 8as.; 10rs.; 25rs., and 50rs., are all of type II.

3. Permanent Ceylon series. The 12c., is found in olive green as well as in bistre. The 10rs., type II, is found in various shades from red violet to full purple.

[We spotted the two distinct shades of the 12c., a short time ago and noticed that the difference, well marked by the yellower flame of gas or lamp, was much less noticeable in day-light.]

4. Surcharges on above. These notes we must gratefully put aside for the time in the hope of dealing more fully with the subject at a somewhat later date. Additions have been announced by Dr. Kalckhoff, Messrs. Fulcher, Verzijl, Thompson and others, and we believe that we also possess sundry unchronicled types.

Collectors are requested to favour us with the loan of specimens not illustrated in order that blocks may be prepared.

5. Locally printed Stamps. The 5c., rose and rose violet, dated 1.4.97, are omitted, as are the 5c., rose, and rose lilac, 10c., yellow, and 20c., green, of 1.11.97. On 1st December, 97, 100, a 25c., dark olive green, date in blue, but with no control No., was issued, probably as a provisional. The date 1.12.98 may be found on the 5c., rose and 10c., yellow.

[M. Verzijl gives the date 1.7.98.

We chronicled a 5c., majenta, 1.4.97, in our first number, and at the same time a 25c., deep blue, 1.12.97, on the authority of Le Timbre Poste. This latter description now appears to be corrected by the one above.]

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

ALAGOAS. Mr. P. Broad sends us one value of a new issue emitted this year. The design is larger and better executed than of yore, but the cataract is still with us. Cascade in an oval inscribed with name above and IMPOSTO DO SELLO below. Value in figures at the base; scroll work in the spandrels; all enclosed in a large upright rectangular frame; printed in colour on white wove paper;

300 reis, sea green, perf. 11½.

Great Britain. Mr. Morley has found another stamp with the usually desirable perforation:

Judicature Fees. £5, dark lilac and green, perf 12½.

India. We are indebted to Mr. K. Peerbhoy for the sight of an imperforate pair of the Foreign Bill 2 as., on 2 rupees. The stamps are used, and, as is the case with all the ordinary copies of this provisional that we have seen, the paper is quite white.

Malta. Mr. Morley has submitted the current penny postage stamp with REVENUE printed in thick block caps. 15½ x 3 mm.

New Zealand. An addition to the Fine Paid set reaches us from Messrs. Wilcox, Smith and Co.

It is the current type of Stamp Duty without value, but with FINE at top and PAID below; printed in pale brown, wmk. NZ and star, perf. 12½.

A curious variety of the 10s., red-brown, Law Courts, has been received by Mr. Morley, the "O" in the figures of value being ½ mm., smaller than the "I". The specimen is perf. 12.

Porto Rico. Mekeel's Weekly prints a most interesting circular sent by the U.S. Treasury Department to Collectors of Internal Revenue in the States. It requires these officers before delivering revenue stamps intended for payment of a duty on merchandise of Porto Rican manufacture to stamp them in red ink with the initial letters P.R.; "the letters to be of plain bold face, gothic type about three eighths inch in height." The sums received for these stamps have to be paid into a separate fund to be used for the government and benefit of Porto Rico.

Portugal. Cartazes. In addition to the stamp chronicled in April, Mr. H. Thompson possesses in the same type the 100 reis, green and 200 reis, blue.

Decima de Juros. The same collector informs us that the current 100 and 200 reis are printed in light claret.

Reunion. Le T.P., reproduces what appears to be a type-set design that was issued on Jan. 1st. It is of the shape and size of an ordinary postage stamp, and contains merely the value and date of order, in four horizontal lines, within a rectangle, round which appears the inscription QUITTANCES DES COMPTABLES PUBLICS REUNION:

35c., black on lilac, (?) imperf.

Russia. Moscow. The passport stamps formerly on yellow are now printed on white paper. L' Ami chronicles the 15 kop., brown; 20k., green; 40k., carmine.

Nijni Novgorod. Design recalling that of Moens' type 13407 but a much better production. 5 kop., rose, dated 1893, perf. 13½ (J. Verzijl).

St. Petersburg. The current passports of the fourth class now have the figure 4 open instead of closed. L' Ami has seen the 72 kop., and the 1r. 43k., green and bistre.

An important and profusely illustrated article on the Imperial and Local Judicature stamps, from the pen of Herr H. Lubkert, is now appearing in Le Timbre Poste.

Secunderabad. We have received from Mr. K. Peerbhoy one value of the Indian Foreign Bill set overprinted with the name of this state, doubtless the whole exist in similar condition. The overprint is in black block letters, downwards, on the 4as., white paper, and measures 32½ x 3mm., including dot.

United States. Mr. Geo. L. Toppan informs us that he has seen the following varieties not listed in The Revenue Stamps of the United States.

2c. Bank Check, shifted die, imperf., vertically.
2c. Certificate, " " imperforate.
10c. Power of Attorney, imperforate.

All three are in pairs, and the Reference List numbers are 21, 29, and 130 respectively.

Mr. Clarence H Eagle announces his discovery of the 50c., Foreign Exchange on silk paper.

Our transatlantic and continental contemporaries are constantly chronicling new issues of the private proprietaries. We propose to let our notes of these accumulate for a bit and then list them altogether.

Uruguay. Apparently there are two types of Consular Service stamps in use, though it may be that one has supplanted the other.

The type catalogued by Moens, under date 1889, is of medium size with the arms occupying nearly the whole of the space, the value being in a panel at the bottom. It was this type that was converted into a special issue for use in this country by the addition of the words GRAN BRETANA in tiny capitals immediately above the value, as announced a year and a half ago in Stamps, and not the following type as stated in Roussin's catalogue.

The second design copies that of the current Argentine Consulars, being similar in shape and arrangement, but the inscription on those we have seen reads CONSULADO GENERAL DE LA REPUBLICA DEL URUGUAY EN FRANCIA. The value—we have only seen 1 PESOS—is at the top, and we possess two varieties:

1 pesos, black on rose, perf. 11½.
1 " " dull blue, perf. 13½.

OF more interest, however, is a complete sheet of the provisional 1 att on 1 tical, which I have received from the same source. The sheet consists of 25 stamps in 5 rows of 5 printed in dull green and the surcharge in black, similar to that described as on the 32 atts. Unlike the latter, however, there are slight variations in the surcharge. Reading from right to left it consists of three parts of which the first is a group of three signs, one appearing to be of the nature of an accent or vowel above the other two, in the middle is a small sign, like that used in correcting a printer's proof to direct attention to the fact that a letter is inverted, and the third is a group of four signs. The first and third groups of signs appear to be practically identical on every stamp, but the middle sign varies considerably. On the 9th, 16th, 20th, and 23rd stamps, it has a long "tail" to it, coming below the bottom line of the surcharge, and the character is narrower than on the other stamps. On the 15th stamp, there is no "tail" at all to this letter, which ends up about the level of the middle of the surcharge. On the remaining stamps the character varies distinctly in size, but the differences are impossible to describe.

It only remains for me to offer my best thanks to the various gentlemen named for their valuable assistance.

The Fiscal Stamps of Grenada, printed by Messrs. Perkins Bacon, & Co.

By E. D. Bacon.

THE length of the overprinted words of value are as follows:—

"ONE PENNY"	10¾ mm.	"FOUR PENCE"	12 mm.
"TWO PENCE"	11 ,,	"TWO SHILLINGS"	15 ,,

The overprint on the stamps of this consignment is more carefully done and there are no real errors of spelling. Defective impressions of the surcharge are, however, met with, a very common one being found among the one penny stamps on which the word "PENNY" appears like "PENNI."

The stamps sent out on November 25th, 1881, were printed like the four values of 1879 in orange on paper watermarked with a small six-rayed star, but they differ from those and from the stamps of 1875 in the overprint and also in the perforation. The surcharge is blue-green in place of yellow-green, the letters are rather taller, measuring 1¾ mm. in height, and the letter "G" has no horizontal bar. The stamps were perforated, by Messrs. Perkins Bacon & Co., by a single-line machine with a gauge of 14½, and the perforation is what is known as "rough," the paper, usually, not being removed on two or more sides of the stamps. The small star watermark on the stamps of this consignment is very frequently found sideways, and the length of the overprinted words of value is as follows:—

"ONE PENNY"	10 to 11¼ mm.	"FIVE SHILLINGS"	13½ to 14 mm.
"ONE SHILLING"	12 mm.	"TEN SHILLINGS"	13 ,, 13¼ ,,
"TWO SHILLINGS"	13¾ to 14 mm.	"ONE POUND"	10 mm.

With the exception of the one penny value, the overprint is more carefully applied to the stamps of this consignment than to those of any of the earlier printings, and there are no real errors of spelling. It will be seen that the words of value on the one penny vary considerably in length, and in addition to this there are specimens which have the letters "O" and "P" rather taller. On the two shillings there are also one or two prominent varieties, the exact position of which on the sheet I am able to give through the kindness of Mr. L. L. R. Hausburg, who has lent me two blocks of sixty, forming an entire sheet of this value, which had been surcharged for postal use in December 1889 as halfpenny stamps. On this sheet, number four from the left side in the top row, and number three from the left side in the bottom row have the words of value 2½ mm. apart in place of 1¼ to 1½ mm., while number two from the left side in the top row has the words separated by only 1 mm.

The two shilling stamp of this consignment is found imperforate vertically, and of this variety I have seen a pair and a strip of three with the dates "25.2.84" and "28.2.84," respectively. The one penny probably also exists imperforate vertically as I have seen such a specimen with a fair portion, on the left side, of the companion stamp. Still until a pair or strip is found to confirm the existence of the variety, I hesitate to include it in the list except with a query.

It only remains now to say a few words about the provisional one penny fiscal stamps that were issued at various periods between 1884 and the end of 1890.

The first came into use in July 1884 and was issued according to M. J. B. Moens on the 11th of that month, but inasmuch as I have seen a specimen dated "10.7.84," the day of issue must be slightly put back. The stamp in question is the three halfpence of the first issue surcharged in black with a large numeral "1," 8¾ mm. in height, followed, at the upper part, by a letter "d" and a period. There are two varieties of the surcharge. The more common has a curved serif to the figure "1," while the other has the numeral of the same height but with a straight serif and the period after the letter "d" lower down.

The next provisional fiscal one penny was required in May 1887, and was made by surcharging the two shillings of issue III with "d. 1" over the Queen's portrait, and the word "REVENUE" in a straight line of Roman capitals, measuring 17 x 2¼ mm., above the original value. The surcharge is in black and there are, again, two varieties. On one the "d. 1" measures 8¼ mm. in height and the letter "d" is 2 mm. wide across the broadest part, while on the other the "d. 1" is 10 mm. high, and the letter "d" is as nearly as possible 2½ mm. wide.

In December, 1890, the supply of one penny postage stamps ran short so the Grenada officials took a number of the provisional fiscal stamps last described and further surcharged them with the word "POSTAGE" in a straight line of Roman capitals, measuring 15½ x 2¼ mm., at the top of the stamp and the word "AND" in a straight line of smaller Roman capitals, measuring 5 x 1½ mm., at the side or across the numeral "1." Only the second variety of the provisional fiscal stamp, viz: that with the "d. 1" measuring 10 mm. in height, was used for conversion into a combined postal and fiscal stamp.

Later on in the same month the surcharge was again altered, and the same two shillings fiscal stamp was surcharged in black, in similar type to the last variety, in three lines, "POSTAGE—AND—REVENUE" and the "1d." was added at the bottom of the stamp, the numeral and letter being in a horizontal line. I have seen a pair of these stamps one of which had no period after the "1d."

To conclude. Although collectors have probably noticed that distinct shades of colour, and varieties of surcharge, watermark, and perforation are found among these fiscal stamps, Mr. F. G. C. Lundy is the only writer who has, I believe, before attempted to separate them into issues, or to divide them into groups. If reference is made to the various catalogues it will be found that, excepting in Mr. Lundy's list in the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain for 1891, all the values are classed under one issue, followed by a list of the errors of spelling, and no notice whatever has been taken of the varieties of watermark &c. I hope, therefore, that the present article will enable fiscal collectors to classify their stamps under a more systematic and correct arrangement, and also that, as several of the values have been surcharged and issued for postal purposes, the article may be found not without interest for collectors of postage stamps.

Orange Free State. We have to warn our readers that forgeries of both postal and telegraph overprints on postage stamps of the Orange Free State have recently been made on the Continent.

As far as is known the postal fakes consist principally of a spurious overprint applied to genuine provisionals to make so-called double surcharges. The matter is being closely investigated and will be more fully referred to later on.

We have received No. 1 of "The Picture Postcard, A Magazine of Philately, Travel and Art," a twopenny monthly edited by X and published by the proprietor at 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C. Although an interesting and well illustrated journal we fear that it is not likely to appeal strongly to either of the three large classes of the community to whom it proposes to cater, and we do not think it is likely that the view card hobby now so fashionable across the Channel will "take on" here to an extent that would render an "organ" a necessity. If our contemporary places much faith in the statement that "To stamp collectors the collection of post-cards (whether stamped or not) should follow 'as the night the day'" that trust is likely to be rudely shaken.

Philately as an Aid to Culture.

II. IN THE SCHOOL OF MODERN HISTORY.

ON turning our eyes across the silver streak, and taking note of the political ups and downs of our nearest neighbours during the last fifty years, it is instructive to find how faithfully these events are recorded in the pages of our albums. Starting soon after the revolution which drove Louis Philippe as a refugee to seek the shelter of ever-hospitable Albion, we have a fine series of stamps inscribed "Repub. Franc." and showing the profile of Liberty. In the next issue the superscription is the same, but the image is that of Napoleon. Ere long we have another set displaying the same features, but a momentous change has occurred in the inscription which now reads "Empire Franc." Then after the famous plebiscite was taken and the prospects of a settled dynasty appeared to be assured, a new emission of stamps took place, with laureated head and the fuller legend "Empire Francais." But such hopes were destined to remain unfulfilled, as we can perceive from the succeeding issue, made hurriedly at Bordeaux, without perforations, roughly lithographed, and with many variations of colour. What a reminder we have here of Sedan, and Metz, and Paris in the hands of the Commune! The engraved series which follow tell of settled government once more; and their varying designs may be regarded as emblematical of as many phases in the constitution of the Republic.

But at the present crisis in the history of the British Empire, the student will turn with alacrity to the tale so graphically disclosed by the stamps of the South African Republic, better known to us as the Transvaal. From 1870 till 1877 we are confronted with the familiar square stamps, displaying the arms of the republic, more or less coarsely executed. Then came the British occupation, indicated for a time by overprinting these stamps with V.R., and the altered designation "Transvaal." In 1878 we have a new issue bearing the well-known profile of her most gracious Majesty, and with the value expressed in English currency. A sphere of British influence thus became a British possession; not destined however to remain as such for long; since the memories of Majuba hill still rankle in our minds; followed by "the great betrayal" and the ignominious "scuttle out," though some were found who called it "magnanimity"! The depth of degradation to which British prestige and power had sunk in this portion of the globe is well typified by a pair of succeeding stamps, one overprinted with the Dutch value Een Penny, and the other having the Queen's head defaced by the surcharge—a disgrace which is happily without parallel in British philately, but which at last bids fair to be blotted out, now that our victorious flag floats once more above the government buildings of Pretoria. And before these lines appear in print, the current stamps of the South African Republic will be arriving in this country overprinted V.R.I.; to be followed in due course by a new and permanent issue, recording on the philatelic page the latest extension of the Empire.

More gratifying is it to the average Briton to turn by way of contrast to the story of another race for supremacy, as revealed to him by the stamps of Fiji. First he will notice C.R. (Cæcumbau Rex), surmounted by a crown, and the value expressed in pence. The next issue with the value surcharged in cents is suggestive of American influence prevailing for a time. Then C.R., appears overprinted V.R., and the cents give place to pence once more. Finally C.R., and cents alike entirely disappear; while V.R., is engraved as part of the permanent design on the stamps of the lower values, and a bold profile of the Queen on those of 1/- and 5/-. Rivalry being at an end, a peaceful sunset scene fitly closes an interesting historical chapter.

EDITORIAL.

A GLANCE through our previous numbers reveals the fact that most of our monthly addresses would come under the description of "fighting editorials" though, truly, we should be at a loss to know where to look for an enemy. Militant exertion is, however, out of the question in this broiling weather, and whilst the rest of the world is holiday-making we too may take things a little more easily. With this intention we now include a paragraph written three months ago for this page but crowded out by the late arrival of more interesting matter.

* * * * *

One suggestion has been made so frequently that it has become almost of the nature of a complaint; it is to the effect that we should run a priced catalogue of the world's fiscals in serial form. We fully recognize the urgent necessity for such a work, but at present we are compelled to advance an absolute non possumus. We shall, of course, continue (as in the case of Mr. Fulcher's Siamese contribution) to prepare the way in some degree for that indispensable compilation; and we now have in mind the preparation of a fully illustrated catalogue of the fiscals of the new American possessions, impelled thereto in great measure by the exceedingly warm welcome we have received from philatelists in the States. At present we have too much copy in hand and promised to be able to announce a start, but, in all probability, we shall commence with Porto Rico, and, as our collection is not likely to be complete, we shall be glad to receive from our readers lists of the varieties in their possession not catalogued by M.M. Moens and Roussin.

The note at the foot of page 51 referring to the forged Grenadas has aroused a good deal of interest, more than one collector of fiscals hailing these specimens as the first made to deceive them. Happily we have no proof as yet that such is the case, for, although copies may be in circulation with false fiscal cancellations, all those seen by Mr. Bacon have obliterations designed to entrap the collectors of postage stamps.

Another point that has been mooted in connection with this valuable article is, that familiar one to old collectors, the disagreement between the relative numbers of stamps printed and their relative scarcity. There are only two values of which less than 15,000 were printed, the 9d., with 6,000 and the 1½d., with 12,000, but it is probably the experience of most collectors that in used condition the latter is many times scarcer than the former, and but for the enterprise of M. Moens in importing one or more sheets of the low value it is very seldom that a copy would be seen. All this is very true, but it by no means follows that because a certain number were printed they were all used. It is, naturally enough, a common experience to find that the authorities when ordering supplies of stamps for the first time make some very wild estimates of the quantities required of certain values, and in the case under consideration the first supply of the 1½d., 3d., 6d., and 9d., stamps lasted for the whole period of nine years during which they were in use, whereas a few months sufficed to clear out the comparatively liberal supply of the 1s., value forwarded at the same time.

From the fact that no 1½d., value was included in the 1884 series it may be assumed that the need for this stamp had ceased, and a glance at the list of provisionals, both postal and fiscal, will show that sheets of this value were used up in providing others for both purposes.

Sheets of the 1d., 1½d., 4d., 1s., and 2s., values, and of the 1d., on 2s., were requisitioned at various times by the postal authorities, and allowance has to be made for them in any attempt to deduce the relative rarity from the data given.

Moreover, other considerations have to be taken into account, for the 10s., value, of which altogether 30,000 copies were issued, is certainly much scarcer at present than the 4d., with its 18,000 representatives less those postally treated. Here it may be surmised that the greater importance of the documents legalized by the application of the higher value preserves them from the hands of the spoilers, in addition to which there are probably reasons not known to us for limiting the available supply, such, for instance, as the possibility that the majority of stamps of this value were used on forms retained in the island. At all events enough has been said to show that interesting and valuable as they necessarily must be it is quite unsafe to draw very definite conclusions from the statistics of production without paying due regard to many other considerations.

As a valuable supplement to Mr. Bacon's article we should be extremely glad to receive a list of the stamp duties in force in the island, with some account of the changes, if any, that took place during the period covered by these stamps.

Turning now to Ireland, the land of so-called Light Railways, we find that although most of the companies issue Letter Fee Stamps, only a few of them have any stamps other than this particular kind.

The Belfast and Northern Counties Railway issues three stamps "For the conveyance only of farm and garden produce." The regulations printed on them show that the idea has been obtained from the Great Eastern scheme for developing the agricultural resources of its own territory. The stamps are of large size and type-printed, the values being overprinted in large red figures.

Letter Fee Stamps.

There have been about fourteen printings in all between 1891 and 97, but most of these are only distinguishable by the setting up of types in the sheet, and I give below the only prominent varieties.

Printed by a Manchester Firm and all perf. 12.

1891. 2d. Dull dark green. Thin outer line round stamp.

Note —A prominent variety exists in each printing with only one line at top, instead of two.

All stamps of the M.S. and L. Ry., have been obsolete since about August 1897, when the railway was merged in the Great Central, but specimens were in use at some Stations in 1898 until all the supply was used up

V. R. I.

Notes on Cards.

The first reply post-cards received—½d. x ½d., green, and 1d. x 1d., brown,—with the now famous overprint showed the type with raised stops, but what is stated to be a second printing has come to hand with the letters thicker and the stops in their proper places. If this be so, the order of the position of the "dots" is the reverse of that employed for the adhesives.

Single cards, ½d., carmine, and 1d., orange, have been received with level stops, but showing a thicker overprint than those first seen.

Finally we have 1½d., on 2d., violet, single card, with V. R. I., thickly printed.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

AUSTRIA. For the following additions to the list of perforations we are indebted to Dr. Kalckhoff and Mr. L. W. Fulcher:

1872. Lithographed. Value on fancy ground (Type 13):

20 kr., dark blue, perf. 9½.
60 ,, carmine ,, ,,

Type 13.

Type 14.

Value on solid ground (Type 14):

5 kr., brown, perf. 9½ x 10½.

1875. Engraved (Type 14):

20 kr., blue, perf. 9½.
25 ,, black ,, 9 x 9½.
25 ,, ,, ,, 10½ x 9½.
1 florin, orange, perf. 10½ x 12.
40 kr., green, perf. 11 x 10½.
40 ,, ,, ,, 12 x 13.

Dr. Kalckhoff writes on the difficulty experienced in dealing with the perforations of the Austrian, Japanese, and Roumanian telegraphs. He declares that where Austria is concerned it is impracticable to differentiate between 9 and 9½, or between 10, 10½ and 11, different gauges being found on the same row. (Vide the recent article on "Austrian Mysteries.")

There were certainly two machines giving 10½, one about 10¼ and the other 10¾, but producing somewhat different holes, but after long and tiresome trials our correspondent gave up the attempt to maintain the difference and now keeps to the following perforations:

Austria: 9½ (9 to 9½).
10½ (10 to 11).
12, 13, and compounds.
Japan: 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and compounds.
Roumania: 9½, 10½, and compounds.

Brazil. Of the first issue—1869, control number on back (Type 20)—Dr. Kalckhoff possesses an uncatalogued value:

200 reis, pale green, imperf.

Type 20.

Type 26.

Canada. Canadian Pacific Railway (Type 26.) Mr. W. Kelsey Hall sends us the current issue, which appears to be similar in all points save the date to the preceding emissions:

No value, black, perf. 12, dated 1900.

Great North Western Telegraph Co. (Type 27.)

Mr. Morley has received the following:

No value, pale brown violet, perf. 11. 1899.
No value, dark brown violet, perf. 11. 1899.

Type 27.

Colombia. Dr. Kalckhoff announces that the 20c. brown, of 1892 (Type 143), exists with

Type 143.

Type 155.

three types of shading around the centre, and he adds to the 1886 list:

20c., violet on green paper, imperf. (Type 155.)

He doubts the existence of the 5c., bistre, of 1888, included on the strength of a notice in a Continental paper, and we shall be glad if any reader can produce a specimen.

Denmark. A correspondent enquires why the Copenhagen local telegraphs are not included in the catalogue, and our publisher replies that they were postage and telegraph stamps, and as such do not come within the scope of his work, which otherwise would have been obliged to take note of the many series of "Correos y Telegraphos" stamps of Spain and her possessions, to say nothing of the stamps that like our own perform the double duty without advertising the fact.

Great Britain. Ewen's Weekly illustrates a pair of the 5s., Army Telegraph stamps, each overprinted ONE—SHILLING in two lines, in blue, used in South Africa.

The overprint appears to have been printed on one stamp at a time.

India. Mr. W. Corfield has submitted a new printing of the provisional 2 rupees on 2r. 8a., orange, the letters being in block type.

We learn from another source that, as surmised, a die is being prepared for the new value showing the Queen's head as it appears on the rupee postage stamps, and it is stated that the colour will be pale primrose.

Orange Free State. Of the 1887 issue (Type 289), Mr. L. W. Fulcher announces 1s., orange, postage stamp, with horizontal overprint in violet.

Of the July 1890 series, Dr. Kalckhoff possesses

1s., orange, with small T F (Type 295).

As stated in another part of this number some forged telegraphs of this state have recently appeared. Our publisher would be glad to inspect any doubtful specimens lately acquired by readers.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

BASUTOLAND. Mr. H. Thompson sends for inspection two Cape of Good Hope stamps overprinted with the name of this territory.

Both are of the recently superseded type, wmk., anchor, perf. 14, and are unused:

3d., red on yellow, name in small type, 20 mm.
6d., brown ,, ,, block caps., 25 ,,

Crete. Pending the preparation of a regular set, the new postage stamps have been perforated with an X for use as fiscals.

France. L'Ami des Timbres chronicles the 1 franc Effets de Commerce of 1872 (star) with value inverted.

Great Britain. Contract Note Mr. G. Singler has discovered two types of the overprint, in one of which the top bar of the last letter is shorter than the others and the letters generally are thinner.

Foreign Bill The same gentleman has shown our publisher a copy of the £1 10s., pale lilac, with the V R. monogram watermark across the stamp instead of reading upwards.

Land Registry. A hitherto unchronicled value has been found by Mr. J. J. Coates:

2s., green and blue, wmk. V.R. monogram.

India. Foreign Papers. An addition to the list of overprinted varieties is made by Mr. D. Thomson:

12 rupees on 9 rupees, grey-green, dated 10.5.79.

By analogy, a 12 rupees, on 3 rupees, yellow brown, should also exist.

Japan. The following description of a receipt stamp used by tax collectors appears in Stamps:

"Upright rectangular frame, 23½ by 26½ mm., 'containing the value—5 rin—in white Japanese 'characters on a solid oval, surrounded by a 'floral design with chrysanthemum above, 'enclosed in a double-lined solid oval bearing 'native inscriptions at sides and value in Latin 'characters at the bottom. Each spandrel con-'tains a broken circle filled with engine-turning; 'printed in red-brown on white wove paper, 'perf. 12."

Mr. H. Thompson submits five other values of this set, the two higher ones appearing in a somewhat different and more handsome design.

The size and inscriptions are the same, but the central oval containing the value is ornamented and is no longer solid. Each of the surrounding characters is enclosed in an engine-turned circle: the upper spandrels contain floral scrolls and the lower one the value. All printed on white wove paper and perf. 12.

1 rin, yellow green | 3 rin, blue
2 ,, orange | 5 ,, red-brown
1 sen, pale blue
2 ,, dull green.

Orange Free State. Three additions to the first issue are made by Mr. Thompson:

10 shillings, embossed on blue wove.
1 pound, ,, ,, white laid.
3 pounds, ,, ,, green wove.

Queensland. Some interesting proofs or essays have been submitted by Mr. A. B. Kay.

Of the first issue (1866) there are two values not listed, 3s., dull rose, and 7s., deep blue, and though in all probability these were never in the set as issued, it is quite possible, seeing the rarity of the 6s., value, that they did form part of it.

We describe another essay, presenting a striking and unfamiliar appearance, in the hope that some reader may be able to tell us whether such a stamp is or has been in use. Upright rectangle 25 x 30 mm. In the centre a crown on a white ground in a double-lined oval inscribed HARBOR DUES. Panels above and below, the upper containing THREE SHILLINGS, the lower, QUEENSLAND. There are floral scrolls around the oval, and the rest of the space is filled with vertical lines This design is shown in two colours, in red and in blue, on thick white paper, not perforated.

The same collector has shown us an unchronicled variety belonging to the last (1893) regular general issue:

2/6, chestnut, wmk. Q and crown, perf. 12.

Spain. This country takes first rank for the number of forged stamps discovered, all, of course, having been made for the purpose of defrauding the Government. There are, however, other ways of "doing" the Revenue, and we have just come across one of them.

It may not be known to all collectors that there are two sets each year of the Sello series. In one case the values are printed in sheets for use as adhesives and are engraved throughout, in the other the same design minus the arms are printed singly on blank sheets of paper and arms subsequently embossed in the vacant space. This difference in the printing of the arms is quite sufficient to distinguish the adhesives from the non-adhesives, and, in addition, the backs of the latter are usually covered with writing.

Our discovery is a couple of the 50c., black, non-adhesives of 1875, cut out and stuck on a printed policy though evidently previously used. The rubber stamp obliteration, whether by design or otherwise, is quite illegible.

United States. Mekeel's Weekly is informed that the $1 in red is now in the hands of distributers, and that the high values are no longer printed only in small books, a strip of twelve of the $1000 having been seen.

Wurtemberg. We have found a copy of the 3 pf., violet, of 1877 (Moens' type 13608) perforated 9 to 9½. It was used in Stuttgart.

Stray Notes on English Fiscals.

BANKRUPTCY. In our catalogues the whole of the first issue of nineteen values is given both on white and on blue paper. This is I think unnecessary. There is no doubt that all values exist on white paper, but although the values below 1/- are fairly common on blue paper, of the values 1/- and upwards I have never seen or been able to hear of a copy, and any specimens which may exist should I think be considered as accidental varieties.

Foreign Bill. Chancery Court. Probably many collectors have been puzzled when arranging the early issues of these stamps, as to whether some of the copies met with should be considered to be on white or on blue paper, there being every gradation of tint and no real difference, (except for the few stamps which were not printed on chemically treated paper), but now after the valuable article by Judge Philbrick in No. 3 of this Journal I think that the division of these stamps into series on white and on blue paper should be definitely abandoned. These remarks of course only apply to the early issues; in the later issues of Foreign Bills the difference between the stamps on white and on blue paper is perfectly distinct, and in the case of the issue of 1871 the values from 1/- to 15/- inclusive should be catalogued on blue paper as well as on white.

Northamptonshire. The interesting article by Mr. R. Douglas which also appeared in No. 3 of this Journal throws much light on English Municipals; in it the mauve and violet issue for Gloucestershire is proved not to exist, and doubtless the same may be said for Northamptonshire. I fancy that the mistake has arisen from the brown and violet stamps being at first incorrectly described, so that they have been catalogued as two distinct issues. Of the brown and violet stamps, which are doubtless "Fine" stamps, as in the case of Gloucestershire, a full set probably exists. These remarks should also apply to the issues of the Isle of Ely, but the stamps are rare, and it is difficult to obtain information.

Classification of English Fiscals. I have long been of opinion that the classification of English fiscals would be much improved by the separation of all the fiscal wrappers, such as medicine labels, tobacco bands, &c., from the ordinary adhesive stamps, in the same way as postage stamp collectors divide newsbands from adhesives. Mr. Morley has taken a step in the right direction in his Catalogue of Colonial Revenues, and in Vol. I of the Fiscal Album, from both of which all wrappers (such for instance as those of Canada) are excluded, but in the case of English fiscals stamps and wrappers are still mixed up together. The correct classification of English fiscals, to include varieties of every kind, would I think be in four divisions:—Adhesive Stamps, Wrappers, Semi-Adhesives, and Non-Adhesives.

V.R.I., on Orange State, Discoveries.

NO attempt has been made to present a list of the interesting provisionals manufactured "at the front" as that would be outside our province, but in most of our recent numbers we have been enabled to dispense something fresh in the way of news through the kindness of our khaki-covered friends.

Our first illustration shows a pair of the ½d., orange, of the first printing, on one of which the figures of value are somewhat smaller. A similar variety has been found by our publisher on the bottom right-hand corner stamp of a pane of sixty, showing raised stops, and supposed to be part of a fourth or fifth printing. This same pane contains six of the thick V's, and one stamp without stop after the V, a variety hitherto chronicled only in connection with the first printing.

Of the 1d., value Mr. Morley has found a used pair with raised stops, one of the stamps bearing a much shorter 1 than the other.

The next two illustrations show marked differences in the width of the figure 3 on the 3d., stamps. As both have level stops they might be assigned to the first printing, but there is some reason for thinking that the wider figure denotes a more recent setting.

We learn that there has been a second printing on the 6d., rose, one or more sheets having received the overprint with raised stops.

Next in order come the postcards, and of these there has been a third printing, Mr. E. W. Hounsom having shown us the ½d., carmine, and 1d., orange, with the letters in a smaller block type with square stops.

Passing on to the telegraphs we find that the 1d., violet, 3d., blue, 6d., blue, and 1/-, brown, with the type of letters shown by Fig. 301 in the catalogue, have received the V·R·I· (raised stops) overprint above the TF and without any addition of figures. It is said that these stamps are not sold to the public, so they may prove the most desirable of all the V.R.I's.

Finally, Mr. Morley writes that he has seen the 6d., grey, fiscal stamp, overprinted with the magic letters and the figure of value.

EDITORIAL.

FOR the delay in getting out our last number the over-worked printer takes all the blame: should this issue be late the fault must be placed to the account of the International Philatelic Exhibition, for which event both editor and publisher were busily preparing at the time usually devoted to their journal.

We regret that, so far as is known to us, British collectors of revenue stamps have failed to show due appreciation of the consideration given by the Committee of the Exhibition to their hobby, and we can only hope that our fellow-collectors on the Continent have more fully risen to the occasion. We shall publish in our next number the awards by the Jury in this section, and we hope to receive some description of the exhibits from a well qualified pen.

We shall also have something to say about the Congress of Philatelists convened by our Parisian friends, in which the claims of the fiscalist have not been overlooked, and from which it is hoped that results worthy of the occasion may duly follow.

* * * * *

So much has been written about the retirement of M. Moens, and the discontinuance of his famous journal, that we have rather shrunk from making any particular reference to these events; but as we who are interested in revenue stamps will have even more cause than other philatelists to regret this stroke of time, it is but seemly that we should make our grateful acknowledgements to the veteran worker, and unite in the heartfelt wish that his remaining days may be many and full of happiness.

His farewell address in the journal on which he has bestowed such affectionate care is full of pathos and of deep emotion, and we who know his works must perforce recognise that the philatelist within him was stronger than the merchant.

It is this fact that has given him the pre-eminent position he has so long enjoyed, and that will keep his memory green in the hearts of those he has served. The question of how his place may best be filled, if but partially, and his work carried on is one for to-morrow—to-day we think only of the past and of a departing friend.

* * * * *

We have previously inveighed in these columns against the evils of a too rigid specialism, and in this connection yet another danger has been brought to our notice against which we may well sound a note of warning.

A collector takes up a single country or small group and ere long has acquired the greater number of its representatives. For a time he is busily engaged in hunting for the scarcer varieties or in pursuing some line of investigation, but the latter gets worked out and the 'wants' become fewer and fewer. Gradually his interest lessens, stamp connections drop off, and only too frequently he drifts out of the hobby.

We fear that it is only a few enthusiasts who finding themselves practically complete promptly sell out and start afresh on another tack, and we have no hesitation in saying that the better course is to embark on a voyage that is likely to outlast the adventurer.

To those who already find themselves in the position described, and who shrink from adopting a heroic remedy, we would point out that in very many cases to draw the line immediately below the postal issues of the specialised locality is to shut out a great deal of most interesting material.

The example of our American cousins who, apparently as a matter of course, include in their collections their country's revenues is one that might with advantage be far more generally followed.

It is only to be expected that there will usually be found strong bonds of union between the postal and the fiscal issues of the same Government, and the philatelist who has studied his postage stamps will experience keen pleasure in tracing out these connections. If an example were needed of the desirability of collecting more broadly we might point to the useful work done in connection with Japanese stamps by Mr. Fulcher, who has certainly gained increased pleasure and experience by his comparative study of the emissions for the postal, fiscal and telegraphic services.

* * * * *

We have received the second edition of "Hinton's Hints on Stamp Collecting: an A B C of Philately."

This edition, brought so fully up to date as to mention the V. R. I. stamps of the Transvaal, includes a new, lengthy, and fully-illustrated chapter on the stamps that puzzle collectors, and is, therefore, more than ever worth the modest shilling at which it is published by E. Nister, of 28, Paternoster Row.

There is one curious omission in this little work that we trust will be rectified in subsequent editions. Under the title of "What to collect" the author purports to give a "short description of the various classes of stamps the collector has to choose from," but, although we find such headings as Russian Locals and Hamburg Locals, a passing reference to postal fiscals is all that is said about revenue stamps. We think this curious because the author is well known to possess a good private collection of these neglected labels.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS,

CURRENT IN 1900.

By G. W. J. Potter.

THE Dublin, Wicklow, and Wexford, issue one stamp for use as a "parcel label" and curiously enough in only one value, viz: 1d. Presumably for a large parcel a good sized block of stamps would have to be affixed to pay the carriage.

The design is somewhat unique—inside a double circle containing the name of the railway appear the supporters of the Royal Arms, but instead of the usual quartered shield the harp of Erin is displayed, with the motto "Erin go bragh." The words "Parcel Label" are at the top, and "One Penny" at the bottom of the stamp. Lithographed in black on white paper.

Dublin, Wicklow, and Wexford.

? 6 rows of 10. Size 3.7 by 4.8 cm.
1d. Black on white, perf. 11.

Some very interesting stamps were in use on the Midland Great Western, but these are now obsolete, as are those of the Great Northern, Great Southern and Western, Waterford and Limerick, and I believe all other companies in Ireland that issued newspaper or parcel stamps of any description. This is curious seeing that most of them issue Letter Fee Stamps, there being no fewer than twenty different kinds now in use.

As it is next to impossible to get official confirmation or help from some of the companies in Scotland and England as to the stamps now current, I propose discarding the strict alphabetical order to some extent, and inserting notes relative to the stamps of the various companies when I can give any details. As my collection of present day issues is far from complete, I should be extremely glad to receive corrections and additions to my list. Particulars will be given of the issues of some of the smaller and little known companies, and the larger ones will be inserted when a fairly complete account of their many issues can be obtained.

I commence with an English company that has a large amount of very fine rolling stock and a fair length of line—over 123 miles—but which possesses no engines. This is the Cheshire Lines Committee, a company owned jointly by the Midland, Great Northern, and Great Central (otherwise Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire), the latter providing the motive power.

A NEW NAME.

At the last moment our publisher sends us a copy of the Cape 2½d., ultramarine, overprinted ORANGE—RIVER—COLONY. in three lines of Roman caps., across the centre. Specimens on the envelope containing them were postmarked Aug. 10.

SAMOAN PERFS., AND SHADES.

I COMMENCE with the issue of 1887: the stamps watermarked N Z and star.

Gibbons gives three perforations throughout—11, 11½ and 12½—but I find many other varieties as well as shades of colour unchronicled, and these series would afford much interesting and profitable study to collectors, especially as at present though all obsolete they are quite inexpensive.

As a contribution towards a reference list of this period I present the following:

Perf. 12½.	½d., dull purple	4d., blue
	1d., emerald	1/-, rose
	2d., orange	2/6, red violet
Perf. 12.	½d., dull purple	4d., blue

The 2d., deep orange, and 1/-, carmine are very distinct shades.

A REFERENCE LIST OF THE TELEGRAPH STAMPS OF JAPAN.

By L. W. Fulcher, B.Sc.

THE collector of Japanese stamps, whether postage, telegraph or fiscal, is sorely tried by the wearisome and vexatious varieties of perforation with which he meets. In the London Philatelist for September, 1899, I attempted to "boil down" the varieties which I have found on the postage stamps issued from 1876 and onwards into "collectable" varieties. The present paper is an attempt to do the same for the telegraph stamps.

By the term "collectable" as applied to perforations I mean simply the average gauge of the perforation due to each different machine in use, for I hold that it is usually sufficient to show the average perforation due to each machine, when such perforation varies within narrow limits, without attempting to obtain all the minor deviations from the average gauge.

It is evident that some of the same machines as used for the postage stamps have been employed for the telegraphs, and those who desire fuller information as to the eccentricities of these particular machines I must refer to my paper mentioned above. I shall simply recapitulate here the essential points for collectors of telegraphs. For convenience of reference to the aforesaid paper I shall group the perforations by Roman figures and letters corresponding to those used in that paper, the missing groups thus being perforations found on the postage stamps but not on the telegraphs. The perforations then of the telegraphs which I have come across are:

(1) I. A. Perf. 9½. This perforation seems to vary from 9 to 10, so that the compounds 9 x 9½, 9½ x 9, 9½ x 10, 10 x 9½, etc., may be found. The last two mentioned being fairly common.

(2) VI. M. Perf. 11. This varies from 10½ to 11½, but the tendency is rather to 11½ than 10½. The compounds 11 x 11½ or 11½ x 11 are found on the telegraph stamps.

(3) VII. N. Perf. 9. Varies from 8 to 9, the varieties 8½, 8½ x 9, 9 x 8½ being frequently found.

(4) VIII. O. Perf. 13½. P. Perf. 13. These two perfs., are grouped under one head, since they may be due to one machine only, but I have reasons, given in my paper in the L.P., for believing that there are actually two machines, one gauging from 13 to 14 and the other from 12½ to 13½. Hence we get varieties 13½ x 14, 14 x 13½ from the first machine O, varieties 12½, 12½ x 13, 13 x 12½ from the second machine P, and varieties 13 x 13½, 13½ x 13 from both machines. The two perfs., were apparently introduced almost simultaneously about February, 1888. Since the telegraph stamps were withdrawn from circulation and superseded by the new postage stamps in April, 1888, this fact affords a reason why only the commoner values have as yet been found with these perforations, though of course full sets may exist.

(To be concluded.)

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Austria. Mr Morley has shown us a copy of the 40 kr., green and red of the first issue, with the green portion of the design printed on the back.

Cashmere. L'Ami chronicles and illustrates a stamp of modern type. Small upright rectangle; arms in centre with the word TELEGRAPH arched above them; value in native characters on a panel at base; native inscriptions at top and sides; printed in colours on white wove paper and perf. 14.

4 annas, carmine and brown.

Ceylon. What was thought to be a provisional type has evidently come to stay; Mr. H. Clark sends us quite a recent date:

10 cents, yellow, dated 1.12.99.

India. We illustrate the second type of overprint of the provisional 2 rupees on 2r. 8a., chronicled last month, and should be glad to receive an early copy of the new permanent design.

2RUPEES

Nicaragua. 1900. The American Bank Note Company has given us a charming design illustrated herewith. A youth personifying Electricity is riding in the clouds on a winged wheel, and grasping in each hand a bunch of telegraph wires with incandescent terminals.

Telegramas. Value in block type; black controls. (Type 328c.)

10c., black on red, perf. 12.

We will illustrate Types 328b and 328c next month.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

ALAGOAS. Of the type chronicled in July and with the same perforation L'Ami announces four higher values:

1,000 reis, violet.
2,000 reis, brown, burelé blue.
5,000 ,, orange, ,, ,,
10,000 ,, blue, ,, yellow.

Argentine Republic. Consular Service. 1899. Change of date and colours.

50 cent., blue.	5 pesos, carmine.
1 peso, green.	10 ,, green.
2 pesos, ultramarine.	50 ,, bistre.

Bikanir. The stamps of this state have long been noted for their fearful and wonderful character, and four values of a presumably new issue received by Mr. Morley fully maintain this proud distinction.

The design throughout is practically the same, though the lowest value is a good deal smaller than the others, and the highest introduces a second colour. In the centre is an oval containing the value in both Latin and native characters, on each side is stationed an unhappy looking animal of ill-defined breed, above, an oval set in many scrolls contains a native inscription in four lines and is surmounted by the rayed head of a god, whilst eight flags and standards project from the upper portion of the curved frame. Below the oval of value there is a long inscribed panel, and beneath this the scroll design is continued and terminates in a tassel. The paper appears to be native made, shows laid lines and resembles thin parchment. The longest and widest measurements of the 2 as., are 4 4/5 by 3 1/5 in.; of the others, about 6¾ by 4½ inches.

TWO ANAS, red.
EJCHT ANAS, ,,
ONE RUPEE, ,,
FIVE RUPEES, ,, and oval of value green.

Ceylon. Stamp Duty. Mr. Verzijl has shown us an unchronicled provisional:

Five Rupees—on 500 rup., bistre.

Gondal. Of the type already known L'Ami chronicles:

6 annas, violet.
8 ,, bistre.
1 rupee, ultramarine.

Great Britain. Following the now established order of things the 1/- Police Courts has been issued with overprinted figure of value, but as this and the name are in bright red the stamp presents a quite unfamiliar appearance.

1 shil., green, name and figure in red.

Mauritius. We have discovered another provisional belonging to the Internal Revenue series. Two bars cover the original value, and the new one appears immediately above in one line of heavy block caps. 19 by 4 mm.

75 cents in black on 1 shil., brown, wmk. C A.

Mexico. For the first sight of the current Bill stamp we are indebted to Mr. E. Cornish.

5 cent, green, on white wove, perf. 12.

Peru. Mr. H. S. Terrett submits a block of four of the 1 sol 1883-84 from the top right corner of the sheet, all except the corner stamp bearing the overprint HABILITADO PARA EL 87Y88 in a circle, previously known only on the 5 soles.

We have found a specimen of the 25c., of 1880-81 bearing the arms of Chili and inscription inverted.

Philippines. Internal Revenue. Some time ago Mekeel's Weekly chronicled under this title a 2 c., de p. stamp, and the same now lists a 10c. de p. in the same type. Specimens of the lower value have been shown to us by Mr. Fulcher the design being as follows:

In a double-lined oval inscribed UNITED STATES INTERNAL REVENUE—PHILIPPINE ISLANDS appears what purports to be an eagle bearing on a shield the arms of the States with motto and stars above. In the upper spandrels are solid triangles bearing the suggestive true-lovers' knot, the lower ones contain circles enclosing the figure of value. At the base is the value in small white caps., in a straight line TWO C. DE PESO—a peculiar looking combination of English numeral and Spanish currency. The stamps appear to be lithographed on white wove paper, perf. 10, and are unusually small, the design measuring 19 by 22mm.

2c. de peso, carmine.
10 ,, ,, "brown buff."

We list next month a number of American occupation varieties received since the above was set up. Amongst them we note the 5c. de peso of the type described printed in deep blue.

"DISCOVERIES."

British Bechuanaland. 1893-95. On Cape of Good Hope:
2d., brown, overprint downwards twice.

Crete. 1899. Russian Sphere of Administration. Nothing is said in the catalogues about the paper, but both values in both colours are found on wove, and the 1 met., blue, 1 met., green, and 2 met., rose on horizontally laid.

Guatemala. 1898. The converted fiscals are listed as perf. 12, but the earlier type occurs perf. 14 x 12:
1c., dark blue and red, perf. 14 x 12.
2c., on 1c., ,, ,, ,, ,, ,,

Hawaiian Islands. 1893. Provisional Government:
1c., green, with double overprint in red.

We have been shown two alleged postal fiscals of a type that is quite new to us, and we publish a description in the hope of eliciting some information.

The stamps are rather larger than ordinary, the measurements being 27 by 30½ mm. The chief feature is the slightly modified central design of the 25 cents, slate, postage stamp of 1883; the name appears on a band above, the value in words below, and in numerals at the sides; circles in the upper angles contain the dollar sign. They are somewhat coarsely printed on thick, white, wove paper, and are perforated 10.

ELUA DALA ($ 2), red. ELIMA DALA ($ 5), blue.

Both are most carefully postmarked Honolulu H.I. Jun. 24 (29) 1886.

Persia. 1886. 6s., on 5s., green, triple surcharge.

Philippines. BURIAS. Mr. L. W. Fulcher has submitted a specimen of the 10c., de p., pale red, baby type, overprinted "Correos—Burias." in two lines in dull blue. The measurements are 11½ and 11 mm., by 3½ and 2.

Burias is one of the Philippine group, but it is not easy to see why it should have been thus distinguished. The stamp has been postally used.

Samoa. To the reference list published last month add:
1887. Perf. 11½. 1d., pale green. 1d., yellow green.
,, ,, 12 by 11½. 1d., pale green.

Of the 1898-99 provisionals Scott catalogues the 2½d., in black on 1d., blue green, but this variety has not been seen by our publisher.

Tolima. The 5c., vermilion, of 1888, has been found with the later perforation:
5c., vermilion, perf. 12.

Provisional Fiscal Issues of the American Occupation of the Philippines.

AMONGST the many world problems now engaging the attention of thoughtful minds and taxing the resources of able diplomatists, the question of the form of government to be arranged for the lovely islands in the North Pacific, but recently the scene of conflict betwixt representatives of the two hemispheres and still the theatre of war, is by no means the least difficult of solution. Annexation or withdrawal, home rule or military occupation, are the alternatives presented to the citizens of the United States, and such grave issues have naturally aroused a lively interest in the conditions prevailing in those distracted regions.

That all great constitutional changes are faithfully represented on our album pages is a well worn philatelic axiom, and not the least interesting leaves will be those whereon the course of events in the Philippines will be found depicted.

At the present time little is known about the changes and new issues made by the invading revenue officers save what has been gathered from an examination of the specimens seen, and, as but very few copies have fallen into the hands of collectors, it is not as yet possible to do more than indicate and illustrate the main types, and provide skeleton lists to be filled in later on.

Three stamp duties in force under the Spanish régime are known to have been continued by the American officials: the GIRO, the SELLO, and certain INTERNAL REVENUE imposts.

The stamps bearing the first of these titles are used on Bills of Exchange, and, so far as is known, there was no provisional employment of the Spanish type. It may be as well to state here that all the American designs are very roughly produced, apparently by lithography, and are evidently of local manufacture. The main types have already been described in our Fiscal Chronicle, so that in the presence of the full sized reproductions it will not be necessary to repeat that information.

Three drawings of the Bill stamps have been found with date 1899, but thus far only two of them are known dated 1900. Type I is a very poor production, with badly formed letters and stars, and is readily indentified by the fact that the last letter of UNITED ends half-way across a stripe. Type II is an improvement, and the word UNITED covers five stripes. Type III is still better, and is at once known by the absence of a serif to the figure "1" in the date, and by being printed on a hard grey paper. The three types are quite distinct, and, of course, differ in many points besides those indicated. There is some reason for thinking that Type III was really the first; an unsevered imperforate pair of proofs illustrated by Filatelic Facts and Fallacies is of this type. All the values are printed in blue, varying in intensity, and all used copies seen are more or less roughly perforated.

The foregoing table shows what may be expected, and the crosses indicate used specimens already seen; the marks of interrogation denote two unknown values which are probably 2p. 60c., and 3p. 60c. Proofs of the 10 and 15 pesos are listed in the above named paper, and one or more higher values probably exist.

Stamps entitled SELLO were formerly used on insurance policies, and the current stamps of this series seized by the invaders were made available for use by being stamped LIEUT. U.S.N.—CAPTAIN OF THE PORT in two lines of block caps., in violet, and initialled. Both inscription and initials are plainly seen on Fig 4. A most interesting variety is shown by Fig. 5: a 50c. de p., value being made up by the addition of a small 10c., stamp over the Spanish arms. A similar pair is in the possession of the writer, the U.S.N. overprint coming right across both of the smaller adhesives. All the Spanish stamps are imperforate.

The appropriated varieties known are: 25c., de p., red, 40c. de p., (plus 10c.) dark blue, 50c. de p., yellow brown.

Fig. 7.

Fig. 6. The stamps were first issued imperforate, and we know thus the 25c., de p., carmine, 40c. de p., blue, 50c. de p., pale buff, and 1 peso, very pale violet.

Of the same type, but perforated 12, the present list is 25c. de p., dark red, 50c. de p., olive yellow, 1 peso, dark violet.

Fig. 7 shows a second drawing in which, amongst other differences, it may be noted that the lower angles of the left hand division are not entered by rays, and that the disposition of the stars is not the same. In this type only a pair of the 25c., de peso, bright carmine, perf. 12, has been found.

The 10c., de peso, yellow brown, (and possibly other values of the small unappropriated Spanish type) was converted into an Internal Revenue stamp by an overprint—shown on Fig. 8 (Page 80)—applied in blue.

Finally, we have the small design shown by Fig. 9 (Page 80) which was fully described last month, and of which the 2c., de p., carmine, 5c., deep blue, and 10c., yellow brown, are the only values known. A. P. P.

Philately as an Aid to Culture.

III. ANENT PRINCES AND RULERS.

HOW comes it that we search in vain in our Albums for the features of the rulers of some of the most important empires in the world? The Emperor of China, the *Czar, the Kaiser, the Mikado, and the Sultan, are all alike unknown upon the philatelic page. The explanation of the exclusion of the last-mentioned from our royal portrait gallery is particularly interesting: being, in fact, the operation of the Mohammedan law which forbids the use of effigies or pictures. Consequently, upon the coins and the earliest postage stamps of Turkey, instead of the profile or bust so usual in other countries, we have the paraph or sign-manual of the Sultan. But the objection may be raised that we have a full-faced representation of the Shah upon the stamps of Persia, which also owns the sway of the Prophet. And this elicits the fact that there are schisms or divisions in the Moslem world as well as in Christendom. The Sunnites, or orthodox Musselmans, recognize the Sultan of Turkey as their chief, and conform strictly to the letter of the law. But the Persians belong to the Shiites, a sect of Mahometan dissenters, who claim greater liberty of action for themselves, and accordingly do not observe the prohibition.

Let us now turn back to the year 1862, and then we find that five emperors are depicted as reigning together in all the fulness of pride and power over Austria, Brazil, France, Mexico, and Persia. And when we recall what has happened to each and everyone of them since then, well may we exclaim with the Hebrew mourner—"How are the mighty fallen"! Little could any of them have foreseen what the fates had in store either for himself or the others. At the above mentioned date, the shameful day had not arisen for unhappy Maximilian, when betrayed and deserted he should be led out between two of his faithful generals for execution as a malefactor. Napoleon III had not dreamt of disaster and disgrace at Wörth or Gravelotte or Sedan, ushering in captivity and exile. Good, kind-hearted Dom Pedro, grown grey-headed in the service of his country, had not as yet been driven forth to die in banishment, far from the land which he had so long and wisely ruled. Nor had Nasr-edin, "King of Kings," been smitten down by the assassin's hand as he worshipped in his house of prayer. Of all the five, Francis Joseph alone remains, a solitary and heart-broken man, bewailing the tragic death of his only son, the cowardly murder of his wife, and crushed by the long series of woes that cling to the house of Hapsburg.

Though philately has not favoured us with the likeness of Alexander II of Russia, who was also foully slain, it does depict for us the features of the Sultan of Zanzibar, whose sudden demise was probably due to poisoning; and latest and most lamented of all, King Humbert of Italy, the friend of Great Britain, whose execrable murder terminated the life and labours of a noble-hearted sovereign, whose single aim was his people's and his country's good.

But it is not only crowned heads which have been laid low by the assassin. Presidents of republics are not one whit the more allowed to dwell in security, nor can the divergent nature and tenure of their office ensure to them immunity from danger. Abraham Lincoln and General Garfield—murdered presidents of the United States—are familiar to philatelists from the various issues of postage stamps which bear their features. And although the portrait of President Carnot does not figure upon the postage stamps of France, the dastardly deed which closed his career has not been forgotten; while, did space admit of the extension of the range of our subject to the republics of Central and South America, we could readily find further illustrations of the changes and chances of this mortal life amidst statesmen and rulers of the people.

EDITORIAL.

OUR intention to make this to some extent a Paris Exhibition number has been thwarted, for if it be difficult to make bricks without straw it is at least equally arduous to construct them of nothing but that flimsy material. Our persistent efforts to get information from Secretary, Jurymen and Parisian philatelists have yielded nothing but fragmentary items of little value, and, as our space can be more worthily occupied, there is no temptation to write up the show by the aid of a catalogue and a lively imagination.

That in certain respects the exhibition has been a great philatelic success is very evident, but the abstention of most of our prominent collectors must have considerably lowered the general level, an effect scarcely compensated for by the unusual volume of German exhibits. It is, moreover, distinctly unfortunate that Messrs. Bacon and Castle found themselves unable to occupy the judicial positions assigned to them, and it is to be feared that British philatelists have done but little in the way of dissipating the bad feeling already engendered by the national attitude towards the major show.

Following our rule of avoiding those subjects that fill the pages of our contemporaries, unless we have some new light to throw upon them, we do not propose to say anything about the postal section; and, for the reason already mentioned, we are not yet in a position to give much of the information concerning the fiscal exhibits that ought to find a place in this number.

By some curious process of reasoning, the committee excluded all mention of the medals presented by individuals and societies when publishing the list of awards, and although we have kept this page open until the last moment we have only been able to find out the destination of one of the prizes offered by the Fiscal Club.

The official awards are as follows:—

Division I. Gold: Mr. Walter Morley.
Bronze: Messrs. Rouselle & Schœller.
II. Silver: Count de Bélenet.
Bronze: Mr. Schœller.
III. Silver: Mr. Hoffmann (with the felicitations of the jury).
Bronze: Messrs. G. Gilbert & A. Preston Pearce.

The little we have heard enables us to state that the show of fiscals and telegraphs was far in advance of anything seen at any previous exhibition, so that the authorities were fully justified in making the excellent provision contained in their first prospectus. We trust that this fact will be brought home to those philatelists in this country who have been unable to appreciate the advance made by fiscal philately. If slow, that advance has been very sure, and the time has now come when we may claim a franker recognition of our position and of our work. In the future, no philatelic exhibition should be projected in this country without a regular fiscal section, and we have no hesitation in saying that it would prove a most successful department from every point of view.

Harking back to Paris, we learn that the great fiscal feature was the magnificent exhibit of British Colonial revenues forming the private collection of our publisher. This richly deserved the single gold medal awarded, and the opportunity of studying it must have been thoroughly appreciated by many. After this, the somewhat keen competition for the medal offered for rarities produced the most interesting result, and Mr. G. Gilbert is to be congratulated on having secured it. We gather that U.S., revenues figured somewhat largely in these displays, and we hope to give further particulars next month.

In the telegraph section the honours fall to Messrs. O'Callaghan and Walter Morley; and we are glad to see that our publisher secured a bronze for his excellent telegraph catalogue.

There was one more triumph for fiscals, Mr. Morley's English municipals carrying off a medal in competition with all sorts of philatelic camp-followers.

* * * * *

As this number will be read by some who know not the joys of philately, we feel constrained to point to the evidence borne by the immediately preceding pages to the fact that there is far more of literary pleasure and of current human interest in stamp collecting than the non-initiate could imagine. The stamp atmosphere is a most extensive one, and penetrates so many spheres of thought and of action that the mystery of its fascination for such a host of men and women, including so many of the highest talent and culture, may readily be solved by the curious enquirer.

We hold the opinion that too little stress is laid upon the relations of philately with the intellectual and material sciences. Such articles as those contributed to our journal by the Rev. E. Bell are highly appreciated by collecting readers, and may be read with interest by others, and it is well for ourselves as well as for our hobby that such should occasionally take the place of more technical studies.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS,

THE stamps are for the purpose of newspaper carriage, and are of a neat design; the colour may be described as brown but it varies considerably; the perforation and size of the control numbers also being anything but a fixed quantity. Five values are now in use, but no more of the 6d., will be printed, there being but little demand for them.

Turning to the extreme N.W., of England, we find stamps issued by two little-known companies. Those of the Cleator and Workington Junction Railway are rather pretty in design, and are chiefly noticeable because the title of the company is given thus on them: C. & W. J. Railway; it would probably puzzle a good many of the readers of this journal to identify the railway from the initials only.

The last mentioned company's near neighbour, the Cockermouth, Keswick, and Penrith, cannot be congratulated on its artistic taste, as the stamps consist simply of a type-set inscription surrounded by a primitive sort of oval, this probably being constructed of pieces of printers' rule hastily bent to shape. All but the lowest value bear the inscription "For Newspaper Parcels and Letters," this is somewhat curious as these stamps were in use long before the issue of the Railway Letter Fee, and it perhaps refers to the sending of Press Messages, a special stamp being used on some lines for this purpose.

Midland Railway.

ALTHOUGH there have only been three distinct issues since this railway company helped to inaugurate cheap parcel traffic in 1855, there are very many minor varieties, and a great number of special sub-issues, some of which, although known to have been printed, are apparently rarer than Great Auks' eggs, so that this one line alone offers a most interesting field of study and research to the specialist, as well as a display of bright and showy stamps to the general collector.

1855. 1st issue. (a.) Large rect. 60 x 42 mm. Figure of value on shield of arms, in centre. Scrolls at top and bottom, bearing name of railway and "prepaid newspaper parcel." PATENT MEDICINE STATISTICS.

The contributor whose public-spirited article appeared on page 18 of this volume sends us the following extract from the Pharmaceutical Journal for Sep. 22nd. It certainly is surprising that the duty referred to should be so productive.

The Stamp Duty Paid on Medicines during the year ended March 31, 1900, amounted to the sum of £288,827 (England, £286,504; Scotland, £2,323), being an increase over the previous year of £22,423 (England, £22,242; Scotland, £181). There has been a steady increase in the net receipts since 1894, when the amount was £213,210, the lowest during the past ten years.

A REFERENCE LIST OF THE TELEGRAPH STAMPS OF JAPAN.

By L. W. Fulcher, B.Sc.

It is unnecessary to describe the designs of the Japanese telegraph stamps as they are generally well known. They are supposed to have been first issued in 1855, but it is possible this date may have to be put back a year or two. They were withdrawn, as already mentioned, in April 1888. They are printed on thin white wove paper, which does not vary very much, and the shades of colour are tolerably uniform. The gum is yellowish to white. The stamps with the perforation of the first three groups mentioned above were probably in circulation simultaneously.

Type 332.

Dr. Kalckhoff doubts the existence of the 10 piastres with watermark of quatrefoils. Our publisher copied it from the Monthly Journal but has not seen a copy; can any reader produce one?

Wurtemburg. (Type 369.) A mistake was made in the catalogue through the omission of the 2 marks, orange, of 1876, against which should be placed the prices quoted for the 2 marks, yellow of 1875, leaving the latter unpriced.

Dr. Kalckhoff adds the following shades:

1875. 20 pf., chocolate
4 marks, grey
10 ,, vermilion
1876. 5 pf., dark grey.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

ALAGOAS. We illustrate one of the stamps chronicled last month; the indistinct appearance of the frame is caused by the burelage.

Buenos Ayres. Although rather late we are only now able to chronicle and illustrate the Ley de Sellos set for 1900. Fig. 1 shows the type for the values in centavos, and Fig. 2 that for the pesos. Our friends in this province seem to have forgotten us this year, but we gather from the description in Le Timbre Poste that a novelty has been the higher values are not yet announced.

Columbia. From 1858 to 1885 this country managed to get along with the single value of 20 centavos. Moens catalogues a 25c., on the 20c., vermilion of 1884, and a set of 25 and 50c, and 1p., under date 1886. Some time ago we listed a 1 peso on the 20c., and Mr. Morley has now found the missing provisional. The surcharge is in large block letters, 35 by 6 mm., in violet, downwards, and apparently handstamped.

50 CENTAVOS—on 20c., verm., of 1884.

Japan. Receipts for Taxes. Of the type for values in sen described last August, Mr. H. Thompson forwards two higher values:

5 sen, purple, on white wove, perf. 12.
10 ,, carmine, ,, ,, ,,

Perak. Selangor. Sungei Ujong. Mr. J. Sargant informs us that the current postage and revenue stamps are used for all purposes, so that the purely fiscal stamps are now obsolete.

Peru. Several of the 10c., and 25c., stamps are known with an oval overprint inscribed BIENIO 1883 Y 1884—Mr. Morley has found an earlier one than any yet listed:

25c., green, of 1868-69, violet overprint.

Ayacucho. Another uncatalogued provisional reaches us from the same source. The 10c., dark red, of 1880-81 has been overprinted 1882 AYACUCHO 1883 in black, in a circle 17 mm. in diameter.

Philippines. Several newly discovered types and varieties will be found described and illustrated on pages 74 and 75.

Figs. 8 and 9, for which room could not be found in their proper place are reproduced here.

Spain. The last number of Le Timbre Poste, true to its traditions, gives three fully illustrated pages in its fiscal section. One of the cuts, shown herewith, represents the current type of Spanish Sello, of which only one value has yet been signalled:

10p., bronze green on white, with control number on back.

VOL. I. NOVEMBER, 1900. No. 11.

The V.R.I. printings on O.F.S. Postage.

Some notes by Walter Morley.

A GOOD deal of uncertainty prevails as to the order of the different printings which have been made, and authorities differ, more especially as to the order of the second and third of them, so, with the idea that every little helps, I am listing the varieties I have met with as I am inclined to place them.

1st printing. Stops low, V.R.I. All agree as to this printing being the first, and the majority of the errors on the sheets have been pretty fully chronicled, the principal one being no stop after V once on a pane in the bottom row, this appears on all the values.

We have chronicled a small type ½d., and a variety of a wider figure 3 (illustrated in September number), and I have since found this wide type 3 with no stop after V, pointing to either two settings of the 3d., value, or, possibly, one pane of a sheet may have the wide 3.

2nd printing. V·R·I· stops raised. All ordinary type V's, but one stamp on a pane has stops low, and one finds one each of the following errors of stops: V.R·I·; V·R.I.; V.R·I.

This printing is placed third by some, but I have reasons for considering it to be the second.

3rd printing. Setting A: stops raised, and with six thick type V's to each pane; one error of stops, lower right corner stamp showing V.R·I· I have not seen the 4d., value with a thick V, but have all the other values.

Setting B—½d., value—thick V's and stops same as A, but the third stamp of the seventh row has a small type ½d.

Setting C—1d., value—thick V's and stops same as A; the fifth stamp of the first row has small 1 to 1d. (¹d.)

Setting D—½d., value—thick V's and stops same as A; the first stamp of the sixth row has no stop after V, and the lower right corner stamp has a small ½.

Setting E—1d., value—thick V's and stops same as A; the first stamp of the sixth row has no stop after V, and some stamps on the pane have the d shorter than 1 of 1d.

Setting F—1d., value—six thick V's to the pane in different positions to the other settings; the fifth stamp of the first row has no stop after I, and the second stamp of the third row has stops V·R·I.

I also have with the raised stops, in a pair only, the 6d., blue, with d lower than 6.

SEYCHELLES.

The 2c., green and carmine of 1890.

THE variations between the two types of this value are of a nature similar to those differentiating the types of the 4c., described in the June number of M.P.J. It would seem as though all the values should be of quite the same types, (I or II,) as the central design does not vary, the name of the Colony, and the value, being printed separately in this series of Colonial stamps. While there seem to be "similar differences," so to speak, there yet present themselves certain particulars which, to say the least, present themselves more noticeably in this value than in the 4c.

TYPE 1.

1. The fillet of the crown is defined by two border-lines, the upper one thin, and the lower one comparatively thick, the latter turning up somewhat almost closes the space between on meeting the lines of the background; the thin line continuing to form the lower part of the frame of the second jewel space.

2. The curved line of the eyebrow, though weak, forms, on continuation, the outline of the band of hair, and the white lines of the shading below are limited by it. There is a fine line of shading that gives finish to the inner corner of the eyes, which, changing direction and thickness, proceeds quite to the band of hair.

3. The lines of shading on the cheek and nose are discontinuous; the dark pair below the front of the eye being quite separate, and very indefinitely connected with any others; the lines of the nose shading are mostly unconnected with those of the cheek, while the line across the cheek from the upper part of the lobe of the ear barely reaches the curved nostril line.

TYPE 2.

1. The lines show no tendency to meet each other, the ends being "open" to the background; while the thin line does not continue further than the vertical line of the second jewel space.

2. The middle white line of the three cuts through the downward curve of the eyebrow line, which is quite decided in character.

The fine line is absent, and it is the upper line of the eye that continues to the hair.

3. The two lines beneath the eye appear to be merely a continuation of the solid colour in front of the eye, proceeding therefrom to the hair; the lines across the nose are more decided and continuous with those of the cheek, and the line from the ear is plainly connected with the nostril curve.

4. The short line bounding the lips would not, if produced, form a continuation of the upward-curving line from the cheek; the lower lip is delimited by two curved lines; and the junction of the throat-outline with the line of the background forms an acute angle. The lines on the chin itself are weak and undecided, though they just manage to reach the outline of the chin. The lines at the junction of chin and neck are clear, and the thickening of the cheek lines suggests rather than defines the outline of the jaw.

4. The short line is quite clearly a continuation of the cheek line; the lower lip is a block of colour, and the junction at the base of the neck is somewhat obtuse owing to the neck-outline taking an outward curve before joining the line of the background. The lines are clear and decided, there being no doubt as to their reaching the outline; but somehow the effect is more mechanical and less artistic than in type I. The lines at the junction of neck and chin are usually muddled, and this appears to give a different direction to the jaw shading, which is much more decisive than in type I.

5. Though a "letter" variation only, it seems best to note the different shapes of the letters of the word "postage," which appears at each side of the head, and being printed in the same colour properly belongs to the type. Taking the right and left hand labels separately, we find the most marked differences are:

Left hand label.

1. The "O" is not quite round.
2. "Head" and "tail" of "S" nearly equal in size, the tail turning upwards.

Right hand label.

1. "P" and "O" appear to be somewhat shorter than the other letters.
2. "S" more open at top than bottom.
3. The cross-bar of "T" slopes upward from left to right, failing to make right angles.

1. "O" almost a circle.
2. Tail larger than head, and not turning up so much.

Right hand label.

1. No difference perceptible.
2. "S" openings very nearly alike.
3. "T" well shaped.

The name and value, separately printed, as before mentioned, present variations, the most marked in this case being in the letter "Y" of "Seychelles", the left fork being the "predominant partner" in type I, whereas that position belongs to the right fork in type II. In both types the middle E is different from the other two in having its upper cross line proportionately shorter in relation to the other two; the difference between the two types is that in I the upper cross line is rather depressed, this not being the case in type II.

It is, perhaps, almost superfluous to point out that the position of the value-label varies in relation to the border of the white space that it occupies, and that minute differences can be found in the labels.

Discoveries. Hawaiian Islands. Our suspicious reception of the two alleged postal fiscals described last month has been fully justified. Mr. A. B. Kay, who has made a special study of forgeries and reprints, has called our attention to the fact that this precious pair figures in a manufacturer's list of forgeries reprinted in The Philatelic Record for October 1897.

The item reads: HAWAII (ESSAYS).

The same list tenders six varieties of the 1d., on 6d., Transvaal, of 1879, against which it may be seasonable to repeat a warning. The prices vary from 3/- to 8/- apiece, the set being offered for 30/-.

MR. Gilbert has sent only a partial list of his winning exhibit:

Holland. 1875. 15 cents, centre and value inverted. Alabama. $2, blue.

Mr. C. E. Hoffmann entered 61 Swiss stamps, 33 being from Canton Berne, 8 from Valais, 7 from Zurich, 5 from Geneva, and two each from Fribourg, Lucerne, St. Gallen, and Zug. Most of these were specimens of the highest values of various series, more than one third ranging from 50 to 1000 francs. Of the others the most noticeable were the 2 and 10 rappen of the first issue of Berne printed on both sides, and the two errors of Zug.

Mr. Walter Morley might have been more successful had he made his selection from a wider area, but with the whole of his British Colonials in another section his field was necessarily much curtailed. It is curious to note that of the 76 stamps mounted all but 16 were either from the British Isles or from Mexico.

Great Britain. Admiralty, £5, p. 14, blue paper. Bankruptcy, £5, wmk. The 79 stamps sent by Mr. A. Preston Pearce showed much diversity. An analysis gives 8 British, 36 Colonial, 9 U.S., 7 French, 6 Mexican and 13 others. EDITORIAL.

As stated last month, it appears that the offer of a silver medal for the best exhibit of rare stamps, showing not less than 50 nor more than 75 varieties, produced the keenest competition in the fiscal section of the Paris Exhibition, so, feeling assured that some account of the treasures there displayed would be of interest to most of our readers, we are publishing extracts from the lists of the selections submitted by four of the members of the Fiscal Stamp Exchange Club.

It is quite possible that there were other entries, for awards were made in this section to collectors whose names do not appear in the faulty catalogue, but much of what took place at the exhibition has not yet transpired, though it is evident that some of the arrangements cannot escape discreditable comment.

This list of rarities will be valuable ten or twenty years hence, and though it is quite probable that some of the varieties mentioned will by that time have fallen from their high position, it is more than likely that the majority will be reckoned amongst the unobtainables.

* * * * *

The only further reference we intend to make to the Paris Exhibition this month is to announce that Mr H. Clark won the second silver medal offered by the Fiscal Club (vide our May issue), and that, by inference, the third silver and the two bronze medals were not awarded. No official communication has reached us during the past month, and we wish to hear from the Committee before saying anything more.

* * * * *

We would draw particular attention to the article on Seychelles stamps commenced in this number by Mr. Firth. His discovery of a second type of the 4c., announced in our June number, although supported by enlarged reproductions of the normal stamp and the variety, was discredited in some quarters, and being thus put upon his mettle our contributor proceeds to demolish his critics.

We are glad to have reasons for believing that the announcement that our Journal will be continued next year will be received with pleasure by many. Further particulars will appear in the next number with our acknowledgments of the many favours conferred upon us, and we will say no more now but that our publisher hopes to receive a mark of appreciation from each subscriber in the form of a prompt renewal.

* * * * *

No more welcome gift has reached us this year than the little work entitled "Some Notes on the Telegraph Companies of the United States; their Stamps and Franks, by Joseph B. Rich," and in thanking the author we wish to express our regret that the brochure, apparently, is not on sale, as we should have liked to recommend it to our friends for their own pleasure and profit and for missionary use. We shall probably devote a column or two next month to a comparison of the lists with our publisher's catalogue, but, unfortunately, we have no room for the many historical notes and good stories that make such agreeable reading. Another valuable contribution to our library is Stanton's Philatelic Index, which also hails from the States, but does full justice to our own small Journal. It should be in the hands of all thorough students and writers for the philatelic press, and those desirous of receiving it each month should forward 45 cents for a year's subscription to Mr. W. J. Stanton, 918, Fourth Avenue, Detroit, Michigan.

The first number of Le Collectionneur de Timbres Fiscaux is due on the 20th of November. It is to be a monthly journal for dealers in and collectors of fiscals, locals, municipals, and non-adhesives. The subscription rate to places out of France is 5 francs, and all other particulars may be gathered from the specimen number which will be sent free on demand addressed to the Bureaux: 13, Rue Saint-Sever, Rouen.

We are informed that the full set of Transvaal fiscals from 1d., to £20 has received the V.R.I. overprint but no copies have yet come to hand. Unfortunately, postage stamp collectors with their Vryburg issue do not hold a monopoly of local V.R.I.'s, for Mr. Morley has received copies of two fiscal provisionals said to have been used at Rustenburg on its first occupation by the British. One or more sheets of the 6d., red, and 1/-, yellow green, both perf. 11 by 11½, appear to have had the value in figures and in words struck out by three and two red lines respectively; an overprint in dull blue was then applied in such a fashion that the letters V.R.I. in thick block caps., appear across the top, and the inscription 1 PENNY in Roman caps., is placed on the bars crossing the centre:

V.R.I. 1d., in blue, on 6d., red.
" " 1/-, yellow green.

One of the copies seen, though unused, is cancelled ZEERUST 3 JUL 1900.

Mr. Morley has secured the lower portion of a sheet of each value, both bearing a guarantee signed by G. Tighe, Secretary to Lord Cecil, Imperial Commissioner for Zeerust, Marico and Rustenburg.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS,

CURRENT IN 1900.

By G. W. J. Potter.

ANOTHER small and unimportant railway is the Colne Valley, only 20 miles in length, and although opened in 1859 it has never made much progress, and now waits, I believe, for the Great Eastern to absorb it. It issues a series of neatly designed stamps of two types; the first used for one newspaper, value ½d., has a pentagonal star over a circle of brown, "Colne Valley Railway" being on a label above, and the control number below. The other stamps, of the second type, are in shades of blue, ultramarine, or indigo, the value appearing in colour on a white octagon, and a monogram of the letters C.V.R. in each corner. The control numbers are usually inserted in the space left for them, but several copies that I have seen were totally without them.

Four stamps of pleasing appearance are issued by the Hull and Barnsley Railway, as it is generally called, although its full title is considerably longer. The ½d., is, as usual, smaller than the others, and is the only one that does not bear the words "At Owner's Risk," probably a second issue may be made so as to correct this slip. The design is similar to one of the standard types in use; having the company's arms in a circle with labels above and below, the chief difference being that the value thus :— PRICE is printed in solid colour over the crest, 2D giving rather an uncommon look to the stamp.

RAILWAY LETTER FEES.

A subscriber informs us that only five copies of the 2d., green, Waterford and Central Ireland are left over in the hands of the late Secretary, and that there were only 5½ sheets (132 stamps) of the 2d., red, when the railway was taken over by the Great Southern and Western on Oct. 1st 1900.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

CEYLON. Miss C. F. Harrison sends us the 60 cents, brown, dated 1.7.98. We chronicled this date in our July number on the authority of Mr. Verzijl, but this is the first value specified.

Ecuador. L'Echo chronicles the 20c., fiscal stamp of 1897-98 overprinted Telegrafos diagonally:

20 centavos, blue and black.

Great Britain. THE UNITED KINGDOM TELEGRAPH CO. 1862 issue, upright. The controls usually met with are 3½ mm., high, but Mr. W. Morley has found the 6d., rose, with controls 4 mm., high (No. 33371). (The varieties of controls used on the 1863, oblong issue, are 3½, 4 and 4½ mm., high.)

Malay States. The M.J. learns that in Selangor the stamps on telegrams are cancelled, as in India, by placing them along a certain line on the form, and cutting them in half, so that the sender obtains a receipt bearing halves of the stamps he has used. In Perak there is a form of receipt at the bottom of this telegraph form, and if the sender wants it signed he has to affix a 1c., stamp to it.

Orange Free State. Ewen's Weekly announces receipt of the following:

(1) The 6d., rose, and 1s., yellow, overprinted FT instead of TF.
(2) 6d., blue, TF blurred, no dot.
(3) 3d., blue, dot after T instead of F.

We note that these varieties came direct from S. Africa, but, as they are not represented in any of the specialist collections known to us, we may be excused for expressing a hope that Messrs. Yaar & Co have not commenced to supply the Colonial market.

Fig. 302.

Paraguay. In a later issue of the same paper a new value of the known type (Fig. 302) is chronicled:

40 centavos, red, grey-green and black.

This should be quite a new issue, as but a short time ago no telegraph stamps were in use, the whole stock of the two lower values having been surcharged for postal purposes.

Porto Rico. Mr. Morley has found a number of postage stamps overprinted with a large T, with and without an enclosing circle, and used as Telegraphs.

20c., grey, of 1896, o'p't'd T in blue.
20c., rose, of 1893-94 ,, (T) in black.
20c., grey, of 1896 ,, ,, ,, ,,

United States. COMMERCIAL UNION TELEGRAPH CO. Mr. Morley adds an interesting note to Mr. Rich's description of the stamps of this Company. He says that the green and yellow stamps were printed four to a page, made up in book form, and the carmine, in book form, 20 to a page. Morley's Telegraph Catalogue also chronicles the 25c., yellow, on thin paper.

Of the 1885 issue, type 366, in green, Dr Kalckhoff announces a variety with violet control.

V. R. (RUSTENBURG.)

WE are informed that it was during the first occupation by the British of this place in July 1900 that the Transvaal postage stamps seized were, under the authority of Lord Cecil, ornamented with the V.R. overprint in violet. The values thus converted were the ½d., 1d., 2d., 2½d., 3d., 6d., 1/-, and 2/6; the 4d., value—listed by Stanley Gibbons—was not included in the officially verified set shown to our publisher.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

FINLAND. Le T. P., announces the discovery of two types of the 10 marka of the second (1866) issue. The first has the value in words on the central cartouche in large letters, whereas in the second the letters are smaller and surrounded by a line.

All the values in marks in our collection are of this second type with the exception of the 1½m., which conforms to the first.

Great Britain. Town of Southampton. Mr. F. Gricourt sends us an uncatalogued variety:

6s., pale blue on white, perf. 14.

Holland. Mr. Schwabacher has sent us a copy of the lowest value of the 1875 issue (value in words below), showing both the arms in blue and the value in black inverted. The foundation is such that this error would most readily escape detection, and as Mr. Schwabacher found two in the same parcel it should be worth while to scrutinize our copies.

15ct., grey, blue and black, imperf., arms and value inverted.

Lorenzo Marques. Industrial. Early in the year we listed a number of Contribuçao Industrial stamps issued in Portuguese India, and formed by overprinting some of the current postage stamps. A similar course has been taken here, as will be seen by the accompanying cuts which first appeared in L' Ami des Timbres. The following values are announced, the overprint in each case being black:

2r., on 2½r., red-brown	50r., blue
5r., yellow	75r., carmine
10r., violet	80r., green
15r., brown	100r., brown on yellow
20r., lilac	150r., carmine on rose
25r., green	200r., blue on blue

300r., blue on salmon

Mexico. Bills. Mr. E. Cornish sends us another value of the set described in September:

1 cent., red-brown, on white wove, perf. 12.

Monaco. From M. A. Baillière we have received a copy of the lowest value, printed much more clearly than usual, on very white instead of yellowish paper, and with the value in bright blue instead of greenish blue:

5c., red-brown and blue, roughly perf. 10.

Peru. Mr. Morley submits a copy of 10c., green, of the 93-94, issue with double overprint in black of Tesoreria General RESELLADO.

Type 1.

Russia. Nijni Novgorod. Until recently only two stamps (fair permits) were known, both dated 1892, and of the first type here reproduced. In July we signalled a greatly improved type for 1893, and the last number of Le Timbre Poste contains the annexed illustrations and list:

The 5 k., rose, of 1893, seen by us was perf. 13½. Doubtless this value exists for 1894 and 1895.

Type 1.	1892.	5k., rose, perf. 11½, 13½.

Type 11.	1893.	5k., rose	,,

	1896.	5k., carmine, perf. 11½.

"DISCOVERIES."

CRETE. 1898. Mr. Morley possesses of the first British issue a doubly printed copy of the 20 par., mauve; and of the second issue a horizontal pair of the 10 par., blue, not perforated between.

Modena. Mr. A. M. South has shown us a doubly printed specimen of the 20c., grey-lilac, the second impression being slightly below the first.

Swazieland. The catalogues give the perforation 12½ for the Transvaal postage stamps overprinted for use in this territory in 1889-90, but evidently some of the sheets perforated 12½ x 12 were also impressed, for Mr. Morley finds thus the 2d., olive, and 1/-, green, and the 2d., with error "Swazielan."

Venezuela. The 10c., vermilion, has been noted with double overprint of "Resellada" &c.

The Documentary Fiscals of Bulgaria.

A SINGLE series, a single handsome type, four issues of but a few values each, four-fifths of the varieties catalogued quite common: it is not surprising that Bulgaria ranks high in the estimation of the beginner. It is, however, one of the purposes of this article to show that, although but very few countries present a more attractive appearance to the novice, the more advanced philatelist will find these few short series well worthy of his careful attention.

Fig. 1.

Moens tells us that the first issue appeared in May 1879, and he states that the stamps (Fig. 1) were printed on laid paper showing the undulatory watermark reproduced as Fig. 2, and were perforated 13. These particulars have been copied into all subsequent catalogues, but will be found to be both insufficient and inaccurate. It must first be pointed out that all normal specimens are on horizontally laid paper, and that the watermark, covering more than one stamp, runs in the same direction as these lines, with the result that it is frequently somewhat difficult to detect.

Fig. 2.

Then instead of the plain 13 perf., one of the most curious arrangements known was brought into use for this issue, the setting of the horizontal rows being alternately 9½ and 12, the vertical rows being always 12½. It follows as a matter of course that each value is found perf. 9½ x 12½ x 12 x 12½ and 12 x 12½ x 9½ x 12½.

For the beginner it may be pointed out that the only type difference between this and the next issue is to be found in the last word of the lower inscription, which in this case reads CAHT (cent) for the lower values and ⊂ PAHK (franc) for the higher ones. The design of the values in francs is slightly different, the scrolls on both sides of the shield are replaced by cartouches bearing the value, and the cancellation panel at the bottom is not quite so plain. The stamps also are bi-coloured.

20c., ultramarine	1fr., yellow	and black
25c., brown	3fr., dark green	,,
30c., orange	5fr., dark blue	,,
40c., carmine pink	10fr., lilac	,,
50c., dark green	20fr., grey	,,
80c., dull purple	50fr., orange brown	,,

Larger size, with figures in the angles, and perforated 13½:

100 francs, blue and black.

As in the case of the postals, the second issue was occasioned by the change of currency from centimes and francs to stotinki and leva, though it may be remarked en passant that no higher value than 1 leva has yet been noted, so that in all probability the little used higher values were not superseded.

The date of the second issue is given as 1883, but there are varieties possessing characteristic features of both emissions to be chronicled before passing on to it.

The first variation is a combination of the earlier type with the later perf., of 12 x 12½.

As yet only the 50c., dark green, can be listed, and it is found both horizontally and vertically laid. As will presently appear, provisional use was made some years later of a remainder of the 25c., and 80c., and a specimen of this latter value, overprinted, has been found with this combination, so it may possibly exist in its primitive condition. It is, however, more probable that one or more imperforate sheets were found and submitted to the machine then in use.

The second variation is the combination of the later type with the earlier peculiar perforation. Only the lowest value has yet been found, and it is on horizontally laid paper:

10 stotinki, grey, perfs. 9½ x 12½ x 12 x 12½ and 12 x 12½ x 9½ x 12½.

As already stated, the essential difference constituting the second emission is found in the last word of the inscription, which now reads CTOT for the lower values and an unpresentable combination of four characters for the highest. An interesting point just noticed is that the lowest value, which we have already encountered, has a colon after the inscription, whereas a full stop appears on all the others. This variation in type, in conjunction with the character of the last variety listed, shows plainly that the 10st., value was required and issued before the others.

The stamps of this issue are printed on the same laid watermarked paper, but the lines are as often found vertically as horizontally (except in the case of the 15st., which is only known vertically laid); the perforation is 12 x 12½.

10st., grey	20st., pale blue	1 leva, black
15st., black	50st., dark green	and yellow.

Six years after the currency change the supply of the 10 and 20 st., became exhausted, so recourse was had to remainders of the first issue. Sheets of the 25c., and 80c., had their original values cancelled by black bars, and the new denominations, in figures and in words, were printed on the bottom labels. According to Moens these two provisionals were issued on June 8th, 1889, and were superseded in the same year by the third regular issue. A fairly considerable number must, however, have been used, and, with a single exception, all those seen by the compiler and the writer have conformed in all respects to the peculiarities of the earliest emission. The exception, already discussed, is a copy of the higher value with the regular perforation of the second issue.

All are on horizontally laid, watermarked, paper, and the varieties are:

10 st., on 25c., brown, perf. 9½ x 12½ x 12 x 12½ and 12 x 12½ x 9½ x 12½.
20 st., on 80c., dull purple " " "
" " " perf. 12 x 12½.

Fig. 3.

For the third issue the whole design of the lower values was redrawn, but the new type is much inferior to the old one. The chief facial differences are the addition of two tablets containing the value, and the substitution of more florid tracery at the sides of the shield. (Fig. 3.) For the highest value the lion has been redrawn and the crown altered, the result being an improvement. In other respects there have been equally great changes, for the paper employed is no longer laid but wove, and there is no watermark; furthermore, there is a long sequence of perforations, as will be seen by the table below in which all the known varieties are listed. No specimens of the 15st., and 40st., have yet been seen, and it is quite possible that they do not exist.

	10½	11	11½	12	12 x 12½	12½ x 12	12½	13	13½
10st., grey	x	x	x	x		x	x	x	x
15st.
20st., blue	x	x	x	x			x	x
30st., orange ...			x
40st.
50st., dull green ...	x		x	x	x	x	x	x
1l., yellow and black	x		x	x			x

The two combinations given are the normal perforation of the preceding issue and its complement, but others are to be found, for the 10st., perf. 11½ x 10½, and the 50st., perf. 12 x 13, are in the possession of the writer.

The shade of the 20st., is not at all constant.

The current set, which is supposed to have been issued about 1894, is the plainest and simplest of all. There is no change in the design, which is somewhat coarsely printed on a fairly thick white wove, unwatermarked, paper, and all specimens seen are perforated 11½. Unfortunately, but little effort seems to be made in the direction of securing uniformity of colouring. The present list is:

10st., red-lilac; violet; purple.
20st., ultramarine; Prussian blue.
30st., yellow; vermilion.
40st., pink.
50st., pale green, deep green.
1l., yellow and black.

Perhaps the best rough method of distinguishing between the two issues is to note the thickness of the paper, comparison being made with the two lowest values which are differently coloured. It may also be worth mentioning that whereas the current 50st., is quite common that value in the earlier set perforated 11½ seems to be scarce.

It is, perhaps, worthy of notice that the lowest value retains throughout the colon in place of the full stop found on all the others.

The earliest Telegraphs of Ceylon.

In the Telegraph Chronicle for July reference was made to Mr. Stewart Wilson's "Ceylon Note" in which it was stated that other obliterations than "Colombo" are known on the Indian Telegraph stamps used in Ceylon. The following is a complete list of the obliterations which should be found:

Amaradhapura	Gampola	Matalle
Badulla	Jaffna	Nawalapitya

Philately as an Aid to Culture.

IV. IN THE SPHERE OF GEOGRAPHY.

PERHAPS nowhere can scientific philately be turned to better account than in the extension of one's geographical knowledge. Before this month is over, hundreds of young people will be sitting for the Cambridge local examinations, many of them desirous of obtaining a high position in the class lists, while some hope to become the proud possessor of one of the medals offered for distinguished answering by the Royal Geographical Society.

Now whether we treat this subject as a whole, or under its usual sub-divisions of physical, commercial, and political geography, it almost goes without saying that the observant philatelist holds a great advantage over his less favoured competitors. Especially will this be the case if as a beginner he has studied the information printed in so many Albums about the situation, leading features, acreage, population, and rulers of the several countries whose stamps he is collecting. Take for example the federation of Australia—one of the great events of this present year; yet thousands of people could not enumerate the colonies which have been linked together, or give their capitals; but the philatelist will know all about them. Many persons who think themselves well-educated would be puzzled if requested to name the Danish West Indies, or the states of Central America; but the stamp collector will tell them off upon his fingers. Much of what has been said in a previous article about modern history will be equally applicable to political geography. Savoy now forms two departments of France, yet the cross of Savoy is still as conspicuous upon current stamps of Italy as the lilies of France were once upon the royal arms of Great Britain. Ask the explanation of this, and the one who answers it is pretty sure to be a philatelist. In like manner the natural productions and the commercial relations of many countries have served as inspirations to the designers of their postage stamps. The eye of the collector is familiar with these, and the impressions thus made upon his mind are more likely to be lasting and of practical use when occasion requires than if he were depending upon an unaided effort of memory.

Closely allied with geography come the kindred sciences of ethnography and comparative philology. With regard to the former of these, what an interesting group of various types of mankind can be compiled from the pages of our Albums! Not to speak of the white races, we have the features of Asiatic nationalities depicted on the stamps of Holkar, Sirmoor, Johore, Japan, Persia, and Siam. The Dyak appears on emissions of Borneo and Labuan; the Malagasy on those of Diego Suarez. Within the African continent we have the Negus of Abyssinia; Arab types are found under Soudan and Zanzibar; natives of the Somali coast on labels of Obock and Djibouti; negroes are represented on various issues of Liberia; and yet other tribes on the stamps of Congo and Central Africa. Then in the western hemisphere we have pictures of the North American Indian, both male and female; the native beauty of Guatemala; and the peon of Uruguay; while the islands of the sea furnish specimens of their inhabitants upon the stamps of Hayti and the Sandwich Isles, of Tonga and Samoa.

Likewise in comparative philology a pleasurable field for investigation is thrown open to us. The student in this branch of research is aware that one of the first points of attack is the names of the lower numerals. Philately enables us to compare many of these not only in the Romance languages, but also in the Teutonic, Scandinavian, and Sclavonic groups. We must omit Oriental tongues, because the characters are unintelligible to most collectors; but it is instructive to turn to Polynesian dialects and observe their dissimilarity to European forms of speech.

A further interesting point may be noticed in the stamps of Hawaii, where such terms as eono keneta=six cents, akahi dala=one dollar, or uku leta=paid letter, show us in each case a pure native word used in combination with a borrowed and adapted word which is plainly suggestive of intercourse with America. A similar lesson may be drawn from the stamps of Tonga, only that the values peni and silini (penny and shilling) just as clearly indicate British auspices and influence.

EDITORIAL.

BY way of preparation for the task of penning our last causerie we have been looking through our first, and we are now congratulating ourselves on having been able to perform that duty without experiencing an uncomfortable effusion of blood to the face. We believe that we have at least fulfilled our obligations, and certainly in one respect our expectations have been liberally exceeded. The more than kind manner in which we have been supported by our readers and received by our contemporaries has been most gratifying, and will always remain the best remembered feature of our conduct of this Journal. Collectors of the first rank in all four of the departments of philately with which we have concerned ourselves have united to produce a volume that must at the moment be regarded as unique in the field of philatelic journalism, and the best thanks of both Editor and Publisher are most heartily tendered to the generous writers who, by their contributions to the list we are so complacently printing at the commencement of this volume, have produced such an eminently satisfactory result.

In so far as our shortcomings are manifest to us, we feel most disappointment at the failure to provide those elementary articles for the novice in fiscal philately that we had intended to prepare. The excuse, however, is obvious: our space is very limited, and from the date of publication of our second number we have never been without more original matter of real value than we could possibly use. This is the only extenuation we can tender a certain section of our readers, and, whilst bidding them hope for more favourable treatment in future, we think that they will find several articles in the volume of permanent utility.

The article on Bulgarian fiscals appearing in this issue came to us in skeleton form early in the year from the writer of the articles entitled Austrian Mysteries, and he suggested that it should be put together in suitable form for publication under such a sub-heading as "An easy country for beginners."

We have said that this is our last discourse, for, most regretfully, we have to vacate our post and to usher in a successor. By virtue of the kindly relations established with so many readers we feel that a word of personal explanation is due, and this is readily supplied. It is well known to many of our friends that the work of editing this small journal, added to the already too heavy engagements of a very busy life has nigh proved to be the last straw, and having to decide on a lightening of the burden the most recent addition must be the first to fall. In this resolve we are greatly assisted by the fact that the right man for our somewhat peculiar position is ready and willing to occupy it, and in announcing that our charge is to be transferred to Mr. L. W. Fulcher we have only to point to his writings in this Journal to render any further introduction quite unnecessary.

By dropping this work we shall be more free to carry on the fiscal propaganda to which we have for so long been committed, and in view of the increasing demands for co-operation in such labours initiated by others in various countries, we feel that we can render better service in these other directions.

* * * * *

With regard to the medals for fiscals so frequently referred to of late, we have at last been informed that those not officially awarded have been placed at the disposal of M. Langlois, the member of the Jury who was especially deputed to examine the fiscal exhibits. When these have been presented our successor will doubtless find room for a final announcement.

Most of our contemporaries have been denouncing the practice of giving unofficial stimulants, the Paris Muddle of Medals, as it is termed, having served as text for some rather intemperately wholesale indictments. That there should be a great deal more care exercised by the authorities in accepting such gifts is clearly proven, and some way should be found of avoiding their bestowal in the absence of competition or very real merit. Would be donors should see to it that their gifts fairly supplement and strengthen the list of official awards, and those in charge of the arrangements should not hesitate to refuse medals that are accompanied by unwise conditions.

A work that is exciting much anticipatory interest is about to be published under the title of A History of Railway Letter Stamps. When we say that the compilation has been made by Mr. H. L'Estrange Ewen, and that it is stated that no expense has been spared to make the book one of the finest works on stamps yet published, it is to be expected that the subscriber who forwards his guinea to 32, Palace Square, Norwood, will have no reason to regret the outlay.

The next contribution from the Rev. E. Bell, M.A., will deal with philately in its religious aspect, and will probably be the most original and striking of the series.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS,

CURRENT IN 1900.

By G. W. J. Potter.

THE latest comer in railway life, the Lancashire, Derbyshire, and East Coast, issues four stamps of similar value to the last named company, the size, colour, and design being, however, quite different. All are of one size and type, and bear control numbers at the top. The legend PRICE 1D appears in colour on a white shield set in a fancy frame.

L. D. & E. C.

Size 3.2 by 4.1 cm.

½d. Black on white, perf. 10.
1d. Blue " "
2d. Red " "
3d. Brown " "

To look at the present day stamps of the Manchester, South Junction, and Altrincham is to recall the first issues of the M. S. & L. (now G. C.), and the L. & Y., and practically to see the earliest designs of their stamps; the M. S. & L. being the pioneer of newspaper labels, which were first issued in 1855. As their usefulness became apparent, the other companies adopted the practice, and in their stamps we have almost the sole records of some of these early lines, a large number of them having been absorbed by their powerful rivals and neighbours. The stamps of the above three companies were all of the same design, the title and colour being altered for each line; the M. S. & L., was blue, the L. & Y., rose, and the M. S. J. & A., purple. The two others have long since changed the style and size, and the original design is only perpetuated by this small company. Upon an oval of white the figure of value appears in solid colour, the labels above and below looking somewhat like flags attached to an ornamental staff or pole; the whole design is executed in an heraldic manner, and shows much careful engraving. The One Newspaper stamp, following the precedent of the other companies, has the arms in a circle with the usual inscriptions. Vertical control numbers appear on each stamp.

M. S. J. & A.

Size of ½d. 3.4 by 4.8; of the others, 4.6 by 6.2 cm.

[½d.] Lilac on white, perf. 12.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

THE following sub-issues are also to be found catalogued, but I am unable to obtain any accurate description of them.

3 lbs. " "

(n.) "Corn and coal business."
— green, perforated.

(o.) "Local prepaid parcel." Arms, "corners cut off."
2d. Green.

Railway Letter Fee Stamps.

The arrangement of the Letter Fee Stamps of this line has always presented considerable difficulty. The printers, Messrs. Bemrose, of Derby, appear to print a large stock of stamps, and then perforate and number a supply when required by the Company. Each issue is usually about 3000, but sometimes it is almost impossible to distinguish between two consecutive issues. The numbering is consecutive throughout. Thanks to Mr. Ewen, who kindly allowed me to supplement my own knowledge of the subject with a view of his magnificent private collection, I am able to give a very fairly accurate list of the different varieties of printings of this line, although much further information on the subject will doubtless be found in his forthcoming work on Railway Letter Fee Stamps.

With regard to the first issue the earliest impressions were in a much deeper colour, No. 457 being the lowest I have seen in the normal shade. The value—2d.—is, of course, the same throughout.

UNITED STATES TELEGRAPHS.

LAST month we noticed editorially the monograph dealing with the stamps and franks of the U.S. Telegraph Cos., compiled by Mr. Joseph B. Rich, and we have now to chronicle the additions which he makes to the lists of varieties already catalogued.

BALTIMORE AND OHIO. Mr. Rich states that all the values engraved by the American Bank Note Co., were first issued without control numbers, so this adds to our publisher's list:

Type 350.

25 cents, orange, no control.

Of the Kendall Bank Note Co., printing, all values are listed on both thick and thin paper, and the 1 cent green is said to have been found on an oiled paper.

Under A. Hoen and Co., the addition is made of the 10 cents, brown, on paper watermarked with the paper-maker's name.

CALIFORNIA. Mr. Rich supplies a missing date: 1872. No value, green and red, perforated.

COLUSA LAKE AND MENDOCINO CO. In our publisher's catalogue the single value given is listed as imperf., but Mr. Rich, who chronicles two denominations, states that they were issued in books showing ten stamps to a sheet, two horizontal rows of five, and perforated between but not around, so that eight are perforated on three sides and two on two sides only. When sold the stamps were overprinted with the initials of the superintendent—P.L.W.— in blue:

Type 354.

5 cents, black, blue overprint.
10 " " " "

NORTHERN NEW YORK TELEGRAPH CO. This title does not appear in our catalogue so we reproduce the whole of the paragraph, and if Mr. Rich will kindly lend our publisher a specimen, the type shall be illustrated in a subsequent number.

"Practically nothing is known of this company, except that we have some stamps bearing the name, and that the company had 7 offices and 7 employees, 25 miles of poles and 25 miles of wire. I have not been able to find from what point to what other point these 25 miles of wire extended. We presume that it was in operation in 1894, as will appear from the inscription on the stamps. The design consists of an upright rectangle made up of series of vertical and horizontal lines. Within this rectangle is a circle bearing a shaded five-pointed star. Above, in two lines which overlap each other, "NORTHERN NEW YORK", below, in a white label running diagonally, the word 'TELEGRAPH;' and beneath the right hand corner of this label, in white letters upon a shaded ground, "Co." The stamp occurs in two colours, one a gray green and the other blue. The gray green is surcharged in Roman letters 'FRANK 1894'; the blue one is surcharged in much larger type '10.'"

PACIFIC MUTUAL CO. To the small list of varieties Mr. Rich adds:

Type 358.

1 cent, slate on white.

It is interesting to read that although the Company had 15 offices in operation and owned 1,272 miles of wire, nothing is known of it except that it issued stamps, and that none of these stamps have ever been seen in used condition.

PACIFIC POSTAL TELEGRAPH CABLE CO. A 25 cents, vermilion, has to be added, and sets are known with and without red controls.

Type 359.

Type 364.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH CABLE CO. Type similar to No. 364 in our publisher's catalogue but title altered to above.

The 1896 stamp listed under heading of Postal Telegraph Co., is the first of this type, and Mr. Rich adds:

1897. No value, violet-brown.
1898 ?
1899. Orange-brown.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Great Britain. Mr. Oswa'd Marsh makes the following notable additions to the already long list of stamped forms:

1875. 1/- Teleg. Die 2 (M. & H.), 25/3/76, imperf.
" 4 " 15/10/75 "
1881. 1/- Post. Die 10 (Harrison), 8/10/83, roul.

1885. 6d. (Harrison) Die 2, 25/9/85, imperf.
" " 4, 22/9/85 "
1888. 6d. (Mc.Corquodale) Imperf.:

The same. Rouletted:
Die 26, 2/8/93, and 26/9/93.
1894. With 9 dot florets. Die 27, rouletted.

Orange River Colony. A South African correspondent of the M.J. sends the following list of stamps overprinted "V.R.I." and "T.F." or "A.T.," for use on telegrams:

T.F. on postals, 1d, purple; 6d., blue.
A.T. " 3d., blue; 1/- brown; 5/- green.
A.T. on fiscals, 10/- salmon; £1, lilac; £4.?

The first two of these with the raised stops overprint, and with the additions of the 3d., blue, and 1/- brown, were announced in our September issue.

Venezuela. The date of issue given in the catalogue is 1898, but we have recently seen copies cancelled in 1896 and 1897.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

ALSACE-LORRAINE. Gerichtskosten. L'Ami illustrates a stamp of a new series bearing a title signifying Law costs. It is very plain: value in large figures on a rayed ground, title arched above, and name in a straight line of block caps., below, white paper:

20pf., red and black, perf. 13½.

Basle. Mr. C. E. Hoffmann informs La Revue that the following stamps exist in the design described last February:

(a) Inscribed STEMPEL MARKE, and used for a considerable number of duties, 10c.; 20c.; 40c.; green.

50c.; 60c.; 1 fr.; 2 fr.; 3 fr.; 4 fr.; 5 fr.; light blue.
10 fr.; 15 fr.; 20 fr.; 30 fr.; light brown.

(b) Inscribed BORDEREAUX STEMPEL,

10c.; 20c.; 50c.; grey mauve, black figures.
1, 2, 3, 4, 5 francs ,, ,, red ,,
10 francs ,, ,, ? ,,

These two sets supersede all the fiscals of Basle.

Bosnia. We chronicled last year in Stamps a set of most extraordinary appearance but could only give the lower values, L'Ami now announces the following values but does not give the colours:

Kr. 2, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 20, 24, 30, 40, 50

Brazil. Dr. Ramos informs L'Ami that the various new issues for tobacco, alcoholic liquors, boots, &c., are about to be withdrawn from circulation, and that a new series of the Southern Cross type is to replace them. It is stated that the values will be 20, 25, 40, 50, 60, 200, 400, and 500 reis, and that the stamps will be printed in green for use on home products and in red for imported goods.

Buenos Ayres. Derechos de Piso. The same journal has been shown the 40c., orange and red, and 4p., brown and red, of 1898, overprinted 1899, in red, across the middle.

The set for 1900 is the same as before with date changed:

40 centavos, blue
4 pesos, carmine rose
20 ,, brown.

Cape of Good Hope. We have seen half-a-dozen copies of the 1s., brown, of 1876, perf. 14, on quite bleuté paper. All were cancelled in Oct., 1886, and were printed on the wrong side of the paper.

Cuba. Manifestos. This is a discovery announced by L'Ami. The 75c., de peso, blue, of the 96-97 Sello set, with the above title printed above and outside the framé of the stamp.

Great Britain. Inland Revenue. We have found an unused copy of the 3d., lilac, with the 17 mm., anchor watermark. The stamp has been submitted to our publisher and he confirms this note.

Philippine Is. Giro. One of the missing values in our list on page 74 is supplied by Mr. D. Thomson who writes that he has seen a 2p. 40c., for 1900. The same collector has shown us a specimen of the 4 pesos of 1900, Type I, bearing an error in the range which reads 6000 à 6800p., instead of 5000 à 6000p. We cannot yet tell if all copies of this value and date contain this mistake, and if any reader possesses a copy properly inscribed we should be glad to see it.

Portugal. We chronicled most of the issues for this year in our April and July numbers, but the fuller lists now published in L'Ami enable us to add the following:

Contrib. Ind. Values 10 to 90 reis, brown; 100 to 900, claret; 1000 to 5000, grey; 10,000 to 20,000, orange.

Decima de Juros. 10 to 90 reis, lilac; 100 to 900, violet; 1,000 to 9,000, brick-red; 10,000 to 20,000, deep brown.

Espectaculos. 100 reis, brown and black.

Imposto do Sello. The values are the same as in the preceding set with the addition of two higher ones: 50,000 and 100,000 reis, brown.

Siam. We illustrate the type of what is believed to be the current issue of Land Tax described by Mr. Fulcher on page 28 of this volume.

Spain. Giro. L'Ami announces a change of type. Small rectangle: arms in a double oval, containing the range, title above, and value at bottom in single straight lines; printed in blue on white paper, perf. 14:

10, 25, 40, 50, centimos; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 75, 100, pesetas.

Sello. 1900. Of the type illustrated last October the following additional values are now listed:

1 p., green	7 p., brown-violet
2 p., lake	25 p., vermilion
3 p., blue	50 p., deep violet
4 p., lilac	75 p., red-brown
5 p., carmine	100 p., violet-brown.

Turkey. ? Receipt. We have received from Mr. Cornish a stamp that is quite new to us:

Rectangle measuring 36 by 27 mm.: sign manual of the Sultan (two signs) in an oval in the centre of a diapered pattern; value in Turkish figures in ovals at the sides; Turkish inscriptions above and below. Printed in colour on white wove paper:

20 paras, lilac on white, perf. 13½.

The stamp is affixed to a piece of paper with a copy of the common 10 paras, black on orange, receipt stamp, type No. 13515 in Moens' catalogue.

Published by WALTER MORLEY, 15, Brownhill Gardens, Catford, S.E.; and printed by JOHN GEORGE PAYN, 12, Market Hill, Sudbury, Suffolk. December, 1900.

INDEX.

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.

Re

"MORLEY'S PHILATELIC JOURNAL."

15, BROWNHILL GARDENS,

CATFORD, LONDON, S.E., ENGLAND.

December, 1899.

DEAR SIR (OR MADAM),

I have much pleasure in informing you that the New Year will witness the birth of a monthly philatelic journal of novel character, intended to be of service to collectors of postage, revenue, telegraph and railway stamps.

The ever increasing number of those who are devoting their attention to these last three sections, renders it highly necessary that a periodical publication should be available for the purposes of recording discoveries, of disseminating information, and of providing a common ground on which collectors may meet for the interchange of ideas and the discussion of matters pertaining to their hobby.

This new venture is the legitimate outcome of sundry other enterprises that I have brought to successful issues, but although I shall publish it and the advertisement pages will contain my own announcements only, the paper will be conducted on perfectly independent lines for the sole benefit of collectors, and without reference to the requirements of my business. To this end I have pleasure in announcing that I have secured the services of Mr. A. Preston Pearce as Editor of the journal, and this statement is the best guarantee that can be offered that everything will be made subservient to the true interests of philatelists.

Articles on Postage Stamps embodying the fruits of personal research will be a salient feature of the enterprise, and interesting items for this department conveying special information will be gladly published, but no chronicle of new issues and discoveries will be given as this feature receives sufficient attention in other quarters.

On the other hand, "MORLEY'S PHILATELIC JOURNAL" will be the only paper published in the English language that will make a special effort to supply a thorough list of the new issues and discoveries in the domain of fiscals and telegraphs, and as these lists are of the greatest service to collectors, it is hoped that the hearty co-operation of all subscribers will be given in the endeavour to make them as complete as possible. Communications relating to this department should be addressed to the Editor, and, whenever possible, should be accompanied by the specimens. Every care will be taken of the latter, and due acknowledgment will be made of every such favour.

Promises of interesting contributions have been made by some of the best known collectors of the day, but it is a peculiar feature of revenue stamp collecting that there are many practically unknown devotees of the hobby who have long been quietly amassing and studying fiscals, and it is hoped to reach as many of these as possible, and to induce them to furnish contributions to the common stock of knowledge through these pages.

The first number will contain, inter alia, an account of an important discovery in the realm of telegraphs, some highly interesting information concerning certain stamps prepared in the last century for use in the British North American Colonies, and a careful review of the greatest philatelic work that has been issued in the New World.

I guarantee to produce twelve numbers during the year 1900, and have decided to fix the subscription rate at the nominal sum of 2/6, post free, per annum. Its continuance after that time has expired will depend on the amount of interest shown in the venture, as evidenced by the subscription list, and by the amount of assistance rendered to the Editor. I beg, therefore, to solicit your personal support of the venture, and I should highly esteem the favour of your influence in extending its sphere of usefulness.

If desirous of subscribing, please fill in the form given below, and forward it to me together with a postal order for 2/6.

Subscribers resident abroad may remit in current unused revenue or telegraph stamps, at face value equivalent to current rate of exchange.

I am, dear Sir (or Madam),

Yours faithfully,

WALTER MORLEY.

Looking Backward.

Reminiscences of a "Philatelic Pauper."

At the opening of a new century there is a great temptation to indulge in a retrospect of the past and perhaps endeavour to surmise the possibilities of the future. A philatelic retrospect of five and twenty years passed through my mind during some quiet moments of contemplation after an examination of some recent additions to my "special" country and has led me to commit some experiences to paper, though I dare not venture, not being in a position to do so, on any speculation as to the future position of stamp collecting. We have had many reminiscences lately—often in the form of interviews or biographies—from gentlemen and ladies who have done great things philatelically because of great opportunities, and the idea occurred to me that possibly the progress of a "philatelic pauper," who has been compelled for the greater part of his philatelic career to regard the purchase of any stamp, for even a small amount, as a serious consideration, may not be unacceptable as an encouragement to others in like circumstances. For notwithstanding the mortification of frequently having had to pass "good things" at reasonable and even absurd prices, as being still out of my reach and of never having been in a position to acquire stamps for nothing, that is to say, from foreign correspondence either private, or in the course of business, yet I am still an enthusiastic and ardent collector and have often found a solace from the worries of life in the pursuit of philately under difficulties. I warn the reader before he proceeds further that he will find no sensational anecdotes of great rarities bought for a few pence and such like matter, but merely a plain, unvarnished record of what, I expect, usually happens to the average collector.

The first foreign stamp which ever came into my possession and which may be regarded as having in consequence a considerable influence on my philatelic career, was the 5kr. Austria, 1867 issue. This stamp though still obtainable by sack loads has given me as much pleasure as many quite respectable rarities which I have had in my possession. It was a fine specimen, I remember, and a little research was needed to discover what country it came from. The next stamp I acquired was like unto it in point of rarity, viz. a 5pf. German, and the addition to these stamps of a 2kr. yellow Austria of the same design as the 5kr. created an intense desire to acquire other novelties. To this day the 1867 issue of Austria remains one of my chief delights—but what a difference! Instead of being content with 7 values, I now seek for many shades of each value, rough and smooth prints, a large number of varieties of perforation ranging from 9½ to 13 and compound, and there are even 3 types of my old familiar 5kr. Memory remains a blank as to what followed the three stamps above-mentioned, and my next recollection—a most vivid one—is the acquisition of the 1, 2, 4, 5 and 10c. French, Peace and Commerce type, all printed in green, which came out in 1876. This fixes the approximate date of the commencement of my collection, because I remember these stamps had only just been issued. My set, being unused, enables me to draw the further inference that the only source whence they could have come into my possession was by purchase from Messrs. Stanley Gibbons & Co., then of Gower Street. Soon after this the first edition of Messrs. S. G.'s catalogue must have appeared, for I well remember purchasing a copy, though unfortunately I possess it no longer, and thenceforward by the aid of 6d. and 1/- packets and from "Approval Sheets" my collection grew apace.

The stamps thus laboriously got together were, at first, pasted into a small American cloth covered note book, with a particularly noisome kind of glue, which imparted a delicate (?) "ancient and fish like" smell to the collection, until after severe criticism on this matter from a brother collector a change was effected and the stamps were elevated to the dignity of a 3/- "Oppen" and gum arabic. After that a series of different albums followed one another in quick succession—from Oppen to Stafford Smith's Permanent Album—thence to a Senf, until one day by virtue of a sudden resolve that I would keep nothing but absolutely perfect specimens, a drastic clearance was effected of all damaged and dirty specimens—necessarily a large number owing to the frequent change from album to album—and a fresh stage was reached in my philatelic career. About this time my guide in collecting must have been the second edition of Stanley Gibbons catalogue. I still have this by me marked with many notes, and it would be very interesting to compare it (and the prices! e.g. the 81 paras Moldavia is priced 4/- unused, and the 108 paras 4/6) with the latest edition. It is only necessary to state that it takes no account of water-marks or perforations and thus reduces even the prolific countries to quite moderate dimensions, thus New South Wales is represented by 41 stamps (exclusive of Postal stationery), New Zealand by 26, Victoria by 61, Nevis by 11, Antigua by 7, and so on. My reduced collection, though now consisting of tolerably decent copies, was then transferred to a Gibbon's Philatelic Album (without movable leaves) and the stamps themselves were mounted on hinges for the first time.

Philately as an Aid to Culture.

V. IN THINGS PERTAINING TO RELIGION.

WHEN we consider what a power religion has exercised from the earliest ages upon the mind of man, it may not be amiss to inquire what witness is borne to this fact by philately. In pursuing this investigation one naturally turns first of all to the mythology of ancient Greece, inasmuch as its influence was too widespread and deep-rooted for its memory to have altogether faded away. Consequently we have the graceful head of Mercury—the messenger of the gods—as the normal design of the postage stamps of Greece; and the same herald of news is presented to us in more or less pleasing fashion upon stamps of Austria, Brazil, Crete, and Uruguay. But when we come to the particular issue commemorating the revival of the Olympic Games, the range of our subject is considerably extended. There we may notice Atlas bending beneath his pondrous load, Minerva raising her shield decorated with the Gorgon's head, Hercules, and apparently Apollo, and Nikè or Victory with extended wings. The female figure on the 10 cents Uruguay of 1895, is probably meant for Ceres, the goddess of corn; while "great Herè," otherwise known as Juno, is also supposed by some to be the intention of a well-modelled head upon another of the Cretan stamps.

The mythology of India is likewise of great antiquity: and we are reminded of its existence by representations of idols upon the stamps of Duttia and Jhalawar; while yet a third system, almost lost in the dim recesses of the hoary past, is indicated by the unimpassioned features of the Sphinx which keeps its silent watch and ward by the pyramids of Egypt.

Advancing with the march of time we note that the cross, the symbol of Christianity, is emblazoned on the shields of Switzerland, Modena, Tuscany, and some of the lower values of Italy. The crescent of Islam is conspicuous on most of the emissions of Turkey, and in a lesser degree as the watermark of nearly all the Egyptian issues. The sunburst on the stamps of Persia awakes recollections of the fire-worshippers of Iran, those Ghebers who bowed in adoration before the rising orb of day; while a similar device upon stamps of Peru preserves the memory of the Incas—the heaven-born children of the sun—a gentle race, whom along with their religion the Spaniards so ruthlessly exterminated. The open book of the Law, which adorns one of the emissions of Bolivia, is presumably the Bible; and the three figures by the healing spring on the stamps of Nevis may be regarded as emblematical of Faith, Hope, and Charity. The Virgin Islands, appropriately to their name, recall to us first of all the parable of the virgins and their lamps as recorded by St. Matthew; then the Mater dolorosa, or the sorrowing mother of our Lord; while in their latest issue the Virgin with the lily branch seems more suggestive of the teaching of the Church of Rome.

In the sphere of saints and angels we have St. Michael beating down the old serpent on the labels intended to popularize the Brussels Exhibition; the same archangel is represented on one of the Cretan stamps, and probably also on the several sets got up in honour of Vasco da Gama. Another angel, possibly the one referred to in Rev. xiv., 6, appears flying across one of last year's commemorative stamps of Brazil. St. Paul's escape from the shipwreck, as related in the Acts of the Apostles, is depicted on the highest value of Malta; and we find St. George and the dragon on fiscal postals of Tasmania and also on another stamp of Crete. A series of events in the history of St. Anthony is presented to us on a special commemorative issue of Portugal; and a similar issue of Venezuela refers to some wondrous story under the title of the apotheosis of Miranda.

Amongst other developments of religion the temporal power of the papacy is indicated by the cross-keys and the tiara upon the stamps of the Roman States. On various emissions of Mexico we have a portrait of Hidalgo the priest, a patriot and reformer; while another ecclesiastic, said to be a Jesuit missionary, is shown upon the 1 cent stamp of Omaha as preaching to the Red Indians.

EDITORIAL.

NONE of the subscribers to this journal can have read without feelings of regret the words of farewell addressed to them last month by the late editor. They cannot have failed to recognize the conspicuous ability which he has displayed in the conduct of a magazine dealing with such a wide range of matters philatelical, and while tendering him our best thanks for the satisfactory result of his labours, we are glad to learn that the lightening of his burden will enable him to devote his wide attainments in the branch of philately to which he particularly devotes his attention, to the forwarding of our hobby in other directions

In taking up the pen which he has been compelled to lay down, we do so not without grave doubts of failing to maintain the high standard which he has set. But we are convinced that no alteration in the lines already laid down would be for the better and we therefore intend to inaugurate no rash experiments nor introduce any sensational novelties. We, however, venture to ask that the kind assistance by many correspondents, which has been freely given in the past, may be extended to us in the future, and we hope that all earnest labourers, whatever be the particular branch they study, will come forward and communicate the results of their investigations to the pages of this journal. It is only by this hearty co-operation that we can attain our objects, foremost among which is to provide for collectors of Telegraph, Fiscal, and Railway Stamps—three branches which, we believe, do not receive recognition in any other philatelic paper published in this country—the information which is at the present time so abundantly supplied for the collectors of postage stamps only. At the same time we do not wish to neglect the latter entirely and we hope to publish from time to time articles which will be acceptable to them. We certainly hold the opinion that "fiscal stamps, per se, are quite as worthy of attention as postage" and we fail entirely to understand why the collection and study of these labels is not regarded as interesting as that of postage stamps. The opening years of the new century should see them take their rightful place as a main branch of the Science of Philately.

* * * * *

One of the stumbling blocks in the way of collectors of fiscals is undoubtedly the want of a complete catalogue in the English language of such as are known. At the present time we have such catalogues as our publisher's of British and Colonial Revenue stamps, and Lundy's Catalogues of the Fiscals of Germany and Switzerland, &c., but many countries remain of which no list exists in English. In the interest of fiscal collectors we have thought that something should be done to remedy this state of things, and we are pleased to be able to announce that arrangements have been made to issue from time to time a supplement to this journal—paged separately—containing a catalogue of some natural group of countries not yet represented in English. These supplements can afterwards be bound by themselves, apart from the journal, and so made more available for reference. We have thought that it will be an advantage to collectors to have the stamps priced by our publisher as far as possible and we are glad to add that a large number of illustrations will be included. The question, of course, at once arises what country or group of countries it will be advisable to take up first and after much consideration we have come to the conclusion that South Americans—in view of the general interest in these—would form a suitable group to commence with. We shall endeavour, if possible, to produce our first supplement next month and it will start with the fiscals of the Argentine Republic. We appeal to collectors to help to make the catalogue as perfect as possible by submitting for inspection any varieties they may possess which are not yet included in any of the existing catalogues.

* * * * *

We should like to call the attention of our readers to a Philatelic Exhibition on novel lines which is to be held by the members of the I.P.U. on the 26th inst. A fundamental feature of the Exhibition is that an attempt has been made to enable the Collector of moderate means to compete on equal terms with the rich one. With this view the exhibits will be limited to 50 stamps and are to consist of 1, 2 or 3 issues of any country as indicated by consecutive dates in Stanley Gibbon's Catalogue. The 50 stamps may all be confined to one issue but if more than one issue is shown the addition must be made from the consecutive issue and the one after, if necessary, but a total of 3 issues is not to be exceeded. There are 5 classes and our readers will be interested to learn that Class III is Fiscals. Small money prizes are offered to the successful competitors. The place where the exhibition is to be held is not yet announced. Tickets of Admission (for which no charge will be made) will be obtainable on application to the Hon. Sec. by members for the use of themselves and friends, and also by the Secretaries of any other recognized Philatelic Societies for the use of their members.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS.

By G. W. J. Potter.

To open the new volume of M.P.J. I give a list of the stamps that are now in use by the Great Northern Railway, one of our leading lines. The perforations are not indicated for each stamp, as there are several varieties in use, neither can one be sure of the different issues of each value.

The arms of England and Scotland, heraldically displayed on shields, form the basis of the design of all stamps issued by this company. In those for two or four newspapers the value appears in the same colour as the stamp, but in the one newspaper it is overprinted in black; the design for the three being the same. The Newspaper Parcel Stamp has a slightly oblong design in green on white with value in black; whilst the News Letter has a different setting of the shields in a circle, and is in varying shades of vermilion and carmine, the value and distance for which it is available being printed in black. The Farm and Agricultural Produce labels are a recent introduction and have rather an artistic appearance, the lavender and black making an effective contrast. The Grain Samples on the other hand are chiefly remarkable for the minute lettering employed in the conditions of carriage. Lastly, the Authorised Advertisement is a curious and interesting label, and is not used, I think, by any other company; most contenting themselves by endorsing the bills or advertisements that are authorised to be displayed, by means of a rubber stamp. Within an Oxford frame appears yet another setting of the shields with GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY above and Authorised Advertisement below. A space is left for the Date; while particulars about the hanging of the advertisement are also inserted on a blank line indicated by H placed at its commencement.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

I INTENDED writing this month on the very interesting series of parcel stamps issued by the Midland Great Western Railway of Ireland, but, pending the receipt of further information which I hope to get shortly about the extremely rare and puzzling issue with "Arms in centre," will defer the article on this line until next month. Meanwhile I would be extremely obliged to any one who is fortunate enough to possess any specimens of this issue, or of the early issues of the Cheshire Lines Committee or first issue (Staffordshire knot) of the North Stafford Railway, if they would forward them to the editor or publisher for my inspection. The early issues of these three lines contain some most interesting varieties, but I would be glad of a little further information about them before completing my articles on them.

The great interest taken by collectors in Railway Stamps, both at home and on the continent, is evinced by the amount of kind assistance which I have already received towards making my contributions to this journal as complete and accurate as possible, and my thanks are due to various readers for the following additions which I am now able to make to my previous lists.

Great Western Railway.

There are 2 very distinct series of the coarsely printed type of the 4th issue. One almost resembles the finely printed type in execution and is perf. 12½: I have seen the 3d and 4d. values. The other is a much poorer production, being, in fact, similar to the "provisional" issue. It is perf. 12, and the 2d., 3d., and 4d. values are known.

The 5th and 6th issues are printed in sheets of 30, 6 horizontal rows of 5, and numbered from right to left, downwards. The 5th issue is carefully printed and minute examination can reveal no prominent variety of type; the common 6th issue is, from its bad printing, more productive of small errors, but none are of much importance.

6th issue. (a.) For small no. of papers. Two figure varieties of the 2d. exist, in one of which the 2 has a straight, and in the other a curly, foot.

U.S. REVENUE STAMPS.

We gather from the Metropolitan Philatelist that our American cousins are expecting a repeal or at least a modification of the war taxes which have now been in operation for the last two years and a half. It seems probable that the tax on express packages and telegrams will be abolished and also that on drafts and notes. There may be a partical reduction on deeds and mortgages, as well as proprietary articles and medicines, with a possible total abolishment of that on the two latter. The effect on the documentary revenue series will be to decrease the number employed or lessen the demand for the higher values. The proprietary stamps might vanish altogether.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

BAVARIA. Dr. Kalckhoff informs us that he possesses the 7 Kreuzer (25 centimes) of the 1st issue in two very distinct shades, dull mauve and bright lilac. He also states that the first issue exists imperforate, except the 1fl. 24kr. (3fr.) and the 23fl. 20kr. (50frs.), the stamps having been supplied in this state to M. Arthur Rothschild in Paris. Imperforate colour trials of the 28kr. (1 fr) exist in lilac, brick-red, carmine and grey, the colours of the 7kr., 1fl. 24kr., 4fl. 40kr., and 23fl. 20kr., respectively.

Ceylon. Mr. A. B de L' Argentière submits the following provisionals which are not mentioned in our publisher's catalogue:

25 cents on 50 cents blue. Black sur. Type 60a.
40 " " " " " Type 70a.
60 " 1 rupee red-brown " " Type 90a.
80 " " " " " Type 107a.

Type 60a.

Type 70a.

Type 90a.

Type 107a.

Ecuador. Dr Kalckhoff sends us specimens of a new issue, printed by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, with portraits in black, within a coloured frame. Perf. 14 to 15. Further description is unnecessary as we add illustrations:

10c. light blue and black, portrait of Ricaurte.
20c. red and black, portrait of Salinas.

Paraguay. A correspondent draws our attention to the fact that a series of Telegraph stamps was announced in 1892 ranging from 2 cents to 25 pesos. Of these the 2, 4 and 30 cents are mentioned in our publisher's catalogue, the 40 cents was chronicled as having been received used postally in "Ewen's Weekly" in Oct. last, and Dr. Kalckhoff now adds:

50c. violet, green and black.

Can any of our South American friends kindly supply us with further information respecting this issue?

Since writing the above we hear of two provisionals. The 30c. and 50c. have been surcharged in black with new values respectively of 5c and 10c. The only copies which have been seen are used postally, hence it is uncertain whether these are provisional postage stamps only, or whether they are available for the prepayment of telegrams as well.

5c. on 30c. green, grey and black.
10c. on 50c. violet, green and black.

Salvador. From a correspondent we have received various unchronicled varieties.

1886. Para Cablegramas. Of the type 328a, illustrated in the Sept. number. Perf. 12.

10 pesos, yellow brown.

The values chronicled in the Sept. number were all dated 1896. There are most likely several issues between these dates. We shall be very glad for any further information.

1c., black on yellow
5c. " greenish blue
10c. " pink

Moens catalogues the two lower values of this set as fiscals. Possibly these are provisionals, as well as those which follow.

Sudan. In our Oct. no. Dr. Kalckhoff raised a doubt as to the existence of the 10 piastres with watermark of quatrefoils. Mr. A. Sempad now definitely informs us that it does not exist.

United States. Western Union Telegraph Co. Mr. Morley has found a copy of the Frank Stamp of 1876 without control.

THE JUDICIAL STAMPS OF THE STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

OUR knowledge of these stamps appears to be very imperfect. Mr. Morley has lately unearthed a large number of unchronicled varieties. At present but one set, wmk. Cr. CC. is catalogued in our publisher's catalogue under the date 1875, a 50 ct. wmk. Cr. CA. perf. 12½, was chronicled in "Stamps" for Sept. 1898, and a 25c. brown and violet, wmk. CA. perf. 12½ in our January number of last year. In the first place, Mr. Morley's new discoveries show that the date of the set listed must be put back at least a year, for copies cancelled in 1874 have turned up. The colours of the lower values should be described as brown and marone, instead of brown and red. Further, to add to the list, we have the 2, 2.50, 3, 4, 4.50, 5, 6, 6.50 and 10 dollars, all in brown and violet, wmk. Cr. CC. imperf., the 25, 50, 75c, and 6 and 15 dollars, wmk. Cr. CC. perf. 14, and the 50c. wmk. Cr. CC. perf. 12½, also brown and violet. The 50c. perf. 14, is cancelled 1/2/69, so that these values evidently represent an earlier printing than those already listed, and it is probable that the whole set from 10c. to 100 dollars exists in these colours. Mr. G. Singler simultaneously reports the 25c. and 50c. of this brown and violet issue. Further we have a 2 cents and 10, 25, and 50c. brown and marone, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 10, 15, 20, 25, 50, and 100 dollars brown and green, wmk. Cr. CA. perf. 14, the earliest cancellation being 10/8/74 on the 1 dollar and the latest 16/7/87 on the 2d., and the 3d. exists also perf. 12½ (cancelled 10/8/74).

For the convenience of collectors we append a summary of all the Judicial stamps known.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.
NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Japan. Receipt for Taxes. We are informed that the whole set consists of 14 values, viz: the 8 previously chronicled, a 50 sen, and 1, 5, 10, 50, and 100 yen, and that these stamps are to be used for all stamp duties for which adhesives are required, thus superseding the Justice, Registration, Medicine, &c. Stamps. Of the 6 new values mentioned above we have now seen:
1 yen, yellow, greenish black, blue and white.
5 ,, carmine, blue black, blue and white.

Orcha. This state, having recently issued postage stamps, has provided itself with a fiscal of similar design. The accompanying illustration precludes the necessity for further description. The stamp is lithographed on thin white wove paper and perf. 13.

1 anna, dark blue.

Perak. Our publisher has shown us the current $5, Postage and Revenue Stamp, surcharged in black in three lines Three Cents. Revenue only. with a couple of black bars across the top of the stamp:

3 c., sur. in blk. on $5, green and ultramarine.

Siam. Land Tax. From a reprint of an official work on the Postal Organisation of the Kingdom of Siam which has been appearing in the M.J. we gather that the 8, 16 atts, and 1, 2, and 4 ticals of the 1883 issue were first issued in green and the 32 atts in yellow. The latter is unknown to us. Can any reader favour us with the sight of a copy?

32 atts, yellow, perf. ?

United States. From Mekeel's Weekly we gather that of the four high values mentioned in our April no. of last year only the $1 red and $3 red brown have been issued. Of the former 16,000 sheets (1,948,000 stamps) and of the latter 2,500 sheets (320,000 stamps) were printed. These stamps have now been superseded by a new set, ranging from $1 to $50, including a new value $2, printed in grey with a surcharge in large numerals.

THE Queen is dead. A reign has ended, the glory of which is unequalled; a life has closed, the beauty of which is unsurpassed. With hundreds of millions of loyal subjects over whom she ruled we sorrow now, and to universal testimony of her many virtues we humbly add the expression of our own love and admiration.

She leaves behind an empire on which the sun never sets; where alone freedom and justice broaden down from precedent to precedent. Who can realize this better than the philatelist. The philatelist, too, though it were needless, as he turns over the leaves of his album, will ever have constant remembrance. Among the British and Colonial stamps there is a wealth of charming portraits of our revered Queen, which will ever serve to remind him of a monarch and an era that will never be forgotten. The first postage stamp issued is one of the most exquisite engravings and inaugurated a portrait which with slight modifications continues to the present day. From our great Indian Empire we have it repeated on many stamps since 1854. Canada, most loyal, has given us many styles, including one of the very earliest in widow's weeds. From Australia comes one of the most beautiful, on the stamps of New Zealand and Queensland. From Africa we have one, which alas! displaced for ever, will al-

Looking Backward.

REMINISCENCES OF A "PHILATELIC PAUPER."

I NOW began to subscribe to the Philatelic Record which had been running three years and about the same time I saw by chance in a shop window in the City a part of Major Evans' Catalogue for Collectors, which I purchased and a perusal of this settled my determination to take the whole. The Record and Evans' Catalogue brought with them a knowledge of the mysteries of paper, watermark, perforation and other philatelic niceties. However, at first, I only distinguished between varieties of watermark and did not take differences of perforation and paper till much later. I owe a great deal to Evans' Catalogue which thus laid the foundation of any philatelic knowledge I may possess. Just about this period my collection was immensely improved by the purchase of a capital collection, containing many good things, for £2. Otherwise my stamps were mainly obtained from a small shop in Seething Lane, the proprietress of which afterwards moved to Lower Thames Street, and at various places in Leadenhall Market. Many fine stamps were obtainable here at reasonable prices, though I can recall nothing in the way of special purchases, the prices then ruling may be gauged by the fact that 1/- Nevis cost 6d. each. At the commencement of the year 1883, however, my energies were so completely absorbed in other directions that I may be said to have practically ceased collecting for two or three years, much to the detriment of my collection, as then began the great changes of watermark from Crown C.C., to Crown C.A.; the result being that I missed many varieties, obtainable at first for a few pence, which became prohibitive in price when I resumed.

The recommencement of my philatelic activity was due to what I imagine was rather a unique circumstance. A friend of mine one day brought for me to see a fine old Lallier album, fat and well filled, and consequently containing very many good things. The stamp which I remember best in it, being a magnificent copy, fine colour and large margins, of the 1/- New Brunswick. As I had not been collecting for the previous two or three years, I was totally unaware of the enormous rise in value of stamps in the early eighties and I began to consider whether it would be worth while to offer £10 (!) for the collection, which price would probably have been gladly accepted by the owner, who was a non-collector. The collection, of course, must have been worth from £150 to £200 at the very least, but the curious part was the way in which it came into my friend's possession. He happened to find the collection by chance in a gentleman's library and was looking at it with some interest, when the latter said that he had collected them in his youth and if my friend was interested in old stamps he might have the collection!! I am sorry to say nobody ever gave me a collection—just my luck! I didn't get anything out of that collection. I believe it was all eventually sold, a leading dealer having the first pick out of it. He offered £5 for a pick of 5 stamps. As one of these was the aforementioned 1/- New Brunswick, I have no doubt but that the others were equally good, and I imagine that dealer must have been satisfied with his bargain.

The circumstance related above led me to look up my old collection, which I found had become quite valuable.

I now learnt that Stamp Clubs had come into vogue and I joined half-a-dozen and thus began to add again to my collection. The latter I now began to remount on an elaborate plan in albums with movable leaves. About seven years ago, before half of my collection was remounted, I think partly on account of disgust at the quantities of new issues, I decided to specialize and consequently sold about three quarters of my collection.

Perhaps it will be useful if I conclude these reminiscences with an expression of the results of my experience. Very narrow specialism, in other matters besides stamps, is apt to become monotonous, but it is the only way in which knowledge can advance. Most collectors, I suppose, merely collect as a recreation, and are not disposed to study their stamps or put that amount of hard work into comparing stamps and reading what has been written about them, which tends to the advancement of philatelic knowledge. On the other hand, it is quite impossible now to attain completeness in a general collection and hence the "generalist" usually drifts insensibly into keeping up a few countries in which he is most interested. The result is that I am inclined to think a moderate specialism will be found the most suitable for any serious collector. Every one should, of course, begin by making a general collection. This is the only way of acquiring the fundamental principles of philately. When adequate knowledge has been gained, then specialize one or two countries; if need be, at the sacrifice of part of the general collection. But the latter should be again commenced and kept up side by side with the special one. Then even though the latter be incomplete, yet it affords a valuable means of keeping up general philatelic knowledge. As a matter of personal feeling I should eschew all, or nearly all, new issues; very few seem to me to be of any interest. In making these last few remarks I have postage stamps mainly in my mind, but it must not be forgotten that there are other branches of philately equally deserving of recognition. I refer to the collection of telegraph stamps, fiscals and entires, both envelopes and postcards. I have collected all these and find that all have their interest. The telegraphs and fiscals I still keep up, but I have regretted parting with the main bulk of my envelopes and postcards. In the realm of fiscals little is known, novelties and unknown varieties are plentiful and in all probability among these stamps the modern collector can most nearly experience the fascination which encouraged the early collectors of postage stamps to persevere.

(c.) For the German Post Offices abroad (Turkey, China, Morocco) the stamps issued for the German Empire (values as under (a)) with the exception that, in Turkey, there is no stamp at 3pf. nor post card at 5pf., but in addition, a wrapper at 5pf. The stamps issued under this head bear a surcharge, viz: 1. For Turkey the corresponding value in piastres. 2. For Morocco the name of the country and the value in pesetas and centimos. 3. For China (except Kiao-tchau) the name of the country. All the stamps are to be sold at face value. In the case of East Africa the corresponding prices in marks and pfenings, as bracketed under (b) are the sale prices in Berlin until further notice. Colonial stamps may also be ordered by letter. In this case the amount is to be sent to "Postamt, Nr. 19, Berlin, S.W., (Beuth Strasse)" direct by money order. It is recommended to write name and address distinctly. Payment in postage stamps is not admissible. The order may be written on the counterfoil of the money order, but it will be preferable to send it by letter or post card. The stamps as ordered will be sent immediately from the office by registered letter, for which the necessary amount should be added. All issues formerly prepared for the German Protectorates will be withdrawn from sale at the Post Offices.

EDITORIAL.

IN accordance with our intention, expressed last month, we present with this number our first supplement, containing the commencement of a catalogue of the Fiscals of the Argentine Republic. The stamps dealt with in this supplement are the Beer Duty, Consular Service, and a portion of the Documents series. The compilation of this list has been one of considerable difficulty owing chiefly to the fact that no collector in this country, as far as we are aware, possesses even a tolerably complete collection of these stamps, the higher values of the Documents series especially being of considerable rarity. But we must express our acknowledgments to several gentlemen who have assisted us. Mr. Thompson and Mr. Morley have allowed us to inspect their fine collections, and Mr. Pearce and Mr. White have sent us a number of varieties for inspection, and together with M. Langlois of Paris, all these gentlemen have most kindly endeavoured to reply to a number of queries to which the compilation has given rise. To all, then, we tender our best thanks for their aid. As a basis for our list we have used the fine catalogue of Argentine Fiscals published by the Argentine Philatelic Society, under the editorship of Dr. J. M. del Pont, a most valuable work, evincing most careful and thorough philatelic research; and we have also consulted the well known catalogues of Moens and Roussin. The result, we hope, is as complete a catalogue as can be given at the present time, but we can hardly expect to have escaped without some errors or omissions, and we shall be glad to be informed of any such that our readers may discover. As regards the prices we may say that our publisher has followed his usual custom of only pricing those stamps he has in stock for sale, and that in every case where prices are affixed the stamps can be supplied by him at that figure.

It may be useful to call attention to a few points in connection with the present instalment of the catalogue on which some further research by collectors seems desirable. In the first place it seems to us that probably other values besides the 4c. fte. and 10c. fte. of the Documents series for 1898 exist in the two varieties described in the footnote. Moreover cannot some of our readers add to the list of the same series, perf. 13½, represented by only four values? This seems obviously incomplete at present. Similarly, again, with the second type (Type 6) of this series. The issue for 1883 surcharged 83 (Type 9) is interesting and we should especially like to see any stamps of this series. If any of our readers possess such, we beg that they may be sent on inspection to the editor, who will take every care of them and return them promptly.

* * * *

Fiscal collectors need not utterly despair of acquiring the high values of U.S. revenues, as witness the following par. from the Metropolitan Philatelist. "Collectors have been gladdened by "the sight of a $500 and $1000 dollar revenue "of the present issue, unfortunately the price is "above the pockets of the majority; however "there is a good time coming and those who "live long enough may receive one from the "$50,000,000 mortgage of the Third Avenue "Railroad, which has just been recorded in the "Register's Office of Westchester County. It "was decorated with twenty-five one thousand "dollar stamps."

We are indebted to the kindness of Dr. Marx for the translation of the official notice, which appears on another page, on the new stamps for the German Colonies. These stamps are decidedly interesting and now that the older issues are to be withdrawn they will doubtless become rare, especially in a used condition. The notice is also valuable as informing collectors how to obtain the new issues for all the German Colonies at face value.

* * * * *

Our readers will be glad to hear that Mr. Pearce will contribute another article on the United States fiscals for the Philippine Islands. Mr. Pearce has added to his collection a further supply of these interesting provisionals and has collected a grest deal of fresh information about them. The article will appear in our March number.

We have to announce that the private exhibition arranged by the I.P.U. for the 26th January last, has been postponed until Feb. 23rd. The tickets of admission which have already been circulated will hold good for the new date. The exhibition is to be held in the rooms of The Philatelic Society, London, at Effingham House, Arundel Street, Strand. We hear that a large number of exhibits have been received, and there is every prospect of it being a marked success.

Our publisher has sent us a price list of the South African War Stamps. It includes the stamps of the Orange River Colony, surcharged V.R.I., Vryburg, Mafeking besieged, Transvaals, &c. The catalogue is very complete and will be found useful to collectors of these stamps.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By "K."

Bristol and Gloucester Railway.

A hitherto undiscovered issue of this Company has been unearthed. The design is much the same as that of the previous issue, but the words "Newspaper parcel" are taken out, and qualifying inscriptions added instead at top and bottom.

3rd issue. 2d black on yellow. Perf. 9½.

The annexed illustrations of the 2 types of the B. & G. Ry. are interesting, not only from the extreme rarity of the originals, whose ugly design, although formerly somewhat common, has, luckily for the attractive appearance of a collection of Railway Stamps, fallen completely into disuse; but also because they are, I believe, the first Railway Parcel Stamps that have ever been reproduced in an English philatelic journal.

Monmouth Rail & Canal Co.

Part of an earlier issue has been discovered, similar to that already catalogued, except as to colour and perforation.

1st issue. 1d., black on white. Imperf.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS.

By G. W. J. Potter.

THE stamps now in use on the Furness Railway are of medium size, and with one exception belong to the third type issued by the company. As with the Taff Vale, the highest value (3d.), is a survivor of the previous issue, and may be distinguished by being perforated and by the line being described as the Furness Railways, instead of Railway, that being its original title. The guage of the perforation varies, but the usual sizes are 11 and 10. One design and colour is used for all values, the shades varving from red to carmine. The figure of value appears on a circle of white, with labels above and below, together with a background of network. Control numbers occur at the top of the stamp and the order is usually left to right and downwards, but sometimes is right to left; other methods I have seen are upwards from right lower corner and down the next column; and starting from left upper corner the numbers run across two columns only and then on to the next line. There is also a series of the same stamps overprinted for use on the joint section belonging to the L. & N.W. and F. Rys. The inscription—in 3 lines—reads downwards and is as follows:—To L. & N.W. & Furness Joint Line only.

PHILATELY'S OUTCASTS.

By A. B. Kay.

HAVING for some time past gathered together the outcasts of philately, viz.—reprints, forgeries, bogus stamps, and such like, possibly a description of the usefulness and arrangement of a collection of such "rubbish" may be interesting.

In the first place, the cost is trifling, compared with the amount required to be spent on a general collection, to make it fairly passable, whilst the knowledge and information gained during its formation is wide reaching, and embraces every branch of philatelic learning.

The idea of the collection is to compare the genuine reprints and forged stamps of an issue together, putting against each, notes regarding it, and thus when any doubt arise concerning a stamp, it can be readily turned up, and its status soon decided on.

Although information has to be sought for far and wide, but few books are really necessary. A good catalogue, Bacon's "Reprints" and Earée's "Album Weeds" about completing the only text books constantly required. It might be here remarked, that although "Reprints" is a very complete work, "Album Weeds" having been compiled some years back, is not so. Of course, one can only have praise for such a monumental and unique work, but it may be said that in the writer's collection of over 5000, about half the forgeries are not described by Earée.

The genuine stamps collected should preferably be the same as represented by the reprints or forgeries, as then shades can be readily compared, although in a case where the stamp forged is very rare, a common variety, if existing, of the same type will be of equal value for comparison of design. Unused copies mostly are required, to show the details clearly, but lightly cancelled specimens also have often to be inserted where one in an unused state is not readily obtainable. Sometimes, however, used stamps are even preferable, where an issue has a distinctive postmark, as instanced by the peculiar "arrow cross" of Spain, the "picture frame" of Sicily, and the "butterfly" of Victoria.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

CEYLON. Of the Indian stamps used in Ceylon we have seen the following varieties which have not hitherto been recorded. 1 anna, green, cancelled, '79.
4 ,, blue, on blue paper.

We are indebted to Mr. H. Thompson for the 1 anna, of which he possesses a strip of five on the original form.

We have also seen a copy of the 8as., brown imperf., on piece of original, cancelled Colombo 5/11/78. This stamp has already been chronicled but it is desirable to note the date of cancellation.

Orange Free State. In November last we chronicled some new varieties on the authority of Ewen's Weekly. We can now confirm the 1/- orange, with the error of surcharge FT, Mr. J. T. Crick having shown us a copy, cancelled 18/8/92. The type is No 294 of our publisher's catalogue.

1/-, orange, error FT.

The 3d., and 6d , of this type are already chronicled with the error, probably the 1d., brown exists also.

Our publisher sends us two panes of 60 stamps of 1d., purple surcharged TF, one being clearly printed, the other blurred. The type is No. 301 of our publisher's catalogue.

Peru. Our publisher has received several varieties of the 1896 issue (postage stamps surcharged "Telegrafos") with an additional surcharge of PERU and the name of a town, in two lines in large caps. about 6mm. high. The surcharge is evidently done by means of a handstamp as it occurs in various positions.

2c., lake Sur. PERU TARMA diagonally, but inverted, since the surcharge reads from the bottom right to the top left hand corner, in blue-black.
10c., orange, ditto
10c., ,, ditto, but not inverted
10c., ,, Sur. PERU TARMA, almost vertical, reading downwards. This surcharge appears to have been done first in red, and then in blue-black over the red, giving somewhat the appearance of a violet surcharge.
10c., orange, Sur. PERU FERRENAFE, nearly horizontal, in blue-black.
10c., orange, Sur. PERU LAMBAYEQUE, diagonally in black.
10c., orange, Sur. PERU SALAVERRY, diagonally, in blue black.
10c., orange, Sur. PERU SAN PEDRO, horizontally inverted, over a pair, in black.
10c , orange, Sur. PERU YCA, horizontally, in black.
10c., ditto, inverted.
10c., ditto, nearly vertically, reading upwards, in black.
10c., ditto, diagonally inverted, reading from bottom right corner to top left, in black.
10c., ditto, diagonally, reading from top left to bottom right corner, in green.
20c., blue (Unpaid Letter Stamp of 1874, Sur. TELEGRAFOS) Sur. PERU SUPE, horizontally, in violet.
20c., ditto, diagonally, reading from bottom left to top right corner.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.
NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

British Central Africa. Consular. Our publisher has shown us the following current Postage and Revenue stamps, surcharged CONSULAR in large caps, 21 x 3 mm.

2/6, ultramarine and black (red sur.)
4/-, carmine and black (bluish-black sur.)
£1, lilac and black (red sur.)

British South Africa. Mr. Thompson possesses a high value, £100, which we believe has not yet been chronicled. It is an oblong stamp, Arms in centre and two circles in upper corners with value £100, in white on a purple ground, and label at the bottom "One hundred pounds" also in white on purple. Perf. 12½. The wmk. we were not able to observe as the stamp was on the original paper.

£100, vermillion and purple, perf. 12½.

Since writing the above we are informed that this stamp was issued in 1898, and that also in all probability a £50 stamp exists. Moreover the following have been seen:—£50, blue and red, £100, red and green, £200, green and violet—all imperf. Are these proofs? Can our readers give us any information on these points?

Ceylon. Stamp Duty. Mr. H. Thompson has shown us an unchronicled and interesting error of one of the provisionals. The stamp in question is the 50 cents, lilac, wmk. Crown, C.A., perf. 14, surcharged TWENTY FVIE. The normal variety is No 14 in the list of these provisionals given by Mr. Pearce in Stamps for Oct., 1898, p. 157.

Furthermore we have in our possession the 20 cents, green, wmk. Crown C.A., perf. 12½ x 14, (cancelled 24/6/81), and the 50 cents, orange-brown with the same wmk., perf. 12½, cancelled 25/8/81.

20c., green, wmk. Cr. C.A., perf. 12½ x 14.
50c., orange-brown, ,, ,, ,, 12½.
TWENTY FVIE (Error) on 50 cents, lilac, wmk. Cr. C.A., perf. 14.

Great Britain. Private Stamp. The Shipping Federation. Of the same d sign and value as the stamp already chronicled, Mr. Morley sends us a strip of three in pale chalky green, with a zig-zag roulette, simulating perf. 13 when the stamps are separated:

6d., pale chalky green (Renewal Stamp), zig-zag roulette.

Japan. Medicine. Mr. H. Thompson has found a copy of the 4 sen, orange-yellow, imperf. so that now all the values are known imperf.

Niger Coast. Consular. We have seen another value of the current postage stamps surcharged CONSULAR in red, the 6d., yellow-brown, wmk. Crown and C.A.

Philippine Islands. As the United States revenue stamps for these islands are of great interest at the present time, we note for the benefit of those fiscal collectors who take stamped paper as well as adhesives, the following varieties, kindly communicated to us by Mr. E. R. Ackerman. Mr. Ackerman writes that he possesses the "10c de peso, Sello 11° at top, printed in "green and surcharged with hand stamp in blue "'U.S. Military Government, 1900—Internal "'Revenue,' also the 25c. de peso, of the same "type, in rose, similarly surcharged. Both "these sheets bear at left the circular imprint "Fabrica Nl. de la Moneda y Timbre 1898 y "1899 at left."

Portugal. Imposto do Sello. Mr. Thompson has shown us the 10c. of 1873. Perf. 12.

Saint Vincent. Two interesting fiscals of this country, which do not appear to have yet been chronicled were offered for sale in Mr. Hadlow's auction of Dec. 13th ult.

5/-, rose-red, wmk. star, surcharged REVENUE twice, once inverted.
£50 on 5/- rose-red.

The former fetched £2 4s. 0d., the latter £4 10s. 0d.

Provisional Fiscal Issues of the American Occupation of the Philippines.

By A. Preston Pearce.

THE article that appeared in the preceding volume under the above heading contained little more than was discoverable from an examination of such specimens as had reached the writer. The greater part of the sum of our knowledge concerning revenue stamps has been gained by the same process of inspection, the opportunity of perusing official records coming but rarely to the collector of fiscals. Most fortunately, however, one of those rare chances has presented itself on this occasion in connection with what must perforce be considered one of the most interesting series of the last century, and, thanks to the intervention of an officer in the marine service of the United States, I am enabled to place on record the official lists of the revenue stamps employed and issued by the American revenue authorities.

As most of the types were fully described in the preceding volume, and photo-reproductions of nine of them appeared last October, I propose to make this article supplement the former one, and readers are referred to pp. 74, 75 and 80 of Vol. I, for an account of most of the issues and for illustrations of the designs.

Dealing first of all with the Giro duty, my correspondent makes a most important addition to the list, telling me that in 1898 and 1899 the Spanish issue current at the time of the occupation was continued in use, but all stamps before being placed on sale were rendered valid by the initials of the officer in charge of the Internal Revenue being written across the Spanish Arms in red ink. Our first illustration shows one of the stamps thus treated, and presents the type of the whole set; the colour is dark red for all values, the perforation being 14 and frequently somewhat rough. The list of values is the same as for the succeeding sets already correctly given, in which the two uncertain denominations are 2p. 40c., and 3p. 60c. There is no value above 15p.

Type 4.

I have no addition to make to the published list of the varieties of the 1899 issue, but have since received the 15 and 30c. de p., 1900, both type II. The 4p., of 1900, type I, was chronicled last December as showing an error in the range, but no correctly inscribed copy has yet been seen.

Unfortunately, however, another type has been detected, bearing date 1900, which differs from those previously recognized, as will be seen by the accompanying illustration. Though inferior still in execution it copies type I most closely but differs in various respects, notably in the solid portions of the design, the paper also is different and varies, and the colour is more slate than blue. Provisionally I label it type IV, and alter the last column in the table given in October accordingly, placing crosses against the 1p. 20c., 2p., 3p., and 5p., the only values thus far seen.

I may as well state now that the differences just referred to have aroused suspicions as to the genuineness of these specimens, so I have forwarded copies of each of the types to my correspondent with the request that they be submitted to the issuing authority for judgment; the result of this action shall be communicated in due course.

It is but a short time ago that I discovered forgeries of two values of one of the earlier Giro sets in use in the Philippines, and as the extremely primitive design and rough execution of the series now under consideration plainly invite imitation, it would not be at all surprising if criminal industry found expression in this direction. Being so well acquainted with the ever present character of this danger and with the many devices adopted by Governments to frustrate the aims of forgers, I have considered it within my province to address a strong warning to the responsible officers of the U.S. Revenue service in the Philippines, and I have not hesitated to declare that, failing the provision of finely engraved and distinctive types, it would be far safer to import and suitably overprint the current U.S. revenues than to continue the present dangerous course. Whether the warning will fall on deaf ears or not it is impossible to say, but when one thinks of the triumphs of the engraver's skill emitted, say by Austria and Hungary, for the purpose of defying forgery, and compares them with the labels that have been doing duty in the Philippines, one is inclined to say that such disregard of elementary precautions is a direct incentive to crime.

In this connection it is not without interest to recall that the largest number of recognized forgeries of revenue stamps (all of course made to defraud the Government) have been imitations of Spanish issues.

Passing on to the SELLO stamps, I have first of all to correct one of the statements previously made anent the appropriated Spanish set. I am informed that the initials of the issuing officer alone gave validity to the stamps, the LIEUT. U.S.N. —CAPTAIN OF THE PORT overprint being merely a cancellation. The full set was constituted as follows, the colours in italics have not been verified by the writer.

25 c. de p., red	3 pesos, deep pink
40 ,, dark blue	5 ,, slate
50 ,, yellow brown	10 ,, orange
1 peso, grey purple	15 ,, red brown
2 pesos, light brown	20 ,, light purple

On a close inspection of the first American type (Fig. 6 in the former article), it will be noticed that the four central stripes of the shield bear each a figure of the date of issue, 1899. In the corresponding position in the second type (Fig. 7), the date 1900 appears, so these two are distinct issues.

As already stated, the first sheets of the American type were issued imperforate, but I am informed that this was very speedily rectified. It was intended to print each value in the corresponding colour of the last Spanish issue, but as might be expected the correspondence is not very close. Some of the shades in these lists differ slightly from the tints previously chronicled, closer comparison of additional copies rendering this necessary.

Dated 1899. Imperforate.

25 c. de p., dull red	3 pesos, deep pink
40 ,, blue green	5 ,, slate
50 ,, pale buff	10 ,, orange
1 peso, pale violet	15 ,, red brown
2 pesos, light brown	20 ,, lilac

The same perforated 12. The list of colours furnished is the same as above, but the few copies I have seen of the 50c. de p., are pale yellow, and those of the 1 peso are quite different, being very deep violet. There was also a later printing of the 25c. de p., in bright carmine, instead of dull red, which adds another variety to the list.

The Exhibition of the International Philatelic Union.

THIS Exhibition, which was postponed from 26th January, took place on 23rd February, in the rooms of the Philatelic Society, London and was very largely attended. The exhibits were limited to 50 stamps (pairs to count as one stamp, strips of three and blocks of four as two, and larger blocks as three stamps). No exhibitor was allowed to show for competition more than three exhibits in each class, and no one could take more than one prize in each class or two altogether. The Judges were Messrs. M. P. Castle, H. R. Oldfield, W. Dorning Beckton and W. Schwabacher.

EXHIBITS AND AWARDS. Grand Prize (for best exhibit in Classes I & II), VERNON ROBERTS. Cape of Good Hope, 1853-61. A magnificent lot of triangular Capes, including the 1d. and 4d. woodblocks, unused and used, in shades, with the errors and a pair, 1d. and 4d., blue, se tenant. Of the De la Rue printing the 1d., carmine, 4d., blue, 6d., mauve, and 1/-, emerald green were shown in mint blocks of 32. Special Prize (for the exhibit which shows most philatelic knowledge, care and attention, without regard to monetary value) DALTON, R. Victoria 1850. A fine collection of used copies of the 1d., 2d., and 3d. values, in strips and selected shades. The notable varieties were well described.

Class I. The Stamps of Great Britain or of any one British Colony, consisting of 1, or 2, or 3 issues, as indicated by consecutive dates in Stanley Gibbon's Catalogue. First Prize, HAUSBURG, L.L.R. New South Wales, 1850 & 51. A collection of "Sydney Views" 1d., and 2d., used. The exhibit was completed by the competitor showing the remaining varieties of the 2d., and 3d., hors concours. This exhibit was especially remarkable for the superb condition and good arrangement of the stamps. Second Prize, NEAVE, B.W. Canada, 1851-57 & 1887. A very fine lot of pence Canadians, used and unused. The 12d. was, however. wanting. Third Prize, LOMBARD, M.H. Gambia, 1880 & 1887-88. This exhibit came from America. Consolation Prize, JOSELYN, J.E. Gambia 1886-88.

Other noteworthy exhibits in Class I were a nice lot of unused pence Ceylons 1863-67, by B. W. Neave; Hong Kong 1862-77, unused, in shades, and Victoria, 25 unused stamps, including a superb 3d. grey lilac, wmk. double-lined 1, and two copies of the 5/- blue on yellow, by L. L. R. Hausburg; and a collection of curious varieties of perforation, &c., of South Australia, beautifully mounted and described by R. Dalton.

Class II. The stamps of any Country or Colony not comprised in Class I, and under the same limitations as Class I. First Prize, FRENTZEL, R. Mexican Locals: Campeche, Chiapas and Guadalajara. This exhibit included the 25c., and 50c., Campeche and the ½, 1, and 2 reales Chiapas, on originals, as were many of the Guadalajaras. Second Prize, FULCHER, L. W. Austrian Italy, 1850. A used collection, showing the varieties of type and paper. Third Prize, LOMBARD, M. H. French Colonies, 1859-62. A nice lot, all unused, including two blocks and two strips of the 10c., showing the stamp sideways, double impressions, and unofficial perforations. Consolation Prize, REICHENHEIM, F. German African Colonies. This exhibit showed some interesting obliterations and some "split" stamps on originals, as well as the normal varieties.

Philately as an Aid to Culture.

VI. FROM THE LOYALIST'S STANDPOINT.

NOW that the world-wide British Empire is mourning the loss of its departed Queen, and is in countless ways displaying its grateful appreciation of her glorious reign, it may be worth while recalling the fact that when that reign began philately was as yet unborn. But ere three years had elapsed the penny postage system was introduced, and the first adhesive stamps were engraved and issued in 1840. These were the black 1d., and the blue 2d. without white lines: a pair still unsurpassed for graceful boldness and artistic beauty of design.

From that time onwards we can trace almost step by step in the pages of our Albums the family history of our late Sovereign. The earliest stamps of the colony of Victoria depict the fair young girl in possession of the orb and sceptre, or seated upon her ancestral throne. Her coronation portrait is reproduced by Nova Scotia, in the first type of Queensland, and in various emissions of the Bahamas, Grenada, Tasmania, New Zealand, and other countries. Her Majesty's alliance to the husband of her choice is commemorated by the 6d. and 10 cent values of Canada. The picture of a little boy in Highland dress upon stamps of New Brunswick and Newfoundland makes us acquainted with the birth of a son and heir. Then followed a period of happy married life, during which the Queen's head was presented to us under various guises, mostly conventional, but occasionally almost grotesque, as in the first issue of what was then called Van Diemen's land, and in some of the "native" Mauritius. Next came her great sorrow and bereavement, as indicated by the widow's weeds, first in the 1868 issue of Newfoundland, and afterwards by Canada and other colonies. Then years rolled on, and the loyalty and affection of her subjects were proved by the celebration of her Jubilee, when the Queen appeared in Westminster Abbey as she is represented on two handsome sets of the Niger Coast, and the large rupee series of India. The same sentiment rose to a still higher pitch of reverence and enthusiasm at the Diamond Jubilee in 1897, with which philately showed itself in touch by the portraits on the commemorative issues of Canada and Newfoundland, and by the 2d. and 2½d. stamps of New South Wales.

And now that her long and honourable career has been closed in death, and a sweeping change must soon take place in the designs of the stamps of the British Empire, no more interesting and loyal section of philately can be taken up by the group collector than the "Queen's head" in all its varied forms and types and countries, from the first beautiful pair mentioned above, down to the newly issued stamps of the Cayman Islands, and the pretty farthing provisional of Bermuda—a range of more than sixty years!

A noteworthly halting-place in the history of philately has now been reached, and philatelists of the future will perhaps start their collections with stamps of Edward VII, and the new century; but even they will be unwilling to forego what information has been stored up for us concerning the previous history of the Prince of Wales. Hence an exception will be made in favour of the New Brunswick stamp already referred to; but it is Newfoundland which in this respect will undoubtedly bear off the palm. For in its stamps not merely are we shown His Royal Highness as a little boy, but he is also represented in officer's uniform both in youth and in full manhood. His consort, now Queen Alexandra, takes her place by his side, with their son—the heir apparent to the crown, and still another step onward in the genealogy. Thus this colony had, only a few short weeks ago, the unique distinction of having four generations in the line of succession to the Empire's throne depicted upon its postage stamps, viz.: the Queen, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, and young Prince Edward. One of these—the honoured head of the family—now alas! has passed away, and only three remain. May many years elapse before the next in order be taken from us! God save—long live—the King!!

EDITORIAL.

THE event of the past month in Philatelic circles has undoubtedly been the private competitive exhibition of the International Philatelic Union. The Exhibition was the first of the kind held by the Union, and we believe the first of any exhibition with the novel limitation imposed on exhibits. It was found by the Committee of the I.P.U. that, of recent years, the monthly meetings, at which, of course, only London members could be expected to be present, were very poorly attended. This was no doubt greatly due to the fact that a collection of any one country, especially if highly specialized, did not appeal to more than a few members, and consequently those not so interested failed to support the meeting by their presence. In view of this fact, and also to allow provincial and foreign members to take an active part in the proceedings, it was resolved to abandon the meetings this year, but, instead, to hold an exhibition to which all could send and all stand a chance of winning a prize. The novel lines on which it was held were, we believe, primarily suggested by Mr. W. Dorning Beckton, who is a Vice-President of the Union, and the chief limitation of only admitting 50 stamps, drawn from one, two or three consecutive issues of a country, not only prevented any one member from taking up an undue amount of space (for which no charge was made) but also helped to place the medium collector in a favourable position for competition with the specialist. Moreover, to ensure this latter end still further, the judges were requested to give more weight to the method of arrangement of the stamps and the amount of philatelic knowledge evidenced, than to the monetary value of the specimens shown. The result was eminently successful. About 86 exhibits were obtained and these occupied nearly all the space available for the purpose of exhibition, which was held in the rooms of the Philatelic Society. Tickets were at the disposal of any philatelists who applied for them and the general interest in the exhibition was evidenced by the large number of visitors who thronged the room during the five hours that it was open. Amongst these visitors we noticed most of the leading philatelists of the day, and there were certainly stamps shewn which were worthy of their attention. Pressure on our space prevents us from giving a detailed description of the exhibits but on another page will be found a brief résumé of some of the more notable ones. Readers of our paper will note that one class was devoted to fiscals and in fact, the I.P.U. is one of the few societies which definitely recognizes these labels as within its range. It is also interesting to observe that two of the prizes went to an American collector.

* * * *

We offer a further instalment this month of our Catalogue of the Fiscals of the Argentine Republic, in the form of a second supplement, which brings it down to the end of the "Documents" series, and commences the Foreign Bills. While tendering our thanks to many friends for the complimentary remarks they have passed on the first portion, we can only say that if collectors will continue their generous help in the way in which they have begun, there is no reason why the catalogue should not be tolerably complete. The series of Foreign Bills are fairly straight forward, but the series of duties which follow, such as the Hat Tax, Insurance, Matches, Medicine, Patents, Playing Cards and Tobaccos, are vastly more complex and we need all the help collectors can give in the way of either submitting unchronicled varieties or furnishing definite information.

* * * * *

Although we have devoted an additional column over and above our allotted space for our Fiscal Chronicle this month, yet we are reluctantly compelled to hold over a number of interesting varieties which have been recently discovered. Our friends in America seem particularly energetic in the collection of fiscals and we suppose that, having particularly handsome fiscals of their own, which moreover are fully catalogued in their leading Catalogue of Postage Stamps, they are thereby induced to collect them and are thus led to pay attention to those of other countries. It is our experience that if once a collector is tempted to take up the fiscals of one or two countries he usually finds the interest grow upon him and extends his researches over a wider range.

* * * * *

We have received two little publications which should be useful to philatelists. One is the Philatelic Almanac for 1901, price 4d., from Messrs C. J. Endle and Co., Boscombe, Bournemouth. It contains an article on "The Mission of Philately," "Notes on Stamps for Collectors of limited means" with various other items. The other is the 4th edition of the British Stamp Directory, edited by W. G. Walton and published by the Philatelic Publishing Co., Fentham Road, Handsworth, Birmingham. This contains the names and addresses of some 2400 philatelists. We have tested it and find it accurate, so that we can recommend it as a work of reference.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By "K."

London and North Western Railway.

ALTHOUGH specimens of the early issues of this line are by no means common, their arrangement fortunately presents no great difficulty, and I do not think any important additions to the following list will be necessary.

1d., 2d., 3d., 4d., 6d., 9d., green.

General design—Arms (Britannia) in circular band containing name of railway—"PARCEL" above and "STAMP" below. Figure of value in all 4 corners. Medium rect., 40 x 26 mm. Rouletted.

There are several subtypes of this issue, of which I give below all that I have seen.

(e.) Small control, no figures of value. 2/6, 5/-.

Note. Most of the early stamps of this issue had the arms printed in black on the back. This was afterwards abandoned.

5th issue. 1899. Same size as issue 4. Design—Large white figures of value in solid square, surrounded by name of railway, "Parcel Stamps" at top, and small black controls at bottom. Printed in washy carmine on very poor paper. Rouletted.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS.

By G. W. J. Potter.

A PRETTY series of stamps is issued by the Maryport and Carlisle Railway, the shades, as usual, varying considerably with different printings. The ½d. is smaller and type-printed, with M. & C.R. vertically overprinted in red, reading upwards. The design of the other stamps is a slight modification of that described under the head of the Barry Railway; the controls, however, being placed in a separate space below the body of the stamp. The numbering seems to have been done very carelessly, as although the sheets consist of 12 stamps, in only one case—that of the ½d.—will the controls on last stamp of each sheet divide by 12. Present figures are: 1d., 4395: 2d., 87: 3d., 6313; 4d., 2382; and 6d., 7316; giving a remainder of 3 in the case of the 1d. and 2d , 1 in the 3d., 6 in the 4d., and 8 in the 6d. The method of numbering cannot be that used in railway tickets, where the first ticket is always 000, for then we should have a remainder of 11. It would be interesting to discover the cause of this curious numbering.

The earliest stamps of the Severn and Wye Railway were smaller, and bore a fac-simile of the secretary's autograph, which is omitted in the current issues. The whole inscription is comprised in four lines of text, the value appearing in lined outline figures showing through the two lower lines. The title of the company is now Great Western and Midland Companies Severn and Wye Joint Railway; before that it was Great Western & Midland Railway Cos., Joint Severn and Wye Bridge and Severn Bridge Railway; and in its early days Severn and Wye Railway and Canal.

PHILATELY'S OUTCASTS.

By A. B. Kay.

The style of printing of the genuine should be noted,—whether engraved, typographed, lithographed, or otherwise printed. Some stamps have been issued in more than one kind of printing, for instance, the Maximilian issue of Mexico, first unpaid France, Nevis, &c.; forgeries are most often lithographed.

Paper, watermarks, perforations, and gum are also points to be carefully looked into. Few reprints and hardly any forgeries are watermarked, and the gauge of the perforation, roulette, &c., of a genuine stamp is seldom the same as that of its imitations. Reprints often have no gum, or one entirely different to that found on originals.

Note should be made of the various types of a stamp, in such countries as Bremen, Oldenburg, and Switzerland. Minor details, such as stops, number of lines and dots in circles must be looked into, as it is chiefly in these small matters that reprints and forgeries are clearly distinguished from the genuine.

Surcharges have to be compared, as many forged ones exist, often inverted; and sometimes on stamps that were not really impressed. Forged perforations, postmarks, colors chemically changed, fakes of many other descriptions, unissued and bogus stamps, in fact anything of a postal nature, that is not all it should be to make it a genuine stamp, is included.

In a short time a most interesting and useful collection can then be got together for a little expenditnre, and perhaps this article may be now the means of saving from neglect or destruction many pieces of paper that are of more real interest than genuine stamps.

* * * *

Just as we go to press we have received the Feb. number of "Stamps" in which under the head of Fiscal Notes, Mr. Preston Pearce contributes an interesting and valuable catalogue of the fiscals of Saint Vincent. Next month we will give a list of the hitherto unchronicled varieties which here appear for the first time.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

BRAZIL. Consular. Our publisher has shown us three new stamps of the accompanying design, printed in rose on wove paper, with value in black, perforated in big holes, wide apart about 6.

Cashmere. The accompanyiny illustration represents a stamp which we presume hails from this country. It seems to be a production of Messrs De la Rue and Co. The tablet at the base bears the inscription "1 anna" in native characters and this with the two labels bearing native inscriptions at the sides is printed in rose, the remainder of the stamp being in lilac. There is a watermark which we cannot decipher with certainty, but which appears to be a flower, repeated about 4 times over the area of the stamp.

Columbia. Habilitacion. Of a similar type to the issue of 1889-90, here illustrated, we have the 1 peso value for the "Bienio de 1893 y 1894." Probably other values exist. Wove paper. Imperf.

Mr. A. E. Lawrence informs us that the colour of No. 13001 in Moens' Catalogue, i.e. the 50c. of 1889 is black on deep orange, and that of No. 13004, i.e. the 50c. of 1892 is blue in two distinct shades light blue and dark blue.

Timbre Nacional. With reference to No. 12024 in Moens' Catalogue, i.e. the 25 centavos, gold, of 1889, to which Moens appends the note "Le 25 centavos n'ést peut être qu'un essai" Mr A. E. Lawrence informs us that he has a used copy, penmarked, in his collection

Honduras. Mr. A. E. Lawrence has found a Revenue stamp of this country. The design consists of the Arms in centre and inscriptions "Republica Major de C.A." "Estado de Honduras" above.

India. Petition. Mr. K. Peerbhoy submits a stamp which is unknown to us. It is the 2 rupees, Foreign Bill, with the top and bottom labels cut off and surcharged PETITION in green caps., 16 x 2½ mm.

Mexico. Hilaza y Tejidos. Mr. G. Helmrich writing to us from Tepic, informs us that the stamps with this inscription pay tax of 5% on the value of cotton goods, prints, crude and white shirtings, &c., manufactured in the Republic and that they are used in the same way as the Renta Interior series, for which reason they have two parts, perforated between. Through his kindness we are able to illustrate the designs of the series for 1899-1900 and 1900-1901. The former set was chronicled by us on the authority of L'Ami, in March last, but our correspondent states that the colour of the 5 pesos is light blue. It was formerly given as brown. The colours of the 1900-01 set are 5c., green; 20c., dark brown, 1 peso, bright red; 5 pesos, blue; 20 pesos, orange. The 5c. of both series which are submitted to us, are on unwatermarked wove paper and perf. 12, but that for 1900-01 is embossed with something of the nature of a monogram which we are not able to decipher.

The same gentleman also sends us copies of the current series of Renta Interior and Documentos y Libros which were issued last July. We illustrate these also.

The colours of both series are the same and are given by Mr. Helmrich as follows:—

1c., light brown	25c., dark blue
2c., blue	50c., greenish black
5c., green	1p., greenish blue
10c., carmine	5p., rose

10p., dark green

Some of the lower values have been chronicled before.

Newfoundland. Our publisher has received a new Revenue stamp from this Colony, which is represented in the accompaning cut. It is roughly printed on unwatermarked wove paper.

The Fiscals of Nevis.

BY A. WHITE.

THE Fiscals of Nevis seem to be less understood than those of any of the other West Indian Islands, which is probably owing to the rarity of many of the varieties, and in compiling a list of these stamps one is at once confronted with the difficulty of obtaining a sufficient number of copies for adequate study and comparison. I trust, however, that the following list will be found fairly complete, but should any collector possess any variety that is not mentioned, I shall be very much obliged if he will kindly inform me of the fact. In this connexion I wish to tender my best thanks to Mr. Pearce, Mr. Kennedy, and Mr. Morley for much valuable assistance.

Nevis fiscals, excluding the St. Christopher Stamps surcharged for joint use in Nevis and St. Christopher, and which are more conveniently dealt-with with those of the latter Island, consist entirely of Nevis Postage Stamps surcharged "Revenue" in different types. The surcharge was first applied locally by means of a hand-stamp, and the stamps were in use in this condition in portions of 1878 and 1879. These were superseded in the latter year by a full set with the surcharge printed in London in somewhat similar type, and on the introduction of the De La Rue design the surcharge was printed in large capital letters.

The following is a list of the standard varieties known to me; some minor varieties will be referred to later.

1878. Postage Issue of 1861. Engraved. Perf. 13. Hand-stamped Revenue. with stop.

1. 6d., grey-lilac.

1878. Postage Issue of 1867. Engraved. Perf. 15. Hand-stamped Revenue without stop.

2. 4d., orange.

With surcharge inverted.

3. 4d., orange.

1878. Postage Issue of 1878. Lithographed. Perf. 15. Hand-stamped Revenue.

4. 1d., vermilion.

(b) Surcharge in deep blue.
5. 1d., vermilion.

B. Without stop.

(a) Surcharge horizontal.
6. 1d., vermilion.
7. 1/-, deep green.

(b) Surcharge vertical, reading upwards
8. 1d., vermilion.

(c) Surcharge diagonal, reading upwards.
9. 1d., vermilion.

(d) The same, surcharge inverted.
10. 1d., vermilion.

(e) Surcharge diagonal, reading downwards.
11. 1d., vermilion.

1879. Postage Issue of 1878. Lithographed. Perf. 15. With surcharge Revenue, printed in London.

12. 1d., rose.
13. 4d., orange (shades).
14. 6d., grey
15. 1/-, deep green.

1881. With Queen's Head. Wmk. Crown CC. Perf. 14.

(a) Surcharged Revenue.
16. 1d., lilac.

(b) Error Revnue, (Moens)
17. 1d., lilac.

(c) Surcharged REVENUE.
18. 1d., lilac.
19. 6d., green.

1884-90. Same design, wmk. Crown CA. Surcharged REVENUE.

20. 1d., lilac.
21. 4d., blue.
22. 6d., green.
23. 1/-, lilac-rose.

I have seen specimens of all the varieties listed with the exception of No. 17. This variety is catalogued by Moens, but I am not certain if I have placed it in the right position; does any collector possess a specimen?

Besides the above varieties there are certain minor ones which should be referred to. It will be noticed that all double surcharges are omitted. This is done intentionally, as in all the undoubted specimens I have met with, the first impression is so indistinct as not to be, I think, worthy of notice, and the second surcharge has been merely applied to supply the deficiences of the first. In other cases the appearance of a double surcharge has been merely caused by a slipping of the hand-stamp. The variety of the 1d., vermilion catalogued by Moens with a y instead of a v in the surcharge is probably caused by a defective impression, as in some copies the v might equally well pass for either letter.

Of the 1/-, green (No. 15) there are two minor varieties, in one there is a small irregular cross on the hill in the design, and in the other the design in the right-hand upper corner is defective.

Very few of the varieties of Nevis fiscals can be considered common; probably the rarest of all (excluding errors) is the 1/-, green with hand-stamped surcharge (No. 7). Nos. 1, 2, and 16, are all decidedly rare stamps, and the errors Nos. 3 and 17 are both of the greatest rarity.

Provisional Fiscal Issues of the American Occupation of the Philippines.

By A. Preston Pearce.

1900. Perforated 12. Three higher values have reached me since October, and a fourth is mentioned by my correspondent, but he found that he had omitted to make certain that all values exist in this type.

25c. de p., carmine
40 ,, dark blue
50c. de p., buff
1 peso, dark violet
2 pesos, light brown

The smaller labels ranging from 1 to 10 c. de p., are styled Receipt stamps. I have not yet heard of any additional values of the Spanish type appropriated for use, but they probably exist as the American type (Fig. 9, October number) was not issued until after the arrival of the perforating machines in 1899.

To the three values of this latter issue must be added a fourth, the 1c. de p., black. This I am told was a mistake, and my informant considered that it would be one of the rarest of the provisionals as hardly any had been sold. To this apparently must be added the qualification of rare in used condition, for I see that Mr. Morley has obtained a supply of unused copies. The 2c. de p., was first printed in pink, and later in carmine on thinner paper. I possess all four values in blocks showing the normal perforation of 12, and, in addition, a block of the 5c. de p., deep blue, pin perforated about 15.

I note in the Feb. Fiscal Chronicle a description of two varieties of the converted stamped paper series, but they differ from the corresponding values in the list furnished to me. I have not yet received any specimens, and the particulars furnished are somewhat meagre, but I learn that the Spanish stock seized was overprinted U.S. MILITARY GOVERNMENT—1900—INTERNAL REVENUE in small block letters by means of a rubber stamp.

5c. de p.,	yellow-brown		1 peso,	emerald-green
10 ,,	light-brown		5 pesos,	carmine
15 ,,	pale-lilac		25 ,,	orange
20 ,,	slate		50 ,,	light purple
50 ,,	gray-lilac

In conclusion, I repeat that the foregoing is but a further contribution to our knowledge of the subject. Two or three years hence, when the period of provisionals has been ended and the skeleton list of the Giro series looks less bare, it may be possible to draw up a reference list, but the time for that is not yet.

IN Class II, besides the above, among the notable stamps were an interesting lot of the German China provisionals, 5pf. on 10pf., carmine, showing types, and their positions on the sheet, by F. Reichenheim; Greece, 1862-1875, mostly unused, including amongst the unused, the 20c. on greenish paper, and also the same stamp printed from a worn plate, by Kirkpatrick and Pemberton, and Mexico, a beautiful selection, mostly unused, of the eagle type, 1864-67, by R. Frentzel. This exhibit included 4 copies of the 3 centavos brown.

Class III. Fiscals. Prize, FULCHER, L. W. Japan Bill Stamps. The most interesting were the large size 25 sen, error, with sun omitted on the banner, the 5 and 20 yen, rouletted, the 20 yen perforated and the 25 sen, small size, on European paper. The 50 sen, green, small size, was however lacking. Consolation Prize, THOMPSON, H. Mauritius, 1869. A very fine collection, with 4 mint strips of three, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd of Exchange, se tenant, of the 1d., 2d., 4d., and 6d., and also the 2d. (1st), 4d. (3rd), pair and single, and the 1/3 (2nd), on thin paper. The remaining values were all shown in one or more copies, but the 6/8 (2nd), 8/4 (3rd), and the 16/8 (3rd) were wanting.

In addition to the above, H. Thompson showed a rare lot of New Zealand Stamp Duty imperf., including many of the broken values, and some fine British Guianas, including the Internal Revenue 3, 6, 16 and 40$, imperf., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 12, 16, 20, 30, and 40$, perf. 10, and 1, 2, 4, 8, 10, 12$, perf. 15. T. H. Hinton showed U.S. Revenues first issue imperf., 24 varieties, including the 1.90 and 1.60, and the 15, 20, and 25 dollars, perf.; also Queensland, first three issues, and a number of Griqualand revenues, G surcharged on Cape of Good Hope, in various types.

Class IV. Entires. Prize, WARHURST, B. W. Orange Free State and Colony. Post Cards, showing many varieties. Consolation Prize, SKIPTON, S. C. 50 rare Post Cards. Other Collections of Entires of interest were, the Envelopes of Austria and Austrian Italy by B. W. Warhurst, Ceylon provisional postcards by T. H. Hinton, and Mexican Envelopes &c. by R. Frentzel.

Class V. Stamps of any Country not specified in Stanley Gibbons Catalogue. Exhibits not to consist of less than 6 stamps. Prize, HAUSBURG, L. L. R. No. 133, with double surcharge, Queensland, 4d., slate, No. 38, with defective FOUR, &c.

Amongst the exhibits hors concours H. R. Oldfield showed a fine collection of Swiss cantonals and also some Mafeking besieged; W. Dorning Beckton, the first issue of Roumania, 1862, including 21 entire sheets, and illustrating his paper in the "London Philatelist" for 1890; L. L. R. Hausburg a collection of Grenada, and B. W. Warhurst, a mixed lot of rare stamps, including the Postmaster's Stamp of Bermuda, 1848, of which only two other copies are known and the Transvaal error, Transvral, 1d., red on blue, a mint pair, the error being se tenant with the normal variety.

Discoveries.

New Zealand. Mr. Morley has found an unused mint copy of the 4d., brown, 1873, postage stamp (Gibbons, type 8) on blued paper, perf. 12½ at top and sides and perf. 10 at bottom. We have also seen a pair of the 2/-, green, London print, 1898, imperf. between horizontally.

EDITORIAL.

WHEN were perforated stamps first officially issued to the public? Referring to Messrs. Wright and Creeke's great work on the History of the Adhesive Stamps of the British Isles we find that evidence is brought forward to show that "perforated stamps were semi-officially issued "in 1851. It is possible that copies may exist "used in 1848-49, though we are not aware of any "being chronicled used dated earlier than 1850" and again "from statements made by Archer, "on examination before the Committee of 1852 "it would appear that he experimented upon "about 5000 sheets of 1d. stamps, some of which "were distributed by him, the rest being sent to "country Post Offices." They conclude that "it was not until the beginning of 1854 that per-"foration was officially adopted for the line en-"graved and surface printed stamps and on the "28th January, 1854, perforating machines con-"structed by Mr. James N. Napier were brought "into use." "We find that the first delivery "of perforated stamps was made on 31st January "1854." "The earliest postmarked copy of "which we have received a record is February "20th, 1854." While perusing a copy of the Times for July 1st, 1853, recently, we alighted upon the following noteworthy paragraph in the Parliamentary news.

PERFORATED POSTAGE STAMPS.

"Mr. Wilson (in reply to Mr. Hutchins) said "that arrangements had been made with Mr. "Archer for a supply of perforated postage "stamps. A portion were delivered at the "Library of the House of Commons yesterday "and in a day or two they would be in general "circulation. (Hear, Hear.)" This statement appears to antedate the generally accepted time of issue of perforated stamps by six months and it seems as if the first supply were perforated by Mr. Archer. Perhaps there is some room for further reseach here, and we shall be glad to know if specialists in English stamps can tell us anything further on the point in question. If the intentions of the Government as expressed in the paragraph were really carried out, a search for copies of the 1d. stamp postmarked before February 1854 should be rewarded with success.

We have heard a great deal lately with regard to numerous provisionals of Cuba and Porto Rico which owe their origin to the recent war between Spain and the United States but curiously enough very little definite information appears with regard to varieties from the Philippines. In our Fiscal Chronicle this month will be found a description of three fiscals issued by the Filipinos and last month we illustrated a Telegraph stamp which has been known for about a year and mentioned another value which has lately turned up. In addition to these there is a well known postage stamp, the 2c., red, and also a stamp for newspapers lettered "Impresos" which we have seen imperf. and perf. 11, and have been told that it exists rouletted. We have also heard rumours of the existence of an error lettered "Correos y Telegrafos." There has been very little evidence adduced so far as to the philatelic value of these stamps and at present, we think, they are rather looked at askance by collectors. Now, however, Mekeel's Weekly publishes an interesting letter from an officer serving with the U.S. forces in the Philippines, which we reproduce on another page and which seems to place beyond doubt that the postage and telegraph stamps above-mentioned have genuinely served the purpose for which they were created. Further information is desirable about these stamps. It seems probable that other values exist for postage and telegraph purposes. Moreover what is the meaning of the mysterious letters K. K. K. which appear on all these stamps? Can it be that the Filipinos have been reading their "Sherlock Holmes" and have created a Klu Klux Klan Society on the lines of that described in the hero's remarkable case of the "Five Orange Pips"?

In connection with curiosities from the Philippines we have heard nothing further respecting the variety of the 10c. de p., baby type, surcharged in two lines CORREOS BURIAS, chronicled in our October number of last year Is it a bogus variety? Our readers in America should be able to tell us something about this stamp if it is bonâ fide

The Philatelic Monthly Referee, edited by R. T Morgan is a new journal, subscription 1/- per annum. The first number, which lies before us contains amongst other items, a fully illustrated chronicle of new issues and an article on the stamps of Hayti, by F. J. Melville. If the succeeding numbers maintain the standard set up, the paper will be well worth the small sum demanded.

We have not seen it noticed yet that the ½d., green, Victoria, the oblong stamp which has just been superseded, exists with the watermark V and crown, vertically as well as sideways. Dr. G. F Barnes first called our attention to this some weeks ago.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS.

By G. W. J. Potter.

THE Northampton and Banbury Junction Railway being a small company and possessing no rolling-stock of its own, issues only stamps of one value, available for a single newspaper; but these seem to be still procurable in two sizes.

The larger one is printed in black on paper of a purple colour with a vertical green band. The colour of the other paper is lilac, and the stamp is considerably smaller. The general appearance is very similar, but the type is somewhat differently arranged, and the green band is extremely narrow.

Omitting the Letter Fee Stamps the North Staffordshire Railway now issue four values of stamps for their newspaper traffic. That for one newspaper has no value expressed upon it, and it is similar in style to those of other companies; the colour being yellow, with a green band down the centre of each stamp. The others are larger, and have the figure of value shown in colour upon a white ground, the control numbers appearing above in an oblong. The method of numbering is from the top right hand corner of each sheet downwards, continuing thence to the top of the next column.

This company appears to have always numbered and issued its stamps in order; the present figures are about 5,000 for the 3d., 35,000 for the 2d., and 60,000 for the 1d., the one newspaper having c5,000 for its control number. A sheet of the latter consists of 4 rows of 6 stamps; all the others of 4 rows of 3 stamps.

Railway Letter Fee Stamps.

There have only been 5 issues of Letter Fees on this line. The design is the usual type adopted by McCorquodale, London, with floreate ornaments in spandrels, and the classification is much simplified by the use of control numbers.

The issues are as follows:—

2d. yellow green, Nos 1 to 50,000
2d. bright green " 50,001 to 70,000 (unused specimens of this printing are of the greatest rarity.)
2d. dark green, Nos. 70,001 to 100,000 (large controls.)
2d. green, Nos. 100,001 to 130,000 (the earliest stamps of this printing are much darker than the later ones.)
2d. pale yellow green, Nos. 130,001 to 160,000.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

WITH reference to the stamps issued by the insurgents, for postal and telegraphic purposes, the following interesting letter appears in Mekeel's Weekly.

Headquarters Provost Marshal General,
Acting Judge Advocate's office,
Manila, P. I., Jany. 24th, 1899.

Col. E. H. Crowder,
Judge Advocate,
Dept. of Pacific & 8th A. C.,

Sir:

As directed I have the honor to report that about 3 p.m yesterday, Jany. 23rd, 1899, Lieut. Trowbridge of the 13th Minn. Inf., U. S V., reported that he had located a postoffice maintained and run by the Revolutionary government, at No. 11, Sagunto street, in Binondo: That he had gone to the premises accompanied by Corp. Robt. Keliher and privates Hoyt, Furnill and Theissen and there arrested several Filipinos, whose names are hereto attached, in the act of conducting a Post Office for the Philippine government.

He seized all mail matter and brought it to the Provost Marshal's office. Under the direction of General Hughes, the matter was turned over to me for investigation I immediately returned to the premises aforesaid, accompanied by Lieut. Trowbridge, and found his men still in charge. I ordered a thorough search of the premises and report approximately the following property seized: Seventy (70) in Spanish bills. Nine dollars and fifty cents ($9.50) in Spanish coin. Two packages of coin unopened, which I have not as yet opened and counted. Three (3) canceling stamps for the purpose of canceling postage stamps; one bearing the mark 'Correos de Filipinas',—the others are mere characters cut in wood. Two sheets of unused two-cent postage stamps in a small blank book. About seventy (70) letters directed to individuals and stamped. Two (2) packages of newspapers. A large number of official communications, bearing the stamp of the Revolutionary Government and directed to the Secretary of War, the President of the Republic, Secretary of the Interior, and various other officials.

We also seized a record book of mail matter and a number of other blank books having more or less description of mail and telegraphic communications, on the premises.

We placed all parties under arrest, except a Spanish woman who claims to be the wife of Jose Vales, and the telegraph operator who had a written permit, which I now have in my possession, from Col. Thompson, to conduct a telegraph line.

This morning on examining the property captured, it is clearly shown that the Post Office and Telegraph line were all conducted under the head of Communications, and that the stamps of the Revolutionary Government were placed on all telegrams sent, and that telegraph stamps were used indiscriminately on the telegraph blanks.

There is a large quantity of documents in the Spanish and Tagolog languages, of which I have not as yet had opportunity to make full examination, and therefore unable to state exactly what they contain.

While in the office, several parties came in with letters offering to mail same. They were all seized and the owners notified that they could have same by calling at the Provost Marshal General's Office, after the matter had been investigated.

As we were about leaving a servant of Candido Line came in with a letter directed to Dagupan, stamped with a Filipino 2-cent stamp. On investigation, we found that the writer had purchased the stamp at this post office. There are a great many private letters, some of which I have already turned over to you, which shows conclusively that the office has been a basis of the Revolutionary Government within our lines, and that all reports have been made and sent through this office either by mail or telegraph. The following are the names of the parties arrested: Roman Reina, head of office; Pedro Gonzales, Clerk; Juan Hores, traveling post office inspector; Romegio Manabar, administrator; Lino Torres, telegraph operator; Anaclito Coloman, clerk working at desk on mail; Vincente Guttiorez, messenger; Nicolas Sangvya, messenger.

Respectfully,

(Signed) RALPH PLATT,

RAILWAY STAMP.

Cape of Good Hope. Cape Railway Service. An unchronicled value of the Parcel Stamps, 1882 issue, of this Railway has just been received by us. We are told they are printed in sheets of 50, ten rows of 5.

BERAR.

The following extract from a letter from Mr J. H. Lane conveys some very interesting information with regard to the employment of the "native" fiscals for this state. Mr. Lane's brother, Colonel C. T. Lane, was Inspector-General of Stamps, &c., for Berar. He says:

"The 1 anna, blue, square stamp is a "receipt" "stamp The others are ordinary Judicial "stamps, used to make up the odd small "amounts required to supplement the high "value engrossed stamp papers. Thus, if a "Mortgage Deed requires to be written on an "engrossed sheet bearing a 50 rupee stamp, "and has to be made up to say 53 rupees 10 "annas, this would be done by adding a 3 rupees "and a 10 annas adhesive stamp. The stamps "are printed at the Hyderabad Stamp Office "for supply to the Government Treasuries in "Berar. The proper designation for Berar is "Berar (Hyderabad Assigned Districts)."

The two Types of Seychelles.

HEREWITH are reproduced enlargements of the 8c., 10c., 13c., 16c. of the Seychelles stamps which exhibit, broadly speaking, the characters of the two types, although it would seem that while they may be grouped under the two heads, they yet show minor variations of such a character that each value may be said to have its own characteristic features.

It would perhaps be tedious to tabulate all points in detail as has already been done in the cases of the 2c., and 4c., values, but the enlargements may serve to indicate to anyone examining the stamps in what directions to look for the distinctions.

The "line" enlargements of the 2 types of the 2c. will enable anyone to examine exactly how far the differences may be said to justify the writer's notions.

Philately as an Aid to Culture.

VII. IN THE REALM OF NATURE.

INASMUCH as the book of Nature ever lies open to our gaze, it is by no means surprising that the designers of stamps have often turned to it for inspiration. Consequently our series of articles would be incomplete were it concluded without some allusion to what may be learned from philately about the varied forms of animal and vegetable life which exist upon our globe. What an interesting group of postal labels either the zoologist or the botanist can collect in illustration of his particular study! Passing over heraldic emblems and devices, and imaginary creatures such as griffins and Chinese dragons, we can compile a long list of representations from Nature about which the scientific student will desire to know more, with reference to their classification, their characteristics and habits, and the countries to which they belong.

Amongst beasts we have carefully drawn heads of the stag, the ox, the dog, the tiger; and complete pictures of wild cattle, llamas, horses, camels, both the African and the Asiatic elephant, the kangaroo, the gorilla, the lion, the leopard, the buffalo, and a herd of antelopes; while if we extend our investigation to local stamps of Norway and Russia we can add the reindeer, the bear, the wolf, the fox, and probably several more.

Of amphibious things and fishes we may enumerate the beaver, the seal, the crocodile, the hippopotamus, turtles (as a watermark), the codfish, and most singular of all the ornithorhynchus or duck-billed water-mole of Tasmania.

Of birds we have also an interesting assortment—the eagle of the Rocky Mountains, the condor of the Andes, the Tongan parrot, the resplendent trogon of Guatemala, three birds of Japan, another from Cook Islands, several of New Zealand including the odd-looking apteryx or wingless bird, the Argus pheasant, ptarmigan, the emu and the lyre bird, and (as if in refutation of the ancient proverb) the black swan of Western Australia.

From these various living creatures the transition is easy to some of the spheres in which they move and have their being. Several recent issues of pictorial stamps are intended to familiarize us with the mountain, lake, and river scenery of far-off lands. Cascades and waterfalls, soaring peaks, bays and inlets, and the surf breaking upon the shore, are all brought under our review. Palms of many kinds rise up before us: the date, the oil, the cocoa-nut, the bread-fruit, and others, may be distinguished. The orange-tree of South Africa, the pine-apple of the West Indies, branching coral and tempting fruits from the Pacific, and fir-trees of the North, next lay claim to our attention; while the thistle and the rose depicted on various issues of our American Colonies no doubt served to keep fresh in the thoughts of many a settler distant memories of home.

In taking leave of the readers of this Journal it may be well for the writer of these articles to recall the object which he has had in view, viz. to vindicate the claims of philately to a recognized place amongst the fine arts and sciences. Remembering this the true philatelist, in the pursuit of his favourite pastime, will place before all other considerations the acquisition of useful knowledge, the enlargement of his ideas, and the cultivation of his mind. In his Albums he will find stored up for those who know how to read it a most valuable record of contemporary history, manners, customs, and commercial pursuits. They will tell us of international relations; acquaint us with the features of many of those who rule over the peoples, or who shape the destinies of the world; and they will furnish us with pleasant object-lessons in the beauties and wonders of Nature, as well as in the ingenuity, the progress, and the art of Man.

EDITORIAL.

WITH his article in our present number the Rev. E. Bell brings to a conclusion his remarkable series of papers on Philately as an Aid to Culture. That they have been widely appreciated is evidenced by the frequency with which they have been reproduced in other philatelic journals both at home and abroad, and we feel sure we are interpreting the sentiments of our readers in conveying a most hearty vote of thanks to the Reverend gentleman for his valuable contributions. There is no doubt that such side lights on philately tend greatly to the extension and progress of our hobby, for it is within our experience that the pointing out of interesting facts which arise from the contemplation and study of postage labels is a sure means of interesting new recruits in the pursuit and getting them to admit that there is "something in it." We particularly commend the closing words of Mr. Bell's present contribution to the serious consideration of philatelists.

* * * * *

The Federation of the Australian Colonies will have a most important effect on philatelic matters. Africans, we suppose, have been the fashion lately but now Australia will come again to the fore. Moreover it is not only the postal collector who will be interested but the fiscalist also. In our Fiscal chronicle this month will be found the record of a most interesting set of Revenues of Tasmania, of which the new varieties of the Platypus type, perf. 12, are of great interest. We believe that one of the values, at least, has been seen unsurcharged and used postally and possibly the others exist in this condition also. With the surcharge of Revenue it seems they have all been used postally owing to the non coincidence of date of issue and availability as explained in our note. From Victoria, as our readers are aware by the time this number is in their hands, a very interesting series of provisional postage stamps from the old dies has been issued and we may probably expect some new issue of low value Revenue stamps, while the higher values will, we suppose, be no longer available for postal service. In New South Wales apparently no change is necessary, while Queensland will probably require some high value postage stamps and the newly issued 1d. Duty stamp, illustrated in our Fiscal chronicle, is possibly the forerunner of a few low valued fiscals. South Australia seems to require a change in all the values except a few of the low value postage stamps and in Western Australia the fiscals will no longer be available for postage.

* * * * *

We are afraid that the practice of cleaning penmarked fiscals is greatly on the increase. No doubt this is done not so much for defrauding the Revenue as the stamp collector, for in all probability it is chiefly those fiscals that are authorized for postal use that are thus treated in order to postmark them and offer the products as having done postal duty. Especially is this the case with the high value B. S. A., which are now largely on the market. But also, as in the case of Tasmanians and some of the old Italian states, the stamps are regummed and offered as unused. Stamps of both these categories are highly dangerous to the collector and we feel bound, on their behalf, to utter a strong protest when we find an advertisement like the following in the pages of a contemporary.

"SOMETHING interesting about Pen Cancellation.—For 2s 6d in current unused stamps, "I will send post free full particulars concerning a new method to take all pen cancellations "from stamps, and make them look as new. "This method is invaluable to collectors of "fiscal stamps. As a proof of the genuineness "of this offer I will clean free of charge 3 stamps, "but 5d for return postage must be enclosed. "My process will not clean stamps with fugitive "colours such as stamps of Russia. Address—

Inasmuch as such cleaned stamps may be used to defraud the Revenue we may leave the matter to be dealt with by the police and in the United States there have been recently several convictions for such practices, but no philatelic paper which professes to have the interests of collectors at heart should accept such an advertisement.

NEVIS FISCALS.

MR. E. D. BACON has shown us some varieties not catalogued by Mr. White in his article in our last number. They are as follows:—

1878. Postage issue of 1867 Engraved. Perf. 15. Hand-stamped "Revenue." with stop. 1s., yellow-green.

1878. Postage issue of 1878. Lithographed. Perf. 15. Hand-stamped "Revenue"

A. With stop 4d., orange.
B. Without stop. 4d, orange.

Mr Bacon also submits a copy of No. 20 obliterated "4. 1. 83" so that the date of issue of the fiscals with wmk. Crown CA. must be put back at least a year.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By "K."

MIDLAND GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY OF IRELAND.

I NOW come to the above line, whose stamps are very little known to collectors or catalogue makers, and the classification of of whose many issues has afforded a very difficult, though interesting, task. My appeal in the January number failed to produce a single specimen of the rare "Arms" issues, but brought to light specimens of two other issues whose existence had previously been altogether unsuspected! These, however, have served as links to complete the chain, and the order of issue given below is probably the correct one.

On the 1st of August, 1868, parcels were first conveyed between all stations on this line, irrespective of distance, if prepaid by affixing the Company's stamps, at the reduced (!) rate of 4d. (up to 2 lbs.), 6d. (2 to 7 lbs.), and 1/- (7 to 21 lbs.)

The above rates did not include collection or delivery, and if the sender required a parcel to be delivered in Dublin a "Delivery Stamp" of 2d. extra had to be affixed at the time of forwarding. This was in the shape of a red surcharge "Delivery paid, 2d. extra." Parcels not prepaid by adhesive stamp were charged at the ordinary parcels rates. The early issues bore the arms of the company, but exception was taken to this, so that on a series of stamps being required for the new lines to Ennis and Tuam, the arms were left out of the design. About the same time (1872) the delivery of parcels within certain limits was included in the original forwarding fee, and other special labels were introduced for specified purposes.

On the 31st March, 1883, a revised list of parcels rates was issued, owing to the introduction of parcels post, and the prepayment of parcels by adhesive stamp discontinued.

Fig. 1.

Issue 1. 1868. Medium rect., 44 x 36 mm. Arms of company in centre, surrounded by garter inscribed with name of railway. Large controls at top, directions at sides, and figure of value, weight, and the words "exclusive of delivery" at bottom. The printing is in black type, and the garter has a pointed end and a clearly drawn buckle. Perf. 11. Fig. 1.

4d. black on white.
6d. black on green.

The 1/- value doubtless exists.

Issue 2. 1870? Somewhat similar, but the printing is in ordinary type, the buckle indistinct and the end of the garter square. Perf. 12½.

6d. black on green.

FORGED PHILIPPINE BILL STAMPS.

THE stamps imitated belong to the issue which, I believe, immediately followed that listed by Moens under date 1888, from which it differs only by being printed in red—specimens before me were cancelled in 1891.

Forgery.

Genuine.

Thus far the only forgeries seen are of the 50 c. de peso and 5 pesos, and I have come across two or three of each value. It must be admitted that the imitation is remarkably close for work of this kind, but the most tell-tale signs are not brought out prominently in a photo. I was led to the discovery by the pale colour of a specimen, followed by the immediate recognition of a non-official perforation, but these two features appear to vary considerably. On close inspection the copied design will be found wanting in sharpness of outline at all points of the tracery surrounding the name, and another clue is afforded by the little flower in the lowest division of the shield which takes up less space in the forgery than in the original.

A. P. P.

* * * * *

FROM the Metropolitan Philatelist we learn that the U.S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue has ordered a new series of stamps for use on cigarette packages and packages of cigars to be issued. The alteration will be the insertion of the words "Act of March 3, 1901" in place of "Act of June, 1898." The denominations, colour and design will remain as at present.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Ceylon. Mr. A. B de l'Argentière has shown us an unchronicled surcharge which we illustrate 25 cents, black sur. on 50 rupees marone.

Great Britain. We have to chronicle a Telegraph Form which is not mentioned in our publisher's catalogue

1/-, green, wove, 40 words (back plain), "Millington and Hutton" on front in one line, Die 7. 4/8/74.

Mr Thos. Greaves has shown us a Telegraph form of a variety chronicled in our Nov. No of last year but imperf instead of rouletted.

6d, lilac, (Harrison and Sons), Die 4, 2/9/85, imperf.

Submarine Telegraph Co. Mr. T. P. Dorman has shown us a hitherto unknown provisional of this Company. It is the 8/- lilac, surcharged in purple, TEMPORARY STAMP—4 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.—FOUR—PENCE HALF PENNY in five lines. The 1 of the fraction $\frac{1}{2}$ is in Roman character. The stamp is on bluish paper and perf. 12½.

4½d., on 8/-, lilac on bluish, perf. 12½.

India. We are indebted to Mr. W. Corfield for a copy of the new 2 rupees Telegraph stamp, of which we give an illustration.

2 rupees, bright yellow, wmk. Crown, perf. 14.

Nicaragua. Mr. J. S. Rich sends us the current 10c. postage stamp surcharged "Telegrafos" with a hand stamp in violet, as in our illustration. Probably other values have been similarly treated.

10c., mauve, sur. Telegrafos.

Spain. According to Ewen's Weekly this country has just issued a special set of stamps for Telegraphic purposes, for which therefore the postage stamps will no longer be available. The design has for a centre-piece, coat of arms on a shield surmounted by a crown. A spray of leaves and berries appears on each side of the shield. At the top, in a scroll, is the inscription "TELEGRAFOS" and at the base the value appears. The stamps are all numbered on the back in blue figures in the same manner as the current postage set. The values and colours are :—

5 cent.,	black.	50 cent.,	red
10 ,,	blue	1 peseta,	dark blue.
15 ,,	chesnut.	4 ,,	dark rose.
30 ,,	violet.	10 ,,	green.

United States. Northern New York Telegraph Co. Through the kindness of Messrs H. E. Deats and J. S. Rich we are enabled to illustrate the stamps of this Company mentioned in our number for December last.

Postal Telegraph Co. Mr. A. E. Lawrence informs us that the colour of the stamp of 1898 chronicled in our December number is pink, with red control. He also adds the following :

1900. No value, blue, red control. Perf. 12.

Date? No value, black on rose, with word "SUPTS" in lieu of date, for Superintendent's use. Perf. 12.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Argentine Republic. Documents. Prof. Dobranich informs us that the annual series for 1901 has appeared. It is of the usual type with date altered and ranges from 5c. to 500 pesos. The list of colours as far as is at present known is :—

5c., blue.	50c., carmine
10c., light-brown.	60c., blue-green.
20c., yellow-green.	70c., carmine.
25c., green.	75c., dark-bistre.
30c., sky-blue.	80c., orange.
40c., violet.

The only values sold to the public are the 5c. for "Receipts", the 20c. for "Powers of Attorney", the 50c. for "Petitions" and the 5 pesos for Public Accountants, Experts and Translators. All others must be cancelled on the documents before leaving the Stamp office.

Newfoundland. The 10c. Revenue stamp chronicled in our March No. is evidently the forerunner of a new pictorial series. We have received three more values, without wmk., and perf. 11. We annex illustrations.

1c., blue.
2c., rose.
5c., brown.

Just as we go to press we hear from Mr. A. P. Pearce that a doubt has arisen as to the genuineness of these stamps and that they may turn out to be "bogus" varieties. Enquiries are being made the result of which we will announce in due course.

Orange River Colony. The Fiscal stamps with surcharge V.R I and the value are now beginning to come over. We have received the values mentioned below. Evidently there are different printings of these stamps as in the case of the postage stamps and probably numerous minor varieties to be discovered. The surcharge is of the same type as on the postage stamps.

(a) With level stops. V.R.I.
5s., carmine.
£1, red-lilac.
£5, green.
(b) With raised stops V·R·I·
6d., grey.

(c) Surcharged V.R·I. Stop after "R" raised.
1s., brown-violet.
(d) Surcharge V·R.I. Stop after "V" raised.

Queensland. We illustrate the new Duty Stamp chronicled last month.

Siam. From a gentleman, who is not a stamp collector, we have received a stamp of the design of the accompanying illustration, which he has had in his possession for some years and which is stated to be a fiscal stamp issued by the Agricultural Department. It is printed in lake and perf. 14. Can any of our friends read the inscription and declare unto us the interpretation thereof?

Tasmania. As several of our contempories have announced one consequenc eof the Australian Federation is that for the present at any rate the Postal Revenue will go to the Federation and the Fiscal Revenue (or a certain portion of it) to the various provinces. This necessitates a return to the old system of keeping stamps for fiscal purposes distinct from those for postage and one or two Colonies have now effected such a separation. From this Colony we have received the following stamps surcharged REVENUE in small caps., 15 x 1½ mm. and they will no longer be available for postage, although a few have passed the post owning to the fact that the law retricting them to Fiscal use did not come into force until a day or so after the stamps had been issued.

6d., lilac „ „ „ perf. 12.
1s., rose-pink „ „ „ perf. 12.
2s. 6d, carmine, St. George and Dragon, wmk. 1 imperf., and perf. 12½

10s., orange, St. George and Dragon, wmk, 1 perf. 12½.
£1. green and yellow, wmk. TAS. perf. 14.

This is said to be a complete set. It is to be specially noted that the 1d. 6d. and 1/-, Platypus type are perf 12, which perforation has not yet been recorded on these stamps without the surcharge. Moreover the 1d. is printed in a decided blue instead of slate and all the three values seem to be printed from a new die with a blank space for the value which is apparently put in by a separate printing, as some specimens show it in a different shade to the rest of the stamp and it is out of register on all the specimens we have seen.

United States. Mr. A E. Lawrence reports some minor varieties of the current Revenues:

Mosquito Reserve, Nicaragua.

THE territory known as the Mosquito Coast extends along the Eastern or Carribean Coast of Nicaragua from Greytown to Cape Gracias à Dios, 10° 30′ to 15° N. lat., and for about 40 miles inland. It has an interesting history.

In 1630 King Charles the First granted to a company, of whom the Earl of Warwick was chairman and John Pym, treasurer, two small Islands off the Mosquito Coast, S. of Cape Gracias à Dios, Providence and Henrietta. The Company lasted for eleven years and established a trading station on the mainland. The settlers so engratiated themselves with the natives that the King of the Mosquitos sent his son to England for three years, in order to acquire a wider knowledge of the English people. Soon after the conquest of Jamaica in 1655, this son, who was now king, placed himself and his people under the protection of Great Britain, and acknowledged the sovereignty of the English Crown in the person of the Governor of Jamaica. The friendship between the British and the natives continued in succeeding years and when war broke out between Spain and Great Britain in 1739 a fresh treaty of alliance was concluded whereby the King of the Mosquitos helped the British against the Spaniards. In 1749 British sovereignty was more clearly manifested by the appointment, by the Governor of Jamaica, of a British Officer to superintend the settlement on the Mosquito shore, and in 1779 a more regular administration was established in the form of an administrative Council and several Courts of Law. This state of things continued till 1850 when England resigned, in accordance with the terms of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, all claims to the Mosquito Coast and in 1860 the protectorate was ceded absolutely to Nicaragua, with the stipulation that the Indians should enjoy self government under the sovereignty of the Republic. The Reserve continues to be ruled over by a chief elected by the natives and assisted by an administrative Council, which assembles at Bluefields, the capital of the territory.

This self governing province has recently found need for some Revenue stamps and about 18 months ago, the exact date being unknown, three stamps of the handsome design illustrated herewith, appeared. A curious point to notice is the fact that the inscription appears in English which is probably due to the long continued British influence in this quarter. The stamps are beautifully engraved, on thick wove paper and perf. 12. The denominations and colours are 5c., vermilion.

10c., deep violet.
25c., deep blue.

Besides these, however, Mr. Terrett has found an imperf. pair of 10 cents, printed in dark green, with full gum. This may be only a proof, but Mr. Terrett is of opinion that it is an issued stamp.

10c., dark green. (Proof, ?)

These are all the stamps of the Reserve that are at present known, but it seems likely that higher values exist and perhaps these few remarks may induce collectors to look for them.

East African Jottings.

ON the extreme east of Africa, stretching south east of Aden far out into the Indian Ocean, is a vast peninsular, whose broad coast plains are backed by high table lands, and whose inhabitants are wandering Arabs, called Somalis.

To the simple minded stamp collector, (I cannot call him philatelist,) who regards all issues as neccessary, glories in a set of Abyssinians and despises not the wonderful provisional productions of the French Colonies, it must be a veritable Eldorado, for to the west are the mountains of Abyssinia, where an impending change of currency is sure to bring forth all sorts of weird labels: to the south the German "Sphere of influence" in East Africa, and to the North the towns of Obock and and Jibouti. The French have abandoned the former and use Jibouti instead as their Somali port, and all the stamps of both places are employed there indiscriminately. Five fifty franc stamps will pay for a special camel from Jibouti to Harrar and prepay the answer. There have been no special postage stamps issued so far in the British Protectorate of Somaliland; the currency is in Rupees, 15 of which go to the sovereign, and, as in Aden, Indian stamps are used. These can only be distinguished by the Berbera postmark, a large B in a circle of horizontal lines, 2 above, 2 below, and 4 on each side of the letter: but for fiscal purposes a special issue is necessary, and the current Indian "Government" stamp has accordingly been surcharged BRITISH SOMALILAND in two lines of block capitals, while a somewhat similar, but smaller surcharge, has also been applied to the following values of the Indian Court Fee Series.

1, 2, 4, 8, Annas, 1, 2, 3 and 5 Rupees.*

The Foreign Office having now taken over the Somali coast from the Indian office, it is probable that Indian stamps will shortly cease to be used. I am informed the Colonial office in turn is soon to have final control of the district, so we shall most likely see a full fledged set, of De la Rue type, issued under its auspices. K.

WATERFORD, LIMERICK, AND WESTERN RAILWAY.

Transfer Fee. In May, 1894, a 2/6 stamp in rose, imperf. of the design which we illustrate, was issued by the Waterford and Limerick Railway Co. The issue consisted of 1000 stamps. In Feb. 1898 this was replaced by a stamp of nearly similar design and colour, but with the name of the Railway Co. altered to the Waterford, Limerick and Western Railway Co. The latter is now obsolete, the line having been taken over by the Midland Great Western of Ireland Railway Co.

*Our contributor has submitted specimens of the stamps he describes. The surcharge on the 1 Anna "Revenue" stamp is in block letters 3 mm high. The word BRITISH is 6 mm. in length and SOMALILAND, 19 mm. The surcharge on the Court Fee stamps is on the large oblong issue of 1883. On the 1a., there is a double bar through the word INDIA 6½mm. long; the word BRITISH measures 9 mm. and SOMALILAND 14½ mm. the height of the block letters used being 2 mm.

EDITORIAL.

ON another page will be found an important and interesting document issued by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue relative to the discontinuance of certain "dies" for postage and certain other revenue purposes. By the word "dies" it is evident that stamps printed from the dies are meant since, as far as we are aware, the use of the dies mentioned in the document has already been discontinued for some time. Practically all postage stamps except the current issue (and the 2/- stamps!) are henceforward no longer utilizable for postage, while with regard to fiscals, it seems as if in addition to the ordinary Receipt or Draft stamps all the adhesive Medicine labels, perhaps unintentionally, are included in the words "all dies in use previously to the 1st day of January, 1887, having the words "Inland Revenue thereon." The document does not however state definitely that the stamps are demonetized and as there appeared to be considerable doubt on the point we wrote to Somerset House and received a reply "that allowance of the stamps "which will become useless on June 1st can be "claimed at any time within 6 months of that "date under the provisions of the Stamp Duties Management Act, 1891.

Hence after the lapse of six months the stamps in question will no longer be cashed under the regulations now in force. Of course this is of no particular moment philatelically. It will perhaps make collectors hesitate to keep copies of the current £5 stamps unused, in case they should be likewise demonetized when the current issue is replaced by "King's heads," but probably they have nothing to fear. It may, however, have the effect of putting a few more copies of old English stamps in mint state in the collector's way. For we are rather astonished to understand that, even in these days when stamp collectors are everywhere, old stamps are received almost every day at Somerset House, duly cashed (minus the discount) and then ruthlessly destroyed. The result of demonetization will surely divert these "strays" into the philatelic fold.

Mr. White writes to us to say that he has seen a copy of the Nevis error of surcharge "Revnue" on the 1d. lilac of 1881, No. 17 in his article which appeared in April last.

Our readers will be glad to hear that our late editor, Mr. Preston Pearce, has recently received an important, and no doubt well deserved, promotion in his profession. While congratulating him on his success we are sorry to learn that he will no longer be able, owing to the increase of work thus put upon him, to continue the Secretaryship of the Fiscal Stamp Exchange. We have not yet heard who is to be his successor in that important post.

As Amercian fiscals are highly popular with fiscal collectors in general, no doubt our readers will be interested in the following list of prices obtained at a recent auction in that country. We are indebted for our information to the Weekly Philatelic Era. The prices in brackets after the description are catalogue prices.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

MIDLAND GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY OF IRELAND.—Continued.

ISSUE 3. 1872? Garter similar to 2nd issue; figure of value in centre, and the words "Includes Delivery in Dublin within Circular-road" are added, below the weight, at the bottom of the stamp. The controls are of medium size and the paper very thick. The probable arrangement of sheet was in 4 rows of 5. Perf. 12½. Fig. 2.

4d., black on white.

Fig. 2.

The only known block of this stamp is doubly perforated vertically.

Issue 4. 1873? Large rect. 56 x 38 mm. Figure of value in centre, in circular band containing conditions as to weight. Large controls at top, and the words "Available between any station on the Midland Great Western and any station on Athenry and Ennis Junction Railways." Various conditions and directions at both sides and bottom. Printed in black on the same thick paper as the preceding issue, in sheets of 8 (2 rows of 4) Number of sheet at right top corner. Perf. 12½.

9d.	"	7 "	"	"
1/6	"	21 "	"	"
2/-	"	28 "	"	"

NOTE. A peculiar error occurred in numbering the 9d. sheet, 251 was numbered 1997, 8, 9, 2000, 2005, 6, 7, 8, while numbers 2001, 2, 3, and 4 were printed and numbered in a separate strip.

Issue 4a. The 6d. and 9d were quickly used up, the latter, especially, being a scarce stamp. A fresh printing was therefore made, on thin paper, and from a slightly altered die; the controls are smaller and the letters LBS in the circular band are uneven.

The 6d. was printed in sheets of 30, 6 rows of 5, and the 9d. in sheets of 28, 4 rows of 7, and the number of the sheet was in both cases above the centre stamp of the top row. Perforation same as preceding.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS.

By G. W. J. POTTER.

IN the Isle of Wight there are two distinct Railway Companies, each of which now issues railway stamps. The Isle of Wight Railway Company has none for parcels but only uses the Letter Fee Stamps, thus following in the footsteps of several small companies, both in England and Ireland. The stamps are of a bright green colour, perf. 12, and are found in sheets of 12, 3 rows of 4.

The other company rejoices in the name of The Isle of Wight Central, Freshwater, Yarmouth & Newport, & Newport, Godshill & St. Lawrence Railways; but the first phrase is amply sufficient to distinguish it from the other company. The Letter Fee Stamps are printed by McCorquodale upon extremely thin paper, and are of a similar design to those in use on the L. and N. W. R. They were brought into use on 24th February, 1899. The colour is a dull green, and the stamps are found in sheets of 12, 3 rows of 4. They are rouletted as is usual with this type. The number of the sheet is written in red ink at the top. For parcels, &c., a stamp is used which is very similar to the newspaper parcel stamps of the L. & S. W. R. The colour is of a very pale lilac tint, and the stamps are contained, I believe in 2 panes of a sheet, three rows of four going to each pane. Their use is not restricted to to the franking of newspapers, but they are used for the prepayment of all kind of parcel work. There is only one value, the threepenny; and there is evidently not much demand for them, as at present the control number is only about 1540 and they have been in use for at least five years. A rather unusual circumstance may be noted on these stamps: the name of the lithographer, MARDONS BRISTOL occurs in colour at the foot of each.

Germany. Dr. F. Kalckhoff kindly sends us the following translation of an official notice with reference to the issue of a new series of bill stamps for this country. We illustrate the lowest value.

ORDINANCE OF THE FEDERAL COUNCIL ("BUNDESRAT") OF 8TH OF MARCH 1901, being legal from April 1st, 1901.

In future there will be issued Bill Stamps of the values O, 10; O, 20; O, 30; O, 40; O, 50; 1; 1,50; 2; 2,50; 3; 3,50; 4; 4,50; 5; 10; 15; 20; 25; 30; and 50 marks and stamped bill forms at O,10 Mark.

The stamps are oblong. The values from O,10 to O,50 mark are identical with the stamps of the issue of 1900 (without date); those from 1 to 5 marks are printed in blue. They bear in the left upper corner the imperial eagle in a shield from which projects a two-pointed ribbon with the legend "Deutscher Wechsel-Stempel" (German bill stamp). The stamps from 10 to 50 marks are printed in green and red, they bear the imperial eagle and above it and repeatedly on the border the same legend. The amount of the stamp and the sum of the bill corresponding to that amount are always printed in black.

The forms have a stamp impressed in green.

The old stamps may still be used up to October 1st and then exchanged for new ones up to April 1st, 1902.

India. Court Fee. Mr. A. B. Kay has shown us one of the high values in a new colour. 200 rupees, slate-grey, wmk. Crown and India, perf. 14.

Mr. W. Morley has also received some unchronicled varieties of the U.S. Occupation stamps. They are as follows :—

Philately in Japan.

YOKOHAMA is by far the largest European settlement in Japan, and it is here that most visitors to this island Empire make their headquarters. Among both visitors and foreign residents there seemed to be a large number of stamp collectors, a great percentage of whom collect, specialize, or 'accumulate' Japanese stamps only. The novice usually goes through the local pitfalls being first induced to buy a "complete set of Japanese Stamps" which subsequently a kind friend of more or less experience points out are absolutely bogus. The next purchase of the novice may consist of a sheet made up of fiscals with a few of the commonest postage stamps. Other pitfalls consist of "facsimiles" where the Japanese characters denoting that word are cleverly covered by a bogus postmark. Lastly there are the clever forgeries hailing from various countries besides Japan that deceive dealers and collectors who are not thoroughly experienced. No doubt it is the presence of initial difficulties that help to give zest to the collecting of Japanese stamps, while the knowledge that the varieties to be found of paper, perforations, and plate numbers (so called by Europeans) were certainly not made for the benefit of collectors, encourages one to persevere with the complex variations of this difficult country.

While in Japan I found innumerable shopkeepers in Yokohama that sold stamps but none of them, except a wizened little old man by name Takahashi, had any stock to speak of and many sold only on commission. Takahashi allowed me to go through his stock in my search for varieties, a privilege accorded to few—the ordinary customer having only certain prepared sheets or books set before him to select from. This was apparently in return for showing him my collection of Japs, which the little man at once took an interest in and he did from that day all he could to complete it for me, needless to say, to our mutual advantage. Conversation was most limited between us—he knew but little English, and I still less Japanese. How he did it I really don't know, but, one day, somehow or other, he inculcated into me the fact that the next afternoon there was to be a stamp auction at Tokio, and, if I went by a certain train he would meet me at Tokio station and conduct me to it. I jumped at the suggestion and promised to arrive by the appointed train.

During the short journey next day I wondered what I was going to see. I had been to a few auctions in London, but could scarcely imagine them conducted by Japanese in Japanese costume in a Japanese house.

At Tokio station was waiting Takahashi, "my guide, interpreter, and friend."

Certainly "my friend" if for no other reason that he that afternoon invariably introduced me to his brother dealers as "my friend" and completed the introduction in Japanese. He had evidently just learnt these two English words and was very proud of the progress he was making in the English language. We got into ricksha's and a long ride it seemed. These conveyances are in Japan made for 4½ foot Japs and not for 6 foot Englishmen, with a result that can be imagined. At last we stopped opposite an ordinary looking tea house and glad enough was I to get down. This was not a tea house of "ten thousand joys" as seen nowhere except on the English stage—no, it was a common or garden tea house in the heart of Tokio with no gardens, fountains, lanterns, geisha, &c., but it did contain—if only for that afternoon—stamps. I followed Takahashi upstairs to a room outside of which were some dozen pairs of Japanese shoes. "My friend" soon slipped his sandals off while I unshod myself as soon as possible according to Japanese custom. In the room were the owners of the shoes we saw outside. They were all seated, or rather squatted, on the floor in a ring round the room. All rose and greeted us politely, while Takahashi, I presume, explained in his native tongue who I was. We both took places in the ring and Takahashi passed me what in England would be called a lacquered ash tray. On the convex side of these trays was written the bidder's name, while the concave side was reserved for the amount the owner wished to bid for any lot as it was put up. One of the company had been elected president, and he did all the important work. He called upon the man whose lot was to be put up next. The lot might be a single stamp or 50,000—whatever it was it was placed in the centre of the circle or passed round. Each bidder wrote the amount he was willing to bid on his tray which was then placed concave side down so that none could see another's bid. The trays, being all the same size were collected, and given in a neat pile to the President. He soon found the highest bid, announced the amount and the name of the bidder. The plates were then redistributed and all was ready for the next lot.

When a man had secured a lot by a very small margin only, he was congratulated and probably stood drinks, not a very expensive entertainment this, as the beverage was either tea or beer in tea cups. On the contrary, if an unfortunate found a lot knocked down to him and was told by the president that the next highest bid was far below his he was chaffed most thoroughly by all present for his want of knowledge of the market value.

Under the influence of beer and tea all the company got very happy, and apparently good prices ruled that day. Takahashi was very busy buying, for the most part rubbish. But that was his business. Towards the end a dealer came in who spoke English well. I asked him if they knew the English method of holding auctions. He replied that they did and had tried it, but it was unsuccessful because in their excitement of bidding one against another they paid so much for their lots that they were not only unable to realize any subsequent profit but instead often suffered a loss.

I left before the finish without "my friend" who was still bidding. All present came and said good bye, and presented me with their cards and hoped I would visit their shops. This I subsequently did with varying success.

The vast majority of the lots were the present and last issues done up in hundreds and sold by tens of thousands. They realised very poor prices. Evidently the "Continentals" of the far east. Better class Japs fetched very good prices indeed and I was told that they mostly went to America where there were more demand for them than anywhere else. The knowledge of local dealers usually did not go as deep as "plate numbers." If they had for instance any 6 sen violet for sale they asked so much each and you took which you wanted. Of perforations they appeared to know nothing. Very nice for the first collector who looked through a lot!

On my way back I wondered with what success the introduction of the Japanese fashion of holding stamp auctions into England would be attended. Would you not like to see it tried?

The Postage Stamps of Tonga.

(BRITISH PROTECTORATE.)

By Walter Morley.

TONGA, the chief Island of the Friendly Isles, lies in the South Pacific, on the S.W. limits of the area occupied by the Polynesian race—about 350 miles S.S.W. from Samoa and 250 E.S.E. Fiji.

During the long civil wars in the early part of the last century, the various chiefs became independent, but they were all gradually subdued and the whole group of islands united under King George, a very remarkable man, and far in advance of his people. He has during a long reign made the most of these advantages. He commuted for a money payment the service due from the common people to their chiefs whom he assembled in a sort of parliament, having in 1862 established a "constitutional government." Taxation is heavy, a poll tax of 4 dollars is levied and strictly enforced. It is not known if any special revenue stamps have been issued for this purpose and information on this point would be welcome.

The islands continued up till 1899 to be a neutral region in accordance with the Declaration of Berlin, April 6, 1886, but British interests have long been predominant and by the Anglo-German Agreement of Nov. 14, 1899, subsequently accepted by the United States, foreign rights were withdrawn in favour of Great Britain and finally a British Protectorate was proclaimed over Tonga on May 19, 1900.

Postage Stamps were first issued in 1886—the first set bearing head of King and the words "Postage and Revenue." The perforations are given as 12 and 12½ by Scott and 12½, 12 x 11½, and 11½ by Gibbons. A special study of these stamps will well repay any collector with varieties of perforation, surcharge and shade and I venture to place on paper a list of such as are found by myself after a careful study of such stock as I have been able to gather from all quarters during the past few years. It is quite possible other varieties exist in the different perforations, but I only give such as I have actually seen.

1st Sept. 1886.* Head of King George to left in oval band inscribed TONGA POSTAGE AND REVENUE in the upper part and the value in full in the lower. On white paper. Wmk. NZ and star.

(e) Perf. 11½ x 12.

The 1d., perf. 12½ is very scarce, especially in unused condition, and all values, perf. 11½ are not easy to find. I have only found two values perf. 12, whilst the variety perf. 11½ x 12 is uncommon and previously unrecorded.

23rd Nov. 1891. The 1d. and 2d. stamps surcharged respectively FOUR PENCE. and EIGHT PENCE. in two lines in thick black block letters.

*The Catalogues generally give 1887 as the date of issue of these stamps, but the Philatelic Record for March 1892 states that the date here given is the correct one and this has also been adopted in the last edition of Moens. [Ed.]

Varieties:

1d., ,, With four Stars.

The stars on these stamps were inserted in order to prevent the unauthorized surcharge of these stamps with "fourpence" and "eightpence" respectively, the varieties are not often seen and are probably under-valued in the Catalogues.

Above the oval is a label bearing the word TONGA. Value in figures in upper corners and in words on a straight label at the base. The other values bear a three-quarter face portrait of King George to right in place of the Arms in centre, otherwise they are similar. Wmk. NZ and star.

Discoveries.

ANTIGUA. A copy of the 1d. long rect, blue and indigo, STAMP DUTY has been submitted to us, bearing a black surcharge in small block caps. POSTAGE AND REVENUE in two lines on the lower panel bearing the words ONE PENNY, and a black bar through the words STAMP DUTY in lower label. It professes to be postally used, having both the ordinary A02 postmark, as well as a date stamp with ANTIGUA—JAN ? 86. The postmarks appear genuine, and one is decidely over the surcharge, but we are not satisfied with the surcharge, the letters of which are somewhat irregular in size. Further information is desirable with regard to this stamp.

Austrian Levant. We have found a copy of the 3 sld., emerald green, perf. 9½ of 1883 without full stop after "sld".

Greece. We have received from Dr. Bishop some copies of current Greek stamps roughly perf. 9 to 9½, large holes. The stamps were purchased by him at a village Post Office during a visit to the country in the autumn of last year. We suppose that this is an unofficial perf. The stamps in question are

5 lepta, pale green.	20 lepta, pale rose.
10 ,, dull orange.	20 ,, sur. in black, on 25l., dull blue.

It is curious to note the two latter stamps on sale simultaneously. Philatelists can draw their own conclusions as to the necessity of the recent flood of surcharges emanating from this country.

Holland. We have a copy of the 1c., green, Numeral in circle, of 1877-95, perf. 12½, on undoubtedly laid paper.

EDITORIAL.

WE are compelled to say a few words this month with regard to the progress of our Catalogue of South American fiscals. With the accompanying Supplement the fiscals of the Argentine Republic come to an end and we now have to deal with the very complex and difficult series of the Provinces and Municipalities of that Republic. First of all comes up the question of arrangement. The fact that many of the Municipalities bear the same name as that of the Province in which they are situated is very perplexing to the beginner on his first attempt to arrange his stamps. With a view to helping him in this matter and by the way to emphasize the educational value of our hobby we have been at considerable trouble in providing a map, whereon will be found clearly marked all the Provinces and Municipalities issuing Revenue stamps, the latter with one or two exceptions, which, after a fruitless endeavour to locate with the information at our disposal, we had to abandon. Then as far as the catalogue is concerned, after careful consideration we have come to the conclusion that the most logical procedure will be to take the Provinces first in alphabetical order, and then the Municipalities, giving cross-references in those cases where they have the same names. This arrangement will suit those collectors, who collect the fiscals of the Provinces, but not those of the Municipalities, so that such a one will find all the material he requires consecutively, and can ignore the third section entirely.

We gratefully acknowledge the continued support of various fiscalists but we shall always welcome particulars of stamps not recorded in any of the existing lists from any of our readers. In the portion of the Catalogue on which we are now entering a great deal of information is required on such matters as the colours of the higher valued stamps of the annual series of Buenos Ayres, &c., and with a view of completeness as far as possible we hope for assistance from a wider circle of philatelists.

The Annual General Meeting of the International Philatelists' Union was held on the 5th June and was very well attended. After the conclusion of the business the meeting resolved itself into a kind of informal Conversazione and some fine stamps were shown by various members. One of the most interesting items was a beautiful strip of three Ceylon Telegraphs, 80c. surcharged on 5 rupees orange, in mint state, the centre stamp being the error "00" in place of "80." This stamp we had not seen before; it is Type 115 in our publisher's catalogue. Major Laffan was the fortunate possessor. The same gentleman showed a number of other surcharged Ceylon Telegraphs in mint state.

* * * * *

There seems to be a great stir among our neighbours across the Channel in the direction of fiscal collecting lately. The leading French paper La Revue Philatélique Française has discovered that there is a large and increasing number of collectors of fiscals in that country, and proposes in future to devote a special section to cater for their needs. In a recent part appears a translation of Mr. Pearce's article on the "Provisional Fiscal Issues of the American Occupation of the Philippines," with the illustrations, from our March number, and further communications on fiscal matters are invited. This is a development which all fiscalists will be glad to see and it will have a valuable effect on the cultivation of this branch of the science of philately.

* * * * *

Mr. A. B. Kay is to take over the Secretaryship of the Fiscal Exchange Club vacated by Mr. Pearce, and the latter gentleman bespeaks for the new secretary the continued support and co-operation of the members which we cordially endorse.

* * * * *

In the House of Commons the other day Mr. Austen Chamberlain stated that the designs for the new postage stamps had been approved, but it has not been settled yet whether the 1d stamp is to appear in red or not. We should have thought that the resolution of the Postal Union Conference settled this matter.

* * * * *

Some further discussion appears in the June number of Stamps relative to the Order of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue on the discontinuance of certain dies of British stamps, which we gave in full last month. It appears that in answer to an enquiry as to whether Registration envelopes of obsolete varieties were to be included in the recent demonetization, the authorities replied that "the demonetization of certain dies only relates to Mulready envelopes and adhesive stamps." Our contemporary concludes that the old stamped envelopes are therefore still available. We mentioned last month that the 2/- adhesive stamps are not demonetized, but we ought to have referred to the 8d. stamp as also coming under this category. It does not seem to have been generally noticed that these two values still remain available.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

MIDLAND GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY OF IRELAND.—Continued.

ISSUE 5. 1873? Same design as last, but inscription reads "for any station on Athenry and Tuam Railway." The 6d. and 9d. are similar in every way to issue 4a, and the three higher values to issue 4, with the exception that the latter were printed in sheets of 12, 3 rows of 4, with the sheet number above the second stamp, and all 5 values have two red lines printed diagonally across the stamp. Perf. 12½.

6d., 9d., 1/2 (under 14 lbs.), 1/6, 2/-, black and red on white.

Fig. 3.

Issue 6. 1874.? Similar in size, design, and inscription to issue 3: the chief point of difference is the garter, which has a square end, brought down round and over the band, so as to hang loosely in front of it. There are 4 values, printed in black on coloured paper, and perf. 12½. Fig 3.

4d., black on white, under 2lbs. Sheets of 30, 6 rows of 5.

6d, black on green, under 7lbs. Sheets of 30, 6 rows of 5.

9d., black on pink, under 14lbs. Sheets of 28, 7 rows of 4.

1/-, black on buff, under 21lbs. Sheets of 30, 6 rows of 5.

NOTE. The stamps of this issue were in use for many years, and interesting varieties abound. The earlier printings were on the thick paper of the 3rd and 4th issues, and in different shades to the later which were on thin paper. The 6d. is known both with and without controls, and the 9d without, and also with written controls, as well as printed ones. One stamp in every sheet of the 4d. has the full stop after lbs. omitted. Errors in the control numbers are of frequent occurrence, these, in many cases being printed above one another. The number of the sheet is in the centre of the top margin.

Sarawak. From Stamps we gather that certain provisionals, followed by a permanent set of Revenue stamps, have appeared here. The provisionals consist of the Postage Stamps of 1889-91 and 1898 surcharged with large Roman capital "R" covering the profile, and the inscription "REVENUE ONLY" in very small Roman cap, reading upwards and covering the word "POSTAGE."

3c., lilac and blue.	25c., green and brown.
5c., lilac and green.	50c., green.
10c., green and violet.	1$, green and black.

Variety: with "R" only.
3c., lilac and blue.

Permanent issue. Same portrait as that of the 1889-91 postals to left in an ornamented oval "SARAWAK" above and "REVENUE" below in straight lines, and at base a solid tablet of a different colour bearing the value in white figures and caps.

3c., lilac and bright red.
5c., ,, ,, green.
10c., ,, violet.

Tasmania. Our publisher submits the 1/- Platypus type, rose pink, perf. 12, with the surcharge REVENUE inverted.

Transvaal. The surcharged 1/- Cape of Good Hope Revenue stamp chronicled last month turns out to be a Telegraph Stamp (see "Telegraph Chronicle") The 1/- V.R.I. Transvaal Revenue is therefore probably still current. We have now before us the 2/- and 2/6 surcharged V.R.I. perf. 11½ and the 6d. and 1/- perf. 11 x 11½.

Mr. Morley has received two more provisionals for ZEERUST and RUSTENBURG in addition to those chronicled in Vol. I., p. 85, viz.: the 1d pale blue, surcharged V R.I. in large block caps above, and "ZEERUST," (with comma) in tall thin italic caps below, and the 2/- orange surcharged in a precisely similar fashion to the provisionals already chronicled. The former is cancelled 29 Jun. 00 and the latter ZEERUST 7 Jul. 1900.

V.R.I. 1d., pale blue surcharged in violet, perf. 11 x 11½.

V.R.I. 2/-., orange surcharged in red and dull blue, perf. 11½ x 11.

Philately in Kamschatka.

KAMSCHATKA does not appeal to the stamp collector in any way whatsoever. The name appears in neither albums nor catalogues devoted to our hobby, and even of philatelists there is but a small percentage who could give you anything but the roughest idea as to where this land of active volcanoes is to be found. A collector's special knowledge of geography which we see so often quoted goes no further than his hobby will take him.

However this out of the way country happened to be visited by a couple of men who devoted some time to stamp collecting, and their philatelic experiences in this little known country are perhaps worth recording. One's first sight of Petropovlovski (the capital town) was that of a small village round which at various distances were several active volcanoes, while high mountains kept them company, which still—the month of June—were snow clad down to 50 feet of the sea level.

It was too early to shoot, and the only other pastime to go in for was either marking down coveys of capercalzie and ptarmigan for future consideration, or fishing for salmon, which latter amusement we soon tired of, they were so abundant, everyone caught them, and besides they had to be eaten afterwards—salmon three times a day for seven days a week !—You'd soon tire of it I assure you.

But I am forgetting that it is a stamp paper I'm writing for, therefore fishing stories wouldn't be appreciated.

One day we two collectors thought we would investigate the local postal arrangements. Had it not been for one inhabitant who spoke English we should probably have got no further in our investigations, for in Petropovlovski there is but one street, which is a good feeding ground for cattle, and all buildings including the orthodox church are only so many wood cabins, and not a sign of anything postal to be seen. Our English-speaking friend could give us no information about stamps or mails, but offered to take us to the Governor's office where we should be enlightened.

There we went and commenced by enquiring when the next mail left for Europe and the rest of the world. They said next November or as soon as the snow was frozen. Then we asked when the letters would reach England and were told about next May they might be expected, and it was explained that letters went by dog sleigh, and that there was but one mail a year which was official. We followed these enquiries up by asking for a set of stamps but were told that the governor had these locked up and they were issued but once a year when the mail went out. It was also hinted to us that his excellency was too important a personage to be bothered about such trifling matters as stamps.

However a chance occurred a few days afterwards. One of the two ardent collectors not being entirely unconnected with the medical profession, was approached by his excellency the governor himself, and he, through our friendly interpreter, explained that Kamschatka did not boast a medical man, and as his spouse was hoping shortly to contribute towards the local attenuated population, would the medico kindly stand by in case nature required some assistance. A ready assent was given, and his excellency in return asked if he could in any way return this promised attention. The subject of stamps was immediately introduced, and the result was that the local stock was produced, and we made our purchases. They of course were Russian, but all obsolete issues. There were some stamps we had never seen before but which we thought and hoped might be Kamschatka locals. Our interpreter's English was not equal to explaining their use or else neither he nor the governor and his staff knew for what purpose they were intended; they said the stamps had been there for years. As a matter of fact they turned out to be an obsolete lot of fiscals so that our hopes for "locals" was subsequently entirely crushed.

For the information of those who wish to write and help his excellency through with his somewhat useless lot of stamps, I would impress upon them the fact that return of post means about two years.

EGYPT SALT DEPARTMENT REVENUE STAMPS.

THE Egyptian Government has recently abolished the salt tax, but in its place has granted a monopoly to a "Salt and Soda Company" for the supply of these articles in return for a fixed annual payment. Consequently the Salt tax revenue stamps are now obsolete. It is perhaps of interest to place on record the manner of their employment and the rates in force. The stamps in question were affixed to a form issued by the Post Office which is reproduced below except in so far that all the inscriptions are repeated in Arabic in the original, side by side or below the corresponding English equivalents. The form which is reproduced bears stamps of 250 m., 500 m., 1 L., and 2 L., obliterated by a date stamp DECHNA—8 JA. 99.

EDITORIAL.

WE are now in the midst of the dull season for philately when most collectors are enjoying hard earned vacations even from their beloved stamps, so that there is not much in the way of current notes which would be interesting to our readers, and anything we might have to say on the burning questions of the hour with regard to our hobby will be the better for keeping until collectors get into working form again. For similar reasons, added to the fact that our printers are very busy at this time of year, we omit our usual supplement with the instalment of the Catalogue of Argentine Fiscals, but we hope to make up for it later on in the year by presenting our readers with a double one. We exert our utmost endeavours to progress with the Catalogue as fast as possible, but it must be remembered that it is much more difficult to obtain information about fiscal issues than it is with regard to postage stamps.

* * * * *

The School World for July contains an interesting article on "The Educational Value of Collecting Stamps" by the Rev. Alfred Thomson which should draw the attention of the educational world to possibilities in this direction which are becoming more and more generally recognized. The author after advancing the usual arguments which apologists of our hobby are accustomed to use, we are glad to see mentions a point which we have always regarded as of the utmost educational value, but which is rarely emphasized in this connection, viz. the training which philately affords in cultivating the powers of observation by the necessity for the recognition of small differences. Accurate observation lies at the root of all the natural sciences, and it is perhaps not too much to say, of all knowledge, so that no one doubts that the power of seeing likenesses and differences, is of the highest importance. Philately is one means of cultivating this power and the deeper the collectors goes into the science the more exercise will he find for this faculty while his judgment will be tried to the utmost in distinguishing essentials from non-essentials. In fact the noting of small differences is developed in some philatelists to an abnormal degree, and, where the judgment is not called into play, often leads to ludicrous results as may be seen in the current literature of the subject.

* * * * *

Although the day of the scoffers has passed why should not Philately be regarded as worthy a serious attention? It embraces many branches of knowledge within its scope. With their characteristic perspicuity our neighbours on the other side of the Channel have summed it up well—see the first article of the Statutes of the Société Française de Timbrologie—"La "Société a pour objet l'Étude des Timbres "considérés soit en eux-mêmes, soit dans leurs "rapports avec la Chronologie, l'Histoire et la "Géographie, avec l'Administration et les Finan-"ces, avec la Linguistique et les Beaux-Arts" To which we may add "avec l'Histoire Naturelle." Why should not Philately be regarded on the same footing as, say, Numismatics. The reason is probably that it is not old enough. If the ancient Greeks and Romans had been acquainted with the arts of printing and paper-making and had developed a prepaid postal system, would not the stamps bearing effigies of Emperors, Kings and Dictators with contemporary inscriptions been just as valuable for throwing light on historical questions as their coins are at the present day? Perhaps posterity will see a Philatelic Department of the British Museum on the same scale as the Coin Department. There is already at that institution an excellent nucleus.

The Philatelic Society, London, intend to hold an exhibition of South African Stamps, embracing the countries effected by the war, at their rooms on Saturday Nov. 16, between the hours of eleven and six.

* * * * *

The American papers state that there are likely be further changes in the dollar values of the current documentary stamps. In spite of all the precautions which have been taken these stamps are still found to be fraudulently cleaned and used again. It seems that many firms cancel their stamps merely with a rubber stamp with ink which contains glycerine, and which can in consequence be washed off with water, without injuring the fugitive colour of the stamp. If the stamp has also been cut it is easy to trace the cut lines on the new document. To remedy this state of affairs it is proposed to print the large numerals with which the stamps are surcharged in an ink containing glycerine, which will also dissolve when placed in water. This new ink will not be black, as it is found that the contrast of the black numeral against the grey background, especially when the latter is of a dark shade, is not sufficient to make it easily distinguishable. Experiments are being made with purple and orange coloured inks.

Railway Letter Fee Stamps.

The first issue was printed by Messrs. Brown and Nolan, of Dublin, and consisted of about 500 sheets, of 60 stamps in ten rows of six, with the number of sheet above the 3rd stamp. In 1899 a change of printers was made. The new issue was a very good copy of the older production, the chief points of difference being a thinner figure of value, and larger lettering in the bottom label. The colour of the later stamps is also paler than that of the 1st issue.

1891. 2d., blue green.
1899 2d., pale emerald.

France. Several of our contemporaries state that France has issued a set of Railway Stamps for use on the state railways. The design is a locomotive in a rectangle, with value in figures at the sides, the word RESEAU D'ÉTAT above and the value in the words below. The stamps are printed in colour on white wove paper and the perforation is that usual on French stamps, 14 x 13½. The colours and values are as follows:—

5c., grey.	50c., blue.
10c., yellow-green.	1fr., brown.
20c., rose.	2fr., red-brown.

We have not seen it stated for what purposes these stamps are to be used. It appears likely that they may be practically Parcel post stamps like these in use in Belgium, in which case we presume they will appeal to postage stamp collectors.

BRITISH RAILWAY NEWSPAPER, AND PARCEL, STAMPS.

By G. W. J. POTTER.

REVERTING to the Principality of Wales it will be as well to chronicle the fact that a small railway company of recent growth has commenced to issue stamps. This is the Port Talbot Railway and Dock Company owning docks on the eastern side of Swansea Bay and a line running in a more or less north-easterly direction from Port Talbot. Incorporated on 31st July, 1894, it was partly opened on September 1st, 1897, and it is now all but finished. The total length of line is only 35 miles, and it is much more a mineral than a passenger line, as will be seen when we examine the return of rolling-stock possessed by it at the end of 1900, and find that it had 405 vehicles for the conveyance of goods, minerals, &c., but only 8 for the accommodation of passengers.

The design of the stamps is similar to that of its near neighbour, the Barry Railway; but the four values of the Port Talbot are alike, and printed on the same coloured paper, the figure of value only being changed; also the inscription in each case reads "Prepaid newspaper parcel at owner's risk." The size of the stamps are smaller than those of the Barry, but this is accounted for by the very small margins outside the frame of the design. This also necessitates the control numbers being printed on the stamp proper, in this case at the foot and in red ink.

Although Letter Fee Stamps have not been referred to before in these notes, it may be advisable in this case to state that the company also issue a series of these. They are blue-green in colour, and of the McCorquodale type as used for the Barry and the London and North Western Companies' Letter Fee Stamps. Control numbers in black ink appear at the foot of each stamp.

WITH regard to the Waterford, Limerick and Western Railway Co., of which we chronicled a "Transfer Fee" Stamp in our June number, Mr. F. C. The purchasing Co. is the Great Southern and Western of Ireland Railway Co.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Catamarca (Argentine Repub). L'Ami chronicles three values as belonging to the first issue, but one, the 5c. orange, appears to be the same as that already catalogued in Moens, the other two new values are 50 cent., green.

1 peso, violet.

Crete. A set of stamps of the postal types in olive yellow which have been variously catalogued lately as provisional postage stamps or as unpaid letter stamps, appear to be intended for revenue purposes. The values are 1, 5, 10, 25, 50 lept. 1, 2 drachmē.

Great Britain. Bankruptcy. Mr. D. Thomson has shown us a new stamp for the Bankruptcy Court, viz.: the 1/- embossed Bankruptcy, Die A, of 1870, in the colour now being used for Marine Policies, &c. The specimen is cancelled 14/3/00.

1/-, blue, die A, wmk. orb, perf. 12.

Jamaica. Stamps chronicles the British Marine Policy stamp of 3/-, die I, printed on white wove unwatermarked paper and overprinted JAMAICA in large, heavy Roman capitals, 30 x 4½ mm. We have seen the 6d. die EE and the 5/-, die N, similarly treated. Both these stamps are perf. 12.

Martinique. L'Ami chronicles two new fiscals. "Tarif Triple" in italics on a horizontal line, surcharged in blue on a stamp of the type of the French bill stamps of 1831.

30c., grey and blue.

"Tarif triple" on a vertical line to the right, surcharged in blue on a stamp of the type of the French bill stamps of 1892.

25c., black.

Mysore. Mr. E. W. Wetherell has sent us a copy of the 2as. India, Foreign Bill, violet on blue paper with a double surcharge of MYSORE in large Roman caps. The first surcharge was placed upon the ornamental back-ground below the circle containing the Queen's head, but in consequence not being sufficiently visible, it was re-surcharged somewhat higher up. Only 1 sheet of the double surcharge exists.

New Zealand. Stamp Duty. Mr. A. B. Kay informs us that he possesses the 1d., mauve and green, wmk. large star, perf 10 all round.

Peru. From recent numbers of L'Ami we extract particulars of three values of the new fiscals for 1901-1902. The stamps bear Arms in centre, REPÚBLICA PERUANA and date above, with value in words and figures below. Perf. 13.

On a label above the value is the additional inscription COMPANIA NACIONAL DE REGAUDACION.

2c., bistre.
10c., red.
25c., blue.

Saint Pierre et Miquelon. The following bills stamps of France have been surcharged in black 2 droits en sus on a horizontal line. (L'Ami).

25c., grey and blue.
50c., grey and violet.
1fr., " "

Porto Rico. We have received a copy of a copy of a $1 stamp, which was chronicled some weeks ago in the American papers and which apparently belongs to the set of bands chronicled in our June number, although it is an oblong stamp of reasonable dimensions. In the centre it bears a spread-eagle on a rock in the ocean, with stars above. We shall illustrate it next month.

$1, pink.

Mekeel's Weekly states that the U.S. Bureau of Printing and Engraving has received instructions to proceed with the new designs for Porto Rico revenue stamps. The instructions read "The "vignette to be the same on all denominations, "derived from or bearing some relation to the "seal of Porto Rico. The inscriptions are to "read "The People of Porto Rico" "Excise "Tax." There is to be a distinct numeral of "value on each side of the stamp. All are to be "different in colour, the cent values "pale "shades" and the dollar values "bright shades." "The denominations will be: 1c., 5c., 10c., 25c., "50c., $1, $3, $5, $10, and $50. The number to "be printed is an even million of each denom-"ination; rather striking when we consider the "relative number of postage stamps generally "ordered.

"It is also stated that these stamps are "to be placed on invoices attached to stubs "in such manner, that when the invoice is torn "off the stamp will be torn in two. It is "therefore emphasized that the denomination "should be plainly apparent on each half of "the stamp. They are to be gummed and "perforated and it is preferred that there shall "be 100 in each sheet."

San Francisco. (Municipality of Cordoba, Argentine Republic) Arms in circle, inscribed RENTA MUNICIPAL, 1898 above, value below and SAN FRANCISCO CORDOBA on label at base. Perf. 11½. (L'Ami).

50 cent., brown.
1 peso., blue
2 " carmine

Tandil. (Municipality of Buenos Ayres, Argentine Repub.) L'Ami illustrates a stamp bearing in the centre a picture of what geologists term a "perched block." Name above and value below, Perf. 12½.

2c., green.

Zurich. L'Ami reports a stamp with Arms in circle, value in figures on tablet below and STEUERMARKE on label at base. It is stated to be already obsolete.

50c., red.

UNITED STATES STATE REVENUES.

NEVADA STATE REVENUES.

By AB. LEVE of SYRACUSE, N.Y. U.S.A.

IF this little treatise on the curious and pretty United States NevadaStat e Revenues will in anyway enhance the collecting of the same, I shall feel fully rewarded in placing it before the fiscal stamp collectors of the world.

All of the State Revenues are coming rapidly into favor at the present writing. These odd representatives of a tax collecting country represent much in a philatelic way. There were many issues in each state, with California in the lead. Some of the scarcer varieties of the Nevada State Revenues have been seen by very few revenue collectors. My writing concerning the Nevadas has been suggested to me by several gentlemen who were interested in the State Revenues many years ago. The gentleman who got the remainders of the Nevada Revenues lived in the State of Nevada ever since it was a state; and he is an ardent collector of United States issues now. He lived there when the State Revenues were first in use and when the stamp act was abolished; so I place very much reliance upon his suggestions and data.

Comparatively only a very few of the Nevada Revenues were left; and of some varieties hardly any were left. Especially rare were the 25c., 50c. and $1 imperforate stamps. The 50c. and $1 imperforate are very seldom found in an unused condition.

Two more extremely rare Nevada Revenues are the $10 and $20 brown on straw paper. They are very scarce; and I am informed are among the scarcest United States stamps, either revenues or adhesives. There are only about six of the $20 on straw paper in existence. I know one collector, who collects State revenues, who has a block of four of these $20 straw paper stamps; of the $10 on straw paper there are only about twenty known. I know where there are eight fine specimens. I have a nice copy. The paper is not stained or aged. It is a pure straw colored paper and is not a changeling. They came from the printer in the straw color, and were printed twenty to the sheet.

The more common color or shade of the $10 and $20 was violet. There are two shades of the violet catalogued as varieties by some.

A large number of varieties in the Nevadas is made up of shades, paper, perforation and rouletting. E. B. Sterling, that wonderful New Jersey philatelist who in 1888 issued a great catalogue of varieties in the old United States Revenues, is probably about the best authority in the world on United States Revenues. He took great interest in state revenues and in his catalogue I find these varieties of Nevada State Revenues:

$5, brown,* Fig. 9.
$10, purple,* Fig. 10.
$20, puce,* Fig. 11.

The above list includes the 24 varieties catalogued by Sterling. He also adds several pairs of Nevadas as oddities; but I find now that some collectors hold blocks of many of the Nevada Revenues. I have pairs, unused, of most of the values both imperforate and rouletted. There have been of late several fine selections of Nevada State revenues in American auction sales and prices have been comparatively good.

A very peculiar and at the same time interesting fact about the Nevadas is the very fine rouletting used on this variety. It is of the same order as the rouletting on the United States 1898 Revenues, first rouletting, only the spaces are finer and a trifle shorter. Another variety is a very fine rule perforation with points almost pin-like; but a trifle larger. All of the Nevada States Revenues have a very fine thin rule around the design of the stamp. The five dollar brown rouletted is printed on a very heavy soft paper and I have had them on hard paper. The $20 rouletted and nearly all the higher values are printed on a delicate wove paper, and they have to be handled carefully on this account. As a rule the Nevada revenues are found in fi condition almost mint. The used ones that I have seen are all with very light cancellations. I do not think very large quantities were printed and later may be able to give some official figures.

The $10 on straw paper deserves especial mention because so few are in existence. A collector not posted on this stamp would say it was a stained State Revenue and worth nothing. I have one which was priced by a dealer at $15 net.

The Nevada State Revenues are being advertised now in America and we may soon see hundreds of collectors after them.

The Newspaper Tax Stamps of Great Britain.

By Walter Morley.

A VERY wide field for study and research is open to the Philatelist in the distinguishing die marks and die numbers of these historical fiscal stamps, and they have very strongly attracted my attention for some years, during which time I have accumulated a very large collection and I am now about to record the result of my observations in the hope that all other collectors of these stamps will inform us of any varieties, dies, &c., that they may have in their collections, or other items of interest on the subject which will add to our general knowledge and help towards making as complete a list as possible so that the result may be satisfactorily produced in book form at some future time.

An esteemed collector in sending me some interesting extracts regarding Newspaper for the years 1833-75 remarked "that the subject was really interesting and "by writing it up, the public may be induced to take interest in these by-gone "records of the progress of the British Press. Unlike many fiscal issues recording "downright unsentimental taxation, there appears to me to be an attraction about "Newspapar stamps somewhat akin to postal issues—I can hardly define the sen-"timent, but it is just that which has made "postage" popular and "fiscals" neg-"lected—both being revenue raised by stamps and issued by the same authority, "the Inland Revenue, postage to Postmasters, and fiscals to Stamp Distributors."

*In order to make the Reference list complete we have added the varieties marked by an asterisk, which are mentioned in Mr. Leve's paper. [Ed.]

Type 1.

The Stamp office dated from 1697 on which date the earliest duties on paper and parchment were imposed. The Newspaper Stamp Tax came into force in 1712, and our first illustration is from a stamp cut from a newspaper of that date and it is probably die 6 from the first plate prepared.

These stamps were printed by a hand stamp on the paper on which afterwards the newspaper was printed.

Collectors had for a long time noticed the various numbers and curious devices attached to some to the numbers on these early stamps and it was surmised they were indicative of die or plate numbers, but scarcely anything was known about their arrangement beyond this, till the discovery a few years back of a portion of a proof sheet of an American Almanack Duty imposed on the American Colonies in 1775. The engraver's inscription written on this states that two copper plates were engraved for the Commissioners one numbered 151 to 175, and the other 176 to 200, and as these stamps were issued in a similar manner to the Almanack and Newspaper Stamps of Great Britain, the value of this discovery to collectors is very important.

I gather from this that these Newspaper Stamps were probably engraved on plates, each die being somewhat different and bearing a distinctive number, and were, after approval of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, cut up for use separately by the department as required. With the rapid growth of the Newspaper press, it was probably necessary to prepare several plates at one time, some proof specimens I have of date 1744, pointing to this fact. But it would require untold study to evolve which plates followed each other with any degree of accuracy without any official records to refer to.

Type 1a.

Type 2.

Type 3.

Type 4.

Type 5.

Assuming 25 dies to be engraved on one plate, it points to an enormous number of plates being constructed, as we see from our type 1a being die 1516 of the first series of plates, which probably ran to about die 2000, giving 80 plates. Our type 2 shews die 1405 with a line through the die number which represents anothor series of plates and probably the second series, while types 3, 4, and 5 each shew a different line and ornaments at each end, each of which I take to represent a separate series of plates. Several other series exist, and it would be desirable to find out as far as possible what die numbers were used for each series.

The Newspaper Stamp Tax of 1712 seems to have been imposed as a result of the increasing popularity and influence of the newspaper press being distasteful to the Government of the day, prosecutions having been numerous with but small success.

EDITORIAL.

THE approaching philatelic "season" promises to be one of the highest importance in the history of philately. From several quarters information reaches us as to the intended design and colour of the new 1d. postage stamp bearing the King's head, so that the issue of this stamp appears to be within measurable distance and it will be the herald of changes in the world of stamps which are almost too awful to contemplate. As has been stated for some time the portrait of His Majesty will be taken from a bust by the Austrian sculptor Fuchs and we understand the head will turn to the left in a frame of oak leaves on one side and laurel leaves on the other. "POSTAGE AND REVENUE" will appear at the top and the value at the bottom and these inscriptions will be in black. The colour of the rest of the stamp will be the same poor tint, "purple" we believe it is officially designated, as at present but the stamp will be printed on rose-red paper so as to conform with the Postal Union convention. The stamp will therefore be in appearance somewhat like the current 6d. There is also a further possibility of change in as far as the watermark is concerned. Some think that it may be done away with altogether which is unlikely, but if the crown is retained it will probably be altered in shape. His Majesty is believed to be very particular as to the design of the various heraldic devices used for all official purposes and the crown which he has selected is a Tudor crown with curved sides quite unlike that at present employed. We must confess we are rather surprised at the idea of the Government going to the expense of a double printing in the case of the 1d. stamp and we shall be interested to learn where the compensating advantage appears.

* * * * *

Whilst looking through some of the Foreign Office Diplomatic and Consular Reports, we unexpectedly came upon some interesting particulars regarding the new Italian postage stamps, in one (No 2678) dealing with the Trade of South Italy for 1900. We read "Collectors "will be interested to hear that 6,000,000 new "postage stamps of 20, 25 and 40c. are already "printed for the new issue of Victor Emmanuel "III. They bear the King's head and will very "shortly be put in circulation. The printing of "the stamps of smaller values is proceeding rapidly, in fact nearly 1,000,000 of them are ready "for issue. These will bear an eagle of varying "size instead of the King's head. The designs "of the stamps were made by Signor Colletti, a "Venetian artist. The engraving is on steel by "Alberto Repettati, who has also been chosen "to cut the new dies for the coupons of the "public debt which are about to be issued. "They will differ only in minor particulars from "the former, as they are still to bear the portrait "of the late King." We believe the 40c. has not yet been announced by the philatelic press, but as appears from the above extract it is ready to be issued.

* * * * *

We have received from Messrs. J. Redbock and Co., Gutenbergstrasse, 18, Duisberg am Rhein particulars of an ingenious apparatus called the "Panorama" which they have invented and patented in the chief countries of the world; it is designed to supersede albums for the storage and exhibition of stamps. The apparatus is difficult to describe without the cut illustrating its method of employment but it consists of a desk-shaped piece of furniture, the slope of which has a glass front. The collector's stamps are affixed to a series of cards bound together by linen hinges and contained in a draw or tray placed in the body of the apparatus. The cards are affixed so that by turning a handle in the side of the apparatus they appear one by one under the glazed slope of the desk and pass over a roller into an empty draw, arranged side by side with the draw in which they are contained. There are four drawers and these are interchangeable so that a large number of stamps can be kept in one apparatus. The "Panorama" can be obtained in several makes varying in price from 90 marks upwards. The apparatus seems to be very suitable for the public Exhibition of stamps in a museum, as the stamps contained in it are protected from dirt, damage, or theft, but we hardly think the private collector will find it so convenient as an album.

TRANSVAAL.

New Provisional.

JUST as we go to press we have received an interesting new provisional from the Transvaal, being the 2d, brown and green, surcharged E.R.I. and Half Penny in two lines. This stamp it is said was isssued at Johannesburg on August 12th and the whole issue was bought up in half a day. The "2 pence" has not been barred out and it is expected that a new printing will be made in which this defect is remedied. The ½d., green surcharged E.R.I. only lasted two days at Johannesburg and the issue was a small one.

THE RAILWAY LETTER FEE STAMPS OF SOUTHERN IRELAND.

By "K."

WITHIN the last two years a gradual, but sweeping, change has been made in the railway map of Ireland by the Great Southern and Western Railway. Its successive amalgamation of the Waterford and Dungarvan, Waterford and Central, and Waterford, Limerick and Western Railways, while effacing one of the most interesting groups of all Letter Fee Stamps, has created new difficulties for the ever increasing number of devotees of this fascinating branch of philately. Old collectors, if I may apply such a term to those whose collections were commenced prior to 1898, are probably well acquainted with the facts about to be mentioned in this article, but there is little to guide new collectors on the subject. The catalogues of Ewen, Gibbons, and Morley, are necessarily incomplete, and in much that has been recently written there are so many omissions and inaccuracies that I think a few notes on the philatelic history of the defunct lines may be of use, before these inaccuracies come to be regarded as facts of ancient history.

In February 1891 the Southern lines which availed themselves of the privilege of issuing Letter Fee stamps were the Cork and Macroom, Cork and Bandon, Cork and Blackrock, Great Southern, Waterford and Limerick, Waterford, and Central Ireland, Waterford and Dungarvan, and the Waterford and Tramore Railways. These were followed a month or two afterwards by the Kanturk and Newmarket, a little western line of only 3 stations. Of these, the three Cork lines and that to Tramore still maintain an individual existence, and do not therefore come within the scope of this article, in which I only propose to deal with and G.S and W. Ry. and the various lines whose stamps, by its action, have become obsolete.

Type 1.

The last of these to issue stamps, the Kanturk and Newmarket Railway was also the first to discontinue their use, as it passed into the hands of the Great Southern in 1892. Its single issue was printed by Messrs. Sealy, Briers and Walker, Dublin, in sheets of 24; the type (Type 1) was that used for all the early printings made by this firm, with the big C in "conveyance," but the stamps differ from the rest in their pin perforation and in their deep blue green colour. These stamps are of the greatest rarity. It seems probable that only 2 sheets were ever issued, and, although, owing to the inadequate postal arrangements and consequent more general use of Letter Fee Stamps in Ireland, a fair number were doubtless actually used, I am not sure that a single cancelled specimen is known. About 35 unused specimens are supposed to exist, but I doubt whether more than 20 specimens can be traced home, included among which are a strip of 3 in the Earl of Crawford's magnificent collection, and a fine pair, the property of Mr. Walter Morley. The actual market value of the Kanturk and Newmarket stamps presents an interesting problem. It is an open secret that those of the City of Glasgow Union Railway, of which only 8 are known, changed hands for the most part at prices between £3 15/- and £5 each, yet for the single Kanturk in my collection, though it is supposed to be about five times as common as the Scotch rarity, I willingly paid £3 10/- which is, I think, not an excessive price for a good specimen. The inference is, therefore, that the City of Glasgow stamps were generously distributed to collectors at a price far below their actual value, which is probably nearer £25.

So far, well and good, the Kanturk Letter Fee Stamps were not speculative, and their meteoric existence is easily and satisfactorily explained. But in 1898 appeared some stamps, bearing the name of this defunct line, perforated and printed in pale green (Type 2), while an imperforate sheet was also unearthed printed in much the same, but slightly bluer, shade of dark green as the originals (Type 3). It was never any secret that the pale green stamps were reprints, while the darker ones were said to be proofs. But here comes the crux of the whole matter; both these latter productions were printed from an entirely different plate, or transfer to that used for the stamps which were actually issued! Whether there were two transfers taken in the first instance, of which only one was brought into actual use, or whether the printers, having destroyed the original plate, and wishing to oblige certain collectors, had another one made, as nearly like it as possible, for the production of these "proofs," etc., is a matter that has not yet been satisfactorily cleared up, but I fear the latter was the case, for the simple reason that if only one plate was originally deemed necessary for the Great Southern, Great Northern, and other large lines supplied by Messrs. Sealey, Briers & Walker, it is hardly likely that two would have been made for this little one of three stations In point of actual rarity these proofs and reprints exceed the originals, as only one sheet of each was printed.

Type 2.

There is yet another imperforate variety of this line, but as it is of a dullish green colour, and of the type of Messrs. Sealey' later printings, with small C in "conveyance," which was not brought into use until 1897; it can easily be distinguished from those above mentioned, and its entire existence is a hitherto unsolved mystery (Type 4).

FISCAL CHRONICLE.
NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Costa Rica. Our publisher has found two types of the 50 cent., and 1 peso of second issue. In the case of the 50 cent. the surcharge of the value and the figures in the top corners is in thick block letters in the newly discovered type and the surcharge in words measures 24 mm in length instead of 21 mm, as on ordinary type. In the case of the one peso, the surcharge is also in thicker and smaller letters than on the usual type, and the "O" of "PESO" is almost circular or even appears like the "O" of the known type sideways.

Cuba. Facultades. We think the following varieties have not yet been chronicled.

1894. 7.50p., violet.
1896. 7.50p , rose.
1897 7.50p., violet.
1898. 7 50p., rose.

Giro. Stamp cut from stamped paper, 1870, 40c., lilac brown, used as adhesive.

Mr. A. E. Lawrence is responsible for all of the above.

Havana, Arbitrios. Date? 1 peso, rose.

Greece. The Picture Postcard describes and illustrates two new series of Greek Revenue stamps which are about to be issued. The first set contains the Head of Mercury to right in a beaded oval frame, at the top of which is "Ellas" and in the corners the letters "A. M." (Axis metallikē) in circle, whilst in the bottom corners are the figures of value in similar circles. The values and colours are

5 lepta, or'ge-carmine.	1 drachma, red
25 ,, emerald green.	2 ,, brown.
50 ,, blue.

The stamps of the other set have as the chief feature of the design a framework of two Ionic columns, with a broad scroll bearing the words "Enarithmon Grammatosēmon." Under this appears the figure of value over a pedestal of rustic work bearing the words "lepta" and "eispraktea." A value 3 lepta is illustrated but the colour is not stated nor are the values of which the set consists mentioned.

Guanacaste. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits the 2c., blue fiscal of Costa Rica, with the portrait of Fernandez, surcharged vertically "Guanacaste" reading downwards in four different types.

2c., blue, sur. GUANACASTE in Rom. caps., 15 x 3 mm.
2c., blue, sur. GUANACASTE in Rom. caps., 21½ x 2½ mm.
2c., blue, sur. GUANACASTE in Rom. caps., 19½ x 3½ mm.
2c., blue, sur. Guanacaste, 20 x 2 mm.

From Mr. A. E. Lawrence we also have the 50 cent. and 1 peso of Costa Rica surcharged "Guanacaste" being a different type to either of the two described in Moens, which are both in caps. The one peso stamp moreover is of the new type described under Costa Rica.

Mexico. Documentos. Mr. G. Helmrich sends us particulars, together with specimens, of the new issue for 1901-02, which was put into circulation on the 1st July. The head is that of Morelos, a general in the war of independence against Spain in the twenties of last century. The values and colours as far as our correspondent knows at present are 1c., green.	50c., slate-blue.

2c., green-blue.	$1., brown-violet.
5c., light brown.	$5., dark grey.
10c., ultramarine.	$10., dark carmine.
25c., scarlet.

Renta Interior. The values and colours are the same for this series as for the Documentos. The eagle in the centre is covering the Aztec Calendar stone, now in the National Museum in Mexico. We illustrate the types of both series.

New Zealand. Stamp Duty. Mr. A. E. Lawrence has shown us the 1d., mauve and green, wmk. large star, with good margins all round and therefore presumably imperf.

Porto Rico. Excise Revenue. Our publisher has received four of the U. S. Documentary Stamps, Series of 1898, surcharged as below.

PORTO RICO

25c., on 25c., ,, purple-brown, in blue.
50c, on 50c., ,, slate-violet, in blue.

We illustrate the $1 stamp described last month.

Russia. Savings Bank Stamps. In June 1897 L'Ami catalogued a set of these stamps consisting of 7 values and gave the date of issue as 1893. Mr. A. E. Lawrence has sent us specimens which are obliterated in 1891 and which include a value not given by our contemporary viz.:

3 roubles, green.

St. Lucia. Revenue. Mr. Morley submits the 1d., rose, De la Rue type, wmk. Crown. CA. perf. 14. with surcharge "Revenue" inverted.

Seychelles. Our publisher has shown us the 15c., sage green and lilac, postage stamp surcharged "REVENUE" and "4 cents" vertically, reading upwards. The copy is cancelled ?/10/94.

Spain. Tarragona. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits a new type of the 2 pesetas, brown, 1875 with stars instead of numerals in the corners

Tasmania. We have seen the 1/- rose, Ornithorhynchus type, surcharge "REVENUE," perf. 14.

United States. The Metropolitan Philatelist reports the $2 Revenue stamp in a new colour, and states that the $50 has now appeared in gray as previously announced, both stamps are surcharged with black numerals.

The Newspaper Tax Stamps of Great Britain.

BY WALTER MORLEY.

IN 1711 an anonymous writer hit upon the expedient of a newspaper tax and the paper containing the first germ of the plan is said to be still preserved with the Treasury papers. In it the writer says "There are published weekly about 44,000 papers, viz., Daily Courant, London Post, English Post, London Gazette, Postman, Postboy, Flying Post, Review, and Observator."

The duty imposed was a halfpenny on papers of half a sheet or less, and it came into force on July 19th, 1712.

The first results of the Tax are amusingly described in the Journal to Stella, (August 7, 1712). "Do you know that Grubb Street is dead and gone last week? No more ghosts now for love or money. I plied it close the last fortnight, and published at least seven papers of my own besides other people's, but now every single half-sheet pays a halfpenny to the Queen. The Observator is fallen; the Medleys are jumbled together with the Flying Post; the Examiner is deadly sick; the Spectator keeps up and double its price—I know not how long it will hold. Have you seen the red stamp the papers are marked with? Methinks the stamping is worth a halfpenny!

The history of the progress of the Newspaper press is outside our province; but the stamps themselves are so bound up with it that we are bound to make some reference to it in the course of our studies. It was not until 1836 that each Newspaper was required to have a separate die and the name of the paper on one side of the die, when the duty was reduced to one penny, so that our earliest series of plates will not record any special papers the dies were used for, beyond an occasional passing reference, or items of interest connected with same.

The first English Newspaper—The Weekly News—appeared in 1622 (The London Gazette was first published in 1665).

The first Irish Newspaper was Freeman's Journal in 1763, and the first London Daily The Post Boy in 1695.

Before proceeding with our list of die numbers it will perhaps be better to give a summary of the various additions to the tax duties and the dates to the time of the abolition of the tax.

1712. Halfpenny tax imposed.
1756. Additional halfpenny added.
1765.} Various restrictive regulations were imposed (5 Geo. III., c. 46, and 13 1773.} Geo. III., c. 65).

1789. 1½d. increased to 2d. (29 Geo. III., c. 50).
1797. 2d. increased to 2½d. (37 Geo. III., c. 90).
1804. 2½d. increased to 3½d. (44 Geo. III., c. 98).
1815. Duty increased to 4d. (less a discount of 20 per cent).
15th Sept., 1836. Duty reduced to 1d.
1855. Total abolition.
1856 (and part of 1855) to 1870. An optional stamp was allowed, this stamp franking the newspaper by post.
1870. Optional stamp entirely repealed (33 & 34 Vic. c. 32.) when their postal transmission became subject only to the requirements of the Post Office.

In describing the die numbers, it must be born in mind that we have no records to refer to, and shall describe only those of which we have actually seen specimens. These may of course be faulty plates or dies spoilt, &c., which may never have been used.

1712—1756.

Type 1, 1a, 1b.

Halfpenny, red. First series of plates. Die numbers in plain figures under the stamp. Dies probably 1 to 1975.

Type 1

Type 1a

Type 1b

I have seen the following die numbers of this type, 6, 950, 958, 983, 1045, 1167, 1175, 1301, 1309, 1313, 1324, 1325, 1342, 1497, 1508, 1516, 1901, 1902, 1913, 1922, 1926, 1928, 1929, 1931, 1932, 1935, 1940, 1944, 1948, 1949, 1950, 1959.

Die 1959 is the highest number seen by me so far on any of the 15 different types used for this ½d., value, and as this would be the 79th plate it would not be unreasonable to assume that die numbers 1 to 1975 should exist for type 1. It will be noticed that our type 1b is somewhat larger, the word "halfpenny" being nearly double the size of this word on types 1 and 1a. The copies of type 1b that I have seen all appear very roughly done and not so finely engraved as the earlier numbers.

Type 2.

Halfpenny, red. Supposed second series of plates, with a line through the die number. Dies probably from 1 to 1950.

The following die numbers have been seen by me of this type :—510, 830 (date, 1733), 853 (date, 1733), 864 (date, 1734), 874 (date, 1733), 890 (date, 1733), 923, 928 (date, 1735), 1006, 1033 (date, 1736), 1110 (date, 1738), 1259, 1262, 1273, 1282 (date, 1742), 1405, 1550 (date, 1743), 1745, 1776, 1806, 1871 (date, 1751), 1872, 1878, 1890, 1912, 1920, 1924, 1925, 1930, (date, 26.11.1751), 1936.

The dates recorded after the die numbers are those of the Newspapers from which the stamps have been cut; the block for this type is from a proof dated 1742. The die numbers from 1745 and upwards are all of the larger series, similar to to type 1b with the exception that the die numbers have a line through them.

Type 3.

TYPE 3.

Halfpenny, red. Third series of plates, with a line through the die number and a rough semicircle at the end of the line Dies probable up to 1725 but query below 1400.

Die numbers actually seen by me; 1410, 1508, 1659, 1678, (date, 1751), 1712.

I have unfortunately met with very few of this type, so that the list of dies is very meagre, but I think possibly nos. 1 to 1725 at least should exist.

Stray Notes on some unknown or little known British Fiscals.

BY RALPH DOUGLAS.

Hat Tax.

Duty on Hats imported 1816-1837 was 10/6.

" " of less than 22 inches in diameter was from 1820—1832, £3 8 0 per doz.

" " above 22 inches in diameter was £6 16 0 per doz.

Paper Duty.

In 1836 they were pasted on each ream—penalty for losing one, £200. A witness states "I generally write for 500 labels to the Excise at one time and should they "be stolen or destroyed the penalty would be £100,000."

Rates: 1st class paper 3d. per lb.

2nd " " 1½d. "

Pasteboard, millboard and Glazed Paper 28/- and 21/- per cwt.

2 and 3 Vic. c. 23. s. 8 states this "The Commissioners of Excise are to provide "Stamps for denoting the charge of duty on paper and also to issue paper labels; "when tied up the maker is to mark on the label the description and contents of "the ream. Further, any person forging stamps or counterfeiting labels etc. to "forfeit £500, for every ream etc. which is forfeited." The labels were in the custody of the officers who received them from the Commissioners in London. The duty on paper was first imposed in Great Britain by 10 Ann. c. 19 and in Ireland by 38 Geo. 3 c. 5.

Playing Cards.

In Great Britain the rate of Duty from 1820 to April 1828 was 2/6 per pack; from May 1828 to 1831, 1/- per pack.

In Ireland the rate of Duty to the 5th July 1828 was 2/- per pack and after that date 1/-.

The tax was specified on the Ace of Spades.

Scotch Linen.

In 1727 a Board of Trustees was established by the Government in Scotland for the superintendence and improvement of the linen manufacture, which Board was empowered to grant Bounties and Premiums. This regulation was abolished in 1822 and bounties ceased in 1830. From an "account of the quantity and value "of the Linen Cloth manufactured and stamped for sale in Scotland from 1815 to "1822," it appears that the Stamp was only affixed to linen on which a Bounty was paid, i. e. on linen intended for exportation. Linen manufactured for home use or intended for private sale was not stamped.

In Ireland linen exported therefrom received Bounties on exportation for a very long period probably from the reign of William III down to 1830; premiums were were also paid as in Scotland.

Under 17 Geo. 2 c. 30 "Persons affixing stamps to foreign linen in imitation of "the stamps affixed to those of Scotland or Ireland." shall forfeit £5 for each offence.

These stamps are at present unknown.

Starch.

Duties were imposed on Starch from 1797 to 1835. The Act states "All starch "before it is put into any stove or place to dry must be papered and sealed or "stamped by the office (Excise). Any person forging or counterfeiting such stamp "or seal is guilty of felony without benefit of clergy. No starch is to be exported "unless the package as originally stamped by the officer be entire."

The stamps which appear to have been handstamped are not as yet known to collectors.

The Postage Stamps of Tonga.

By Walter Morley.

I HAVE discovered a number of additional varieties which must be added to my list of these stamps in the July and August numbers.

1886. 2d., violet, pair, the right stamp being perf. 12 x 11½, and the left perf. 11½ all round.*

1892. 8d., mauve, perf. 11½.

1895. 1d., on 2d., blue, perf. 11½.
1½d., on 2d., blue, perf. 12 x 11.

1895. New issue. 7d., orange, perf. 12.

1896. Provisional issue, surcharged in English and Tongan.
½d., on 7½d., on 2d., pale blue, perf. 12 x 11 (the second type)
Additional type of surcharge "Half-Penny" the "f" of "half" being over the first "n" of "Penny" thus:— Half— Penny.— This stamp forms one of a pair, the right hand stamp bearing the first type of surcharge viz. "f" over the second "n" of "Penny."

Discoveries.

COOK ISLANDS. Our publisher has submitted some blocks of the current ½d., blue in which it is quite obvious that the value "½" in the corners are added by a subsequent printing, since it is out of register and sometimes even falls across the outer frame of the stamp. It also shows through on the back. Minor varieties may possibly exist as some of figure 2's in the fraction appear to have curly tails instead of straight ones as is most frequently the case, but this may be only apparent, due to imperfect printing. We do not know whether this is the case with all printings of this stamp nor whether other values are similarly produced by two printings.

Great Britain. Another English "fake." Our publisher has seen the 2d., blue of 1841 with the top and bottom white lines blued over to represent the 2d. of 1840 with no lines. The fake in question had the 1844 obliteration which is scarce on the 1840 issue and fetches a good price with postmark collectors, for whose special benefit it seems to have been intended.

* * * * *

We have heard a rumour that the new stamps for the Transvaal with the King's head were despatched to the Colony on the 28th August, ult.

*It appears from this that the perf. 12 and the perf. 11½ are both due to the same machine. [Ed]

EDITORIAL.

ONE of the special features of philatelic journalism of to-day is the vast amount of space and trouble devoted to the chronicling of "minor varieties." Now we think it will be generally agreed that collectors find these so-called minor varieties an unmitigated nuisance while some go so far as to consider them a menace to philately in general and would eliminate them entirely from consideration. We are led to make these remarks by reason of a letter addressed to our publisher by a gentleman who is known as "An Old Collector" and from which we quote the following extract. Referring to the V. R I. Orange River Colony stamps he offers "some advice to the "dealers. What with raised and level and no "stops, merely printer's errors and not "distinct varieties you are going to choke off many "collectors and prevent new ones taking their "places. It has been impossible for some time "for any one but a millionaire to go in for "general collecting and therefore many of us "have gone in for Colonials. To day the same "remark applies to the latter, merely by printer's "errors being exalted into the position of "varieties. The double surcharges are a case "in point. Most men who go in for a thing "wish to do it as perfectly as possible, but when "they find, owing to the above mentioned "causes that it is impossible, they give it up in "digust. I am convinced that you are killing "philately and I must therefore ask you and "other dealers to carefully consider the "position."

Now we do not think that dealers, to whom they must be a source of much waste of time and trouble, are mainly responsible for hunting out these "minor varieties" but that collectors themselves are mainly to blame—if blame is necessary—for the multiplication of varieties and we think the writer's choice of an illustration an unfortunate one. But on the other hand there is a great deal of truth in his remarks and the time is rapidly approaching when the question as to what is collectable—in the sense of making the collection of any country's stamps give a full account of the postal history of that country—and what is unnecessary, will have to be settled by some authoritative body of collectors. The question is one, however, which bristles with serious difficulties. In the first place— what is a "minor variety"? Now although we hesitate—and perhaps it may be found impossible—to give a categorical reply to this question, yet we may perhaps indicate by a few examples what sort of varieties we consider are indispensable for even a general collector to take, and in trying to do so it becomes obvious that the term "minor variety" is a misnomer, for a variety may be "minor" and yet perhaps all important and vicê versâ "conspicuous" but yet "abnormal" or a mere curiosity. Now we think that the example referred to by "An Old Collector" is distinctly one which ought to be recognized by the general collector, inasmuch as the raised stops represent a definite fact in the history of the Orange River Colony stamps, viz: the fact of a second printing of the surcharge and that therefore a collection of Orange River Colony stamps in which these were unrepresented would not fulfil the primary object of collecting which should be to illustrate the complete history of the stamps of the country collected. On the other hand all such varieties as broken letters, omitted full stops, or even figures or letters, or double or inverted surcharges we regard as merely minor or abnormal varieties and these may be left to the specialist if he wants them. In fact we see no reason why a special collection which omitted the latter should not be regarded as complete, provided it otherwise gave a full and particular account of the stamps of the country specialized. These latter varieties are merely "abnormalities" and to borrow an argument from another science, although naturalists are always squabbling about what constitute species or varieties and have divided themselves into two classes "splitters and lumpers" yet we have never heard that any naturalist was bold enough to make new species or even varieties out of cocks with three legs or calves with two heads and such like monstrosities which occasionally turn up. In the same way philatelic abnormalities should be disregarded or merely kept as curiosities. In like manner with regard to perforations when varieties of gauge are found arising from one machine, we think it is amply sufficient even for the specialist to show merely a specimen from such a machine, and there is no reason to trouble about the variations from the normal.

We have now almost exhausted the space at our disposal though we hope we have said enough to make our position in the matter clear notwithstanding the fact that we have omitted the consideration of this question from several other points of view, especially in its financial aspect and also in connection with what is generally known among philatelists as "bloating." But we hope to be able to return to this subject next month and will then inquire what remedies are available to eliminate or at least mitigate the evil.

THE RAILWAY LETTER FEE STAMPS OF SOUTHERN IRELAND.

By "K."

A CLOSE inspection of the illustrations, types 1 and 2, will show how good was the imitation; in every specimen I have seen, however, the two horizontal lines below the top inscription and above the bottom one are produced, in Type 1, to touch the vertical side lines; in Type 2, one or more are invariably broken. The lettering and general impression, also, are slightly thinner on the reprints than on the stamps actually issued.

Type 3.*

The next line to go, the Waterford, Dungarvan, and Lismore, which was taken over by the Great Southern on the 1st November 1898, fortunately presents no such difficulties to beginners as the preceding one. There were only two issues, both of the same type, and printed in sheets of 24 by N. Harvey and Co. Waterford. The first is perf. 12 and printed in orange-vermilion, both dark and pale shades being found. The second issue, about May 98, was in carmine-rose, and perf. 11. Specimens are known with impression on the back, and a portion of one sheet was double-perforated horizontally; imperforate proof sheets also exist, tête-bêche pairs being obtainable in this condition. None of these latter however, should be allowed a place among the issued varieties but rather be allotted a page to themselves, in company with the Kanturk and C. of G. U. reprints, the Lough Swilly essays and the unnumbered North Easterns, etc, all of which unite in forming a group of the greatest interest in a specialist's collection, but are, for the most part, almost unattainable, and by no means necessary additions to the completeness of a collection of Letter Fee Stamps.

The pretty stamps of the Waterford and Central Ireland Railway Company were also printed by Harvey, in sheets of 24. The first issue, in February 91, was perforated 12 and printed in bright green. The second, in June 98, was of a reddish ochre colour, and perf. 11. The green stamps have for some time been growing difficult to obtain, and as only 4 remained on hand when the line was taken over last December, they are hardly likely to become more plentiful. I am unaware of the numbers remaining of the brown stamps, or of their ultimate disposal.

I now come to the most important of the group, the Waterford, Limerick and Western Railway, which was the last to be absorbed by its great rival, and then only after a struggle of nearly 2 years duration had been raging in parliament and the press against amalgamation. Mr. Morley's advertisement of the stamps of this line, which appeared in the July no. of this Journal, was so complete as to almost amount to a catalogue, and he will therefore, I am sure, forgive me for disagreeing with some of his facts and dates. Until 1896 the line was known as the "Waterford and Limerick Railway" under which title it made three issues of Letter Fee stamps, about whose arrangement there is fortunately not much doubt. The first was of a yellow-green shade, perf. 12, and of superior execution to its successors. The second may be easily distinguished by its bright emerald hue. This issue has hitherto been supposed to have been uniformly perforated 11, but Mr. Morley has recently unearthed a specimen perf. 11 vertically and 12 horizontally. At first sight this might belong to an undiscovered fourth printing, but such is not my opinion, for the shade and execution are exactly that of the uniformly perforated emerald-green stamps, and as the third issue is nearly always found with compound perforation, there seems no reason why some of the second issue should not exist in the same condition. The third issue is of a duller shade of green than the foregoing, and is chronicled perf. 12 x 11, 11 x 12, and 12, and also compound 12 x 11½. In January 1896 the title of the company was altered to the "Waterford, Limerick, and Western Railway," and a new die was accordingly made for the stamps subsequently issued, which appear to have only been distributed to stations as those of the old Waterford and Limerick company were used up. The first issue with the amended title was in almost the same shade of emerald as the second printing with the old one. Specimens of this issue are of extreme rarity; they are of slightly finer execution than the later varieties, and are supposed to have been printed in sheets of 24, 4 rows of 6. So was the second, which took place early in 1897, and was of a bright yellow-green colour. The third, in bluish-green, was printed in sheets of 6 rows of 4, and issued about the 30th March, 1898, and the fourth, late in the same year, was in a darker and duller shade than any of its brethren. The left top corner stamp of this issue is frequently found without a stop between "railway" and "fee," this being the only minor variety I have met with in the stamps of this line. The two next issues were printed in sheets of 12, 3 rows of 4; the fifth 10th March, 1899, was pale yellow-green, almost olive; the sixth, and last, was a pale emerald, which, had it been only a shade or so darker, would have been almost indistinguishable from the rare printing of 1896. An interesting proof sheet, in Mr. Morley's possession, shows that 60 sheets were ordered in August 1900. Imperforate proofs also exist of the third and fifth issues, and tête-bêche pairs are to be found, owing to the manner of striking the proof sheets reverse-ways to one another.

*Owing to delay in preparing the blocks, an error occurred in numbering the illustrations of the Kanturk dies on page 70 in last month's number. The words "(Type 3)" should be omitted from line 28, but substituted for "(Type 4)" in the bottom line on that page. [Ed.]

NOTES ON THE UNITED STATES PART ROULETTE REVENUES OF THE 1898 ISSUE.

By Geo. S. McKearin (United States).

POSSIBLY some data relative to the part roulettes may be of interest to your English collectors.

Documentary.*

½ Cent, grey. This stamp exists part rouletted but is very scarce.

1 Cent, blue, imperf. horizontally, roulette vertically. The find of this value comprised 5 sheets (500 pairs). These were pretty well scattered, and the fact that several dealers hold small stocks of them, has kept the price temporarily pretty low, the stamps being sold at 50c. per pair, but it is likely to advance.

10 Cents, brown. This exists part rouletted, about 400 pairs having been discovered at Chicopee, Mass. in the summer of 1898.

1$ green and 3$ brown. These both exist part rouletted, but in a used condition only.

Proprietary.

⅜ Cents, orange, rouletted horizontally, imperf. vertically. This was discovered by a party in Buffalo in 1898, the find consisting of either 4 or 5 sheets, which would make the total supply 500 or 600 pairs, but which is now almost absorbed by U. S. collectors.

⅝ Cents, blue. This stamp is known part rouletted but in a used condition only.

2 Cents, brown, rouletted horizontally, imperf. vertically. This was discovered in 1900 in Omaha, Neb., in the office of a firm who used them on a patent hog medicine, the find being 2 sheets only (200 pairs). Of these some 80 pairs had been cut up and used before the dealer who got the remainder spotted them, and the price was fixed by the finder at $1.50 per pair, but the bulk of these are now disposed of and a rise in price is inevitable.

2½ Cents, marone, imperf. horizontally, rouletted vertically. Two sheets (200 pairs) were found in a wholesale drug store in Richmond, Ind. in 1899. Unfortunately fully three quarters of them were much off centre in the rouletting, about 130 pairs of these have been disposed of to U. S. collectors already.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

British Somaliland. Our correspondent "K" submits a copy of the 3 rupees India Court Fee surcharged BRITISH SOMALILAND in a different fashion to the surcharge on the 1a. described in his article on page 44 of our June number and states that this new type of surcharge is impressed on the 3, 4, 6, 8, and 12as. and 1, 2, 3, and 5 rupees. The 3 and 6as. with the surcharge have not yet been chronicled. This new surcharge is impressed on the "label" portion of the stamp, the word "BRITISH" alongside the margin which contains the Queen's head and SOMALILAND along the right hand margin of the stamp. The surcharge is in block letters 2½ mm high.

* The 2 cents, rose, is listed in our May number as imperf. horizontally. [Ed.]

Buenos Ayres. Mr. P. L. Pemberton has shown us the greater part of a set of the Buenos Ayres Foreign Bill stamps of 1876 up to 900 pesos, Nos. 132-161 in our September supplement, so that the existence of this set, on which doubt has been thrown, is confirmed.

Entre Rios. (Argentine Repub.) Mr. P. L' Pemberton has submitted to us a set of the 1877 issue which includes two values which have not previously been chronicled, but a copy of the higher value has been in Mr Morley's collection for some time. The stamps are imperf.

1 cent., blue.
24 (pesos) fuertes, green.

Gondal. Of the well known type our publisher has received a 4 as. yellow green, perf. 13½.

Guanacaste. Our publisher has the 2 pesos, brown, surcharged with the new type chronicled in our September number.

India. Mr. Morley submits the Foreign Bill 12 rup., violet on blue paper with the word "rupees" cancelled by a black bar and the word "ANNAS" overprinted in black block letters, 15 x 2 mm.

Jamaica. Of the British Marine Policy stamps in blue, surcharged "Jamaica" Mr. J. J. Coates possesses the undermentioned values, besides those chronicled in August.

3d., blue, Die J.
9d., ,, Die D.
1/-, ,, no Die letter.
2/-, ,, Die A.

Japan. Our publisher has received the 1, 2, and 5 rin and 1 sen current Revenue Stamps surcharged with two native characters in red. We are not able to decipher them and shall be glad if any of our readers can give us information about these stamps. The overprint is not any of the known types of "specimen" nor is it the same as that applied on the postage stamps for "Corea" or "China."

Khumbat. Mr. Morley submits four primitive looking stamps, which are supposed to hail from this province. The chief feature is a ship in centre and the inscriptions, which we are unable to decipher, appear to be the same on each stamp. The green stamp is much more roughly printed than the other three.

Value not indicated? green, imperf.
,, blue, pin perf.
,, lilac. ,,
,, vermilion. ,,

Nevis. Mr. J. J. Coates informs us that he has the following non-adhesives cut out and used as adhesives on bills, in addition to those described in the April number.

3d., on blue paper.
6d., on ,, ,,
1/-, on ,, ,,
1/-, on white paper.

New Zealand. Stamp Duty, 1868. Amongst some pin perf. specimens acquired by Mr. Morley we find the 3/-, grey and vermilion, wmk N. Z. and the 2/-, dull red and blue, wmk. N. Z. interlaced.

Orange River Colony. Bank Draft. Our publisher submits the 3d., blue postage stamp surcharged B. D. with the additional overprint of V. R. I. (with raised stops) and 3d.

Portugal. Propinas de Matricula. Mr. H. Thompson sends us a number of these stamps among which we find the following unchronicled varieties. Of a type somewhat similar to the Imposto do Sello stamps of Cape Verde or Portuguese Indies we find.

1896. 1065 reis, green and buff, value in carmine.
2130 ,, ,, ,, ,,
No date. 530 reis, rose and pale blue, value in brown.
No date. 1065 reis pale blue, value in brown.
,, 2130 ,, ,, ,,

This last stamp is obliterated "Lisboa, 17 de Maio de 1899." We do not understand where this series properly comes in as there is a set catalogued in Roussin for 1899 which is of a different type and the shade of blue in which they are printed is entirely distinct.

Of the type given in Roussin's Catalogue we find that values above 530 reis of the 1897 issue are in lilac and not bistre as given in Roussin while each series for 1897, '98, '99, and 1900 have the background of the stamps in pale yellow or buff, the value and date being in shades of brown.

San Fernando. (Municipality, Argentine Repub.) This appears to be an addition to the list of stamp issuing Municipalities of the Argentine Republic. L'Ami chronicles three stamps, the design consisting of Arms in centre, in a circular band, and value on a coloured label below, while lower still is a white label bearing control no. in black. Lithographed and perf. 12½.

1899. 20 cents., green, label of value red.
1900. 20 ,, chesnut, ,, blue.
1901, 20 ,, vermilion, ,, blue.

Santiago del Estero. (Province, Argentine Repub.) L'Ami catalogues three values of the 1899 issue. The design consists of Arms in oval, the word "PESOS" above and value on label below. Perf. 11.

25 cents., brown.
1 peso, yellow-green.
10 ,, ochre.

Tolima. Mr. A. E. Lawrence has discovered two types of the 20c., black for 1865-66 in one of which the 9 stars in the second oval band surrounding the Arms in centre are much thicker than in the first and there are noticeable variations about the head of the eagle in centre and in the other parts of the stamp, especially on the ornamental scrolls.

Transvaal. Mr. S. A. Klagsbrun informs us the surcharge on the 1/- Cape Fiscal which we chronicled as a Telegraph stamp in our July number and which up till recently was used solely for telegraph purposes and was not purchasable by the public has now been placed on sale for revenue use.

From Mr. S. Aubert we hear that the stock of the Transvaal fiscals surcharged V.R.I. is exhausted.

Philately in Formosa.

It is not generally known that Formosa was, until ceded to the Japanese in 1895, a Chinese Colony of many centuries standing. This however is only partially true as the eastern side of this island is to this day inhabited by the aborigines who have been driven out of the western part by the Celestials. Strange to say the racial hatred has never entirely died out, for when I was there in '95 a Chinaman would shoot a Formosan at sight, and vicê versa, in many parts of the inland.

In the Chinese towns of Formosa there existed, as in China generally, a postal service which was probably going in the time of the Norman Conqueror. As this purely native post has never found any use for stamps, its existence is generally unknown except by residents. The writer only found out its existence by chance. One day I happened to be in an Imperial Chinese (Customs) P.O. soon after its establishment, when the mail arrived. Seeing large bundles of native letters among the usual European collection I asked the Postmaster what they were and he explained what is already related, and further drew my attention to the the fact how, when convenient, they made use of the "Barbarians" methods; for the native letters are very light and therefore many could be sent together in one package cheaply.

Most collectors on their first visit to Formosa enquire for postage stamps, especially for those two large sized stamps issued in 1888. No one has any and everyone wished that they had. I gathered from different sources that nearly all of them were used for other than postal purposes but that a few did do duty in the native post offices above mentioned, but I give this for what it is worth. At any rate some of these stamps exist with the native postmark on them.

In 1895 however, Formosa suddenly issued two sets of stamps one succeeding the other in a very short space of time. It happened thus:—Formosa had been ceded to Japan by the Pekin court but the Chinese in Formosa objected, especially those in the South. After the Japanese had captured the northern parts of the island a strong force of Chinese soldiers known as "Black Flags" held the strong forts which were situated near Auping, the port for Tinanfu, the capital of the island. These Chinese were under the command of Liu Yung Fu, a general who had been commander in chief of the military forces of Formosa. Now Liu found it difficult when supplies were cut off from the mainland to be able to keep even a Chinese force on full pay, so among other methods of raising money he decided upon an issue of postage stamps. Their use was rendered obligatory for he ordered that no letter should go through the native post offices, nor over to the mainland, without bearing sufficiency of the new stamps according to rates imposed.

The reason for the second issue was that the first die did not print well and a large amount of work and material was thrown away in the printing, so a new die and a fresh variety of paper was substituted with certainly not unqualified success.

Stamps of both issues may be found with the Taiwan postmark and also with native post office postmark, the latter a red "cartouche" with Chinese characters within. The former could have been postmarked to order, the latter I believe were never so treated. The Chinese postmarks include various towns on the mainland opposite, i.e. Amoy, Swatow &c.

At last Japan secured the whole of Formosa and Liu no longer reigned. With his downfall finished the last, so far, of special issues for Formosa.

GOJUSEN.

The Revenue Stamps of ALAGOAS (BRAZIL).

THE existing lists of the stamps of this Province appear to be in great confusion, but having recently acquired a collection of them, I find that they naturally drop into groups as below. In all cases except the last issue the dates are open to revision.

IMPOSTO DO SELLO.

1892. Cascade in centre in circular band, lettered ESTADO DE ALAGOAS, and broken below by scroll bearing the words IMPOSTO DO SELLO. REPUBLICA on straight label at top with BRAZILEIRO on scroll immediately below. Blank tablet at base, with REIS on each side, for figure of value which is inserted by a second printing in colour. Medium wove paper. Perf. 10½. Type 1.

The second colour is that of figures of value.

100 reis, violet (pale to dark) and red.
200 ,, ochre (pale to very dark) and deep blue.
400 ,, red brown and deep blue.
1$, bistre and deep blue.
2$, pale yellow green and deep blue.
5$, pale blue grey and red.
10$, carmine and blue.

Type 1

The $10 (type 1a) is a larger stamp than the others, of very similar type. In the $1, $2, and $5 the sign for dollars "$" has two slanting strokes, thus differing from that on these values in the next series, on which the lines are vertical. The perforation of the next issue is also apparently distinctive.

Type 1a

1893? Type 1. Impression on thinner wove paper. Perf. 11½. The figures of value on all the values in black.

100 reis, carmine.	$2, pale yellow green.
300 ,, olive brown.	$5, pale blue.
400 ,, pale red brown.	$10, grey.
$1, pale dull yellow.	$20, pale lilac grey.

Date? Type, paper and perf. as last. But types of figures of value changed: on the 100 reis, the figure of value in thick type, the "1" being twice as tall as the 2 zeros; on the $1, the the figure "1" is shorter and thicker and the $ of a slightly different type.

Type 2

100 reis, carmine (pale to dark). Type 2.
$1, pale ochre.

1895. Somewhat similar type to last, but lettering in white on a coloured ground. REPUBLICA BRAZILEIRA on scrolls above. Figures of value inserted by a second printing in red on a lined tablet. Perf. 13, except the 400 r. and $10, which are perf. 11½. Type 3.

Type 3

100 reis, pink.
200 ,, mauve.
400 ,, pale orange yellow.
$1, buff.
$2, fawn.
$5, green.
$10, rose.

It is quite possible that sets of this issue may be made perf. 13 and perf. 11½.

Type 4

1898. Cascade in oval band in centre, REPUBLICA BRAZILEIRA on curved labels above, IMPOSTO DO SELLO below. Figures of value in small oval, with REIS on scrolls on either side, at base. White wove paper. Perf. 11½. Type 4.

100 reis, scarlet.
300 ,, brown (pale and deep).

Type 5

1900. Cascade in upright oval band, lettered ESTADO DE ALAGOAS above and IMPOSTO DO SELLO below. E. U. DO BRAZIL on straight label above, and figures of value on tablet at base, with REIS on either side. The value above $2 have a burelé in colour as groundwork except over the central oval. White wove paper. Perf. 11½. Type 5.

300 reis, green.
1000 ,, violet.
2000 reis, brown, burelé blue.
5000 reis, orange, burelé blue.
10000 ,, blue ,, yellow.

The Newspaper Tax Stamps of Great Britain.

By Walter Morley.

SINCE the last number was issued I have had the opportunity of inspecting Mr. F. G. C. Lundy's collection of the early varieties, and also a number of specimens submitted by Miss Player, and to Type 3 should now be added the following die numbers, the last named being higher than any I had seen of this type.

1461, 1655, 1656, 1670, 1676, 1680, 1682, 1711, 1747, 1759, 1907, 1922, 1942 1945, 1946.

I have received from other Collectors items of information &c., which I shall find of great assistance in compiling these lists. Miss Player submits some higher numbered dies of our types 1 and 2 which as will be seen adds considerably to our information the highest number of type 1 being die 2157 used in 1756 and type 2, die 2046 used in 1754. I think it advisable to leave a full list of the dies since seen till the end of this series of articles.

Type 4.

Halfpenny, red. Fourth series of plates, with line and end ornaments as shewn by our illustration. Dies probably 1 to 1750.

Type 4

Die numbers seen: 521, 658, 667, 804, 809 (date, 1734), 865, 893, 974, (date, 1736) 1035, 1047, (date, 1737) 1161, 1167, 1190 (date 1739), 1207, 1353, 1363, 1610, 1619, 1628, 1650, 1653, 1660, 1671, 1682, 1684, 1685, 1690, 1692, 1694, 1703, 1705, 1707, 1713, 1726, 1728, 1729, 1732, 1742 (date, 23. 7. 1746,) 1744, 1745.

TYPE 5.

Type 5

Halfpenny, red. Fifth series of plates, with line and end ornaments as shewn by illustration.

Dies seen: 1365, 1552, 1554, 1558 (date 12. 1748), 1560, 1562, 1579.

No. 1365 is a proof endorsed on back "Newspaper and Pamphlets 1744."

TYPE 6.

Halfpenny, red. Sixth series of plates, with line through die number and end ornaments as illustration. Dies probably 1 to 1300.

Type 6

Die numbers seen: 554 (date, 1728), 575 (date, 1729), 590, 606 (date, 1730,) 653, 654, 655, 669, 672, 684, 698, 699, 808 (date, 1735), 869, 882, 944 (date, 1736), 952 (date, 1737), 965 (date, 1738). 1057, 1257, 1276.

TYPE 7.

Type 7

Halfpenny, red. With line through die number, and corner ornaments joining the die as illustration. Dies probably 1 to 1150.

Die numbers seen: 464, 473, 581, 608, 643, 701, 764, 768, 773, 775, 795, 820, 827, 832, 917, 957, 1126, 1133.

TYPE 8.

Halfpenny, red. With line through die number, and corner ornaments very similar to type 7, but with a double lined scroll joining the die as illustration.

Type 8

Die numbers seen: 486, 513, 529, 533, 544, 547, 553, 560, 577, 588, 736, 813, 875, 876, 891, 941, 996, 1013, 1014, 1016, 1021, 1119, 1121, 1146, 1170, 1180.

TYPE 9.

Type 9

Halfpenny, red. With line and corner ornaments to die value as illustration.

Die numbers seen: 1322, 1328, 1337. All dated 1743.

It is possible this type may be a continuation of our type 5 die numbers constituting the 5th series of plates; some of these later types have die numbers with slight differences in the die number ornamentations.

TYPE 10.

Halfpenny, red. With line and corner ornaments to die number as illustration.

Die numbers seen: 1582 (date, 1748), 1662, 1667, 1723, 1745, 1712, 1713, 1730 (date, 1751), 1737.

This type again may be a continuation of the die numbers of our type 9.

Type 10

TYPE 11.

Halfpenny, red. With line and corner ornaments to die numbers as illustration.

Die numbers seen: 1402 (a proof dated 1725), 1459.

This type may possibly weave into the series of plates for our type 4, as we have no die numbers of 1400 in the type 4.

Type 11

EDITORIAL.

OWING to the pressure upon our space this month we are unable to continue, at any length, the discussion with regard to the collectability of "minor varieties" which we opened last month. Having, however, put forward our views in brief on this matter we feel we ought to indicate in what directions, in our opinion, a remedy might be found to prevent the discouragement of new collectors and the consequent decline of popularity of our hobby arising from this cause. The real difficulty in the matter lies in the impossibility of dictating to a man what he shall collect and what not. Some find their chief delight in seeking minor differences, some are indifferent in the matter; they are too lazy or cannot find any pleasure in studying their stamps. But notwithstanding this, there should be a fixed standard to which everyone, who desires the name of philatelist, ought to conform, and collectors alone are in a position to fi : the standard. An influential committee of collectors should decide what varieties are "minor" and not indispensable for a collector to take, and these decisions should be recorded in a standard Catalogue, in which the necessary varieties for a complete collection of any country would be in large type, while all "minor varieties" in the proper sense of the term should be relegated to notes in smaller type. This scheme has already been proposed and discussed at length, but at present a method has not been found by which it can be practically realised. In the meantime the only remedy at hand is for collectors of repute to discourage the collection of curiosities by fellow collectors, particularly in the direction of paying fancy prices for such.

* * * *

We have much pleasure in fulfilling the hope expressed in our August number of giving our readers a double supplement in order to make up for the one omitted then, and moreover as next month we shall present our readers with a Title page and Index to the volume for the year, we add a third instalment, so that accompanying this number will be found a treble Supplement, bringing the Argentine Catalogue down to the end of the Province of Corrientes. We are glad to get rid of the lengthy annual series of Document stamps for the Province of Buenos Ayres, and our readers who continue their subscriptions into next year (which we hope all will do—and may more be added to their number!), will find the Catalogue much more varied than it has hitherto been. None of the remaining Provinces except Santa Fé and Entre Rios have at all extensive issues of Fiscal stamps, while of the Municipalities, only Buenos Ayres provides a lengthy list all the others being represented by a very few stamps, more than three quarters of them being responsible for less than half-a-dozen.

* * * *

We have heard on good authority that the new ½d. and 1d stamps bearing the King's Head will be issued on New Year's day. The design is the same for both stamps and is as we described in our September editorial, but the 1d. stamp will actually be printed in carmine, i.e. the same colour as now in use on the tablet of value of the current 2d., so that we are to have our "red penny" after all! The ½d. stamp will be of the same colour as the current stamp—blue green. All other details, of both stamps, paper, watermark, jubilee lines, pattern between panes, and perforation, the same as at present. Both stamps will bear on the lower margin of the sheet the Account letter A.

Will any collector of the British Medicine Duty labels kindly allow us to inspect their collections of these stamps or refer us to any documents or books giving information as to their issue, dates, &c.' Our correspondent Ralph Douglas is undertaking the difficult task of compiling a Reference list of the dies and Proprietary names found on the same, and would be glad of any help our readers can give. The collections, of which every care will be taken, may be sent either to the editor or the publisher. The latter wishes to express his best thanks to all those collectors who have kindly submitted Newspaper Tax Stamps for inspection, especially to Mr. J. P. Dorman for his very valuable lot of Irish varieties and to Mr. F. G. C. Lundy and our contributor "K."

There has been much speculation lately as to what stamps would be the first to appear with a portrait of His Majesty. If our readers will turn to our Fiscal Chronicle they will find that the honour falls to the Colony of Queensland and that a fiscal (!) stamp, of which an illustration and other particulars are given, has won the race for first place.

Can any reader inform us as to the number and disposition of stamps on the sheet of the first issue of STEMPEL MÆRKE of Denmark?

THE RAILWAY LETTER FEE STAMPS OF SOUTHERN IRELAND

By "K."

A FEW words, in conclusion, on the great line whose absorbent propensities have occasioned this article. The letter fee stamps of the Great Southern and Western Railway have always been printed by Messrs, Sealey, Briers, and Walker, who seem to have made, in all, about 8 printings. Until 1898 the paper used was of a peculiar texture, and usually watermarked, once, vertically, in the sheet with the words "Extra Loam" in letters half an inch high. The earlier printings on this paper were in dark, the later in bright, green; and were of the printers first type, (type 1 of the Kanturk illustrations) with big C in "conveyance." In 1898 a new type was employed (type 3 Kanturk), which is known by the small C in "conveyance." These were printed in bright blue-green. At the end of '98 occurred the fire which appears to have destroyed all the printers' philatelic machinery, and a third die was prepared, from which there have been two printings, one in 1900 in dark green, and another more recently in a lighter and duller shade. The impressions from this die are most easily recognised by the figure of value, which is very attenuated in comparison with the earlier issues.

It may be noticed that I have omitted all mention of the most western line in the British Isles, the Tralee and Dingle Light Railway and Tramway Coy. Stamps bearing its name, of Messrs. Sealey, Briers and Walkers' 2nd type, have been known to collectors since 1898, but owing to some difficulty with the Clearing House they have never yet been brought into use, and the most suitable place for them in a collection would seem to be that page of curiosities to which I have already made allusion.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By "K."

The Great Northern Railway.

The early issues of the above line, one of the first to issue parcel stamps in 1855, are very difficult to classify, and the subjoined list, incomplete though it be, is the result of over 3 years diligent research. Most collectors are acquainted with the large oblong green stamps, 46 x 54 mm. in size, bearing the shields of England and Scotland, and scrolls above and below, and surcharged in black with a huge figure of value; but few, probably, are aware of the existence of two entirely distinct types, which represent different issues. In one of these, the shading is drawn across the end of the top scroll, until it covers the last N of Northern; and as the printers' name, Waterlow and Sons, is always to be found at the bottom of the stamps, I think there is no doubt that this is the earliest type. In type 2 the top label is not shaded, and the corner ornaments are altered, while the printers' name is generally worn off the die. The order of issue would appear to be as follows.—

Issue 1. 1855. Large oblong, type 1. Green impression, surcharged in black with weight, in figures, above value, in words.

2d. 3lbs. black on green. p. 11.
3d. 6 ,, ,, ,, ,,
4d. 12 ,, ,, ,, ,,

Note. I do not think the penny value was issued until a much later date, and am not sufficiently satisfied with the bona fides of the sixpenny, catalogued by Morley, to include it in the above issue.

Issue 2. 1856? Same type, surcharged with value only, in large figures.

2d., 3d, 4d., black on green, p. 10.

Issue 3. 1866? Type 2. The 1d. surcharged with value in words, remainder in figures, in slightly altered type.

1d., black on green. p. 10
2d. ,, ,, ,,
3d. ,, ,, ,,
4d. ,, ,, p. 11
6d. ,, ,, p. 10

Note. I do not recommend the collection of all 3 issues of this clumsy stamp. A single set, containing all 5 values, will be found sufficiently difficult to complete.

Issue 4. 1866? A fairly accurate copy of the preceding, but of smaller size, 24 x 28 mm Surcharged with value in words.

1/-, black on green. p. 10.

Issue 5. 1880? Same type, but surcharged with value in figures.

1d., black on green, many shades. Imperf. and perf. 10, 11, 11½.
2d., black on green, many shades. Perf. 10, 11, 11½, 12.
3d., black on green, many shades. ,, 10, 10½, 11, 11½, 12.
4d., black on green, many shades. ,, 10½, 11, 11½.
6d., black on green, many shades. ,, 10, 11, 11½.
1/-, black on green, many shades. ,, 10.

Note. Other varieties of perforation doubtless exist. I think one or two sheets of the penny were probably issued imperforate, as I have gathered two specimens from very different sources, both apparently in this condition, and exactly similar in shade and type. Some specimens of the 5th issue appear to have been produced by a different process of lithography to others and there are various points of minor difference in the types of surcharge, etc., but as most of these may be found on the same sheet I attach no great importance to them.

We have received a sumptuous volume, entitled "A History of Railway Letter Stamps, describing all varieties issued by the Railway Companies of Great Britain and Ireland under the authority of the Postmaster-General" by H. L'Estrange Ewen. It is a quarto volume of 430 pages, with a large number of illustrations of types, and even sheets in many cases, of the stamps of the various Railway Companies, and authoritative information has been obtained by the author from the Railway Companies as to the printings made, the dates of delivery and quantities printed. More we will not say now, as we hope to notice the volume at length in a future number.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

India. Court Fee Service. Mr. W. Corfield sends us a photograph of a stamp on the original document bearing the curious error of surcharge "Serviec" for "Service." The stamp which bears this surcharge is the two rupees Court Fee of the 1872 type which does not appear to have yet been chronicled with the surcharge of "Service" normally. Our correspondent does not state the colour of the stamp, whether orange (1872) or grey (1875).

Nevada State. Mr. F. L. Applegate of Oregon sends us a few remarks on Mr. Leve's article on these stamps in our September number He says :—"The colors of the two higher "values are not right. They would be better "reversed. The $10 is a dark brown not unlike "the $3. U S. of 1898 and the $20 is lilac like "the current 2/6 of Great Britain. I have the "10 cent dark blue and a 2 cent yellow, both "with the wide roulette. The yellow is very "prominent."

Philippine Islands. Of the type of the Revenue stamps provided by the U.S for these islands, Fig 9. in our October number of last year, a copy of the 10c. printed in bright green, comes to us from Mr. A. E. Lawrence. This is probably a new issue but may possibly be only a colour trial. It is perf. 11½.

Porto Rico. Sello de Polizas, 1896-97. We have inspected two sheets of the 25c. de peso, 1892 y 93, surcharged one printed in pale red-brown and the other in a deep tone, and find that there are two varieties of the surcharge. The sheets contain 5 rows of 5 stamps and the first two stamps on the fourth row have a figure "2" with a curly tail, all the rest having figure "2" with a straight one; also the last stamp on the same row has a comma, instead of a full stop after 1897.

Queensland. Stamp Duty. We have received from Messrs Stanley Gibbons and Co. a new Duty stamp of the design we illustrate. This is the first stamp to appear with a portrait of the King. It is watermarked with Q and Crown and perf. 12.
2d., carmine.

The arrangements of the complete sheet of these stamps is most peculiar. We are informed that it is made of 10 rows of 11 stamps and 1 row of 10 stamps, the place where the last stamp should be being occupied by something which we are told is "the royal cypher."

United States. Mr. E. H. White sends us a Tobacco stamp printed in gold on tin foil, so as to form a wrapper for 1 oz. of Tobacco; the "Revenue part" of the label bears Head of Liberty to left in arched label, lettered UNITED STATES INTERNAL REVENUE, and ONE OUNCE below with figure 1 each side. Large figures 1 on each side of central design and inscription below MANUFACTURED TOBACCO—ACT OF JUNE 13, 1898. TEN to left, outside design, and CENTS on right. The label is for John Anderson and Co's Solace.

United States State Revenues.

CALIFORNIA STATE REVENUES.

By Ab. Leve of Syracuse, N.Y., U.S.A.

THE state issues of California offer an immense field for research for collectors of United States State revenues. The state of California issued more varieties than any of the other states that had these extra issues of revenue stamps. There is no question about their increasing rarity as large numbers of leading stamp collectors are now specializing in these odd revenue stamps. Hon. E. B. Sterling of New Jersey in 1888 compiled a catalogue of the California State revenues in his collection at that time and he believed then that his list was very complete. State revenues represent taxes imposed upon the citizens of the following states: California, Alabama, Lousiana, Oregon and Nevada. These taxes were in addition to the regular tax of the United States government. Of course all of these stamps are now obsolete.

The State of California issued the total sum of three hundred and twenty-nine varieties of state revenues. This represents a large majority of the number of state revenues issued, in all there are only three hundred and ninety-nine varieties, the other seventy being the total number of these stamps issued by the other above mentioned states. The following list shows the varieties and the number of each separate kind.

TELEGRAPH STAMPS. The telegraph stamps of California are very interesting. They are all perforated and the design is composed mainly of a date line in an oval with George H. Mumford, President. The following is a complete list of these telegraph stamps. All of them were issued in 1871 with the exception of the last one listed which was issued in 1875.

The five varieties all measure 23 x 27 and were priced by Sterling at $3.50 each.*

2. Black on white, date in white oval, 1871.

REVENUE STAMPS. One of the most interesting things about the state revenues of California is the circular shape that many of the issues come in. A great many users of these stamps took the pains to carefully cut the stamp to shape thereby affecting greatly the beauty and value of the stamps so treated. Some firms used the stamps cut square; but cancelled them with a cancellation that had a heavy border around the letters which fitted exactly the outer edge of the central circular design of the stamp. As a rule the Californias were badly handled by the people who used them and good specimens are comparatively rare. One of the principal varieties in the various "Exchange" issues is that showing a dot after the word "tax." * The dot variety is the scarcer of the two; the "no dot" stamps being rather common.

Another item of importance to be considered in studying the Californians is the question of surcharges. It would take too much space to go into this matter very extensively; but at some future date I will take up these surcharges and give a

* Our publisher's Catalogue of Telegraph Stamps lists 15 varieties, of which 9 are priced from 30/- to 60/- each. [ED.]

Mr. Lundy listed 2155 varieties of the California State Revenue and Telegraph Stamps including the surcharges of the various Comptroller's initials in the Fiscal Philatelist, 1893. Mr. Leve does not mention the Attorney at Law $10, carmine, listed and illustrated in the F. P. from a copy in the collection of Mr. H. E. Deats. [ED.]

careful and complete review of them. The colours used were mainly black, red and blue. The letters were of many combinations the most common ones being: J. J. G., R. W., G. W. W., A. R. M., S. H. B.

There are many varieties of paper; but nearly all are very thin wove paper of different colours, white, blue, bluish, etc. White paper and blue verge paper occurs quite frequently. Some of the stamps were cut out in the circular form with a knife die and these are not met with very often. Many were cut square by those who used them and put on the document in that shape.

The designs are as a rule very odd and pretty and nearly all the issues are collectable in shades. The First, Second and Third "Exchange" issues "California" at the top and "State Tax" at the bottom of the stamp and both lines follow the circular form of the stamp, The central design consists of a square with the value of the stamp under the amount that the stamp will pay tax for. For instance the $1.00 stamp reads: "Above $400 to $500 $1.00." The stamp with the figure of value showing the dollar sign beneath is a handsome one and the design is very unique. The illustrations will show the intricate and attractive designs of the California State revenues. The general tendency is toward an inclination to collect them, and many collectors have been collecting them for years; but the new and younger Philatelists have a very obscure idea as to the value and importance of all the State revenues.

Sterling lists and prices thirty-two varieties of the "Insurance" stamps at $3.50 for each and every variety; reading "Three," "Six," and "Twelve months." The Sterling prices run from the lowest at ten cents up to the $56.00 brown at $15.00, and the other shades of this stamp at the same price. The rest contain many $8.00 and $10.00 and $3.50 stamps.

Only two catalogues listed the California revenues, Sterling's and Adenaw's. I have a few copies of Sterling's and they are extremely rare, being issued in 1888, and listing over 2000 varieties of United States Revenue Stamps.

My collection of Californians include many interesting original documents with combinations of State and common revenues on them.

I will be pleased to examine any kind of State Revenues for the readers of this Magazine if they will send them to me for my inspection.

Discoveries.

Cook Islands. The authorities are experimenting with surcharging on the current issue, and the 1d. brown has been issued, surcharged with a Crown in black. At the date of a letter received from a correspondent (Oct. 10th) no other value had appeared.

Fiji. Of the current issue our publisher has found a stamp with a compound perf. not listed in Gibbons' Catalogue.

½d., grey, perf. 10 x 12.

Orange River Colony. Our publisher has shown us an unsevered pair of the 1d., violet, surcharged V·R·I. with raised stops, the left hand stamp of which has a thick V and no stops after R and I.

Peru. Our publisher has shown us a portion of an envelope bearing the impressed stamp of 20 cent., violet, wove paper, which also bears the adhesive stamp 20 cent., carmine of 1878 surcharged with a somewhat indistinct device which appears to be Arms, and CALLAO below, in violet. The surcharge is known on a fiscal stamp but we think it is new on a postage stamp. The "piece" before us has every appearance of being genuine. It was probably issued some years ago, as it is obliterated with a black smudgy postmark, portions of which are over the surcharge.

Sarawak. Our publisher has the 3c., lilac and blue, surcharged "one cent," Gibbons No. 25, without stop after cent.

During 1753, the total number of stamps issued to Newspaper Proprietors was 7,411,757.

1756. $\frac{1}{2} + \frac{1}{2}$. Additional halfpenny added to the duty of 1712. Various restrictive regulations, and penalties were imposed in 1765 and 1773 and made more stringent, but still the number of newspapers continued to rise. Johnson, writing in 1758, says "Journals are daily multiplied, without increase of knowledge, the tale of the morning paper is told in the evening, and the narratives of the evening are bought again in the morning. These repetitions indeed, waste time, but they do not shorten it. The most eager peruser of News is tired before he has completed his labour; and many a man who enters the coffee-house in his night-gown and slippers is called away to his shop or his dinner before he has well considered the state of Europe."

In 1760 the numbers of stamps issued to Newspaper proprietors was 9,464,790.

During the periods which followed of constantly increased taxation, penalties of all kinds were increased, and obstructive regulations were multiplied, and in the course of the struggle between this and the irrepressible desire for cheap newspapers, more than seven hundred prosecutions for publishing unstamped journals were instituted, and more than five hundred persons were imprisoned, sometimes for considerable periods; as the prosecutions multiplied and the penalties became more severe, "Democrats," "Destructives," and "Poor Man's Guardians," and similar papers multiplied also, and their revolutionary tendencies increased to a still greater degree.

The addition of the extra halfpenny was made visible on the stamps themselves by adding the word HALFPENNY in a scroll at the bottom of the existing designs. Whether fresh plates were made, or if the alteration was made to a series of the existing dies, at this stage of my investigations I am not able to hazard an opinion.

EDITORIAL.

WITH this number we close our second volume and glancing over its pages we think that there will be found many contributions not without interest and some there are which bear evidence of much solid work. While we venture to hope that we have in some measure been able to maintain the objects which we have in view, the sure test that we have been successful is the continued support of our readers which we hope will be evidenced with the commencement of the new volume. Certain it is that our Supplementary Catalogue of the Argentine Fiscals, notwithstanding its imperfections, has been widely appreciated and we are sure that all fiscal collectors will thank our publisher's liberality in providing such a work for their use. Even if it does not progress as quickly as our readers would like, yet considering the at present restricted popularity of fiscal collecting, we are making substantial progress towards a complete Catalogue of Fiscals, the lack of which is undoutedly the chief obstacle to the spread of this branch of philately.

As on the next occasion that we take up our pen the festive season will be past and gone we tender Christmas greetings to our readers and wish them a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

* * * *

Our readers will be glad to hear that our publisher has in preparation a Catalogue of the Fiscals of Spain and Colonies, which have come into prominence lately on account of the Spanish American War. It will be fully illustrated and priced, and will be a valuable and up to date Reference work on these stamps.

The present stamp season has opened well and last month in particular a great deal of activity has been displayed in Philatelic circles. The meetings of the various Societies in the metropolis have been well attended and we have had two Exhibitions, one by the London Philatelic Society, of South African Stamps and and the other by the Junior London Philatelic Society, of the Stamps of Great Britain. The former Society also held its Annual Dinner on the 14th Inst.

* * * * *

The London Society's Exhibition consisted of the Stamps of all the South African Colonies affected by the war. A magnificent lot of fine stamps of every colony were on view and despite the dense fog—a London particular—which prevailed, was numerously attended. It is difficult among so many fine exhibits to select any for special mention but the Earl of Crawford's Transvaals and Orange River Colony seem to have especially attracted attention and amongst the élite, Mr Dorning Beekton's Griqualand. This latter is perhaps especially worthy of mention on account of its extreme difficulty and the fine panes and blocks of these stamps—all unused—which Mr Beckton has got together, afford valuable information as to the arrangement of the various types. Mr. Vernon Robert's Capes are well known but there seems to be a general impression that they are "over-bloated".

* * * *

The Exhibition of the Junior London Philatelic Society consisted of a representative collection of the postal issues of Great Britain, and a really fine collection of about 4,000 specimens was displayed. Amongst the stamps shown were a fine lot of the line engraved series, including two copies of the V.R. and some splendid shades of the 1d red, unused, both imperf and perf. and a pair with Archer's roulette. There was a fine show of all the high values in both used and unused condition. Mulreadies were well represented, while amongst the forgeries of English stamps there was shown for the first time a forgery of the 2d. blue Mulready envelope.

The current issue of Austrian Bills on the thin transparent paper like gold beater's skin appears to be printed in a novel way. The head of the Emperor Joseph in circle, the value both above and below the central medallion and on the label at base, the floral design at the sides and the border are printed in the usual manner, but the ground work of the whole stamp and the inscription in the circular band round the central medallion are printed on the back in a soluble ink, so that the result of any attempt to remove paper from the back of the stamp is to leave merely a "skeleton" of the stamp, viz., the part produced by the surface printing, on a plain transparent ground. As we have just ruined a number of these stamps by submitting them to the operation just mentioned we are anxious to warn collectors so that they may profit by our experience. By analogy we presume the same would be true of the current Hungarian and Bosnian bills. We cannot recall any other stamps similarly produced to these except the Prussian stamps of 10 sgr. and 30 sgr. of 1866 on gold beater's skin, but in the latter no portion of the design is printed on the upper surface of the paper.

HISTORY OF RAILWAY LETTER STAMPS.*

THE sumptuous volume on Railway Letter Stamps compiled by Mr. Ewen, which we now review, will be heartily welcomed by all collectors of these stamps, and by those earnest philatelists who take care to add every notable work to their libraries. The volume contains about 440 pages arranged as follows:—Preface, Index to 106 Railway Companies, the Railway Letter Post, the Railway Letter Stamp, Printers of Railway Letter Stamps, English Railways, Scottish Railways, Irish Railways, Appendix.

No fewer than 1209 stamps are illustrated. The illustrations, which are admirably executed in facsimile, are interleaved with the letterpress and consequently conveniently arranged for reference. The author finds that the total number of Railway Letter Stamps printed since the service originated in February, 1891, is as follows:—

	Total printed.	No. of issues.
English and Welsh Railways	1,800,000	311
Scottish Railways	275,000	54
Irish Railways	425,000	112
Total	2,500,000	477

The printing, paper and general get up of the work are all excellent.

It is impossible to write on the contents of new work in terms other than of unmeasured praise. In the present volume, while the expenditure of time, labour, and money must have been immense, Mr. Ewen has succeeded in obtaining (and only those who have tried know how difficult is the achievement) official information from nearly every railway as to the date and extent of their numerous issues. In face of all this, criticism is almost impossible and must appear even captious, so that it is with a full recognition of the extreme merit of Mr. Ewen's work that we venture to mention the few points which we have observed in a first glance through the volume.

Among English lines, the articles on such as the Great Eastern, Great Northern, and Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railways are admirable, and contain much that is new to collectors. So does that on the London and South Western, but the perforation of the 14th issue on page 82 does not agree with that assigned to it on p. 94. Perf. 13 x 14 is, we believe, correct. A slight discrepancy also occurs in the 31st issue of the North Eastern Railway on pages 174 and 199, while "No. 1," in line 4, p. 32, is an obvious misprint for "No. 2."

A little further information seems needed about some issues of the London, Chatham, and Dover, and L. B. & S. C. Railways, while an obvious, but misleading, slip is made with respect to the last named railway on page 102, when the words "TRANSFER "III" in the 18th line from bottom should probably read "TRANSFER "IA" or some such expression to denote the late state of the first transfer.

The arrangement of the many and little known printings of the Scotch Railways displays an enormous amount of research and affords valuable information that collectors have long been awaiting.

We have always imagined however, that there have been considerably more than four issues by the Portpatrick and Wigtownshire Railway; and the description of the first two issues of the North British is somewhat perplexing, as we have found most of Mr. Ewen's marks of distinction between the 5 panes charmingly blended together on the very few specimens that we have been able, at such short notice, to examine.

Crossing to Ireland Mr. Ewen has a great deal to say about the vexed question of the numerous so called "proofs" and "reprints." He has exercised wise discretion in his remarks, steering clear of personal references, and stating the arguments on at least one side of the question very clearly and forcibly. We cannot say that we entirely agree with all his deductions, more especially with regard to the unissued Cavans, and the West Donegal and Lough Swilly proofs, but this subject would need an article to itself, and would probably lead to a controversy out of which little good could come, and which would be of small general interest, owing to the extreme rarity of most of these productions and to the fact that hardly any of them can be classed among the actually issued varieties.

The fact of Mr. Ewen having found evidence of two printings in the 1898 (dark green) issue of the W. L. and W. Railway shows with what care the author has examined stamps whose classification has hitherto been wrongly regarded as definitely settled; while the ingenuity displayed in the article on the Kanturk and Newmarket line almost leads to regret that he does not hold an important post on the intelligence staff of the South African Field Force!

The very fact of so little being left unsolved in such a "classic" production, must attract special attention to the little that there is; we think that we could lay our hands on several specimens of the early Carswell (Belfast, Ballycastle, and Sligo) printings which are unknown to the author, and we hope that their fortunate owners will come forward to his assistance, so that in the forthcoming supplement, which we are glad to hear will be an annual publication, all existing doubts may be cleared away, and it may be possible for enthusiasts to arrange their Letter Fee stamps without the perpetual dread, as has heretofore been the case, of a new catalogue upsetting the cherished neatness of their collections.

Victoria. Mr. A. M. South sends us a current Railway Stamp, which, although our publisher has had a copy for some three or four years, does not yet appear to have been chronicled. Perf. 12-12½.

2d., pale blue.

The ½d., 5d., 9d., and 2/- are catalogued by Roussin, but our publisher possesses another value

1/-, black on orange.

SOUTH AFRICAN WAR PROVISIONALS.*

THIS little book will be of great value to the numerous collectors of the stamps to which the Transvaal war has given rise. The author has carefully sifted the heterogeneous mass of information that has been published on the stamps and has endeavoured to eliminate all that he considers false and unnecessary. The stamps which have survived this ordeal he has arranged and classified in an intelligible form and the result is probably the best guide to these provisional issues which has yet appeared. With the help of the excellent and abundant illustrations provided the collector should have no trouble in arranging his stamps. We have carefully perused the details given of the minor varieties of all the printings of the Orange River Colony stamps and can only add a couple to the exhaustive lists given, they are (1) First printing, ½d. orange with ½ and d wider apart than normally and (2) Third printing, 1d purple with V. R. I. omitted owing to the shifting of the sheet during printing, the stamp vertically above this variety showing the "1d." above V. R. I. To these we may add another variety which has just turned up viz, the 1d purple with thick "V" and no stops after R or I. which we chronicle this month under the heading "Discoveries."

The author apparently accepts all the "Locals" with the exception of those for Krugersdorp, Schweizer Renecke and the Commando Brief stamps. We are doubtful whether he is right in so doing in the case of the last mentioned stamp. In a paper read before the Sydney Philatelic Club by the President, Col. W. D. C. Williams stated (we quote from the Australian Philatelist Feb. 1901): "I take it that the Commando Stamp is a genuine postage stamp and not one issued merely for—the private speculation of a chemist—as stated by Messrs Stanley Gibbons. Their history is this. In the very early days of the war all letters from Boer Commandos were sent unstamped, but franked by the Boer Commandant. As the Boer forces increased this became somewhat of a task for the Commandants and Mr Hochapfel, a chemist in Bloemfontein who had gone out on Commando with the Boers as principal of their Field Post, was directed to produce a stamp which would answer the purpose—hence the Commando stamp. The entire envelopes shown with the dates of 26th October., and 31st October., 1899—some 5½ months prior to the British occupation, rather dispel the speculative theory." And further if they were a mere speculation why are unused copies so seldom seen? Even used ones are not freely on the market.

With regard to the Rustenberg stamps our publisher has seen a complete set which consisted of the ½d. 1d. 2d. 2½d. 3d. 6d, 1/- and 2/6 values, duly signed as a complete set as issued for Imperial purposes by the Secretary to Lord Cecil. The 4d value does not genuinely exist with this surcharge, though it is catalogued in Gibbons and other catalogues. Of the Vryburg stamps our publisher has the 2d. and 2½d. values surcharged V. R.—SPECIAL-POST—in addition to the ½d. and 1d. chronicled by our author and he is informed that the whole stock in hand was surcharged and consisted of ½d.	..	332 copies.

1d.	..	68 ,,
2d.	..	2 ,,
2½d.	..	2 ,,

a total of 304 stamps.

These "local" issues are however a very intricate subject to deal with and the last word has not yet by any means been spoken with regard to them. We congratulate our author on having produced a very welcome addition to the philatelist's library

Austria. Of the engraved series Mr. R. M. Kennedy records the following varieties of perforation.

20 kr. blue, perf. 9½ x 10.
2 fl., violet, perf. 10½ x 11.

Ceylon. Mr. R. M. Kennedy makes an addition to the list of Indian telegraphs used in Ceylon viz: the 2 r. 8as. orange on blue paper. Mr. A. B. de l'Argentière points out an error in our publisher's Catalogue. The illustrations Nos. 63 and 66 should be reversed, and he has submitted a variety of Type 66 (which should be red surcharge) with two bars through the value at the top instead of one.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.
NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Argentine Republic. Amongst additions to our Catalogue, for which we are indebted to several gentlemen and a full list of which we shall give later, the following seem to be of sufficient importance to chronicle here.

Cigarettes, 1897-98. 6 cent., red-brown perf, 11½ (No 828a.)

Tobacco in packets, 1895. 6 cent., red-brown (No. 1074a)

9 ,, rose (No. 1075a)

Great Britain. Ireland, Marine Policies. Messrs. Chas. Nissen & Co. inform us that they possess three values not given in our publisher's catalogue.

6d., blue, wmk. Orbs, perf. 14, die C.
1/6, ,, ,, ,, die A.
2/-, ,, ,, ,, die A.

The stamp chronicled in our November No. should be credited to Mr. A M. South.

Guanacaste. Mr. A. E. Lawrence sends us the 5c and 10c, Costa Rica Revenues, surcharged for this province and informs us that he possesses another variety of surcharge on the 2c. in addition to these chronicled by us in September.

2c., blue, sur. "Guanacaste." 18½ x 2 mm.
5c., red brown, sur. Guanacaste, 15 x 2½ mm.
10c., blue ,,

The same gentleman informs us that he possesses a vertical strip of ten of the 2c. which shows the arrangement of the varieties of surcharge on the sheet assuming that each row is surcharged with the same type. The top three stamps bear the surcharge in Roman caps. 21 ½ 2½ mm, the next two in Roman caps. 15 x 3 mm., the next in Roman caps. 19½ x 3½ the next three in Clarendon with cap. "G," 20 x 2 mm. and the last is the variety described above, 18½ x 2 mm.

India. Our publisher submits a set of the recent surcharges on the Foreign Bill Stamps, of which the 12 as. on 12 rupees was chronicled in our Oct. no. and the remaining values in Stamps for October.

The latter are as follows:—

2 as. on 8 rup. bars through value, TWO (9 x 2½) above upper bar, ANNAS (13 x 2½ mm.) below lower one.
4 as. on 4 rup., bar through value and ANNAS (13½ x 2½) mm below.
6 as. on 6 rup., bar through value and ANNAS (13½ x 2½) mm. below.
3 rup. on 8 rup, bar through "EIGHT" and THREE (8 x 2 mm.) above.

Mexico. Mr. A. E. Lawrence sends us the 5 pesos, orange, RENTA INTERIOR, 1894-95, surcharged ALCOHOLES in tall thin block letters across stamp and TALON. This is said to be used for a tax on wines and spirits. Can any reader give us further information?

Peru. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits the 10c. claret, 1880-81 surcharged with a large oval, over two stamps, bearing the words CAJA FISCAL above, DEL in centre and DEPARMENTO DE APURIMAC below. The surcharge is in blue.

Queensland. Beer Duty. Oblong rect. 82 x 47 mm. on thick "Beer Duty" paper, wmk. Crown and Q. perf. 12.

2/-, aniline red
4/6, blue
12/9, vermilion (no wmk.)

Only the 2/6 blue of this set appears to have been chronicled. Cannot some of our readers inform us of the values and colours of the rest of the set. We believe also there are two issues of about seven values of the small rect. stamps and should be glad to receive full particulars respecting these, as at present only a few have been chronicled.

Sarawak. Mr. Ha Buey Hon informs us that the following additions must be made to the list of the provisional Revenue stamps, surcharged "R" only, in our July number.

$2, green and blue.
$5, ,, violet.
$10, ,, carmine.

and that the permanent issue contains the following values in addition to those previously recorded.

25c., lilac & blue.
50c., ,, black.
$1, green & dark green.
$2, ,, blue.
$5, ,, violet.
$10, ,, carmine.

All the values of the permanent issue are of the same size and of the type we illustrate. We also annex a cut of the provisionals surcharged "R" and "REVENUE ONLY." This surcharge exists with various broken or dropped letters, and for those who care to collect such things we give four mentioned by Mr. Ha Buey Hon

1. The "Y" and stop of the surcharge "ONLY." raised higher than the level of the other letters.
2. The "R" of "REVENUE" broken so that it looks like a "K."
3. The "O" of "ONLY." broken at top.
4. The inking of the letters "ENUE" of "REVENUE" very pale and the "UE" dropped as in our illustration.

The provisionals are now obsolete.

The same gentleman informs us that the long band-like stamp which we chronicled in April is not a stamp at all but merely the upper margin of the sheet of the well known Three cents Receipt stamp, with three quarter face portrait of Charles Brooke to left.

Published by WALTER MORLEY, 15, Brownhill Gardens, Catford, S.E.; and printed by JOHN GEORGE PAYN, 12, Market Hill, Sudbury, Suffolk. December, 1901.

The other peso values only show minor differences.

*Very dangerous forgeries of the 50c., 5 and 10 pesos exist. They are lithographed and perf. 11½, and these features will serve to distinguish them from the genuine ones. They have been made to defraud the revenue, not collectors, and may be met with "genuine obliterations," if this phrase is permissible in the case of fiscals.

A 50c., green and 1 peso, violet were recently chronicled in M. P. J. copying an announcement in L'Ami des Timbres that these belonged to the first issue. We think this must be an error, as we have since seen stamps of these denominations in the colours given, and they undoubtedly belong to the 3rd issue, viz.: our Nos 12 and 13.

"Morley's Philatelic Journal."

Edited by L. W. FULCHER, B.Sc.

Morley's Philatelic Journal is a monthly illustrated philatelic journal intended to be of service to collectors of postage, revenue, telegraph and railway stamps.

The ever increasing number of those who are devoting their attention to the last three sections, renders it highly necessary that a periodical publication should be available for the purpose of recording discoveries, of disseminating information, and of providing a common ground on which collectors may meet for the interchange of ideas and the discussion of of matters pertaining to these branches. Morley's Philatelic Journal is the only paper published in the English language which specially denotes itself to this purpose.

The collector of postage stamps only will, nevertheless, find articles on Postage Stamps embodying the fruit of personal research, and discoveries in this branch will be duly recorded, but there will be no chronicle of new issues, as this feature receives sufficient attention in other quarters.

The journal is conducted on perfectly independent lines for the sole benefit of collectors, the true interests of philatelists being carefully safeguarded. The advertisement pages contain the announcements of the publisher only, and no reference to the requirements of his business is made in the body of the paper.

In order to secure the ends enumerated above, special effort is made to secure a thorough list of the new issues and discoveries in the domain of fiscals and telegraphs, and as these lists are of the greatest service to collectors it is hoped that the hearty co-operation of all subscribers will be given in the endeavour to make them as complete as possible. Communications relating to this department should be addressed to the editor, and, whenever possible, be accompanied by the specimens. Every care will then be taken of the latter and due acknowledgment will be made of every such favour. Government officials able to supply information will confer a favour on us and our readers by sending us any facts or documents announcing issues of early Telegraphs and Fiscals. We shall always be pleased to receive articles on the telegraphs or fiscals of any country.

Articles on the postage stamps of any country by specialists will also be gladly inserted and news of discoveries in this branch will be welcome.

It is a peculiar feature of revenue stamp collecting that there are many practically unknown devotees of the hobby, who have long been quietly amassing and studying fiscals, and we shall try to reach as many of these as possible and to induce them to furnish contributions to the common stock of knowledge through these pages. Several such have come forward during the past year and it is hoped that their example will be copied by others.

The following are among the chief articles which have already appeared in this journal.

The First American Stamp Duties. By A. Preston Pearce.
The Early Fiscals of British Guiana. By A. White.
Belgian Bill Stamps. By Jean Verzijl.
The Revenue Stamps of Siam. By L. W. Fulcher.

Municipal Stamps of Gloucestershire. By R. Douglas.

Philately as an Aid to Culture. By Rev. E. Bell, M.A.

Kashmir Telegraphs. By J. H. Lane.
Seychelles. Discovery of two Types. By O. Firth.
Fiscal Stamps of Grenada. By E. D Bacon.
Local Postage Stamps of Great Britain. The Circular Delivery Co.'s Stamps. By W. Morley.
V.R.I. on Orange Free State. By. W. Morley.
Telegraph Stamps of Japan. By L. W. Fulcher.
American Fiscal Issues in the Philippine Islands. By A. Preston Pearce.

Our best thanks are due to our subscribers for the interest they have shown and the amount of assistance they have rendered during the past year, and we hope that the same will be extended to us in the future.

We desire to exchange two copies of our journal for others, both at home and abroad. Publishers of Magazines, &c. who are willing to do so, are requested to send one copy of their publication to the Editor, L. W. Fulcher, 56, Buckleigh Road, Streatham, S.W., and one to the Publisher, W. Morley, 15, Brownhill Gardens, Catford, S.E.

Those desirous of subscribing, please fill up the form given below and forward it with a postal order order for 2/6 to W. Morley, 15, Brownhill Gardens, Catford, S.E.

British Africa Postage Stamp Album.

OWING to the fact that the war in South Africa has caused great attention to be drawn to the stamps of the British Possessions on that continent, and to the enormous increase in the number of Collectors that has ensued from the issue of the War Provisionals in Mafeking, Bloemfontein, Pretoria, etc., we think this a good time at which to place before the public

STANLEY GIBBONS'

British Africa Postage Stamp Album.

OWING to the fact that the war in South Africa has caused great attention to be drawn to the stamps of the British Possessions on that continent, and to the enormous increase in the number of Collectors that has ensued from the issue of the War Provisionals in Mafeking, Bloemfontein, Pretoria, etc., we think this a good time at which to place before the public

A NEW AND VERY COMPLETE ALBUM

Designed for the British Possessions, etc., on the African Continent.

The Album is designed upon the well-known plan of the Imperial Albums—the stamps in numbered spaces of the correct sizes on the right-hand page, and the description, full particulars, and illustrations on the opposite page. In order to make this a permanent Album we have provided from one to four blank pages after each country, thus making the Album available for the issues of many years to come. All varieties that are given in our latest Catalogues and Supplements have spaces provided for them.

The Postage Stamps of Japan.

By G. T. Bishop.

An account of the earlier issues of Japan in connection with their perforations has I believe never been published. There is a general idea that the perforations are prolific, unintelligible and uninteresting. This is not so and those collectors and dealers interested in this country will find by the following list that the perforations in question are not too prolific to be most interesting. I have simplified the various gauges to the best of my ability and in so doing have taken or considered the advice of other collectors. In every case I have seen the stamps catalogued below and in the vast majority have myself measured them.

Several varieties of paper are added to those usually catalogued, but only marked variations. Such errors that I have seen will be found noted.

I trust that this article will prove but the pioneer of more complete lists and further that those dealers who publish catalogues will adopt the method below so that the many dealers and collectors of Japs in Japan may get an idea as to what they have to collect in the way of perforations and papers.

It should be noted here that the issues of Japan since 1876 have been already thoroughly thrashed out and published by Mr. Fulcher, in the London Philatelist for September 1900 and tables giving the perforations seen on the fiscals were appended to the various issues in his series of articles in Stamps for 1899, but these latter require "boiling down."

Perforations.

A. Perf. 11. This is a perforation made up of series of eleven holes both horizontally and vertically. These series do not always coincide with the stamp and often have an intervening imperforate space between two series which accounts for the numbers of stamps of those issued before 1874 that have lost corners. It was probably made to fit the March '72 issue (square stamps) and was consequently not a good fit for subsequent issues.

This perforation has a tendency to 10½ and 11½.

B. Perf. 11¾. This perforation consists of series also, twelve horizontally and 13 holes vertically. It may measure 11½ or 12, but is usually midway between the two, hence the nomenclature. There are also small imperforate spaces with like results as the preceding.

C. Perf. 12½. Usually a good regular perforation except when used on thick paper when it is often blind, and separated stamps cannot be measured in bad cases.

Separated stamps often show sharp teeth. As the size of the holes varies it is possible that more than one machine of this gauge was in use, besides stamps are found gauging 12 which certainly did not come from B. However, we have included all stamps of the early issues measuring 12, 12½, 13 under this heading as it would be almost in some, and quite in many cases, impossible to differentiate.

D. Perf. 9½. This perforation is a continuous one but is not quite regular gauging often 10 and rarely 9, but mainly 9½. In the early issues it includes everything therefore from 9 to 10.

E. Perf. 11 s. (small). These perforations are usually not more than pin pricks, although paper may be found removed sometimes. It was in general use but must have served its purpose badly.

There is a tendency to 10½.

F. Perf. 9 s. (small). Similar to "E" but gauging 9.

G. Perf. 11 v. l. (very large). A perforation having very large holes which leave on the severed stamp very sharp teeth or none at all. Usually this perforation is partly 'blind' which causes an irregular condition of the margins of the stamp.

H. Perf. 11 n. (normal). I may say at once that this possibly includes more than one machine but if that is so it is quite impossible to differentiate any particular one.

To those who have studied the issues of 1874 the following notes should be quite clear.

At first—as seen in the 1 sen, blue with syllabic—this machine was continuous, regular, and very seldom blind. As we get towards the later syllabics of the 2 sen we find irregularities commencing, the holes are not in a straight line, they gauge 10½ rather than 11, and in many cases cannot be measured at all. This perforation may be distinguished from "11" by the holes not being in series.

Included under this head therefore are perforations measuring 10½, 11, 11½, not coming under the foregoing heads.

Compound perforations of the above gauges exist.

In addition to above, various other varieties may be met with rarely. Some are due to machines wearing out or improperly used, while other varieties are due to machines used for fiscal stamps being pressed into the postal service.

The former I should include as curios, the latter as genuine varieties.

'Blind' perforations are very common in, I think I may say, every variety of perforation. The consequence is that many collectors make a variety of this rough or unfinished perforation. To me this seems quite uncalled for, although of course a collector adds to his collection what he pleases, but it is accumulating rather than collecting. These 'blind' varieties were no doubt caused by the operator trying too perforate too many sheets at a time.

In the list which follows, the perforations are distinguished by the nomenclature as affixed to the preceding paragraphs.

Papers.

1. Native laid paper. This is a paper used mainly for the first and second issues. It can be described as a native hand-made paper of varying thickness but usually thin and transparent, sometimes showing laid lines which may be either horizontal or vertical, and sometimes without even a trace of such marking. It may be here noted that many stamps which show no laid lines when dry will do so when wet.

   Rarely a thickish variety of this paper is met with in first issue. It naturally loses its transparency and is sometimes so opaque that none of the design can be seen from the back.

2. Thin native wove paper. This is used for the perforated square issue on wove. It is a thin hard paper with a tendency to break if creased.

NOTE. The "thick woolly wove" paper is merely a variety of the wove native paper on which many later stamps were printed. The half sen, March 1872 issue, exists on this paper which of course is very different to the one above.

3. Native wove paper. This and the following paper are often confused. This is because the latter sometimes shows no sign of laid lines and such specimens are usually included under this heading. This paper is somewhat soft to the feel and clear when held up to the light. It occurs in the issues commencing Oct. 1872, all values, being rarer in the 2 sen, yellow and the 4 sen, rose, than the laid variety. The 2 sen, orange, no. 1 syllabic, is found printed on this paper. Various syllabics of the 6 sen on native paper show no laid lines and are sometimes chronicled as existing on native wove paper. So far I have failed to find a satisfactory specimen.

4. Native laid paper. The laid lines are of varying thickness apart, and varying distinctness. They are both horizontal and vertical giving the paper the look of a fine quadrillé of different sizes. Sometimes the vertical and at other times the horizontal lines are more in evidence. The paper also varies much in thickness, more so than any other of the papers under consideration. In colour it is markedly buff being most marked in the 6 sen, violet brown.*

5. Native silky paper. A wove paper, soft and silky to the touch much like so-called rice paper. It takes impressions badly. Forgeries are printed on it more than genuine stamps.

6. European wove. A paper made after the European fashion of varying thickness, whiteness and fineness.

There is a variety of this paper which I call "rough porous wove." It has a blotting paper like surface with a great facility for taking up dirt. Examples: 2 sen, yellow, syls. 19,20.

7. "Ivory laid." Probably a wove paper, rather thin, very white shewing wavy lines like those in ivory. The lines are sometimes visible in the dry stamp but often it has to be wetted to make them apparent. This paper can be easily distinguished without looking for the laid lines by its colour and texture.

EDITORIAL.

ON our third birthday we are glad to be able to present our readers with a first instalment of an elaborate article on the Postage stamps of Japan. The author has been a collector of these stamps for many years, and he has spent several months in the preparation of his article. As regards the general history and description of the stamps, there is, of course, little or nothing to add to the classical papers of Mr. E. D. Bacon in the Philatelic Record, but the perforations and papers have been in need of some classification and it is mainly to these points that our author directs his attention. We believe that most collectors imagine the perforations of Japan to be infinite in number, but we do not think that this has been the reason why these stamps are comparatively unpopular at the present time. The true cause is probably the vast quantity of unofficial facsimiles and forgeries which are foisted on all travellers to the East with the utmost success. These things are found in large quantities on the market, and in the auction rooms, and naturally create great disgust with all Japanese stamps in the collector who suddenly discovers that two thirds of his stamps of this country are of this nature. However a very little experience will easily enable anyone to guard himself against these facsimiles and by the chrysanthemum test, viz. that all genuine Japanese stamps have 16 petals in the Royal chrysanthemum which appears as an integral portion of the design, a test recently announced by Mr. W. C. Eaton in the American Journal of Philately, there is no reason why any collector should be badly taken in. Furthermore, this difficulty being overcome nobody can deny that Japan has a very clean record philatelically. There are no surcharges and no stamps made for collectors except perhaps the few commemoratives of low values issued in recent years. We hope that the researches of our author will draw fresh attention to this neglected country and lead to a more general study of these beautiful and interesting stamps.

As to our further programme for the year we may say that we have in prospect no lack of material and we hope to attack at an early date the Revenue stamps of India and its Native States, these being badly in need of some arrangement. The Municipal stamps of Great Britain require revision and we have in hand some notes on these which will appear as soon as possible.

* * * * *

We are afraid that those who expected something really artistic for the new postage stamps of this country were disappointed. To reflect the general opinion of them, we are compelled to say that the design is commonplace, the King's Head poorly drawn and the engraving bad. Criticism on the King's Head has called attention to the succession of sharp points formed by the nose, beard and neck, while the exceptional baldness, and the peculiar mark (what can it be?) over the eyebrow combine to make it a poor representation of His Majesty. On the other hand we think that, amongst philatelists at any rate, except for the engraving of the Queen's Head, they are an improvement of the stamp which they supersede. For ourselves we certainly consider the uniformity of design and adoption of a single colour on white paper infinitely preferable from a collector's point of view, to the De la Rue two colour prints with which we have been overwhelmed during the last few years.

The colours of the ½d and 1d. can hardly be said to be pretty, but the blue of the 2½d., of which we have already seen shades, is pleasing. The 6d., which is printed in the colour of the superseded 1d., looks well, the more intricate nature of the design taking away the washed out appearance which the latter stamp always possessed.

There was a great rush for the new stamps on New Year's day, and many people who were "seeing the New Year in" secured specimens at midnight on New Year's Eve in various localities. We gather from the Daily Mail that 82,270,720 of the new stamps were issued in 48 hours, up to Thursday night, 49,200,000 of the 1d., 29,680,000 of the ½d., 1,830,720 of the 2½d., and 1,560,000 of the 6d., representing a value of £270,920.

We are glad to announce that the movement which has been set on foot recently with regard to forming a Society for the study of Fiscal and Revenue stamps in London has culminated in the calling of a meeting of those interested, at Essex Hall, Essex Street, Strand, on Saturday, 11th January, at 3 p.m. There is no question but that such a Society is now badly needed, both for the acquisition of knowledge in regard to fiscals and the amendment of existing Catalogues, and also for the purpose of instructing its members and spreading the fascination of this branch of philately to other philatelists. We hope that a Society will be successfully launched as a result of the meeting.

BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

A. Stamps for Newspaper Parcels.

Issue 6. 1899. Similar to the 5th in size and design, but the latter redrawn and clearer, the most noticeable alteration being in the corner ornaments, where the Prince of Wales' plume consists of 5 feathers instead of 7.

1d., 2d., 3d., black on green, perf. 11.

Note. The three values are known imperf. but it is very doubtful whether they have ever been issued in this condition.

Thanks to Mr. Potter's admirable article in last January's number on the current issues of this line, description of the remaining types is unnecessary, a recapitulation of his summary, with the addition of such obsolete varieties as are known, being sufficient to complete this reference list.

B. Stamps for single, etc., newspapers.

These are all on white paper.

Issue B 1. Large rect., 42 x 37 mm.

1½d (three newspapers) chocolate brown, p 12½.
2d. (four ") blue (shades), p. 10.

Issue B 2. Medium rect., 29 x 24 mm.

½d. (one newspaper) red, vermilion, perf. 10.
1d. (two ") lilac grey (shades), p. 10.

Note. The above four stamps all have the corners of design cut off by straight lines, and shading between each letter of the word "Railway."

Issue B 3. Size and design as in Issue B 2, but corners rounded, and the shading as a rule reduced to a few unequal lines between A and I, and W and A, of "railway." Large figures of value, the 2 of ½d., 4 mm. in breadth, and the 1 of 1d., 10 mm. in length. The ½d., now has the value surcharged in black.

½d., black on red (many shades), p. 10 to 12½.
1d., lilac-grey, p. 12½.

CIRCULAR DELIVERY COMPANIES.

An interesting discovery has been made by our contributor "K" of a circular of the London and Metropolitan Circular Delivery Companies which we think is of sufficient interest to place on record verbatim. Our readers are referred for a history of the stamps issued by these Companies to the article by Mr. Walter Morley in Vol. I. p. 47. The circular in question is as follows:—

LONDON AND METROPOLITAN

Circular Delivery Companies

Chief Office—317, High Holborn—W. C.

The London and Metropolitan Circular and Pamphlet Delivery Companies have been instituted for the purpose of economising the labour and expense besides securing the regular delivery, of Circulars, Pamphlets, &c., now so frequent and effective a medium of advertising.

To insurance companies, commercial and professional firms and all who advertise by means of Circulars these Companies will be of the greatest service. The Company's Stamp is affixed to each Circular, thereby giving it an official appearance which will secure its proper delivery to the party to whom it is addressed.

The Companies have an efficient Staff of Deliverers, who are under the immediate supervision of competent Inspectors, thus securing the delivery (instead of the destruction now so commonly practised) of the Circulars sent out.

Terms for the delivery of ordinary Circulars, by the Companies' Stamps, one Farthing each: Pamphlets and Packages according to size and weight.

Advertisers desiring it can have Envelopes Directed and Stamped, Circulars Folded and placed in the Envelopes. Circulars, &c., Printed, Engraved, or Lithographed, in all styles. By these means saving both time and expense consequent on passing through different hands. Terms on application.

Envelopes, all sizes and qualities, supplied at the lowest trade prices.

Orders for the Delivery, &c., of Circulars by the Edinburgh and Leith Circular Delivery Company are received at this office.

 No Letter taken on any pretence whatever.

The following Certificate taken from a host of others will show how this Company is appreciated in Edinburgh (where it has been in successful operation for some years) by its numerous and daily increasing Patrons, and the favourable results following from the use of its thorough working machinery:

49, Princes Street, Edinburgh.

"Having entrusted the Edinburgh and Leith Circular Delivery Company with Printing, Addressing and Delivering upwards of Five Thousand Circulars, I have great pleasure in bearing testimony to the perfect efficiency, accuracy and promptness with which they performed their contract. I think it a first-rate medium of communicating with the public within the briefest space of time, the least personal trouble and as reasonable as possible. I am sure their system of delivering requires only to be known to be more extensively patronized; and I shall certainly avail myself on all occasions I may require the assistance of their very efficient staff.—J. S. Green.

To Mr. Brydone, 12, Elder-street, Edinburgh.

M. Eyre, General Manager.
Robert Brydone, Secretary."

The circular has the following stamps affixed on the margins; London C. D. Co ¼d., blue, ½d., lilac; Metropolitan C. D. Co. ¼d., rose, ½d., orange; Glasgow C. D. Co., ¼d., black, ½d., red: Edinr. & Leith C. D. Co. ¼d., green.

As regards the use of the stamps and especially in view of the rarity of copies obliterated with the cancelling stamp of the Cos. the following extract from a letter of the Rev. W. N. Usher is of interest." "I was a boy in Edinburgh "when these things were used—in the early "sixties—I was a collector then, after a fashion, "and used to pick these stamps off parcels "which were delivered at our house. I have a "distinct recollection that the stamps were "sometimes not cancelled at all and sometimes "scored across with a pencil."

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Chili. We learn from the Revue Philatelique Belge that a new series is in use here, with the portrait of P. Valdavia in circle, TELEGRAFOS DEL ESTADO on curved label above and value below. In lower angles the figures of value, separated by the word CHILE on a straight band.

5 cent., carmine.
10 ,, greenish-grey.
20 ,, blue.

Columbia. L'Ami chronicles a companion to the 20c. illustrated in our July number last year. The design consists of the word CENTAVOS on curved band across centre of stamp, above is name on semi-circular band and figure of value "10" in fancy figures between. Below the curved label across centre are Arms and scroll bearing the word TELEGRAFOS. Ornaments in angles similar to those on the 20c.

10c., bistre on buff.
10c., deep bistre on reddish buff.

India. The local surcharge of "2 RUPEES" on the 2r 8as, Telegraph stamp chronicled and illustrated by us in May 1900 varies considerably and those collectors who are eager for "minor varieties" may find the following:—

(1) Small "s" in RUPEES.
(2) "s" dropped.
(3) First "E" dropped.
(4) "PE" dropped.

Nicaragua. Of the type figured by us in September 1900 we have to add the following values to those already chronicled (L'Ami).

15 cent., ultramarine.
20 ,, brown.
1 peso, yellow.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Afghanistan. Our publisher submits two fiscals of this country the values of which we regret we are unable to decipher. The first stamp is somewhat of the type of the 1892 postage stamps but printed in dull blue and the other is a black circular stamp of which we have also seen other varieties besides the one before us. Can any of our readers supply the necessary information?

Akalkat. Receipt. This state must be added to the already numerous Native States of India which issues fiscals. Our publisher submits a Receipt stamp of the annexed type. The flag in centre and the value are added by a second printing in a different shade of red (carmine) to the rest of the stamp. It is on wove paper.

1 anna, red and carmine, perf. 11½.

Bahia? Snuff. We have obtained two stamps 39 mm. square, with large figures of value in circular band inscribed THESOURARIA PROVINCIAL. The lower value bears the date "1874 a 75" across the central numerals, the higher value the word "RAPÉ" in the same position, and below in each case is Rs. The centre contains diagonally ruled lines, left to right, over figures of value, while the space outside circle is ruled horizontally. The lower value is cancelled "Bahia."

30 reis, blue, perf. 12½, laid paper.
60 ,, ,, ,, wove paper.

Berar. A minor variety exists of the Judicial 1½ rupees, chocolate, which does not appear to have been chronicled, viz. without bar to "½" in figure of value. We have seen it in two shades chocolate and deep Indian red.

Bikanir. A new type of Receipt stamp for this state has been acquired by Mr. Morley. We illustrate the type.

1 anna, red, imperf.

Buenos Ayres. We have received further confirmation of the existence of the set Type 39 in our Catalogue. Mr. Lawrence possesses the 2, 9 and 10 pesos which have paid duty.

Cutch. Our publisher submits a large circular stamp with native inscriptions of the type we illustrate. It is printed on laid paper and finely rouletted.

½ korri, deep Indian red.

Ecuador. Timbre Fiscal. A new series has appeared for 1901-1902, of which Mr. A E Lawrence sends us the 10c. Type as before.

10 cent, black, perf. 13½-14

Great Britain. Municipals. Chancery of Lancashire, Fee Receipt. Mr. A. E. Lawrence forwards two primitive looking stamps consisting merely of the inscription CHANCERY OF LANCASHIRE FEE RECEIPT FOR FOURPENCE (& TWO SHILLINGS) type set in five lines and value in figures in lower left corner, on pale green paper, perf. 12. A circular hand-stamp lettered MANCHESTER CHANCERY OFFICE with FEE RECEIPT and date in centre, and another with name of the Controller between wavy lines, is impressed indistinctly in black on the stamp Control letter and number above in black. The dates are illegible on the above two stamps but Mr. Morley possesses a 3/- value cancelled 24th July 1891, and informs us that the values 2d. 1/- and 5/- are supposed to exist.

4d., black on pale green, perf. 12.
2/-, " "
3/-, " "

Hyderabad. Our publisher submits the 3 rupees, Indian Foreign Bill, violet on white paper, surcharged in red block letters HYD. R. B. similarly to other values chronicled with this surcharge.

Jamaica. Mr. A. B. Kay informs us of an additional value of the British Marine Policy stamps in blue, surcharged "Jamaica."

4/-, blue, die G.

As regards the 1/- chronicled in October last with no die letter, it is suggested that the cancellation must have concealed the die letter for a copy in the possession of our publisher has die letter R.

Orange River Colony. Bank Wissel. Mr. Morley submits a new variety of the surcharge BANK WISSEL—DRIE PENCE in two lines on the 9/- bistre. It is similar to the chronicled variety but printed in thicker block letters and in black instead of violet. The copy is cancelled 26/10/88.

Revenue. There seems to be two varieties of the ordinary 6d., grey and 1/- brown. We have seen copies of these stamps in which it is apparent that the value has been inserted by a second printing since it is much deeper in colour than the rest of the stamp. A copy of the 6d. uniformly printed in slate grey a much deeper colour than the usual grey, also lies before us.

Porto Rico. Aduanas. "Manifiestos" stamp 75c. d. peso, brick red, dated 1892 y 93, twice surcharged in large Roman caps. by hand-stamp, in violet, in two lines, ADUANA DE PORTO RICO—IMPORTACION. This surcharge is applied to the stamp on the document and only a portion falls on the stamp. The stamp without surcharge is also not chronicled and doubtless exists, so that we also have to list:—

Manifiestos 75 c. d. peso, brick red.

The American papers report the dispatch of the new series of Revenue Stamps referred to on page 64 of Vol, II of our journal. The values and colours are given as follows:—

1 cent., pale blue.	$1, bright brown.
5 ,, pale brown.	$3, bright purple.
10 ,, pale pink.	$5, bright blue.
25 ,, pale purple.	$10, bright green.
50 ,, dark yellow	$50, bright red.

Queensland. At the meeting of the London Philatelic Society on Dec. 20 a series of proofs on card of the "Stamp Duty" series with the King's head of which we chronicled the 2d. in our November no. were sent by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales for inspection of the members present. The type of all is the same as that of the 2d., but the stamps increase in size as the value rises. The values and colours of these proofs were 1d., chocolate.	2/6, violet.

6d., blue.	10/-, brown.
2/-, red-brown.

Spain. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits the 1 escudo, lilac, GIRO, 1870, surcharged with inscription in rect, as below:

Adm. Econ.
de Tarragona
Impuesto de guerra 50 p%

Talooka Vulla. Another addition to the fiscal issuing Native States of India. Our publisher has acquired a stamp of the type we illustrate. It is printed in black on purple paper.

1 anna, black on purple.

APRIL, 1871. Square imperforate stamps, hand engraved in sheets of 40, five horizontal rows of 8 stamps. Ungummed. They are usually found on the thin hand made paper, but sometimes on the thick variety (Paper No. 1). The laid lines may be vertical or horizontal. There are two plates of the 48 mons which may be distinguished as follows:— Inside the Greek border is a series of angles. Within these angles are (1) dots in Plate I, (2) small circles in Plate II. Only one plate is known for each of the other values.

March, 1872. Design &c. as last but values in sen. Perf. 11. The differences between laid and wove paper in this issue is well marked, and apparently the wove issue was one printing only as the colours are limited to one shade each, and further these shades cannot be found on the "laid" issue.

Two plates are known of both the half sen and the 1 sen, one of the ½ sen plates being Plate II of the first issue. Likewise one plate of the 1 sen is the same as that of the 100 mons of the first issue. No distinctive marks can be given to distinguish these plates. Moens states that a third plate was engraved for the ½ sen, but this seems to require confirmation.

Orange River Colony.

HITHERTO UNKNOWN POSTAL FISCALS (?)

ALTHOUGH the name of our new Colony is prefixed to this article yet it is of the early fiscals of the Orange Free State that it deals, with the view of calling the attention of postage stamp collectors to a possible addition of some varieties to the postal fiscal class of the present catalogues. The first fiscals of the Orange Free State were issued early in the sixties. The design, which is simply embossed on coloured paper like the first issue of postage and fiscals of Natal, consists of the words ZEGEL VAN --- and value between crossed branches, while above is ORANJE VRY STAAT on a scroll, the whole being contained in a shield shaped frame. Moens gives a list of some 29 varieties and the date of issue as 1867, but a copy is noted in Stamps for January 1899 as cancelled 4th April, 1864, so that the date must be set back at least three years and moreover since Moens' list contains nearly all the values he mentions in two to four different colours and that

* I have also heard of this stamp perf. 11 on the top and 8½ on the other three sides. G.T.B.

additions to his list have been chronicled from time to time, it is highly probably that it should be split up into three or four issues. But owing to the scarcity both of the stamps and information with regard to them, their proper classification is at the present impossible.

Towards the end of 1876, according to Moens, a new type came in, similarly embossed on coloured paper, but larger in size and containing Arms on a shield in the centre surrounded by an ornamental scroll. The name ORANJE VRY STAAT appears on a scroll above as before and the value in Gothic letters at the base. The whole is contained in a simple frame arched above and below, with straight sides. Of this type Moens gives five values but some further additions are known.

To these two types must now be added a third, which has just been discovered by Mr. Morley and to which we cannot as yet assign even an approximate date of issue. Only one value, 1/-, is as yet known and it is, like the stamps of the two preceding types, embossed, on blue paper and of the same size as the stamps of the first type. The design consists of the arms on a shield surrounded by an ornamental scroll as on the second type but necessarily smaller in size. It is partially encircled by crossed branches below. The name appears on a curved label above and EEN SHILLING in small block caps. in a curve at the base. The whole of the design is enclosed in a shield shaped frame.

As far as these stamps, regarded as fiscals, are concerned we must leave it to future research to evolve order out of the chaos which at present exists, but it is necessary to record a method of employment of some of them which may render necessary the addition of several of the values to the Postage Stamp Catalogues as postal fiscals. In point of fact, and to Mr. Morley is due the credit of the discovery, the 1/- values of all the types enumerated above appear to have been employed for the payment of fees on Registered Letters and occasionally also an 1/6 value, this sum moreover being also made up by the use of two ninepenny stamps.

A complete form has been found, to which a 1/- blue of the second type is attached and cancelled with a double lined circular obliteration lettered WIPENER above and O. F. STATE (sic) below. There is also an illegible pen obliteration across the stamp with the date added below—20 Jun. 77. The form on which the stamp is affixed is on orange coloured paper and reads as below, where the portions which have been filled in in MS. by the Postmaster of Wipener are indicated by italics.

No. 246

POSTDIENST, ORANJEVRIJSTAAT.

Postkantoor te Wipener

Postmeester

The word "Ontvangen" means "Received" and the rest of the form is easily intelligible. It seems, therefore, as if the stamps thus employed paid the fee on registered letters, the minimum fee being apparently 1/-. A point which requires to be cleared up is whether the letter referred to in the receipt bore a postage stamp of similar value, but if so, what is the significance of the stamp affixed to the form? We may add that the stamps employed in this manner which have recently turned up in nearly every case bear only the circular obliteration described without any further penmarks. This cancellation, it should be observed, also occurs frequently on the early postmarked postage stamps. The following is a list of the stamps themselves.

EDITORIAL.

OUR discourse this month must, in the first place, be of Japanese forgeries. It appears that our remarks in the January number may give rise to misapprehension and lead collectors to suppose that Mr. Eaton's test for Japanese forgeries is infallible and that all Japanese stamps on which the chrysanthemum is formed of the 16 petals must be genuine. That such an interpretation may be placed on our remarks is evidenced by the receipt of a letter from Messrs. Stanley Gibbons and Co. in which we are accused of falling into error as regards the test for genuine Japanese stamps, pointing out that forgeries exist which are in direct opposition to the test announced by Mr. Eaton and affording ocular demonstration of the fact by enclosing several forged specimens of the 6 sen, orange, with syllabic 19, on which the chrysanthemum is formed of the proper number of petals. Let us therefore in the first place make it quite clear that the fact that a Japanese stamp possesses 16 petals in the chrysanthemum does not necessarily prove that the stamp is genuine and further, in justice to Mr. Eaton, that this gentleman does not claim that the test he announces is infallible, for in his article he expressly mentions cases to the contrary. We only mentioned the test as a rough and ready one which will enable the collector to reject a large proportion of forgeries which are usually found, but we were perfectly well aware that there are other highly dangerous forgeries which it requires a great deal of experience in Japanese stamps to detect. The most dangerous that we know of are imitations of the 30 sen, syl. 1, on native laid paper, the 4 sen, rose, with syl. 1 and the 1 sen, brown, with crossed branches. To these must be added the 6 sen, orange syl. 19 of which specimens are enclosed in Messrs. Stanley Gibbons letter and we also know of like forgeries of some of the other syllabics of the 6 sen, orange. A peculiarity of these dangerous forgeries is that they usually appear to bear genuine obliterations. Of course others besides those which we have enumerated probably exist and we fear that against such as these the general collector can only guard himself by taking expert opinion. On the other hand we do not think that they occur so often as to form a serious obstacle to those who would like to start collecting Japs, and we adhere to our opinion that, with care and circumspection, there is no reason why any collector should burn his fingers over this country.

* * * * *

As announced last month a meeting was held on Saturday afternoon the 11th Jan., with a view of considering the formation of a Fiscal Society for London. Owing perhaps to the inclemency of the weather only a few gentlemen attended, but letters were read from a number of absentees strongly supporting the proposed Society and making various suggestions as to its objects and working. The meeting elected Mr. Schwabacher to the chair and with Mr. A. B. Kay as Secretary pro. tem. proceeded to discuss the various proposals. As a result it was agreed that a Society should be formed and that the annual Subscription should be 5/-. On account of the small attendance and with a view of communicating the results of the preliminary discussion to fiscal collectors interested in the Society it was decided to postpone further action to another Meeting to be held on Thursday, 6th Feb. At this meeting it will be seen definitely how the Society is likely to be supported, a President and Executive will be elected and a set of rules, which a small sub-committee formed at the preliminary meeting has been appointed to consider, will be laid before the members for discussion and adoption in an amended form.

We are glad to note that it was very generally recognized that the Fiscal Society should not merely waste its time by providing "displays" of portions of members collections, but should settle down to serious work such as that of drawing up as accurate lists as possible at the present time of the fiscals of all countries and collecting all new information bearing on the subject. There can be little doubt that if the Society keeps this aim steadily in view it will be a success.

* * * * *

In Scott's 1902 Catalogue the new style of roulette-perforation of the U. S. Revenues is described by the term "hyphen-hole perforation." This term seems somewhat inelegant and Mr. Selway suggests the alternative "slot perforation," the applicability of which will commend itself to all who have mechanical tastes, as it is based on a well known term in mechanical engineering.

A great deal of excitement has been produced by the persistent rumours and contradictions that the new British stamps with the King's head are to be withdrawn, but the truth seems to be that there is a possibility of the die being retouched.

G. Railway Letter Fee Stamps.

There have been 5 issues of letter stamps by the G. N. Ry. The first 3, issued respectively in Jan. 91, March 92, and July 94, are all perf. about 11½, and so nearly indistinguishable that, owing to my space being limited, I must refer my readers to Mr. Ewen's magnificent work on the subject for fuller details. The 4th issue, in Sept. 97, was perf. 10, 10½. All these were printed by Messrs. Waterlow, and are of the firm's usual type and bright green colour. A variety common to all four issues, has no stop between "RAILWAY" and "FEE." The fifth issue was printed by Sir J. Causton and Sons in July 1900. It is pale olive-green, perf. 11, and is still current.

CURRENT BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By G. W. J. Potter.

London Brighton and South Coast Railway.

THE L. B. and S. C. R. have within the last few years issued a series of stamps for the prepayment of the carriage of newspapers. Three of the values appear to have sold well as will be observed by the figures given below: while for the other three issues there does not appear to have been any demand. As the numbers quoted are those that were on sale in December, 1901, it would have been possible to have obtained the first sheet of each of the 1½d and 2d., and the fourth sheet of the 4d. values; that is, of course assuming that the numbering has not been commenced over again. The design—a very amateurish one—is printed in blue on a thickish white paper, and is the same for all values; the colour is fairly even, though shades may be found in the different issues. As the three lower values are for 1, 2, and 3 newspapers respectively, they bear wording to that effect; but the remainder are intended for parcels of newspapers and thus have 'Newspaper Stamp' only.

The perforation is carried round all the stamps and to the edge of the sheet, so leaving a narrow margin on the four sides of each sheet. Control numbers run from the top right corner to the bottom, thence by columns to the left. Two values, the 3d. and 4d. are in sheets of 30, 5 rows of 6; while the others are in sheets of double size, 5 rows of 12 stamps.

Midland & Great Northern Joint Railways. Mr. A. M. South has shown us an interesting provisional. It consists of an Eastern and Midlands Railway stamp with train running to left in centre surcharged in black in three lines with SINGLE NEWSPAPER ½d. and overprinted in addition in small red block capitals MIDLAND & GREAT NORTHERN JOINT RAILWAYS in two lines on upper label and EASTERN SECTION on lower label. It is perf. 11½.

Queensland Government Railways.

Our publisher has received specimens of new types of Newspaper and Parcel Stamps for these railways. The stamps are smaller than those lately current, and the design consists essentially of an engine to left with inscription "QUEENSLAND GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS" above, "NEWSPAPERS" on left and "PARCELS" on right with value below, but details differ on the two values which have yet been seen. Perf. 12.

POSTAL NEWS TAX OF GREAT BRITAIN.

NEWSPAPERS were taxed with a duty in the reign of Queen Anne 1712 and continued to be so taxed down to the year 1855; in consideration of this tax they were conveyed by the Post Office free of postal charges. In 1836 an Act of Parliament provided that there should be a separate stamp for each newspaper the die for which should be prepared under the direction of the Commissioners of Stamps and Taxes at the cost of the proprietor of the Newspaper. These stamps were purely fiscal, but carried with them a certain privilege of being admitted to free conveyance by post. In 1855 the Government abolished the duty charged on newspapers and it became necessary to make provision for their transmission by post. In order to meet the difficulty the Act provided that Newspapers printed on paper stamped for denoting the duties imposed on newspapers should be entitled to enjoy the privilege of transmission and retransmission by the post between places in the United Kingdom postage free for the space of fifteen days from the date of publication; the Act also extended the privilege to periodical publications printed and published at intervals not exceeding 31 days.

As previous to 1855 printed matter was not generally transmissable through the post except at letter rates, the stamps issued and used after June 30 1855 must be regarded as purely postal issues and would include all the various Trade lists and Circulars which business firms then used for that purpose.

We are indebted for most of this information to that grand pioneer work on British Stamps by Messrs. Philbrick and Westoby.

In Morley's Catalogue will be found the names of some of these Postal News Tax publications, viz.

Bartlett Investment Circular	Die I 6.
Du Fay and Co's Trade Report	,, A 351.
Fry Griffiths and Co's Price Courant	,, A 332.
Harrison Bros. Price Current	,, B 10.
Hadwen & Co.'s Prices Current	,, M 1.
Hulbert Layton & Co.'s Monthly Circular	,, A 629.
Kingsford's Price Current	,, A 650.
Luey & Co.'s Price Current	,, B 32.
Price Current of Leather	Die B 24 & B 25.
Thompson's Monthly Circular	?

The varieties of these stamps met with by collectors are usually cut square (and they are certainly more convenient to collect and arrange in that form) but some entire copies have however recently been seen.

Birrell & Co.'s Price Current	Die A 713
Current Prices of Grain	,, G 2.
Eaton's Circular	,, A 695.
M. & R. Keighly & Co.'s Price Current (This copy is used and postmarked from Hull in Jan. 1854)	,, A 685.
M. & R. Keighly & Co.'s Price Current	,, A 713.

Hence it is evident that at least some firms had previously made use of the Newspaper tax to obtain the postage privilege at the same time

A few uncut sheets of four of these stamps, impressed ready for use as circulars by the firm of E. Buckler & Co. have recently been unearthed. The stamps are all of the Die A 688 and the sheet measures, 28 x 45 centimetres.

There are no doubt very many others in existence and we shall be glad if collectors will submit any unrecorded ones for inspection.

DOCKWRA'S "PENY POST".

MOST collectors have heard of this well known post which flourished in the year 1680 but perhaps few have seen the following quaint description of its operation which appeared some weeks ago in the St. James Gazette. The extract is taken from "The New State of England, under their Majesties K. William and Q. Mary (sic) by G. Miegge, London, printed by H. C. for John Wyat at the Golden Lion in St. Paul's Churchyard, 1691.

"The Peny Post is such a contrivance that for one Peny a Letter or Parcel not exceeding one pound Weight, or ten pounds in value, is presently conveyed from all parts of the Town and suburbs to the remotest Places thereof. He that sends pays one Peny, and when the Letter or Parcel gets beyond the Bounds of the Weekly Bills of Mortality, the Receiver pays another Peny. To carry on this useful Design, first, there are about the Town four or five hundred Houses to take in Letters or Parcels. And, to carry them . . . there are about 100 messengers imployed from Morning till Night to call every hour at the said Houses and take what Letters and Parcels they find there, Who carry the same to their respective offices from whence the Letters and Parcels are dispatched. . . . The offices are six in number—The General, St. Paul's, the Temple, Westminster, Souwark, The Hermitage The General is in Star Court in Cornhill, and has 3 clerks whereas the rest have but 2 clerks each. . . . Everyone of the messengers gives £50 security by Bond. . . . And for this contrivance the Publick is indebted to that ingenious Citizen of London, Mr. William Dockwrea, who settled it some years since not without much trouble and cost. But the late King, when Duke of York, sued him for the same as his Right, and carried it from the Inventor—so that the benefit of it is now inherent in the Crown."

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

A Reference List of the Fiscals of India.

THIS list is intended to aid those who are engaged in the study of the Fiscals of India. It is astonishing that comparatively so little is known about the issues of so important a country and it is desirable that British collectors at any rate should endeavour to repair the neglect into which these stamps have fallen. From time to time numerous additions to the existing catalogues have been chronicled. An endeavour has been made to collect all this scattered information and new matter has been obtained by the inspection of some of the collections of our leading fiscalists. Collectors will no doubt be able to notify errors and many additions to the list and it is hoped that they will do so, as in that way only will completeness be attained.

COURT FEES.

This series is a very difficult one as the provisionals are numerous and little known. We are quite in the dark as to the dates of issue of these provisionals and the fact that the stamps are punched without any penmarked date renders it impossible to obtain even approximate dates from the stamps themselves. Under these circumstances we have arranged the provisionals under the sub-heads of the stamps surcharged in alphabetical order. This will at any rate facilitate reference to what is known though no doubt when fuller knowledge is attained these sub-groups may have to be split up.

EDITORIAL.

As we were able to briefly notify last month a Fiscal Society for London has at length been fairly launched. The first meeting, at which some twenty to thirty members were definitely enrolled, devoted itself to the laborious work of electing an Executive and drawing up a set of rules. The result of the Election of Officers will be found on another page. It will be seen that Mr. Schwabacher has been elected first President, a choice which will please all Fiscal collectors, for besides the fact that Mr Schwabacher has probably the finest collection of fiscals in this country, the Society has secured a gentleman resident in London and one who is sure to be an active worker in its cause. Messrs. Dorman and Pearce have earned their places as Vice-Presidents, the former as the possessor of an extensive collection, the resources of which will furnish much information to further the aims of the Society and the latter as a philatelist who by his pen has probably done more than any one to further the study of fiscals and recruit the ranks of the "fiscalists." The Committee consists of gentlemen who all have fine collections and in Mr. Kay the Society possesses an active and energetic Secretary. It is specially gratifying to note that Judge Philbrick shows the interest he takes in fiscals by consenting to allow his name to appear as an honorary member and we think we do not betray any secrets if we mention that Mr. E. D. Bacon, although his numerous engagements prevented him from accepting a post on the executive, has joined the Society. It is a remarkable fact that while all the older philatelists show great sympathy with and afford encouragement to those engaged in the study of fiscals yet the new men, almost without exception, affect to care for none of these things. It is a phenomenon for which several reasons can be assigned but which we have no space at our disposal to discuss. Fiscals will have to win their rightful place in philately with the rising generation of philatelists. The Fiscal Philatelic Society appears to have started on right lines, may it live and prosper!

* * * * *

The time is apparently near at hand for the advent of the "specialist in British Official Stamps." The February number of the London Philatelist besides listing various postage stamps overprinted I. R. OFFICIAL, O. W. OFFICIAL, and ARMY OFFICIAL which might naturally be expected, chronicles quite a new departure in stamps surcharged R. H. OFFICIAL and BOARD OF EDUCATION. On contemplating this extension we might be excused for anticipating a perfect avalanche of overprinted stamps for all Departments of the Service and the creation of an "area of collecting" of size and difficulty rivalling the official stamps of South Australia. The R. H. OFFICIAL, 1d. red, is for use in the Royal Household and we understand—though the value is not yet chronicled—that the ½d. stamp will be issued with the same overprint. The BOARD OF EDUCATION series consists of five values, the ½d., 1d., and 2½d., King's head stamps and the 5d. and 1/- current Queen's head stamps. We are informed that these stamps are to be employed by the Inspectors of the Board and for Foreign postage and no doubt the two higher values will be most used for the latter purpose. So that irrespective of the fact that the latter are Queen's head stamps, which will shortly be obsolete, it seems as if used copies will mostly go abroad. Hence we may legitimately conclude that they will doubtless be very scarce.

* * * * *

It is remarkable that no information is at present obtainable as to the changes in British Fiscals which will be necessitated by the substitution of the King's head in place of the Queen's. All we can learn up to the present time is that the new series of "unappropriated dies" will show the value clearly in plain figures and that possibly some additional values, such as £2 10s., will be added to the series.

* * * * *

The new postage stamps for India with the King's Head will in all probability shortly be issued. We are informed that for the stamps below 1 anna and above 1 rupee the present design will be followed with the mere substitution of the King's Head for the Queen's, but for the rates between 1 anna and 1 rupee the designs will be altered, an essential feature being a small King's head as on the current English 3d. and the value clearly indicated in plain figures. According to The Philatelic Journal of India some of the new stamps are expected in April.

* * * * *

As regards the Indian fiscals we are informed that some interesting changes are in contemplation. Except for Court Fee Stamps and the 1 anna Revenue stamp, which will be prepared from special dies, it is probable that all remaining adhesives, following the custom in this country, will be provided from a series of "unappropriated dies" the names of the various duties being overprinted. It is proposed that there shall be three series of these unappropriated dies, (1) An annas series, (2) a rupee series to 10 rupees, (3) A series of higher values.

FURNESS RAILWAY.

THE issues of this line do not adapt themselves for classification so readily as those of many others. Most of the great specialised collections of railway stamps in this country contain all, or nearly all, of the varieties mentioned below, but others, whose existence might naturally be suspected, are conspicuous by their absence. It seems reasonable to suppose, therefore, that the penny value, as in the case of the Great Northern Ry. was a late arrival, while the extra demand for the 2d. caused this latter to be allotted our issue all to itself. The control numbering appears to begin afresh with each issue.

A. Stamps for Newspaper parcels.

Issue A 1. Large rect, 63 x 44 mm. Central design, Arms of Company in a circular band inscribed "The Furness Railway" and the motto "Cavendo tutus." Below this, a scroll inscribed "Prepaid Newspaper Parcel" and a label with "Owner's risk." Controls surcharged at top of stamp. Thick figure of value in centre of arms, the 2 has a straight foot.

2d., grey brown. Rouletted. Thick blue controls.
3d., " " " black "

Issue A 2. Same size and design, figure of value and controls as before.

1d., brown (shades) p. 12½. Thick black controls.
2d., " " " " " "
3d., " " " " " "

Issue A 3. As before, but impression apparently from worn plate, and coarser. Controls thinner and cleaner.

2d., red brown, p. 10. Thin black controls.

Issue A 4. It seems probable that a new plate was made for the 2d. value, and afterwards adapted for the other values of this issue. The size and design are unchanged, but the figures of value much thinner, the 2 having a curly foot. Controls as in issue A. 3.

1* pence, brown (shades) p. 12½. Thin black cons.
2 " " " " " " "
3 " " " " " " "

Stamps of this issue vary greatly in shade, and there were doubtless many printings.

Issue A 5. Square, 36 mm. Large figure of value on circular white ground, bottom inscription, and name of railway, as before. Small black controls.

½d.,* 1d.,* 2d.,* 3d., vermilion, p. 10 or 11, small black controls.

The 1d. is known without, and the 3d. with medium-sized controls.

Issue A 6. Similar, but title changed to "The Furness Railway." The figures of value are thinner, and controls vary slightly in size.

½d.,* 1d.,* 2d.,* carmine, Roul. in colour.

Issue A 7. Same, but title again changed to "Furness Railway."

1d., 2d., carmine, Roul. in colour.

B. Stamps for Single, etc., Newspapers.

Medium rect. 40 x 35 mm. Name of railway and various conditions, printed in blue on white paper. Vertical red lines to denote number of newspapers,

1 Newspaper. Small "s" to Railways. Roul.
2 " " " " "
1* " large " " p. 12½.
1 " " " " "
No red line.

*Varieties marked with an asterisk are known overprinted, vertically in black or red, "To L. and N. W. and Furness Joint Line only." The wording differs slightly in various types, and may be found reading either upwards or downwards, but it seems hardly worth while classifying or collecting stamps with this overprint.

C. Stamps for Milk Traffic.

Same size and design as the early issues under heading A (for Newspaper Parcels), the word "Milk" being substituted for "Newspaper" in the bottom scroll.

The 12d. is similar to issue A 2 and the two lower values to issue A 4, so it seems probable that an earlier issue of the latter was made, although specimens are, as yet, unknown to collectors.

6d, 9d, 12d, salmon rose, (shades), perf. 12½.

CURRENT BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By G. W. J. POTTER.

MERSEY RAILWAY.

AS the history of the Newspaper Stamps is being very thoroughly covered by "K" in his Descriptive Catalogue, I do not propose to treat in detail all the current issues of the remaining large lines, as this would to a certain extent clash with and destroy the continuity of his articles; but hope to give accounts of the stamps issued by the smaller and lesser known companies whenever I can get enough information together on the subject. The first small line which I shall notice is the Mersey Railway Company. As this possesses a tunnel under the Mersey it was probably thought that it would be the correct thing to figure the same on its stamps, so we have an engine emerging from what is presumably a tunnel, but it would not be wise to be too certain about this. However it scores a point over the Metropolitan Railway, for although on their design they represent the two tunnels more clearly, and two trains far less clearly, (perhaps owing to London fog) they err altogether by showing them on the wrong lines! On the front of the smoke-box we have the value shown, "Prepaid" figuring on the buffer-beam, and "Newspaper Parcel at Owner's Risk" given below.

The 1d is printed in a deep blue and the 2d in carmine; both being rouletted in colour. None of the 1d that I have seen bore any controls, but I believe the 2d. are so numbered in black.

MERSEY RAILWAY.

Size, 28 by 34 cm. Roul. in colour.
1d., blue on white
2d., carmine on white.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Argentine Republic. Consular Service. Prof. Dobranich informs us that the colours of the three higher values of the 1900 set (Nos. 58-60 in our Supplement Catalogue) are

5 pesos, blue green
10 ,, violet
20 ,, bright green

The same gentleman states that the set for 1901 contains two new (lower) values, the series (presumably of the same or a similar type to that of 1900) being

1 cent., carmine	2 pesos, red brown
10 ,, bright green	5 ,, orange red
50 ,, greenish blue	10 ,, dark blue
1 peso, blue violet	20 ,, carmine

Costa Rica. Our publisher has discovered an error belonging to the first issue (lithographed) viz: the 50 cents. in the colour of the 25c.

50 cents., yellow green, perf 14.

Crete. To the "olive yellow" set chronicled in our August no. of last year add 5 drachmai, olive yellow and black, perf. 14.

The central design of this stamp consists of a medallion, bearing St. George and the Dragon, in black.

Cutch. The value of the stamp illustrated in our January no. should read "Cowrie" instead of "Korri".

Cyprus. Mr. H. Thompson has shown us the unappropriated die type surcharged "CYPRUS" and 2/6 in brown wmk. Script V. R. perf. 14.

Entre Rios. Impuesto de Tablada. Mr. H. Thompson sends us two additional values of the 1898 issue, Type 121 in our Supplement Catalogue.

No. 180a. 10 cent., pale blue green
No. 180b. 50 ,, violet

Great Britain. Marine Policy. Our publisher has the 15/- blue, wmk Orbs, Die ? perf 14.

A new series has apparently been issued lately. Our publisher sends us a 1/3 value of smaller design than those familiar to collectors. It is cancelled by one of the usual impressed red designs dated 27/12/01.

1/3, blue, wmk Orbs. perf. 12½, Die C.

Gloucestershire. Our publisher has acquired a 5/- value, red-brown and lilac, perf. 15½ x 15 (1875) and also a 2/-, blue and carmine, perf. 14. We note the latter as it is not yet known if all values exist in each set of perfs. 15½ x 15, 14 and 12½ and we would remind our readers that we shall welcome any information regarding Municipal Stamps of Great Britain with a view of rendering the reference list of them, which we have in preparation, more perfect.

Mendoza. (Argentine Repub.) Mr. H. Thompson notifies some additional values of the 1888 issue, Type 128 of our Supplement Catalogue.

No. 30a 5 pesos, purple brown
,, 30b 10 ,, blue
,, 31a 50 ,, yellow

Philippine Islands. Giro. In December 1900 we noted that the 4 pesos of the 1900 U. S. issue was always found with an error in the range. Mr. D. Thomson informs us that he possesses a copy on which the range is correct.

Porto Rico. Our publisher has received a number of unchronicled stamps from this island.

Aduanas. 1898-99 75 c.d. peso, purple brown.

Giro. 1898-99. Provisional, 10c. peso, purple brown, surcharged vertically in three lines reading downwards, in magenta, HABILITADO—1898-99—60 Ctvs. This provisional also occurs with double surcharge, and Mr. Morley has a pair of the 10c. peso, one stamp only of which bears the surcharge.

1894-95. 75c.d. peso, emerald green.
1896-97. 75c.d. peso, red brown.

Polizas y Titulos Mr. H. Thompson sends us a provisional hitherto unknown to us. It is the 25 c.d. peso, dark green Sello stamp of 1884-85 surcharged with a double line diamond shaped frame containing the inscription POLIZAS Y TITULOS 1886 y 1887 and HABILITADO across centre, in magenta.

Relaciones de Viajeros. This duty is new to the Catalogues. We should be glad to hear of its English equivalent. The stamps are like the "Manifiestos" i.e. the Sello stamps with inscription above upper margin.

1894-95. 50 c.d. peso, orange
1896-97. 50 c.d. peso, brown

Sello. The colours of the undermentioned values have not yet been chronicled.

1892-93. 1 peso, deep olive green
4 ,, purple brown
1894-95. 25 c. de peso, dull purple
50 ,, slate blue
1 peso, pink
4 ,, red brown
7.50 pesos, olive
1896-97. 50c. de peso, deep purple
1 peso, olive

Provisional. The 25c. de peso, dull purple of 1894-95 surcharged—BIENIO DE 1896 Y 1897—Vale 2 centavos—in the same manner as the 25 c. de peso, 1892 Y 93 already chronicled, but as we have only seen a single copy of this stamp we are unable to say whether the varieties of surcharge mentioned in our November number of last year as occuring in the latter appear on this stamp also.

1898-99. A set for this year has already been chronicled in deep slate but our publisher has received the following values in the colours recorded.

25c. de peso, carmine
1 peso, pink
2 ,, violet
4 ,, pale blue
7.50 peso, orange brown

These stamps were no doubt issued before the deep slate series which latter seem to show a change in the rates of duty as the values in this colour are 15, 20, 40, 60, 80c., and 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 15 and 20 pesos. If this is the true explanation there should exist in this newly discovered set, three values between the 25c. and 1 peso, and probably the higher values 12.50, 18.75, and 25 pesos, since the 25 c. d. peso is numbered "11°" the 1 peso "7°" and the 7.50 p., "4°."

Solicitudes de Alijo. "Sello" stamp with inscription above top margin.

1894-95. 50 c. de peso, brown

Queensland. Stamp Duty. Of the type with the King's Head illustrated in our Nov. number of last year we have received

1d., violet, wmk. Cr. and Q, perf. 12
3d., pale green, wmk. Cr. and Q, perf. 13 x 12½

There has been apparently a second printing of the 1d. Duty Stamps with the Queen's Head. We are informed that copies recently received are of a different shade of violet to the earlier ones.

Russia. (See note last month.) In continuation of the varieties noted last month we chronicle.

Ouman. District Court. Type of Roussin 5827. Value in centre inscription Umanskagho Okruzhnagho Suda above and Kantzelyarskaya Marka below. Figures of value in upper angles

10 kopecs, brown
30 ,, grey green

Petrokoff. District Court. Type of Roussin, 5854 but inscription Petrokovskagho Okruzhnagho Suda above and Kantzelyarskaya Marka on label.

10 kopecs, brown
30 ,, grey green

San Martin. (Municipality, Corrientes, Argentine Repub.) Our publisher possesses the 1 cent. with head of General San Martin surcharged 1/4 in large violet figures.

¼c, on 1c., brown, violet sur.

Transvaal. Mr. S. A. Klagsbrun sends us a copy of the current 6d., lilac and violet, Cape Revenue, overprinted TRANSVAAL in black in a similar manner to the 1/- already chronicled by us last year and informs us that a similar surcharge has been applied to the 2/-.

Tucuman. (Argentine Repub). Marchamo. Mr. H. Thompson submits two values of an issue for 1900. The stamps are long rect. containing Arms in oval with name of Province above. The date is at the top and MARCHAMO on a straight label two-thirds of the way down the stamp and the value below

20 cent., orange, perf. 11½
20 pesos, dark green, perf. 12.

1874. The 6 sen was issued in January and the remaining values in February. Engraved in plates of 40 stamps. The stamps now bear a syllabic character, which is found on the ½, 1, 2, 4 and 30 sen stamps at the bottom, where the floral branches cross each other, the character being in a small upright rectangle on the ½, 1, 2, and 4 sen, and in an oval on the 30 sen. On the 10 and 20 sen it is just within the frame above the value at the bottom of the stamp. Types 16–23.

Error: missing. The 1 sen, blue, syl. 11 exists with the stem of the right hand branch missing. It is doubtful if this is due to error of plate or printing, probably the latter.

Two distinct sheets exist for each of the following: ½ sen, syl. 1, ½ sen, syl. 2, and 4 sen, syl. 1.

Note. The 6 sen issues vary much in shade sometimes becoming a slate blue colour and at other times violet. As the changes are probably due to the chemical action of the gum or paper they have been affixed to and in some cases to light, I have not catalogued the varieties I have met with.

In 1797 the 2d. duty was increased to 2½d. (37 Geo. III, c. 90). I have however failed in my search to find a copy of this value and I am unable to say for certain if 2½d. dies were prepared as seems feasible, or if a 2d. and ½d. were used together. This die was only a short time in use however, and in 1804 it was raised to 3½d. (44 Geo. III, c. 98.)

There was a rebate of 16 per cent discount allowed on 3½d. duty, and I have seen one type only when it appears as "16 ct" on each side of the word THREE as in type 30.

EDITORIAL.

A valuable defence of fiscal collecting—if one be needed— is the light which the study of fiscals sometimes throws upon the contemporaneous postage issues. In some cases a vexed question may be definitely settled by appeal to fiscals but yet more frequently perhaps an interesting question may be suggested. The study of the Revenue stamps of British Guiana at the meeting of the Fiscal Philatelic Society in March evoked a matter of some interest and one which concerns the collectors of the postage stamps of this country, in connection with the number of copies issued on the $1 green and black Inland Revenue stamp of 1888-89—No 144 in Gibbons Catalogue. The series of stamps to which this particular value belongs is of course purely fiscal but it was also employed for postage purposes as a regular issue. In the February number of the Monthly Journal a letter was published from the Commissioner of Stamps for British Guiana certifying that since May 1890, 121,946 stamps of $1 were received in the Colony from the Crown Agents and that only 144 of these were issued to the public, the remainder except two stamps being surcharged and issued as 1 cent stamps. This seems to be very generally taken to mean that only 144 of the $1 stamp exist but, as we shall see, apparently without justification. At the Meeting above referred to some doubt was expressed that such a small number should have been issued, a doubt which was greatly intensified when it was found that amongst the gentlemen present at least 30 or 40 copies had been handled—nearly all used fiscally of course. On further investigation on our part we have come across some interesting statements in Moens Catalogue which in the first place tend to show that probably a larger number than 144 of the stamp in question exist and secondly bring to light two very interesting varieties which appear to have been overlooked by the majority of collectors, especially as no mention of them is made in Gibbons Catalogue. In Part 1 of Moens Catalogue, which deals with postage stamps exclusively, the issue of these Inland Revenue stamps is given under date 1888-89, the details being the same as in Gibbons Catalogue except that the two varieties with large "4" in the 4c. and $4 are not mentioned but it is expressly stated that the dollar values were issued on the 1st Oct. 1888. If now we turn to Part 2—dealing with fiscals— this set of stamps is chronicled under date 1888 but in addition two highly interesting varieties are noted viz the $2 and $3 in a pair se-tenant and likewise the $1 and $5 in the same condition. Now the greatest respect is due to all statements made in Moens Catalogue. As most collectors who are in the habit of using it are aware that in cases of doubt which have been fully elucidated, in nearly every case Moens is found to be correct. Assuming then for the moment the correctness of the facts we have stated above let us consider their bearing as regards the stamp under discussion. It will be noticed at once that the Commissioner of Stamps of British Guiana merely states the quantity of $1 stamps received and issued subsequently to May 1890. How many then were printed and issued between Oct. 1888 and May 1890? Surely a much larger quantity than 144 must have been issued in all. Is not the price asked by Gibbons—50/- used or unused—also very moderate for a stamp of which only 144 copies exist, further indirect evidence of the fact The existence also of the se tenant pairs, if they are forthcoming, will show that there were at least two printings of the dollar values; for the stamps surcharged "One cent." in red are, as far as we are aware, all of the same value on the same sheet and hence the earliest printing of the dollar stamps was differently arranged to the later ones and contained at least two distinct values on the same sheet. In this case it would be highly desirable to know the exact disposition. Here we must leave this matter to philatelists in first place to verify Moens statements and secondly to supply the desired information.

Since writing the above Mr. Lundy informs us that he has seen a pair of the $1 and $5 se tenant so that it is practically certain the other pair $2 & $3 exists. Hence these two interesting varieties must be added to the Postage and Revenue Catalogues and future research must be directed to elucidate the different printings of the surcharges on these stamps

* * * * *

The various philatelic journals have lately been describing and illustrating certain stamps of Greece, with Head of Mercury to right in beaded oval and with letters A M. in circles in top corners, which we chronicled as fiscals as long ago as September last, as stamps for parcel post. Does this mean that they were originally used as fiscals and are now to be employed as postage stamps or were they never intended for fiscal use?

* * * * *

We have seen a strip of three 1d. GOVT. PARCEL stamps two of which bore no dot under the "T" of "GOVT" We believe this variety has not yet been noticed by collectors. Perhaps the reason is that these varieties occur in a new printing of the surcharge.

THE FISCAL PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

At the meeting on March 6th, Messrs. J. J. Coates, C. H. Crosse, H. Köhler, R. Kronmann, O. March, T. P. Stokoe and J. Verzyl, were duly elected members.

Donations to the library, by Mr. Schwabacher of Roussin's Catalogue, and Mr. Morley of several of his publications, were received with thanks.

Members may have the loan of books or the MSS. catalogue on application to the librarian and payment of postages.

Satisfactory work was done in the discussion and cataloguing of the Colonial revenues from Antigua to British Guiana, several additions being listed.

His Honor Judge Philbrick, K.C., has kindly accepted the Honorary Membership of the Society.

Rules and any other information can be had from the Hon. Sec:

A. B. Kay.
35, Bessborough Street, London, S.W.

Mr. E. D. Bacon has communicated to the Society the following valuable information with regard to the high values £50 blue and orange, £100 red and violet, and £200 green and red issued by the British South Africa Co. late in 1896 or early in 1897. These stamps were printed by Messrs. Perkins Bacon and Co. The order was for 400 stamps of each value and part of these were delivered to the British South Africa Co. in March 1896 and the remainder in October of the same year. The stamps were printed in sheets of 20, so there were only 20 sheets of each value. It is not known whether a further supply was subsequently printed by Messrs. Waterlow and Son from Messrs. Perkins Bacon and Co's. plates but if so the perforations would be different to that on the copies at present known to collectors, viz. 12½.

The next Meeting will be held on Thursday, May 1st, at 6 30 p.m., at 65 Bishopsgate Street. Without, E. C. when the Revenue Stamps of the Canadian Provinces and Cape of Good Hope will be discussed and catalogued.

Members are expected to bring their collections or send full notes of any unlisted varieties in these countries.

BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

FURNESS RAILWAY.

D. Letter Fee Stamps.

The issues under this heading are few in number, but, from the fact that the 5 printings show prominent, and necessary !, varieties of type, are among the most interesting of this class.

The first 3 issues were made in January and July 1891 and September '93 respectively, and were all inscribed "The Furness Railways." They are of McCorquodale, London's ordinary type, and rouletted in colour: the first was dullish, dark green, the second brighter, on thin surfaced paper, and the third was bright green. The next issue was originally printed in January 1897 without controls, but with the inscription modified by omitting the "s" of "Railways." After 680 stamps had been issued thus, the remainder were called in and numbered horizontally in black, from 1 to 1320. The 5th issue, which is still current, was made in February 1900. The inscription is again curtailed to "Furness Railway" and the control figures are larger than in the preceding issues.

Another Side Study of the "Penny reds" of

GREAT BRITAIN.

Stamps perforated with Names and Initials of Private Firms by Messrs. Slopers Patent.

By Walter Morley.

About the year 1867 Mr. Sloper received letters patent for his invention of perforating stamps with the initials, names or designs of private firms, initials being most usually adopted.

A Collection of these perforated stamps forms a very interesting study, and it need hardly be said, that some specimens are exceedingly scarce while there are errors, etc., to look for also I believe I am correct in saying that this firm enjoyed the exclusive monopoly of this perforation business until the expiration of the time of their letters patent, so that the stamps done by them during this period (which would include all the Penny reds) have a semi official character attached to them.

Previous to perforations through the stamps, overprinting on the face and back, and in the case of the Envelope stamps a circular band containing the firms name round the die, were resorted to, both of these being printed by the Government The Oxford Union Society apparently were the first to adopt the overprinting, its initials O. U. S. in red on the face of the stamp being found as early as the 1d. reds with stars in upper corners, the other usually found being Messrs. Copestake, Moore, Crampton & Co., in red, and Boyd & Co., in black, both of them on the back of the stamp, and varieties exist of the 3d., rose, 6d., violet, 6d., grey, 1/-, green, 1d., red brown of 1880, with names on back printed in the colours of the respective stamps.

Below I give a list of the initials &c., of the firms names that I have met with, several plate numbers are found to some firms, whilst the earliest number found is plate 102, and the latest 225. I have confined my list to the varieties found on the 1d. reds only, I have only been able to give a very few of the names of the firms the initials belong to.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Philippine Islands. There seems to have been two printings of the two telegraph stamps issued by the Filipinos. Our publisher has received the 2c. purple and 50c dark blue in types which differ in minor details from those chronicled in our March number of last year. The most noticeable differences in the 2c. are (1) larger stars in the angles of the central triangle (2) fewer and more distinct rays of the sun in the centre while the 50c. may be readily distinguished by the fact that the letters of the words PESO in the background, outside the right side of the central triangle are malformed the "P" looks like a small "D," the "E" is broken and resembles an "F" while the letter "S" is reversed. The paper of the new stamps is thicker but the perf. is the same viz: 11½ as on the earlier ones.

Transvaal. In an article by Mr. Tamsen in the March number of the Monthly Journal on the "War Stamps of the Transvaal" occurs the following paragraph. "During the first "few months (of 1900) any stamps, whether "Postage or Revenue, could be used for "Telegrams; after that Revenue Stamps were "used and these were superseded by Postage "stamps of the South African Republic, with-"out "V.R.I." surcharged "Transvaal "Telegraphs." Some of these also had their "values altered to those most wanted, by means "of a further overprint, in black." We have not yet seen any of the stamps referred to and should be glad to receive detailed information respecting them.

United States. Postal Telegraph Cable Co. The perforations and controls of the two varieties chronicled in our October number of last year are as below:—

1900. Blue on white, perf. 11, red control.
1901. Green on white, perf. 14, blue control.

Western Union Telegraph Co. The "Frank" stamp for 1902 is of the same design as last year (Type 367 in our publisher's Catalogue).

1902. Frank, blue, perf. 14.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Afghanistan. We are informed that two of the black circular stamps referred to in January last, bear the date 1292 (1874-75) and are of the values 500 and 1000 rupees. The stamps are somewhat similar to the postage stamps of corresponding date, but without tiger's head in centre, a portion of circular inscription round the central circle being the same. The value is inscribed in native characters in the central circle The stamps are on thickish wove native paper.

Bechuanaland Protectorate. Our publisher has discovered the £10 Cape Revenue stamp, surcharged "BECHUANALAND PROTECTORATE." in two lines, in small block caps. Probably other values exist.

Cuba. Timbre Movil, 1898-99. The 5c. de peso has been chronicled as rose in colour. This appears to be an error as our publisher has it in dark blue while a 3c. de peso value has turned up, the colour of which is rose. As the figure of value is not very distinct no doubt this latter is the stamp which has been chronicled 5c. d. peso in error.

3c. pe peso, rose

Entre Rios. Our publisher has received a 1 peso stamp, of Type 119 in our Supplement Catalogue, in a new colour. Presumably it belongs to an issue for 1900 or 1901.

1 peso, carmine red, perf. 11½.

Greece. Taxeos. Mr. Morley submits a pair of the 4.50 drachmai green and black of 1875, imperf between. The horizontal perf is 10½.

India. Small Cause Court, Calcutta. Our publisher has found an unchronicled provisional. It belongs to the series of Foreign Bills of 1861 surcharged "SMALL CAUSE COURT, CALCUTTA" in two lines reading upwards. It is the 8 rupees stamp, with the words "FOREIGN BILL" and "EIGHT" cancelled by black bars and overprinted above the word "EIGHT" with "THREE" in small black block caps., 2 mm. high.

3 rup. on 8 rup. violet, bleuté paper.

Our publisher also submits three minor varieties of the same series of provisionals:—

1 rupee, violet, white paper, comma after "COURT," dropped.
2 rupees, violet, white paper, comma after "COURT," raised.
4 rupees, violet, white paper, "S" of "SMALL" raised.

Jamaica. To the series of British Marine Polices surcharged "JAMAICA," Mr. A. B. Kay adds the following values:—

Malta. A series of new Revenue stamps was lately chronicled in Ewen's Weekly Stamp News. We have now received these stamps together with a value not previously chronicled.

Monaco. The Rev. G. E. Barber sends us the 10c., with value and range overprinted in ultramarine, perf. 10½. The 5c., 40c. and 1fr. are catalogued in Roussin under date 1895, and we are now told that the 2fr. has appeared. The perf. of copies of the 25c. and 30c. of the first issue, with value and range in greenish blue submitted to us is 10½. It is given as 11 by Moens and 13½ by Yvert and Teller. Do the perfs. of the first issue vary ?

Newfoundland. Our inquiries with respect to the stamps described and illustrated in our March and May nos. of last year have resulted in a confirmation of their "bogus" nature.

Philippine Islands. Giro. Mr. Morley has discovered the existence of type 4 in the U. S. series for 1899 and type 3 in the series for 1900. We have to chronicle :—

1900. Type III. 1 p. 20c., blue
Type IV. 30c peso, blue
6 pesos, ,,

A new series is said to have appeared in brown, but this requires confirmation.

There seems to have been more than one printing of the "CERTIFICADO" 8c. de peso Revolutionists' stamp. We have a copy before us, in yellow green rather than emerald green in which there are noticeable differences in the lettering, one distinctive sign being that the "C" of "C. DE PESO" is larger than the other letters. It is printed on thicker paper than the emerald green stamp, but the perf. is the same viz. 11½.

Siam. The accompanying illustration represents a stamp, discovered by our publisher, which is supposed to be a fiscal. We are not able to read the inscription and do not know for what purpose the stamp is intended. It is printed in vermilion.

Straits Settlements. Foreign Bill. Of the known type Mr. Morley submits a 4½ dollars, perf 12½. The value on the series with perf 14 is expressed as 4d 50c.

Sungei Ujong. Mr. H. Thompson has shown us the $1 green and black, Straits Settlements, 1888 issue, surcharged in large Roman Caps, in black, with name.

Victoria. Stamp Duty. Ewen's Weekly chronicles the permanent 1d. of new type. Soon after the new issue of postage stamps without the word "postage" appeared last year, the superseded set which was inscribed "Stamp Duty" became available for fiscal purpose only. The 1d. value was changed in colour from rosine to olive-bistre in May, 1901. This has now been replaced by a stamp somewhat similar in design to the Postage Due Set, with large figure of value "1d." on white ground within a circle in the centre; "Victoria" above and "Stamp Duty" below in large sans-serif capitals. It was issued on Jan. 9th.

The syllabic character on the 6 sen, on the 19th and following plates, is found in a small oval, directly beneath the "s" of the word "sen" where it replaces one of the small holes in the strap of the garter.

Some Revenue Stamps of Crete.

THE island of Crete was conquered by the Turks in 1669 but the Cretans never really submitted to their rule. Continued outbreaks occurred between the Christians and Mussulmans until in 1897 a Greek force was landed and intervened on behalf of the Christians. The Powers however disapproved of this action and ultimately the Greek troops were withdrawn, the Powers undertaking to maintain order under the nominal suzerainty of the Sultan. They appointed an Executive Committee nominated by the Cretan assembly to administer the interior of the island, the Admirals of the various nations themselves administering the coast regions occupied by European troops. The antagonism between the Christians and Mussulmans however still proceeded, culminating in an outburst at Candia on Sept. 6, 1898 in which some hundreds of the Christian inhabitants of the town were massacred and nearly a hundred British officers, soldiers, and sailors were killed and wounded. The town had to be bombarded by British ships of war before order could be restored and an ultimatum was sent by Admiral Noel to the Turkish governor demanding that the Mussulman inhabitants should be disarmed and the Turkish troops removed. Finally as the result of an ultimatum from the Powers to the Sultan, the Turkish troops were removed, except a small military post as a symbol of the Sultan's suzerainty and the Admirals assumed the provisional government of the island. Affairs were subsequently more permanently settled by the appointment of Prince George of Greece as High Commissioner.

Philately already indicates the troublous time preceding this settlement in some quaint postage stamps issued during the years 1898 and 1899, but corresponding Revenue stamps have not up to the present time been known to collectors. A number have however quite recently come to light and this article is an attempt to classify and arrange the unfortunately somewhat numerous varieties which have appeared. A number of the specimens are in the collection of Mr. Schwabacher to whom the thanks of collectors are due for his kindness in allowing an inspection of his stamps for their benefit.

EDITORIAL.

Good work is being done by the Fiscal Philatelic Society on the Catalogue of British Colonials. Not only are omissions being rectified but what is of equal importance and a matter much more difficult to deal with, non-existent varieties which have crept into the Catalogues are being deleted. We think the Society was right in declining to have anything to do with the matter of pricing. Some members indeed urged that the Catalogue should be priced "as a guide for collectors for exchange purposes". In the matter of a priced Catalogue of postage stamps "by collectors for collectors" we have had of late much discussion and we believe the difficulties have been found insuperable. But although perhaps the feasibility of a priced Catalogue of postage stamps is discussable yet when we came to fiscals it is entirely outside the range of practicability for many reasons. And we would illustrate this remark, and we think demonstrate our assertion thereby, by merely stating the fact that a member who submitted a specimen of pricing as he would like to see it done actually priced two non-existent stamps at 2d., each! However it did not take the Society long to decide that there could be no pricing of fiscals by collectors.

* * * * *

At the last meeting of the Society the list of Canadians, about which much is known, was completed, but although the list of the other colony viz.: Cape of Good Hope, which was put down for discussion was "gone through" yet it presented a very striking contrast with the former. In fact Cape Revenue Stamps are, to use a phrase which it seems to have become almost customary to use in connection with fiscal lists, in a "chaotic" state. With a view therefore of giving a wider publicity to the deficiencies in the Catalogues and at the same time of pointing out a desirable field of research for the Fiscal specialist we append a short list of some of the questions which urgently require to be settled.

(1) Has any one seen either of the two postage stamps, surcharged "CUSTOMS," chronicled by Moens?

(2) STAMP DUTY, 1854. It is supposed that several types exist of each value of this issue. Two or three well known ones are recorded of the 1d. value, but the members of the Fiscal Society aided by several good collections of these stamps were unable to do more than express a pious opinion that "many types exist of each value."

(3) A whole issue of embossed stamps on white or azure paper, like the Natals, appears to be wanting. Mr. Morley produced two values, a 4½d., and 9d., on azure laid, on portions of the original documents and others are supposed to exist.

(4) Of the issue of 1864, in lilac, no less than 13 varieties given by Moens' and Morley's Revenue Catalogues were queried.

(5) Of the 1875 issue, five values, perf. 15½ x 15, up to the 15/- and all the values above this latter given in Morley's Revenue Catalogue were queried.

(6) Of the 1876 issue perf. 14, the 12/6 grey and the 15/- blue were queried as likewise five values of the set, perf. 15½ x 15, given in Morley's Revenue Catalogue.

Collectors have evidently plenty to do in Cape Fiscals.

* * * * *

Last month we mentioned the existence of the 1d., GOVT PARCELS without stop under "T" of "GOVT". We are now told that a similar variety exists on the 1½d., and 2d., stamps. As regards the 2d., value the "error" is the second from the dexter bottom corner of the sheet and is constant through a number of sheets examined by our informant.

* * * * *

We hear that the gradually growing list of British Official Stamps is to be augmented by some values surcharged "NAVY OFFICIAL" for use in the Victualling Yards.

* * * * *

It is supposed that some values of the new "unappropriated dies" have been issued but we cannot hear to what purpose these issued stamps have been assigned.

* * * * *

The new postage stamps for the Transvaal bearing the King's head were issued on the 1st April and supplies reached London towards the end of the month. They form a pretty and effective set and will be a great adornment to our albums. As regards Revenue Stamps for the Transvaal Mr. Tamsen informs us that several values from 2/6 upwards will be issued, the postage stamps, being inscribed "Postage and Revenue" serving for lower values. It is expected that the denominations of the Revenue Stamps will be 2/6, 5/-, 10/-, £1, £5, £10, and £25. Details of the 5/- value, which we have already seen, will be found in our Fiscal Chronicle.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Argentine Republic. Tobacco. Of Type 34 (incorrectly labelled Type 24 on page 18 of our Supplement Catalogue) Mons. P. Gilbert has the following values.

Greece. Revenue. Mr. Schwabacher submits a very interesting variety of the 2 drachmai blue of 1882. The stamp in question has the value "duo" with an omega instead of an omicron as appears more usual. There is also a difference in the small ornament of pearls at the bottom of the oval band bearing the inscription in black. The pearls are smaller and the two pairs of pearls at the sides of the central group of four are separated from it by a distinct interval, instead of being contiguous as on the ordinary type Further there seems to be at least two printings of the ordinary type. Mr. Schwabacher submits a third stamp, with "duo" written with an omicron in which the overprint is thinner than usual and the colour a pale grey blue rather than greenish blue which is the shade of the other copy before us. The pearls in the group at the bottom of the oval band also appear to be more separated but not so widely as on the type with the omega in "duo"; the impression is however so faint that it is impossible to be certain on this point.

Hong Kong. Ewen's Weekly S. N. chronicles the $3, red lilac, wmk, Crown C. C. perf 14. on bleuté paper.

India. Forest Department. Of the series described and illustrated in Stamps Feb. 1898 our publisher has received an unrecorded value viz: 9 pies yellow and black. The stamp in question is unused and perfect so that we are enabled to amend the description of these stamps as given in Stamps. The stamp is a rect of about 190 x 27 mm. the black overprint being contained within a rect. measuring 185 x 23 mm. It consists of 3 divisions, 60, 65 and 60 mm. long, but otherwise precisely similar except that the middle one has a green line vertically across centre. Each compartment has the figure of value in corner squares, and the two end compartments are perforated vertically at a distance of about 40 mm. from either end of the stamp, thus dividing the whole label into three portions. There is a watermark in the sheet, portions of which only are visible on the stamp before us.

Besides the above stamp Mr. Morley has acquired two values of an earlier issue which is at present unknown to collectors. The stamps are long rects. 252 x 26 mm., divided into three compartments respectively 62, 128 and 62 mm. in length. The two end compartments are precisely similar and bear the inscription "FOREST STAMP" in white letters on a coloured ground on top label and presumably the equivalent in native characters on the bottom label. Value in centre in coloured letters on white ground. The central compartment has a Crown in the centre and value in words on either side with inscriptions above and below on arcs of circles. The rectangle is filled up with a fancy design and native characters in in white on a coloured ground in the angles. The stamps are roughly lithographed on yellowish wove paper. Imperf.

La Rioja. Of Type 125 in our Supplement Catalogue Mons. P. Gilbert possesses a 3 centavos, mauve.

Montserrat. Mr. A. E. Lawrence has the 1d., carmine of 1870 on vertically laid paper.

Oaxaca. (Mexico.) Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits a small band, 87 x 17 mm. lettered TESORERIA GRAL DEL ESTADO DE OAXACA with label below bearing inscription PAGÓ MEDIO CENTAVO and large figures ½ on either side the top of which is covered by the first mentioned inscription. Pelure paper. Imperf.

Orange River Colony. Mr. Schwabacher informs us that he possesses the following unchronicled values of the first issue.

1/6, yellow
5/-, white laid paper

Phillipine Islands. Giro. Mr. D. Thomson has shown us three new varieties of the U.S. series, to which we can add a fourth.

Saint Vincent. Mr. Schwabacher has discovered an interesting error of the italic overprint of "Revenue" on the 1/- of 1883.
Error: 1/-orange vermilion, perf 12, sur. Reveuue.

The same gentleman also submits a variety of the surcharge of 1 SHILLING on the 4d. fiscal of 1885, with a very thick figure "1"

Salta. Of Type 134 in our Supplement Catalogue Mons. P. Gilbert has a 12 cent., dark green.

Salvador. Bill of Lading. Mr A. E. Lawrence possesses the 25 cent., black on pale blue of 1898 surcharged with the words "CONOCIMENTOS DE EMBARQUE" (Bills of Lading) in a circle, in violet.

Spain. Giro. Mr. A. M. South has shown us a 50 centimos of the annexed type, deep lilac, with figures in blue on the black. This is probably a member of a series for 1901, the series of this type at present known in blue being supposed to have been issued in 1900.

Transvaal. Our Publisher has received another provisional, viz: the 1/- brown Cape Revenue, with Queen head to left, wmk. foul anchor, perf. 14, overprinted TRANSVAAL in black block letters like the other provisionals recently chronicled by us.

Mr. Schwabacher submits the 5/- S.A.R. Revenue stamp perf. 11½, surcharged V.R.I. The same gentleman has also sent us one of the new Revenue Stamps with the King's Head. The Head is in an oval as on the new postage stamps. It is surrounded by an ornamental pattern and in each corner is the value "5s" on a tablet, "TRANSVAAL" on arched label above and "REVENUE" below. The stamp is the same size as the current 5/- of this country, and is on C.C. paper.

The Manuscript Adhesive Revenue Stamps of the late South African Republic.

By Saul A. Klagsbrun.

As some slight explanation may appear necessary for naming this article "The Manuscript 'Adhesive' Revenue Stamps of the late South African Republic," I may mention that prior to the 1st April, 1876, when the use of the regular issue of Revenue stamps for Fiscal purposes was made compulsory by Government Resolution, Postage Stamps and the Manuscript Adhesives were indiscriminately used, whilst in many instances the officials collected the value of the stamp which should have been affixed on the document in accordance with law, and endorsed on it words to that effect.

I have a copy of a Government title deed, issued 12th May, 1869, bearing the inscription

Gezien voor Zegel
Zespence Stg.
O. C. Weeber
Landdrost Klerk.

which translated reads

"Seen for stamp"
Six pence stg.
O. C. Weeber
Magistrate's Clerk.

The design of the Manuscript Adhesive is shown in the illustration; they are on white laid paper. I have only met with two values, viz:—

(1) 6d. and (2) 9d.

The 9d. value is of the same type except that the word "negenpence" replaces "zespence."

Of the 6d. I possess a specimen affixed to a copy of a title deed of two plots of ground, but unfortunately it does not bear upon it any date as to when it was issued. I also have an unsevered vertical pair of the 6d., and one specimen of the 9d.

The following Government Resolutions bearing upon the issue of the permanent Revenue stamps may be of some interest to collectors.

Volksraadbesluit, 18 November 1874.

Art. 271. Aan de orde brief van Z.H.Ed. den Staatspresident, d.d. Gouvernements kantoor Pretoria, 18 November 1874, luidende als volgt:—

Ik heb de eer bij deze voor te stellen, dat de Regeering gemachtigd worde behoorlike zegels (1) te doen maken volgens de Wet op de Zegelregten No. 2, 1871, dat tot op dezen dag zulke zegels niet bestaan en hiertoe dikwijls gebruik wordt gemaakt van postzegels, hetgeen groote verwarring geeft in de postrekeningen, te meer daar er op zulk eene wijze geen behoorlijk toezigt is op de betaling van zulke zegelregten.

De Raad besluit het verzoek in dezen brief vervat goed te keuren.

TRANSLATION.

Volksraad Resolution, 18 November 1874.

Art. 271. On the order letter from His Honour the State President, d.d. Government Offices, Pretoria, 18 November 1874, reading as follows:—

I hereby beg to propose that the government be empowered to cause proper stamps (1) to be printed in accordance with the Law on Stamp Dues No. 2, 1871, as up to this day no such stamps exist and postage stamps are often used for this purpose, which causes great confusion in the post-accounts, so much more so as on account hereof no proper control can be kept of the payment of such stamp dues.

The Raad decides to approve of and confirm the request contained in this letter.

(1) In connection herewith see Laws 2 and 3 of 1875: Government Notice, Government Gazette, 15 March 1876, No. 624 and Voolksraad Resolution 3 July 1882, Art. 686.

Law 2 of 1871 fixes the Stamp tariff on transfers, licenses etc.

Law No. 2 of 1875 regulates the printing of stamps, safe keeping and distribution thereof.

Law 3 of 1875 regulates the duties of the Stamp Commission No. 75.

No. 75. GOUVERNEMENTS KENNISGEVING.

Aangezien de noddige voorziening is gemaakt tot het vervaardigen van zegels en het stempelen der Bank Cheques, wordt hiermede bekend gemaakt, dat van af 1 April aanstaande, geene geschreven zegels meer op eenige documenten mogen gebruikt worden, maar alleen de daartoe vervaardigde plakzegels mogen worden aangehecht.

De zegels zullen tegen dien tijd verkrijgbaar zijn bij de respectieve zegel-uitdeelers.

Some Revenue Stamps of Crete.

SINCE the appearance of last month's instalment of this article some additional varieties of the types illustrated have turned up. They are as follows, numbered so as to fall into their proper places.

Type 2, on laid paper.

5a. 6 piastres, black and greenish blue

On some copies of this stamp, the surcharge "6" on the upper top corners is deficient, only a few specks of black appearing.

Type 2, on wove paper.

8a. 2 piastres, greenish blue and red

In this stamp both the frame and the Russian surcharge are in greenish blue, while the value appears in MSS in red—a figure "2" above, "piastres" across the centre of the stamp and "Deux" below.

Type 3. On wove paper. (1) With thin outer line.

8b. 4 paras, black and greenish blue

(1) With thin outer line on one side only.

9d.	6 ,,	,,	(thin line on top)
9e.	6 ,,	,,	(thin line below)

(2) With thick outer line.

10a. 6 piastres, black and greenish blue

An unsevered mint block shows, as might be expected, that each stamp varies in type as far as the outer frame with the value in figures and words is concerned; the letters of the value below "six piastres" are seldom in alignment.

CRETAN GOVERNMENT.

1898. Rect. 33 x 35 mm. with name "KPHTH" (Crētē) above in large Roman caps. and inscription in Greek letters "Phoros Chartosemon Eisprachtheis" below with blank space for insertion of value in MS. Type 4.

Type 5

One of the two copies seen of No 23 bears in MS what appears to be "P 1" and the other a dash which may represent a "1" over the word "KPHTH" so that the value may be "1" piastre. The value on the remaining stamps is either indicated by figures above as "10" or "20" or else with word as "10 paradis" in the illustration.

The Newspaper Tax Stamps of Great Britain.

By Walter Morley.

SINCE sending the MSS to press for our April number I have acquired several large parcels of these stamps, especially rich in the 3½d. and earlier values, and most fortunately, the bulk of them had been cut with very large margins which has enabled me to investigate these puzzling stamps more fully than has hitherto been possible and many points in doubt can now be cleared up. Probably the most important is the manner of printing, which we at first thought was done from the dies separately, and I am indebted to Mr. C. F. S. Johnson for first drawing my attention as the result of his own studies, to the fact that the plate of 25 was not cut up, but that 25 sheets of paper were arranged overlapping each other so that the corner of each received one impression of a die. This also accounts for the plate number, which is far beneath the die number, being found occasionally on the papers when the margin was sufficiently wide to include it and often portions of the adjoining stamp appear on one paper. Pursuing my investigations in this direction I found several copies where part of an adjoining stamp shewed the die number also and examples of this both in side and upright arrangement, so that, as a result of much study, I have I think established the reconstruction of the plates. We had already recorded the number of dies to a plate as being 25, but it was quite unknown in what manner they were arranged. I have now succeeded in reconstructing some sheets, the arrangement is somewhat unexpected by those who have studied these stamps. They are in 3 rows, a fact which probably adds weight to the supposed manner of printing, and the annexed diagram shews plate No. 1, with die 1 to 25, the plate no. being under die 9, this position being followed throughout, plate No. 2 being under die 34, plate No. 3 under die 59, plate No. 4 under die 84. I find this arrangement applies to all the types previously recorded in this journal and the following 3½d. compound values.

EDITORIAL.

OUR journal this month will be in the hands of our subscribers at a period of great rejoicing for the English race. The war is over and the honourable, and we hope lasting, peace which has just been proclaimed forms a fitting prelude to the great event of this month when our monarch will confirm his succession to the throne of his ancestors by a dignified and stately ceremonial, prescribed by precedent and marking the continuity of the growth of the nation. As we contemplate the details of the ceremony and the guests, many of whom are proud to be members of the British Empire, who will be its witness, surely such tangible evidence of the energy and capacity of our race and its tenacity of purpose which brings it triumphant out of difficulties, makes us proud to be Britons. Our thoughts turn to the great Englishmen of all times who have helped to build up our Empire and not less to those who by their self sacrifice have contributed to the same result, and urges us, one and all, to strive our utmost to hand down the inheritance we have received from our forefathers unimpaired to our sons. The Coronation ceremony will turn all eyes to the central figure who represents the Empire and forms a tie which binds all our brethren in many climes and so, in the name of a small section of them, who call themselves "philatelists," for whom we are confident that we interprete their sentiments, we echo the password of the British race—

God save the King!

* * * * *

On Friday evening, the 30th May, a very important paper was read before the London Philatelic Society by Mr. E. D. Bacon on the postage stamps of Chili. As collectors are aware the first plates and early printings of these stamps were made by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon and Co. and considering the deserved popularity of he stamps produced by this firm it is strange that these stamps have been comparatively neglected. Now, however, we expect that they will be equally sought for with, say, the early New Zealands or St. Vincents. In the paper abovementioned the author, after giving full details of the various London printings proceeded to discuss the local printings and announced the highly important discovery of a printing of the 5 centavos of these local stamps by lithography! Apparently the local printer was unable at first to get satisfactory results by printing direct from the plate sent out from London and so an attempt was made to secure better results by means of lithographic transfers from the plate. Some of the stamps produced by this process show curious varieties due to the creasing of the transfer paper when laid on the stone. For further details collectors will await the appearance of the paper in the London Philatelist. We cannot refrain from mentioning the subject here as this is a momentous discovery and certainly the most striking and sensational one in Philately for some years, for these stamps have been in the hands of philatelists for about 40 years. We heartily congratulate the distinguished author on his success. The stamps of this country were illustrated by the collection of the author and also by the very fine one belonging to Mr. T. W. Hall, with whom the author has been in collaboration as far as these lithographed stamps are concerned.

* * * *

The Philatelic Journal of India recently commenced, simultaneously with ourselves, an elaborate article on the Fiscals of India, by Mr. C. H. Crosse. Owing to the fact that fiscal collectors have not as yet their wants sufficiently catered for in respect of publication, since most of the philatelic journals in this country entirely neglect fiscals, and secondly that we have a large amount of matter in hand, we think it advisable to postpone the continuation of our article for the present and probably it will be found desirable to complete it by a review of the one in the P. J. I. giving a list of any varieties which may be unknown to our friends in India.

The present editor of the P. J. I. is well known as a fiscal collector and is therefore likely to sympathise with those who follow this branch of collecting, which is gradually becoming more popular every day. That this is so we have evidence in the fact that besides the article on Indian fiscals another on Austrian fiscals is in progress in the same journal, while the May number, which we have just received, contains some notes on Afghan fiscals to which we refer in our Fiscal Chronicle. Fiscal collectors should therefore support this journal which has already taken its place in the first rank of philatelic publications. It is almost needless to remark that it is indispensable to postage stamp collectors.

* * * * *

We regret to hear that the numbers of the London Philatelist, and Gibbons Monthly Journal which should have appeared at the end of May have been utterly destroyed in the recent fire at Messrs Brendons, Plymouth, their printers. Messrs Stanley Gibbons have also, we understand, lost their stock of Albums.

"POSTAGE" DISCOVERIES.

Crete. British Sphere of Administration. Our publisher has discovered the local stamp of 1898, 20 parades, mauve on yellowish wove paper instead of on the usual white laid paper. The stamp is perforated with the number "28" the significance of which is unknown to us. It is obliterated by a large single lined circle containing the Union Jack and the word "KANDIA" below, in a similar style to the design of the Fiscal, Type 1, which we illustrated last month.

Japan. Mr. W. C. Eaton, of Barberton, Ohio, writes with regard to the ½ sen, brown of the 1872 issue :— "I have in my collection two copies of this stamp, one of which is perf 8½ at right and 11 on the other three sides and one perf 8½ at right and bottom and 11 on the other two sides."

Our publisher has had a used copy of stamp No. 153, perf 12½ x 11.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Afghanistan. The May number of the Philatelic Journal of India contains a paper on "A Few Afghan Fiscals" by Mr. Masson from which we list the stamps recorded below.

Bills. Referring to the black circular stamps chronicled by us in April, the author informs us that they are part of a series of Bill stamps, bearing date 1289 (1871-72). The Persian inscriptions round the outer circle, commencing at the position of 6 o'clock on the dial, reading from right to left means "Bill Duty, Kingdom of Kabul, 1289." Within the inner circle is stated the bill limit which the stamps legalized. The series, as far as known at present, consists of the following 8 values.

50, 100, 200, 300, 400, } rupees, black
500, 1000, 2000, } (oil colour)

1893. (Dated 1310.) Type similar to the postage stamps of 1892, but larger, Gibbons Types 41-43. On pelure paper.

580 ,, black (not seen used)

Export Customs. Date? An oblong stamp, with characters in Arabic too indistinct to be decipherable. On thin wove paper.

Value? claret, (water colour.)

1893 (Dated 1310). Like the 1 abasi postage stamp of this date, Type 44 in Gibbons, but without the long tailed character which divides all postage stamps, from 1310, into upper and lower halves.

1 " " " " purple "

Our contemporary illustrates the stamps described.

Basutoland. Mr. S. A. Klagsbrun informs us that he possesses the 1d., green on yellow, Cape Revenue, wmk Anchor, perf 14, with horizontal surcharge, 20mm. long. It is cancelled 21/1/93

Cuba. Giro. Mr. G. W. Pepper of New York write us "In the Giro issue of Cuba, Moens lists "a separate issue for each year from 1877 to "1884 excepting the year 1879. From 1884 "there is a jump of 4 years to 1888. The color of "the issue of 1884 is given in Moens as mauve. "As collectors well know mauve is a color that "very liable to change from exposure to light "or other causes, therefore the variations of "shades found in collections of this issue, have "so far as I know, never provoked the idea, other "than that they were caused by light etc.

"A lot of these stamps just come into my "possession however proves that instead of one "issue from 1884 to 1888, there are three, and "perhaps four distinct changes in color.

"The dates, thanks to the firms using the "stamps, plainly show the changes in color from "year to year, and although I had a large "number of stamps to look over, in no one in-"stance did I find the shade or colour of one "year, to conflict with the dates found on the "stamps. The strangest thing to me is, that I "did not find a single copy bearing the date "1884!

"I found all values from 5c. to 5 pesos dated "1885 in color what I should take to be mauve.

"All values from 5 cents to 5 pesos (except "4 pesos) dated 1886, in a dark purple.

"The 3 and 4 pesos only, dated 1887, in claret "color. I enclose the stamps as described for "your inspection and feel sure they will bear "me out in my statements."

We have had the advantage of comparing the stamps sent by Mr. Pepper with our publisher's stock and think that Mr. Pepper has made out his case for the three issues in the years mentioned. However it is difficult, owing to the fugitive nature of the colours and their slight solubility in water, in some cases to decide to which issue a given stamp belongs. We find that stamps cancelled in 1884 from our publisher's stock are practically the same shades as the stamps dated 1885 sent by Mr. Pepper. In the 1886 issue damp makes the stamps redder in appearance but good copies are decidely dark purple, i. e. with more blue in the pigment than the stamps of the other years. The stamps of 1887 which Mr. Pepper terms "claret" we should term "red lilac." There is very little blue in this shade. We may therefore list—

1884. 5, 10, 50, c. d. peso, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 pesos, mauve
1886. 5, 10, 50, c. d. peso, 1, 2, 3, 5 pesos, deep purple
1887 3, 4 pesos, red lilac

Great Britain. London (Justice Room). Our publisher has received a new variety of the usual type. The value appears as 3s. od. in large black figures.

3/-, red, black surcharge, perf. 12½.

Italy. Bills, 1871. Mr. Morley has found a copy of the 5 lire, black surcharge on 15 lire, rose red, with the triple line of lozenge surcharge in brown, with surcharge inverted.

Orange River Colony. We have received a long list of varieties of the first and second issues from Mr. S. A. Klagsbrun, of which the following appear to be unchronicled.

1st issue.
1/6, light rose	£1, dark green
4/-, light green	£3, dark rose
	£4, white (laid ?)

2nd issue. 3/-, grey green.

Panama. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits the Timbre Nacional of Colombia, 1889-90 issue, perf. 13½, surcharged TIMBRE ESPECIAL DEPTO DE PANAMA in oval, with star in centre, and also the 2c, black on yellow Cigarette stamp of 1887 with the same surcharge.

Peru. 1880-81. Mr. A. E. Lawrence informs us that there are two types of the "LIMA" surcharge, with small and large shield.

Philippine Islands. Giro. The following varieties have been found by Mr. D. Thomson.

1899. Type III. 7 pesos, blue
10 " "
1900. Type I. 15 pesos, blue

Porto Rico. Giro. An interesting provisional has been discovered by Mr. Morley. It is the Recibos y Cuentas 5 c. d. peso, green, of 1891, surcharged with handstamp in violet, in single lined frame, 17 mm. square

Uganda. Consular. We have seen the 8 as. and a pair of the 1 rupee, black, postage stamps of 1896, without surcharge of "L," Type 3 in Gibbons Catalogue, bearing a diagonal surcharge of "Consular" in MS in black ink, used, on a portion of the original document.

United States. The Metropolitan Philatelist informs us that the $1, $2, $5, $10, and $50 Revenue stamps are now in green. We do not understand the changes which have taken place in the Revenue stamps during the last two or three years and should be glad to receive a complete list. The same journal informs us that all U.S. Revenue stamps will become obsolete on July 1st.

Victoria. Stamp Duty. We have received the 3d. value, best known as a postage stamp, Type 29 in Gibbons Catalogue, printed in greenish grey. This is undoubtedly solely for Revenue purposes.

The Fiscal and Telegraph Stamps of the Orange Free State.

BY EMIL TAMSEN.

A. REVENUE STAMPS.

I MUST own that it has never struck me before to investigate any points rê the Fiscal Stamps of South Africa, in fact I had no idea that there were any points to be cleared. Before the war I had ample opportunities to find out all I wanted to know, but as my postage stamp collection took up all my time I had none left for fiscals. I have always taken and put away any fiscal stamps I came across with the idea of arranging them later on when I had more leisure, but owing to the looting of my house all this accumulation is lost, and it was quite accidently that a part of my fiscal collection, which I had started some ten years ago, was saved. On this collection and with help of Moens' Catalogue, 7th edition, I base the remarks in this article.

The early fiscals of the late Orange Free State now as Orange River Colony, a part of the British Empire, have never been plentiful out here, the small population nearly all farmers, the few towns, without any speculation, used but few stamps; only when the diamond and goldfields and the adjoining states began to spring up did the country go ahead and gave the Revenue an increase. Owing to the loss of most of my special South African library, I have only been able to find the following statistics, which show plainly how limited the number of stamps required really was.

Total income from sale of fiscal stamps.	Total income from sale of Postage stamps and Postcards.
1879. £8,997.	1879. £6,908.
1890. £39,138.	1890. £10,635.
1891. £43,621.	1891. £12,355.

Not even £16,000 income in 1879 from all stamps, what must amounts have been ten or twenty years before! how very limited must have the early issues been; no wonder they never were plentiful in collector's hands. Now, where the war has upset the country, and has caused the loss of many papers from which the stamps were saved (?) and the papers thrown away, all old correspondence etc., laid aside and forgotten has been overhauled for stamps and all these are now on the market; now is the time to pick them up, as one can rest assured that no more finds of old stamps will occur out here.

The first fiscal stamps of the Orange Free State are embossed on one coloured paper. I presume that the idea of having embossed stamps was borrowed from the adjoining Cape Colony. I have the top part of a sheet of paper with the printed heading "Slave Registry Office, Cape of Good Hope" with the written date "Cape Town, 13 March 1832," above this are two embossed stamps impressed, one for six shillings, the other for eighteenpence, the design is crown in centre, value below, surrounded by two branches, at the top in a curve, "Cape of Good Hope," this is practically the same design as that of the adhesive fiscals of 1854 embossed in colour.

Comparing the first issue of the Orange Free State fiscals with the above it will be seen at a glance that the one is an imitation of the other, and very likely made by same firm of engravers in England.

As to date of issue I have no guide, Moens gives 1867 which is certainly wrong, the embossed fiscals of Cape Colony were issued in 1854, the date of first issue Natal is also given as 1854, and as this corresponds in paper with that of Orange Free State I should say 1858 or even earlier would be the true date of issue.

I have a specimen of a provisional which comes off a document used in 1859, it is written in red ink "Gezien voor Zegel van 1/-" and initials of printer, all in a circle; this wording "Seen for stamp of 1/-" would lead one to suppose that stamps existed but were not obtainable for some reason or another and that the cash was paid and this certified through above in place of an adhesive stamp.

This specimen came to me in 1887 from a friend employed in a local bank, he knew that I collected stamps and he presented it to me, stating that he had torn it off the document, thinking it must be something rare as the paper was dated 1859.

Another provisional I have is written in black ink "Gezien voor Zegel van een shilling sterling" and the writer's initials;* there is no date, but on back occurs 1860; I do not remember when or where I got this copy, but both specimens prove to my mind that stamps must have existed prior to the use of these specimens, why else for instance the expression "Zegel" "Stamp," therefore 1858 will not be too early to assign as date of first issue. Perhaps an earlier dated specimen will turn up some day and definitely settle this point.

Type 1

I will now give the particulars of this issue as far as I know. Where a T is marked after the value it means that this stamp is in my collection, where a query (?) it means that it could or ought to exist but has not been chronicled as yet, where no remark is made it means that I have found the stamp chronicled by Moens in his 7th edition.

1858. Issue I. Type 1.

Class A. Embossed on blue laid paper.

6d. (T), 1/- (T), 5/- (?), 10/- (?), £1 (T).

Class B. Embossed on white laid paper.

6d., 1/-, 1/6 (T), 2/- (T), 3/-, 4/-, 5/- (T), 10/- (T), £1 (?), £2 (T), £3 (T), £5 (?).

1859-60. Provisional in red ink.

1/- (T).

Provisional in black ink.

1/- (T).

1873. Class C. Embossed on green paper.‡

9d., 1/-, 1/6, 2/- (T), 3/-, 4/- (T), 5/- (?), 10/- (?), £1 (T), £2 (?), £3 (T), £5.

Class D. Embossed on yellow paper.‡‡

1/-, 2/- (T), 3/- (?), 4/-, 5/- (?), 10/- (T), £1 (?), £2 (?), £3 (?), £5 (?).

* It is very curious that this method of denoting payment of duty, precisely parallel to the case of the Transvaal described by Mr. Klagsbrun in our paper last month should be brought to the notice of collectors independently and almost simultaneously. If Mr. Tamsen's conclusions are sound Transvaal fiscals earlier than are yet known may exist. Ed.

 The 10/- as well as a 2/- and a 3/- value were chronicled by us in April last. The stamps are in Mr. Kay's collection. Ed.

 The £1 was chronicled by us in August, 1900. Last month we chronicled a £4 value (laid ?) and Mr. Morley has the 1/- with cancellation dated 14/4/64. Ed.

‡ The £2 was chronicled by us in April, and a £4 value in Stamps, Jan. 1899. Ed.

‡‡ Mr. Morley has the 3/- and 5/- values in his collection. The former was chronicled by us in February, and the latter in Stamps, Jan. 1899. In May we chronicled an 1/6 value of this set. Ed.

Class E. Embossed on dark blue paper.‡

1/-, 2/- (?), 3/- (?), 4/-, 5/, 10/- (?), £1 (?), £2 (?), £3, £4 (?), £5 (?).

Class F. Embossed on rose paper.‡‡

£1, £2 (?), £3 (T), £4 (T), £5 (T).

Moens catalogues a 2/- gris (grey) I think this will be found to belong to Class B.

Re Class A. This is undoubtedly incomplete, the gap between 1/- and £1 is too large, very likely all 12 values exist, the more so if this is really the first issue.

Re Class B. Here is only the £1 and £5 not known as yet.

Re Class C. The 5/-, 10/, and £2, are unknown as yet.

Re Class D. The 5/- ought to exist but as no pound values are known, I ask might not Class F of which only the high values exist (the £2 will be found someday) have been used in conjunction? And might these two Classes not be really issued after what I call Class E?

Re Class E. The 2/-, 3/-, 10/- ought to exist and perhaps no pound values at all while the £3, which Moens chronicles, really belongs to Class A? In conjunction with this class the stamps of my class F may also have been used.

(To be continued.)

Some Revenue Stamps of Crete.

SOME further additions have to be made to the list published last month. The numbers indicate where the additional varieties come in.

Type 2. On laid paper. Without figures in top corners.
5b. 6 piastres, black and greenish blue.

Type 3. On wove paper. (1) With thin outer line.
9 bis. 6 piastres, black and greenish blue.

Error: "piastre" instead of "piastres" in value.
9 ter. 6 piastre (sic), black and greenish blue.

(1 a) With thin outer line on left side.

Error: "parsa" instead of "paras" in value.
9 aa. 4 parsa (sic) black and greenish blue.

With thick line on top and thin lines on other three sides.
9 f. 6 piastres, black and greenish blue.

A dangerous forgery exists of stamp No. 1 (British sphere of Administration). This stamp, unlike the few forgeries of fiscals which exist, has not been made apparently to defraud the Revenue, but for the benefit of collectors solely. It is offered on a portion of the original document from which the genuine stamp has been removed and the false stamp substituted. It appears to be the work of a man in Constantinople to whom the forging of Levant surcharges has been traced. A distinguishing feature of the forgery is that the lines on the Union Jack are wrong. There are some other slight differences and collectors who feel doubtful about the genuineness of their copies are invited to send them either to the editor or the publisher of this journal for examination.

Besides the foregoing varieties Mr. Schwabacher possesses some Turkish stamps bearing an indistinct surcharge, which appears to consist of some fancy design in a small rectangle. These are said to have been employed in Crete and possibly precede the various provisionals which have just been described. They are as follows, assigned to the particular duties for which they are employed in Turkey. Advertisements. 2 paras, blue, perf. 11½, black sur.

‡ The 3/- was chronicled by us in April and Mr. Morley has the values 6d and 10/- in his collection. The 2/- and 4/- were chronicled by us in April on "light blue" paper. Are these "shades" merely, or is a series to be chronicled in this colour? ED.

‡‡ The £2 was chronicled in Stamps, Jan. 1899, and an 1/6 value by us last month. Both these stamps are in Mr. Morley's collection. ED.

Receipts, 1892. 10 paras. black on orange, perf. 13½. (black sur.)
20 ,, ,, lilac ,, (,,)
Timbres proportionnels, 1879. 1 piastre carmine and green, perf. 11½ (blue sur.)
Do. Current type. Date? 10 paras, grey, perf. 13½ (black sur.)

The type of surcharge on the last mentioned stamp is different to that on the others, being smaller in size.

EDITORIAL.

WHEN we last took pen in hand for our usual monthly causerie, we, in common with the rest of the world, never for a moment looked for the bitter and grievous disappointment which the British nation suffered by the untimely and serious illness of their King. The nation was staggered at the news and it was pitiable to see the vast crowds wandering in an aimless manner about the Metropolis gloomily contemplating the preparations, so suddenly arrested, for the gorgeous pageant which was on the eve of being celebrated. The disappointment has, however, been borne with admirable stoicism by the people, whose only thought was for the speedy restoration to health of their beloved monarch. One and all rejoice that his Majesty is now on the high road to recovery but we fear that the Coronation, when it does take place will lack some of the brilliancy which it would have displayed had not such an untoward event occurred.

Another philatelic season has come and gone and at such a time it is useful to review its chief features. One of these is the effort, initiated by Mr. Oldfield, first in a paper before the I. P. U. and later in a more comprehensive one before the premier society, in the direction of encouraging what is now called "limited specialism." The subject has been largely discussed and the result appears to be that a large amount of sympathy has been evoked on behalf of Mr. Oldfield's proposals but that no agreement has been reached as to the means of carrying them into effect. The proposals in question were at first largely misunderstood and it was supposed that Mr. Oldfield—notwithstanding his express statements to the contrary—desired to suppress "bloating." With this mistaken idea, said his opponents—"Without bloating how can stamps be properly studied? to which the answer is obvious—"They cannot"—But on more careful consideration it was seen that the pith of Mr. Oldfield's wished for reform was—bloat as much as is necessary but when you have studied your stamps do not retain any duplicates in your final collection and in Exhibitions the retention of many stamps without reasonable differences should be discouraged by receiving a proportion of bad marks. Speaking for ourselves we quite agree that over-doing a collection of stamps of any country should be discouraged but we think Mr. Oldfield goes a little too far in cutting down the number of specimens which should be shown. We think that there are cases, for example in stamps which have been in use for a long period and which naturally exist in many printings, where probably many copies are necessary to adequately display them. But after all you cannot dictate to a collector what he shall collect, so that in this matter probably collectors will please themselves as heretofore. A direction in which we think reform is needed, and can be effected, is in regard to awards in Exhibitions. We believe at present that too much weight is allowed to "rarities" and we think that more regard should be paid to the common stamps. It is often found that wealthy collectors who show magnificent series of rare stamps, neglect the commoner varieties in a shameful manner, the latter being added hap-hazard from the first copies that come to hand. Now the acquisition of rarities can only be made singly now and again and selection is not embarassing, it is generally a mere question of £ s. d. but to select a representative series from hundreds of specimens requires patience and judgment and other philatelic virtues far more worthy of reward.

* * * * *

While on the subject of Exhibitions the Herts Society had a very interesting display at Effingham House on the 7th June, when a number of gold, silver and bronze medals were carried off by well known collectors. We are told that this Exhibition, like the similar one held by the I. P. U. last year, was an experimental one to try and place the general collector and limited specialist on a level with the wealthy collector. This result was not achieved but we hope some valuable hints were acquired for future guidance to secure this end.

Another feature specially gratifying to us, of the past season is the steady growth of Fiscal Collecting. The flourishing state of this branch of philately is evidenced by the development of the Fiscal Philatelic Society, which we believe already numbers some 50 members. The meetings have been well attended and the discussions interesting. Lately we have been struck by evidence, of quite a different character, of the spread of interest in Fiscals, viz. by the number of postage stamp collectors who are quietly putting by such fiscals as they come across "to examine when they have time" or again, we sometimes find that postage collectors who come across a fiscal which strikes them as possibly a good thing keep it "as a curiosity." We quote these cases from actual recent examples, and wonder how many other philatelists are doing the same. It is a healthy sign.

POSTAGE NOTES.

Crete. Russian Sphere of Administration. 1st Issue. Mr Morley has found the 2 metalik, black on laid paper. This variety completes the list of this issue on laid paper, all four varieties being now recorded on both wove and laid papers.

Great Britain. Board of Education. We have noticed in various journals numbers purporting to be those of the quantities of the postage stamps overprinted for the use of this Department. These numbers are usually incorrect, the correct figures being

½d., 60,000
1d., 240,000
2½d., 60,000
5d., 60,000

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Natal. The 1/-, 5/-, 10/-, £1, and £5, values are exhausted, so Mr. L. W. J. Walker informs us, and there is some talk of bringing in the Zululand postage stamps, surcharged on Natal to fill the gaps till the new issue with the King's Head arrives. These are expected this month and in fact the ½d. and 1d. postage stamps are said to have already arrived in the Colony but have not yet been issued.

Since writing the above several provisionals have appeared surcharged on the Revenue stamps, with varieties of type of surcharge. We shall give a full description next month as pressure on our space precludes our doing so now. The stamps are perf. 14. Wmk. CA. All surcharges in black

3d., on 4d, Revenue, lilac (4 types)
6d., on 9d, Revenue, lilac
1/- on 9/- Revenue (3 types) lilac and vermilion
1/- on £1, Revenue green (3 types)

Orange River Colony. Our publisher has received the 1d. violet postage stamp, V. R. I. with raised stops, surcharged by handstamp T. F. in tall thin caps, in pale bluish black. This is apparently a provisional as all other telegraphs are specially printed T. F. and V. R. I. without the figures of value.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Great Britain. We are much indebted to Mr. A. B. Creeke, Junr. for the following interesting information rê British Fiscals, both old and new. We have seen all the stamps described.

I Stamps with Queen's Head.

In 1894 three new "unappropriated dies" were prepared of values £1. 10, £2. 10, and £10. The type is similar to those with the King's head recorded below and as some of these will soon be in the hands of collectors we think it unnecessary to describe them further. The £1. 10, £2. 10 and £10 were employed for "Estate Duty" purposes, and the £10 was overprinted for "Consular Service" as described below.

Consular Service. The following three high values are not yet recorded in the catalogues. All have wmk. orbs.

$50 on £6 purple and violet
$100 on £10 ,, carmine
$250 on £20 ,, ,,

The surcharges are in black block type thus :—

FIFTY 100 250
DOLLARS DOLLARS DOLLARS

Estate Duty. The following series, except the two last, which were chronicled by Mr. Preston Pearce in Stamps, January 1902 without date of issue, appear to be hitherto unknown to collectcrs.

These provisionals have a black bar through the words "Two" and "Three" respectively and the value added below in black block figures as £1 : 10 and £2 : 10 respectively, a colon separating the pounds from the shillings.

1895. £1.10 purple

These two have now been superseded by the King's Head stamps chronicled below.

Isle of Man. The following with thick figure overprint of value appears to be unrecorded. Wmk. orb.

II Stamps with King's Head.

The following series of "unappropriated dies" have been printed and some have been already issued for various duties as chronicled below. As these stamps will soon be in the hands of collectors we think it unnecessary to describe the types in detail. It will be noticed that a new paper has been prepared for the shilling values with watermark I. R. (i. e. Inland Revenue) in monogram instead of V. R.

The Fiscal and Telegraph Stamps of the Orange Free State.

By Emil Tamsen.

It will be noted that in Class C, D, E, I have not mentioned any 6d. values, they may exist or not, I rather doubt their existence, 6d. was not much of a Revenue value in South Africa 40 years ago, as their 1/- was practically the smallest coin used up country and its purchase power was rather small. The Cape Colony with copper coinage in public use in its Coast Ports, and with Bank Cheques and Bills, would require 1d., 3d., and 6d. stamps in those days, still I presume that the Orange Free State used the postage stamps of low values after their issue in 1868 where or if required for fiscal purposes and only prepared a fiscal 6d. stamp after 1878.

It may also here be noted that this country never had an adhesive fiscal 1d. stamp: to denote this amount on Bank Cheques in later years either postage stamps were used or each cheque bore an embossed impression.

I have no reason for the order of papers as I enumerate them, as none of all my specimens have any dates except the £1 green which is dated 1873; it seems to me that the stamps on blue laid paper are scarcest, I have only the three mentioned above and strange not one is defaced in any way although all are still attached to "original" paper.

All my stamps on white laid paper are pencancelled, whereas the issues on green, yellow, blue and rose paper are either pencancelled or obliterated with a black oblong cancellation, coat of arms in centre, Oranje Vry Staat below, name of office above (all mine have Registrateur van Akten—Registrar of Deeds) sometimes the town is added. This would seem to prove that the issues on blue and white laid paper came first and were followed by those on coloured paper, the question in which rotation is still open to conjecture; I cannot account for the idea of having the several (whole?) sets on different paper, the 12 values would not allow one colour to each, as apparently only 4 shades of paper were on hand; still a plan of using one colour for the low values, another for medium, and a third for higher values would have been preferable. Perhaps it may also have been decided to follow the lead of Natal, whose first issue was uniform in color; whereas the Cape issue of 1854 had a separate colour for each value, and that this idea was afterwards found to be best and adopted for the second issue.

Type 2

Type 3

1876. Issue II. Type 2.

Design with Coat of Arms in centre, value in gothic type at bottom embossed as before on coloured paper.

1/-, blue (T), 1/6, yellow green, 2/- (?), 3/- (?), 4/-, green, 5/- (?), 10/-, emerald, £1, rose (T).

I see no reason why the 2/-, 3/-, and 5/- should not exist in this issue,* perhaps, and even very likely, the higher values than £1 exist and only want to be found.

Issue III. Type 3.

1/-, blue.

All I know of this stamp is found on page 2, Feb. 1902 of this journal, I doubt however if other values exist; Moens gives for issue II only a life of a little over one year. I do not see why another issue should be required in this short time, but perhaps the die of 1/-, issue II, got damaged and was replaced by issue III?

Type 4

Type 5

1878. Issue IV. Types 4 and 5.

Printed in London. White wove paper. Perf. 14.

6d., violet brown	8/-, yellow
1/-, grey	9/-, olive bistre
1/6, blue	10/-, orange
2/-, bright violet	£1, solferino
3/-, red brown	£2, lilac
4/-, dark slate	£3, slate
5/-, carmine	£4, carmine
6/-, green	£5, green
7/-, mauve

* We chronicled the 3/- value last month. In April last will be found a 1/-, rose recorded on the authority of Mr. Kay. Ed.

1882-4. Same as before, only colours changed.

6d., grey	£2, yellow brown
1/-, violet brown	£4, green
10/-, carmine

The sheet of 6d. consists of 6 horizontal rows of 10 stamps each, the higher values all consist of 10 horizontal rows of 6 stamps, thus all sheets have a uniform 60 stamps.

1885. Issue V.

Surcharged "Ord. 22—85" in two lines.

A. On Revenue stamps.*	B. On Postage stamps.
5/-, carmine, surcharge blue	1d., brown, surcharge violet
10/-, orange, ,, violet	3d., blue, ,, red
£1, solferino, ,, black	6d., carmine, ,, blue
£2, yellow brown ,, ,,

From the list it will be seen that it is most likely that all intermediate values exist. The surcharge is struck in different coloured ink, and is found in all positions, horizontal, vertical down, vertical up, and slanting.

When I first met these stamps I made enquiries rê the meaning of this surcharge and was told that it stood for Law 22 of 1885 which dealt with special taxation on farms, erven and fixed salaries. I could not understand why every fiscal stamp could not be used for every fiscal purpose and why a special one as this should be meant to be used only for a special law, except that the idea was to check the income created by this particular law. If this surcharge was kept up for any length of time I do not know, only two of my specimens were dated, one 1885, the other 1888. They have certainly never been plentiful out here, those of B being scarcer than those of A—at least that is my experience.

1886. Provisional issue, the 8/- Revenue stamp surcharged with "ZES PENCE" in black and two horizontal bars cancelling original value.

6d. on 8/-, yellow

1888. Same as above.

6d. on 10/-, orange

? Same surcharge but original value cancelled with one thick bar.

6d. on 4/-, deep slate

1891. Surcharged with "B W" in black in 4 types on the 3d., blue Postage stamp.

3d., blue

This is also a special issue for a specified purpose, "B W" stands for Bank Wissel (Bank draft), but why only this value?

Sept. 1891. Surcharged in violet with BANK WISSEL DRIE PENCE in block type, one thick bar cancelling the original value, on 1/6 blue, Revenue stamp.

3d. on 1/6, blue

1888. Surcharge similar to above in thicker block letters in black.

3d. on 9/-, bistre

This concludes my knowledge of the Fiscal stamps of the late Orange Free State. The values I have not seen as well as others unknown to me will now no doubt turn up and can easily be added to this list.

During the war several Government Offices as Surveyor General, Registrar of Deeds, etc., were closed and did not transact any business, therefore but few Fiscal stamps were required and no provisionals made. The large remaining stock found in the different offices when the country was occupied by British troops was surcharged V.R.I, and value similarly to the Postage stamps. I hear that the following values were surcharged and are now in use, 6d., 1/-, 1/6, 2/-, 3/-, 5/-, 10/-, £1, £2, £5.

* We believe several others are known. We can add the 2/-, red lilac, surcharge violet.

EDITORIAL.

FISCAL philatelists will learn with great regret the news, which has just reached us, of the death of M. Charles Roussin at Paris on the 26th July last For thirty years his valuable paper, L'Ami des Timbres, has appeared with unfailing regularity and forms, with one or two exceptions, the only record we possess of the issues of revenue stamps, while his catalogue, a sheet of which accompanied each number of L'Ami, now in its 6th edition and very nearly finished, is the most complete as far as Fiscals are concerned that we possess. M. Roussin comtemplated ceasing the publication of L'Ami with the close of the year in order to devote his whole energies to a catalogue of revenue stamps "which was demanded on all sides" but "l'homme propose mais Dieu dispose." His loss will be a severe blow to fiscal philately. We desire to convey our sincere sympathy with his relatives in their loss.

* * * * *

As fiscal collectors will doubtless gather from the lengthy list of British King's head Revenue stamps which we published last month these are now coming upon us thick and fast. It is interesting to observe that, from the fact that "Foreign Bill" stamps are provided from unappropriated dies, apparently the authorities have decided that it is cheaper to provide all Fee and Revenue stamps in this manner rather than from special dies.

The change of watermark from the script V.R. to the script I.R. for the shilling values is also noteworthy. We do not know whether all the stock of paper watermarked script V.R. was used up to print "Queen's heads" upon and it may repay collectors to keep a sharp look out on the early copies of the King's head stamps for stamps with this watermark.

The Revista de la Sociedad Filatélica Argentina has commenced in its May number a Catalogue of the Revenue Stamps of the Province Buenos Ayres. The learned author Senor Marco del Pont, to whose previously published work, as we have already acknowledged, we are indebted for a good deal of information respecting the Argentine and Municipality of Buenos Ayres fiscals which we have incorporated in our Supplement Catalogue, publishes some interesting figures regarding the numbers issued of the rare first issue of Document Stamps for this Province. The stamps in question are the handsome series from 3 to 90 pesos, in rose and green, and 100 to 750 pesos in green and orange. The first column of the table below gives the numbers "emitidas," which we read as equivalent to "printed" in this case, for Senor Pont states in a foot note that a large part of these were burnt, and gives a second table, which we reproduce in the second column, showing the numbers sold in the City of Buenos Ayres. In addition to these stamps of this issue to the value of 246,031 pesos were sold in the "country" of which the details are unknown.

With regard to the Cretan fiscals which we have chronicled lately, specimens have lately been discovered which differ somewhat from our types 4 and 5. It is not yet known whether these are forgeries or not but investigations are being made, the result of which shall be communicated in due course. We called attention last month to one dangerous forgery so that collectors had better be on their guard with regard to these stamps.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Natal. We proceed to supply the details of the provisionals chronicled last month according to promise.

The 3d. on 4d. Revenue, lilac. The top right quarter pane of 60 stamps which we have before us shows the following setting up. There is a black bar through the value on lower label and the word "REVENUE" on upper, while the word "TELEGRAPH" is overprinted underneath the upper label in small black fancy caps. The new value falls above the lower label and the surcharge varies in the type of this portion of the overprint. The first 16 stamps are surcharged in thin sans serif caps. "THREE PENCE," with stop, the next 8 in tall thin sans serif caps. "THREE PENCE" without stop and the next 6 in Clarendon type "Three Pence" without stop, while the last of these six stamps (which is the last stamp of the 5th row of the sheet) has a wrong fount "e" in the word "Three" this "e" being a fancy letter with the cross piece forming the loop being diagonal instead of horizontal thus "ε." This arrangement is repeated on the lower 30 stamps of the block before us so that apparently five rows of stamps were surcharged at a time. If this disposition holds good for the whole sheet of 240 stamps, which we have every reason to suppose to be the case, there would be

128 stamps of Type 1 "THREE PENCE."
64 ,, ,, 2 "THREE PENCE"
40 ,, ,, 3 "Three Pence"
8 ,, ,, 3 with wrong fount "ε"

on the sheet.

The 6d. on 9d. Revenue, lilac. The surcharge is similar to the 3d., the value being in small block letters "SIX PENCE". There appears to be no varieties of the surcharge on the stamp, except a broken "E" on the 12th stamp of the block of 60 (a top left quarter pane ?) before us. This broken "E" is not however reproduced in a corresponding position on the lower 30 stamps, so that it may be merely due to a bit of dirt on the surcharging plate.

The 1/- on £1 10s. Revenue, lilac and blue. On this stamp the surcharge is again similar to the 3d., but there are three distinct varieties of the value "One shilling." We have the lower right quarter pane of 60 stamps before us, with plate no. "2" below the fifth stamp on the bottom row from the corner of the sheet. The first 24 stamps have "ONE SHILLING," in thin black sans serif caps. with stop, and the next five a similar surcharge but with slightly larger "LL" in the word "SHILLING". The last stamp on this row has "ONE SHILLING" in tall thin sans serif caps. without stop. This arrangement is repeated on the five lower rows of the block of 60 stamps, so that this surcharge like the 3d. has evidently been put on in five rows at a time. Assuming the same disposition over the whole sheet, there would be on the sheet

192 stamps of Type 1 "ONE SHILLING."
44 ,, ,, 2 "ONE SHILLING."
4 ,, ,, 3 "ONE SHILLING"

This 1/- provisional was apparently the first issued but the supply seems to have been quickly exhausted as the two other varieties

1/- on 9/- Revenue, lilac and vermilion
1/- on £1 ,, green

arrived soon after. The setting of the surcharge on these two latter ones is the same, the same three types being found. We might add for the purpose of merely recording the fact that the bar through the word "REVENUE" on all these provisionals varies somewhat in length, from being barely as long as the word "REVENUE" to a length covering from the letter "L" of "NATAL" to the end of the word "REVENUE".

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Penang. Mr. South submits the 5c. Straits Settlements Revenue of 1882 surcharged vertically, reading downwards, "PENANG" in Roman caps. 21 x 3 mm. It is cancelled 10/6/86. The reason for the surcharge is not very apparent.

Philippine Islands. Internal Revenue. Mr. D. Thomson has found the 20 c. peso, claret, Giro surcharged U. S. INTERNAL REVENUE in blue in the same type as on the TIMBRE MOVIL stamps. The specimen in question was used on a bill with three Giro stamps initialled in red by the U. S. Officer in charge of the Revenue and

VOL. III. SEPTEMBER, 1902. No. 9.

The Fiscal and Telegraph Stamps of the Orange Free State.

BY EMIL TAMSEN.

THE 3d. blue postage stamp is surcharged V.R.I.—B.D.—3d. in 3 lines (B.D. stands for Bankdraft). Very likely low, raised and mixed stops will be found in the surcharge of these Revenues, I fear it will be sometime before sufficient material has been collected to classify authoritively the different printings as has been done in the Postal Issue; these latter are plentiful and always seen whereas the Fiscals are scarce and the collection of unused specimens not yet being in vogue, one has to wait till time matures documents etc., and thereby releases the stamps attached to them. On pages 40 and 80 of Vol. II of 1901 of this journal several varieties are noted already, it would be of great assistance if collectors generally would inform the Editor of any new variety they possess or have seen, so that a sort of a temporary list can now be formed to which addition can be made when necessary. I give below a list which a stamp collector in the Orange River Colony has made up from what sheets he was able to inspect (May 1902) it may be useful later on.

1st	,,	10th	,,	1 raised and 1 level and 1 raised.
3rd	,,	10th	,,	all level.

Only a portion of this sheet is on hand.

5/-, carmine, V.R.I. Raised stops all uniform.
10/-, orange, V.R.I. Level stops all uniform.
£1, solferino, V.R.I. Raised stops all uniforn.
£2, yellow brown, V.R.I. Level stops all uniform.
£5, green, V.R.I. Raised stops all uniform.

The 2/-, 10/- and £2 are of a different type to the others "V.R.I." in larger and thinner letters. Taking the level stops as a first issue, then I think all other values ought to exist in this, larger and thinner letters "type."

The 6d. would of course owing to its different size always have a different setting to the other values and that in level, mixed and raised stops.

Why the 5/- carmine should have so many mixed stops is unaccountable except that this value being more used than others required more printings and therefore different settings, perhaps other values will turn up with mixed stops and allow a later classification.

No mention is made of any thick V on any sheet this rather surprises me, missing stops also do not seem to be plentiful, so these Fiscals seem to have a cleaner record than their postal bretheren, reason ? ? ?*

B. Telegraph Stamps.

While the South African Republic used only Postage stamps without any surcharge for their telegrams, the Orange Free State has been in the habit from 1885 to 1900 of surcharging various Postage or Revenue stamps with the word "Telegraaf" or letters "TF" and of using these exclusively, evidently with the idea to keep the postal revenue separate from that for telegrams.

Years ago I got a quantity 1d. and 6d. Postage Stamps surcharged TF and obliterated with a heavy cancellation, so heavy as to effectively cover and conceal the letters TF. I sent some of these stamps to the Postmaster General in Bloemfontein with a request for information rê their postal nature, he answered that they were Telegraph stamps and were not allowed to be used for postage and that he had censured the Postmaster for his irregularity.

During the last few years however I have met quantities of all values 1d. to 1/- with postal obliterations but as many small Offices being both Post and Telegraph Offices combined had only one obliterating date stamp, it is now impossible to say for which branch of the Service the obliterated stamps did duty, this point ought to be remembered when purchasing Telegraph stamps said to have been used as Postage stamps, 99 out of every 100 now in the market have no right to be called Postal Telegraph Stamps.

As all Telegrams are destroyed after a number of years I wonder how used specimens can be met with except that there was a leakage somewhere. The present war is the cause of many stamps appearing in the market. These have been torn off the forms in some offices when they were evacuated by the Officials, but to the present stock none can be added in future, so collectors are on the safe side when investing in Orange Free State Stamps at present low prices.

When I began to make notes for this article I soon found that there are many doubtful points, for instance I do not know if the full sheets of 240 stamps, 4 panes of 60 stamps, 10 horizontal rows of 6 stamps consist of only one type or if several or all varieties occur on each or on same sheet. I now regret lost opportunities, formerly it would have been very easy for me to find out and clear up any doubtful points but I really had no idea that so many points still required investigation. I was under the impression that only postage stamps had variations and errors etc. but I find now that I was very much mistaken. I have lately written to several stamp collectors in the Orange River Colony for information, but none could answer or throw light on my queries, they had all like myself, neglected these stamps and as a rule not collected them at all. At present it is very difficult to get more than a sight of the V.R.I. Army Telegraph Stamps, no chance to take notes etc. as to level or raised or mixed stops other peculiarities so eagerly sought after by the collector.

*Our readers will point the moral. Mr. Morley has the 3d. (B.D.), 6d., and 2/- values with a thick V. Ed.

I take it for granted that the printing works of C. Borkenhagen in Bloemfontein who overprinted the provisional postage stamps for the Republic also printed the surcharge on the Telegraph Stamps and as we know that there are many varieties in the provisional postage stamps it is very likely that some of the various "TF" types occur on the same sheet and other varieties in another setting, but how or when I fear will now be impossible to find out. I do not think that the printing office had 240 T and F of one fount to spare from its usual newspaper printing work to set up this surcharge absolutely uniform and keep it standing for future use, I should rather think that the type was set up when an order was given and broken up again when that particular work was finished; the home collector has a good opportunity to come forward with his blocks and strips to show or give an idea how the original sheet may have been set up.

The Virginia State "Tax on Seals."

By Ralph Douglas.

STAMPS issued for internal use by some of the States comprised in the United States of America have a certain analogy to those issued by English Municipal authorities and being State Legislative emissions deservedly stand high in the fiscal philatelist's favour. The issues of Alabama, California, Louisiana, Nevada, and Oregon—a respectable collection by themselves—are well known to collectors, thanks to Moens, Stirling and Adenau, taking rank next to the Private Proprietary stamps printed by the government. To this list may now be added Virginia State, which following the example of Alabama, issue an adhesive to collect the tax on Seals. We give an illustration of the same and a copy of the Act authorising its issue and uses.

The stamp printed in greyish black on white unwatermarked wove paper, white gum, is 56 mm. square. It is perforated 12, but as is usual with U. S. issues, specimens are met with perforated at top and on one side only. The $1 variety only is known and this value does not appear on the stamp. It was issued at Richmond on or about the 1st July 1900 by the Auditor of Public Accounts with the advice of the Attorney General and the State Treasurer, under Act Chap. 165 approved by the Virginia Legislature 25 Jan. 1900.

This Officer issues them to the County and City Treasurers for distribution, in book form of 20 each book. No document sealed (except with the seal of the State) is accepted as a legal notarial or court seal of the state, unless the same is superimposed upon this adhesive stamp. It is used, except in cases exempted by law, on papers connected with the assessment of Income Tax, Licenses to transact business, the support of Government and public free schools, the payment of interest on the public debt, and in cases where a Court Certificate is required, on licenses to sell wine, ardent spirits, malt liquors or any mixtures thereof.

At present I have not been able to ascertain the number comprised in a sheet nor by whom they are printed. Appended is the act above referred to.

It will be noticed that types 31 to 33a (as well as type 30) are identical in every respect, with exception of the line or line and ornaments to the die number, and by carefully comparing identical die nos. (and the plate nos. also) I feel almost certain, that the series of plates with plain die numbers are those first engraved and that the other series are reproduced from these plates, and the distinctive signs then engraved on them through the die numbers, and though it is probable that a complete series of each would be reproduced it is possible that some which I do not list (copies from which have not yet been seen) may not have been prepared or if prepared not put in use. For instance, plate 3, type 31 (plain die numbers) has not been found reproduced in types 32, 33, or 33a, while copies from plates 15 and 16 have not yet been found at all in any of the types 31 to 33a. If copies from plates 15 and 16 (nos. 351 to 400) do not turn up, I should be inclined to think these plates were not approved of by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, and not taken into the Department for use.

This series which includes types 34, 35, and types A nnd B of same, I think must be the preceding sets of plates with the words "& additional 18s. per cent" engraved at sides of each die or on such of the plates as were used for this purpose, with the change in rate of discount allowed. I have not seen any of this series with plain die numbers under the dies.

EDITORIAL.

OWING to a very remarkable "find" among old papers we have had the opportunity of inspecting three sheets of the old 1d. receipt stamp of 1853. Two of these sheets were quite complete but the other had four stamps, the last one of each of the four bottom rows removed. Especially remarkable is the fact that each sheet is from a different plate, so that we venture to put on record a description of each sheet as material for some future history of British Revenue stamps. The first sheet to be described is the one with the four stamps missing. It bears no plate number and we believe it to be plate 1. The stamp is the type with the square buckle to the garter and is printed in pale blue. There is no trace of blue in the paper, which from the ragged edges and general appearance seems to be hand made. The number of stamps on the sheet is 240, in twenty rows of 12 and each is watermarked, with a foul anchor, with wooden stock, reversed. Round the edge is a single line watermark, enclosing the 240 anchors and outside this single line, above and below are the words "Commercial Stamps" in script letters. On each side the watermarked inscription is "Commercial Stamps—Penny Duties" in script letters, twice repeated, with the signature "John Wood" (the chairman of the Board of Inland Revenue at the time) between. The tail of the "J" of John passes well into one stamp of each side of the sheet. The inscription reads upwards on the left and downwards on the right. At each corner of the sheet is a reversed foul anchor, with wooden stock, pointing outwards diagonally. The perforation is, of course, 15½ x 15.

The second sheet is precisely similar except for the plate number "2" in white on a small blue oval above the eleventh stamp on the top row and the second stamp on the bottom row.

The third sheet differs from the other two in the fact that the stamp is of the type with the octagonal buckle and it bears the plate number "3" in the same style and similarly placed as in plate 2. The colour of the stamps on plates 2 and 3 is pale blue, as in the first plate, and the paper white with no trace of blue.

We do not think it is known to collectors how many plates were prepared of this stamp but the three sheets we have just described certainly appear to warrant the deduction that the square buckle type is from plates 1 and 2 and the octagonal buckle type from 3 and any others that that may have been used, but there are probably not many others as the stamp was obsolete in 1855. The impression on blue safety paper is evidently among the last printings.

* * * * *

At last specimens of the rare second issue of Ceylon Foreign Bill stamps have turned up. At the August meeting of the Fiscal Philatelic Society two unsevered mint pairs were shown, consisting of the 6d. x 1/4 and the 1/4 x 5/- se-tenant. These stamps, known well enough from the catalogues, it will be remembered, differ from those of the first issue in that the inscription round the oval containing the Queen's Head reads "DRAWN IN OR OUT, AND PAYABLE OUT OF, BUT NEGOTIATED IN THE COLONY" instead of "DRAWN OUT OF, BUT NEGOTIATED IN THE COLONY, WHERESOEVER PAYABLE" and further, a fact of which we were not previously aware is that the words "FOREIGN BILL" are in block type instead of Roman. Owing to the indefatigable researches of Mr. E. D. Bacon we know how the plate, which contains all the values, was made up and the detailed information is given in Mr. Preston Pearce's article in Stamps for April 1898. Referring to the table given there we find that the pairs shown to the Society must be either Nos. 2 x 3, or Nos. 4 x 5, for the 6d. x 1/4, and Nos. 14 x 15, or Nos. 16 x 17 for the 1/4 x 5/-. However the remarkable fact appears that the two 1/4 values in these pairs differ in type, so that presumably all the values on the plate were engraved separately. If this be so, this issue will be a very awkward one for the collector to complete, as there will exist two types of the 2d., 4d., 6d., 10/-, and 13/4, four types of the 8d., 1/4, 3/4, 5/-, and 6/8, and six types of the 2/- and 2/8, the remaining values 20/-, 26/8 and 30/- being only represented by one label each.

* * * * *

It is probably worth while, though it may be known to many collectors, to call attention to the fact that the dollars values of the last issue of U. S. Revenue stamps suffer damage by immersion in water. The stamps in question are those printed in bright green and overprinted with a large black figure of value of a reticulated design. Before this overprint is applied, an area about an inch square is covered with some preparation, like gum in appearance which is soluble in water, so that the result of dipping the stamp into water, is to remove the greater part of the black figure overprint.

We would call the especial attention of collectors of fiscals to the note on forged Cretan provisional Revenue stamps on page 71.

THE FISCAL PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

AT a special meeting held on August 7th, Messrs. G. W. Pepper and H. W. Terrett, both of New York, were elected members. The Society heard with deep regret of the death of Mons. C. Roussin of Paris (who has done great service in the cataloguing of fiscals).

Having regard to the recent extensive forgeries of Crete fiscals, members are requested to immediately notify the Secretary of any such frauds and steps will be taken to publish the information. A Black List of defrauders and swindlers will also be kept, and members can apply to the Society as to the standing of individuals.

The Rules for the Home and Continental Exchange Sections have been approved, and as the first packets will be made up in September, members should immediately inform the Secretary if they desire to contribute to, or see them. Mr. J. Verzyl, of Louvain, Belgium, has been appointed Secretary for the Continent.

The Colonial Revenues are now catalogued up to Hong-Kong, and it is hoped to publish the catalogue in printed form early next year.

The Society ends its first season (of seven months) with a membership in all parts of the world of forty six. There will doubtless be many new recruits when its aims and objects are more known, and rules and information will be gladly furnished.

On Thursday, October 2nd., the General Meeting will be held to elect Officers for the ensuing season.

A. B. Kay,

FORGED CRETE REVENUES.

OUR investigations in the matter of further varieties of the Crete fiscals suspected of being forged, to which we alluded last month, have resulted in showing that the following varieties described in our article on these stamps must be struck out.

No. 18	No. 25
,, 20	,, 26
,, 21	,, 36
,, 22	,, 37
,, 23	,, 38
,, 24	,, 39

All these are forgeries and do not exist as genuine stamps. They are exceedingly dangerous and are mostly offered on parts of original documents from which genuine stamps have been removed. The discovery of these forgeries is due in the first place to Mr. Preston Pearce and the case is remarkable in being one of the very few in fiscal stamps in which the intention of the "faker" was to defraud collectors. Immense numbers of these forgeries seem to have been put into circulation.

All the other varieties listed of provisional Cretan fiscals have been verified as originals.

Our publisher will take back any copies of these forged stamps he may have sold before they were known as such, and will be pleased to examine any of these stamps for collectors as to their genuineness.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Nicaragua. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits the 5 c. postage stamp of 1898, surcharged "Telegrafo" in black, vertically, reading upwards.

5 c., olive brown.

Natal. With regard to the provisionals chronicled by us last month Mr. Bertram W. H. Poole writes "There is one point you appear "to have overlooked which seems to me worth "noticing.

"In the top row of stamps in each block of "thirty the space between the bar and the "word "TELEGRAPH" is distinctly wider than "in the others while the distance between "'TELEGRAPH' and the value is corresponding-"ly shorter. I have this variety in the "following values 3d. on 6d.; 6d. on 9d.; 1/- "on 9/-; 1/- on 20/-; 1/- on 30/-. Thus "apparently the same type was used for the "top line of the overprint in each of the "values."

RAILWAY STAMPS.

North British Railway. Mr. J. G. Cairns sends a specimen of a new issue of Parcels stamp for this line. Value in large white figures on coloured ground on shield in centre, above, a scroll with name of Railway and below, another scroll with the words "PREPAID NEWSPAPER PARCEL." Control no. in black, vertically, reading downwards, on right. On white wove paper. No wmk. Perf 11.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Belgium. Bills. 1884. Mr. Schwabacher has discovered two types of the 4 francs, pale blue, belonging to the series for bills "payable en Belgique." In one the figure of value is a closed "4", in the other it is an open one "4".

British South Africa. Mr. Schwabacher has shown us two values, of the same design as the postage stamps, which are too high to be used for other than Revenue purposes. No. wmk. Perf. 14½.

£20, ochre
£100, carmine red

We have heard that £40 and £80 values exist but do not know in what colours.

Colombia. Timbre Nacional, 1901-02. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits a large rect. stamp with Arms in circle in centre, name above with date and value below, roughly lithographed on coarse wove paper. Imperf.

1 peso, sap green.

Guatemala. Mr. A. E. Lawrence has shown us a copy of the 10 pesos, green, of 1895, imperf. This may be a proof.

Great Britain. Marine Insurance, etc. At the last meeting of the Fiscal Philatelic Society a copy of a £50 value, blue, Die D, perf. 12½ (?) was shown.

We are informed that the following Irish Fee stamps have been issued with King's Head, presumably with name of duty overprinted on the unappropriated dies, but we have no details as to colours.

Ireland, Judicature 1/6, 2/-
Ireland, Registration of Deeds Fee 1/-, 2/-
Ireland, Registration of Title 1/-

Hayti. Proportionnels, 1896. Mr. A. E. Lawrence has show us the 20c., grey and blue, surcharged DEUX - 2 - CENTS in a similar manner to the surcharge on the 3c postage stamp of 1887.

2c. on 20c., grey and blue. Perf. 13½.

The stamp does not appear to be chronicled unsurcharged.

Magdalena. (Colombia). Of the known type, large size, Mr. A. E. Lawrence sends the following uncatalogued varieties.

1865. 20 cent., grey black
1866. 20 cent., black
1870. Date surcharged in MS. on 1866
20 cent., pale blue
Date surcharged in MS. on 1868
20 cent., blue (W. Morley)

Martinique. Timbres proportionnels. Mr. A. E. Lawrence sends a copy of the 50c grey and violet, France, 1881, surcharged in black, in tall thin sans serif letters "2 DROITS EN SUS," cancelled with the stamp of the "Colonial Bank, Martinique, 17/8/92" and informs us that he has the 3 and 5 francs, with similar surcharge. Mr. Morley has the 25c with similar surcharge but not used in Martinique.

Peru. Bultos, 1894-95. Mr. Schwabacher has discovered a new series of stamps lettered "IMPUESTO DE BULTOS", for which we are unable to give the English equivalent. He shows us three values, all dated 1894-95, bearing large figure of value, with label across the centre bearing the value in words. The Arms of Peru appear on a shield either above or below, but the name of the country does not appear on the stamps. No wmk. Perf. 11½.

5 cent., blue
15 ,, bronze green
1 sol, brown

Philippine Islands. American Occupation Issue. Customs Service. Mr. Preston Pearce submits a new and interesting fiscal of which the accompanying illustration renders description unnecessary. White wove unwatermarked paper. Perf 12

2 dollars, rose carmine

Salvador. Instruccion primaria, 1900. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits two copies of a 1c. value with Arms in centre, inscription "TIMBRE DE INSTRUCCION PRIMARIA, 1900" all in a double lined frame, in black on white wove paper, perf 12. The stamps are surcharged "REVISADA" one in violet and the other in blue.

The Fiscal and Telegraph Stamps of the Orange Free State.

BY EMIL TAMSEN.

AS to dates these are very uncertain, where I quote any I have taken them from Moens, who is usually correct. The latter "T F" issues I have lumped together as being the most convenient way to deal with them, in absence of settled dates.

1885. ISSUE I.

A. Postage stamps surcharged TELE / GRAAF in two lines in various colored inks.

1d., brown,	surcharge	violet
3d., blue,	,,	,,
3d., blue	,,	red
6d., rose,	,,	violet
6d., rose,	,,	black
1/-, orange	,,	violet
5/-, green	,,	,,

NOTE. I have not seen the 5/- stamp out here, Moens has and I see no objection to its existence. This surcharge is found printed in several ways, vertical, reading from top to bottom, vertical, reading from bottom to top, horizontally and slanting; it looks as if it had been struck by a hand stamp, I do not think that a machine could have printed a surcharge so erratically.

B. Fiscal stamps with same surcharge.

1/-, gray,	surcharge	violet
1/-, brown	,,	,,
1/-, ,,	,,	black

NOTE. The position of surcharge varies but not so much as in A. Double surcharges are also known.

1888—99. ISSUE II.

C. Postage stamps surcharged "TF" in black ink; machine printed.

(a) Surcharge $6\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{3}{4}$.

1d., brown	6d., rose
3d., blue	1/-, orange

(b) Surcharge $4\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$ mm.
1d., brown
3d., blue
6d., rose
1/-, orange

1d., violet
6d., blue
1/-, brown

(c) Surcharge $5\frac{1}{4}$ x 2 mm.
6d. rose

(d) Surcharge $5\frac{1}{2}$ x $2\frac{1}{2}$ mm., and has full stops.
1/-, orange

(e) Surcharge 6 x $2\frac{1}{4}$ mm. (Moens)
1/-, orange

(f) Surcharge $8\frac{3}{4}$ x $3\frac{1}{2}$ mm. (Moens)
6d., rose

(g) Surcharge 9 x 4 mm. (Moens)
6d., rose

NOTE. This list is evidently incomplete. In Morley's Catalogue of the Telegraph Stamps of the World, a very handy and useful volume, is given a very complete list. I find inverted and double surcharges mentioned, also errors of misplaced letters as "F T" instead of "T F," none of which I have met out here. I do not enumerate these varieties in their proper places as the small size of the illustrations does not allow my measuring them.

Classes e, f, g, are chronicled by Moens, I have not met with them here.

The absence of the 5/- stamps surprised me as it is a very useful value for long telegrams and especially for cables. In 1890 cable rates varied from 9/- to 15/- a word; to affix 1/- stamps to a 10 or 20 word cable form must have occupied the whole front and back of the form.

D. Fiscal stamps surcharged "T F" and with new value, old value obliterated by one bar.

(a) Surcharge $6\frac{3}{4}$ x $2\frac{3}{4}$ mm.
1/- on 8/-, yellow
1/- on 9/-, olive

(b) Surcharge $6\frac{1}{2}$ x $3\frac{1}{4}$ mm.
1/- on 8/-, yellow
1/- on 9/-, olive

(c) Surcharge 8 x $2\frac{3}{4}$ mm.
1/- on 7/-, violet
Error:
1/- on 7/-, violet, misspelt "Shiliing."

NOTE. Moens chronicles an error "ECN" for "EEN" for both (b) and (c) and also (c) with two bars cancelling original value.

Morley has besides these errors the following "E—n", "Shillilg", "Shiiling", all on the 1/- on 8/-, yellow. I do not know if for (a) or (b) or if for both. I also see that Morley has a third type of surcharge for both the 1/- on 8/- and 1/- on 9/-, but I cannot give the measure here as I have no copy nor can I measure the illustration.

Other errors of surcharge as inverted or "F T" for "T F" do not seem to exist or have not been met with as yet.

This ends the list of Telegraph stamps issued under Republican rule. After the occupation and annexation of the Orange Free State to the British Empire, the stock of Telegraph stamps found in the several offices have been surcharged V.R.I.

I have heard only of the following—

6d., blue, small TF
6d., blue, large TF
1/-, brown, small TF

Full sets ought to exist and will no doubt be found later on, also if several printings with level, raised, or mixed stops exist, there is still a wide field open for investigating these stamps.

When the above alluded to provisional issue was exhausted, the postage and fiscal stamps were surcharged "V.R.I." The A.T. stands for Army Telegraphs. I hear that at present (May 1902) A.T. there are in use in the Telegraph Offices,

Postage stamps of 1d., 3d., 6d., 1/-, 5/-
Fiscal stamps of 10/-, £1, £4

I have not been able to obtain measures of surcharge or if V.R.I. has varieties of level or raised stops. In Morley's Philatelic Journal I find two different spacings between A and T given for Postage and a third for fiscal stamps, new printings will perhaps add a few more, so that it is as likely as not that there will be as many varieties as under the Republican rule, and then collectors say that there is no variety in Telegraph stamps ! !

This concludes my paper on the Fiscal and Telegraph stamps of the late Orange Free State. I have done my best to bring some order into the chaos which existed in the Fiscal stamps and hope that collectors having specimens not enumerated or queried by me, will send them to the Editor of this paper, so that they can be chronicled and put in their proper places in the new catalogue.

The Virginia State "Tax on Seals."

By Ralph Douglas.

Chap. 165.—An ACT to amend and re-enact section 16 of an act entitled an act to provide for the assessment of taxes on persons, property, and income, &c.
Approved January 25, 1900.

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia, That section sixteen of an act entitled an act to provide for the assessment of taxes on persons, property and incomes, and on licenses to transact business, and imposing taxes thereon for the support of the government and public free schools, and to pay the interest on the public debt, and prescribing the mode of obtaining licenses to sell wine, ardent spirits, malt liquors, or any mixtures thereof, in cases where a court certificate is required, approved March sixth, eighteen hundred and ninety, be amended and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

Tax on seals.

§ 16. When the seal of the State, of a court, or notary public is affixed to any paper, except in the cases exempted by law, the tax shall be as follows: For the seal of the State, two dollars, and for the seal of a court or notary, one dollar, and herein shall be included a tax on a scroll or any impression on paper in the place of a seal or having the force and effect of a seal, and the said tax, except in the case of the seal of the State, shall be collected and paid in the following manner:

All seals taxable under this act, except the seal of the State, are hereby declared illegal and of no effect, and shall not be received or accepted as a legal notarial or court seal in any court of the State unless the same shall be superimposed upon an adhesive stamp in such manner as to cancel said stamp, which adhesive stamp shall be supplied in the manner and form hereinafter provided for.

It shall be the duty of the auditor of public accounts, by and with the advice of the attorney-general and the treasurer of the State, to cause to be prepared a suitable adhesive stamp of such size and design as may be best adapted to the purpose, and to furnish the same to the treasurers of each county and city in the State in such quantities as may be necessary, charging the said treasurers on the books of his office with the said stamps at the rate of one dollar each. The several county and city treasurers shall be held accountable under their official bonds for all such stamps so furnished them in the same manner as they are now held accountable for State moneys or other property coming into their hands.

It shall be the duty of the said county and city treasurers at all times to keep on hand a supply of said stamps and to sell the same to any person wishing to purchase them, charging therefor the sum of one dollar each; and for such service the several county and city treasurers shall receive a commission of five per centum on all stamps sold.

All mutilated or unused stamps may be returned to the auditor of public accounts under such regulations as he may provide, and when so returned proper credit shall be given on the books of his office.

In all cases in which no tax is required by law the officer affixing the seal shall certify that it is a case in which, by the laws of Virginia, no tax is required upon the seal so affixed by him.

In any case in which a tax is required upon a seal and the officer affixing the same shall fail to use the adhesive stamp herein provided for, or shall make a false certificate that no tax is required, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of twenty dollars for each offense, which shall be recovered and paid as are other fines due the Commonwealth; and any person who makes, sells, uses, or has in his possession any false or counterfeit stamps or die for printing or making the same, which is in imitation of or purports to be a lawful stamp or die or who procures the same to be done, shall for each offense be deemed guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned in the State penitentiary for a period of not less than one or more than five years. All laws or parts of laws inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

NOTE.—This section as amended goes into effect July 1, 1900.

EDITORIAL.

SOME months ago we endeavoured to draw up a list of the Queensland Beer Duty Stamps but the result was so fragmentary that it was laid aside to await further discoveries. Quite recently Mr. Kay sent us a list of these stamps in his collection, which, though it adds one or two varieties to our list, yet leaves it in an unfit state for publication. But Mr. Kay also forwards a number of newspaper cuttings from local papers bearing on some recent prosecutions of publicans by the Queensland Excise Department for not destroying the stamps in accordance with the Beer Duty Act. One publican was fined and the other cases had not yet come on at the date when the cuttings were published One of these articles contains a lively commentary on the case in particular and on beer and politics in general and incidentally quotes the Act showing how the stamps are to be employed. It appears that up to Oct. 1901 publicans sold beer under the Beer Duty Act of 1897. Section 22 of that Act provides that "Every person who shall withdraw beer from "any hogshead, barrel, cask, vessel or other "receptacle to which any stamp is affixed "pursuant to this Act shall destroy such stamp "at the time of such withdrawal by cutting the "stamp into two or more pieces and if any person "refuses or neglects to do so he shall upon "conviction pay a penalty not exceeding fifty "pounds (£50) for each hogshead, barrel, cask, "vessel or other receptacle in respect of which "such refusal or neglect has taken place or been "committed." The new Act, the Beer Excise Act of 1901, reads "Whoever opens any vessel or case containing beer to which a stamp is affixed shall, immediately before or after he opens the vessel or case cut the stamp in two or more pieces without removing it, so that without obliterating the number or date thereon, it is rendered unfit for further use." From these extracts it seems that collectors will have a difficulty in obtaining the stamps in good condition.

Having extracted what is of interest to fiscal collectors in the sprightly article before us we trust to be pardoned for quoting matters of not so great concern. It is interesting for quiet conservative people in the old country to note how things are done in new and go ahead, up to date, Colonies. Feeling seems to have run high over the successful prosecution by the Queensland Government before mentioned and our contemporary informs us that "it is currently rumoured that at a recent meeting of the Licenced Victuallers' Association" the company rose up, uncovered and with clasped hands gravely sang that joyous old ditty of Bobby Burns' :—

The De'il's awa', the De'il's awa',
The De'il's awa' w'th th' Exciseman,
He's danced awa', he's danced awa'
He's danced awa' w'th th' Exciseman
And many braw thanks t' the bonnie black de'il
That danced awa' w'th th' Exciseman.

Beer and politics come into close connection in other countries beside Queensland. We quote our contemporary again "It was in last "Monday's Telegraph the following interesting "paragraph appeared:

"The Attorney-General wishes it to be "generally understood that the beer Excise "prosecutions which have taken place in "Brisbane recently were instituted solely by "the Federal Government. The Crown "Solicitor here was permitted to act on behalf "of the Federal Government, but otherwise the "Queensland Government had no part in the "matter whatever."

"Now TRUTH takes the liberty of disbelieving that Statement, the holy Attorney-General "to the contrary, notwithstanding. It is purely "an electioneering dodge to placate the much "perturbed House of Bung."

O ye gods and little fishes!

* * * * *

We hear that a gentleman in the City of London lately put into the fire a parcel of the rare lilac "Special Stamps" of India thinking they were common rubbish and merely lumbering up his office. There is much weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth among the would be purchasers. We do not know what the late owner thinks.

* * * * *

We are also informed that a gentleman wishes to purchase a fine collection of fiscals for £1000. Who says fiscals have no future?

* * * * *

The Orange Free State fiscal, 1/- rose, chronicled by us in April last, was incorrectly assigned to Issue II in the list of value sent to us at that date. It turns out to be of Type III figured on page 58 (August no.). Will our readers be good enough to make the necessary alterations in the Editorial note on page 58.

* * * * *

The next meeting of the Fiscal Philatelic Society will take place on Oct. 16th, when the fiscals of Jamaica, Leeward Islands, Malta and Mauritius will be discussed and catalogued. Members are expected to bring their collections of these countries or to assist by sending notes upon new or little known varieties.

The Telegraph Stamps of the Transvaal.

BY EMIL TAMSEN.

THE first Telegraph line in the Transvaal was erected by the British Government in 1880; it connected the Natal line with Pretoria, via Standerton and Heidelberg. After the retrocession of the country, the Boers built lines in every direction connecting nearly every town and village with the capital. Most of the offices are dual postal and telegraphic, only in the larger towns the Telegraph Department is kept separate. The first stamps used were the Transvaal Revenues of 1878, Head of Queen Victoria to right above, "Transvaal" below, "Revenue stamp" at bottom, value in words, and at top value in figures.

Owing to Art. 30 of the Pretoria Convention dated 3 August 1881 which reads "All unused Postage or Revenue stamps issued by the Government since the "annexation shall remain of value and shall be accepted by the coming Government against the amount expressed thereon," large quantities of postage and enormous quantities of revenue stamps were handed over to the Boers on 11 August 1881.

Following the example set them by the British the Boers continued to use the Revenue stamps of 1878 for telegrams. These stamps can be distinguished from the fiscals by the cancellations, always a postal one and often a blue pencil line added. They are not plentiful and are generally offered as postal fiscals, collectors not being aware of their telegraphic origin. In 1894 I saw in the possession of a post official a good number of these stamps bearing the cancellation of Pretoria, Heidelberg, or Standerton; these stamps had been "saved" when the old telegrams were burnt.

By law No. 3 of 1884 the Telegraph Department was regulated and it was enacted under Art. 20, that Postage stamps should be used for the prepayment of telegrams and the officials were strictly instructed to deface them before sending off the message. The rate was fixed at one shilling for every 10 words or fraction thereof. The first postage stamps used as Telegraph stamps were the 6d., black, Queen's Head of 1878, the 1/- green of 1883, type of first Republic and the 2/- blue, Queen's head of 1878.

As most of my philatelic library which contained copies of all yearly reports of the Postal and Telegraph Department sent to Government, has been destroyed during the war, I cannot give statistics, etc. I only find a note that the Telegraph Department used in 1885 postage stamps for £1528 13s. 6d., and in 1886 for £3503 7s. 6d., since 1890 however these figures have enormously increased.

In March 1885 the postage stamps 3d., 4d., 6d., 1/-, and in December 1885 the the 2/6, 5/-, 10/-, and in March 1892 the £5 stamp, all of the 1885 pattern, numerals in all four corners, were issued, since then all postage stamps above 3d. have been used for telegrams during the rule of the South African Republic. Since 1890 frequent "leakages" have taken place and thereby brought the high values in the market. It is easy for a specialist to distinguish between the telegraphic and postal cancellation found on the stamps. Knowing this, certain officials when leaving their offices during the war, prior to British occupation struck a postal obliteration on and above the telegraphic one, which was already on the stamp and then annexed them as private property, one official cleared out with 2000 of the £5 stamps and large numbers of other values, and these are now in the market as used postage stamps; some stamps show a blue and a black cancellation for the reason stated above.

After the British occupation of Pretoria in June, 1900, the officials in charge of the Telegraph Department, discarded the postage stamp and issued the South African Republic Revenues with the black surcharge V.R.I. for use in this department. I have seen most values up to £5 in full sheets of 60, 6 rows of 10 stamps and have looked through several full packets of 50 sheets each of one value and found the surcharge uniform without any errors or mistakes or missing stops.

The low values ran out first, they were replaced by the South African Republic Postage stamps of 1896-97 type, 1d., 6d., 1/-, 2/6, but surcharged "Transvaal Telegraphs" in two lines ("Transvaal" 14 mm., "Telegraphs" 16 mm. long); then the 1/- gave out and was replaced by the above 2/6 stamp surcharged in addition to the Transvaal Telegraphs with "ONE Shilling" in two lines. The next to fall out was the 5/- revenue stamp, which was replaced by surcharging the £2, red brown, with "Transvaal Telegraphs" "V.R.I." "FIVE Shillings" in five lines. All surcharges are in black ink.

There are now (June 1902) in use the postage stamps 1d., 6d., 1/- on 2/6, 2/6 and the revenue stamps 5/- on £2, 10/-, £1, £2, £5. I was told that when the stock of these stamps was exhausted, the new revenues (King's Head) without any surcharge would be used for telegrams. The low valued Revenue stamps ½d. to 2/-, King's Head type are also postage stamps, so we get one stamp available for postal, telegraphic, and fiscal purposes. I wonder how the revenue from each source can be kept separate, but the public will be satisfied by being able to use one stamp for every fiscal purpose. The present Telegraph Stamps are not supplied to the public, my application for a "specimen" set for illustration purposes could not be granted, thus if no "leakage" takes place these stamps will be very scarce, in fact ought not to be found at all. Other stamps present no great difficulty to procure for the collector, they are now cheaper than ever before, but will not long remain so.

In the following reference list I have not enumerated the perforations for the 1885 set separately, all varieties ought to exist as in the postage stamps, the perforations of the present revenue (V.R.I. issue) perf. 11½, but some may be 11½ x 14, although I only saw the former, it is as likely as not that the latter also exists.

Note on types 36, 37, 38, and 39. Some of these have apparently been altered again from the preceding series, or from the original series, but as no evidence has yet appeared for the existence of many plates, till copies turn up and further investigation has been made it is impossible to give any details about same, beyond recording the possibility of what may be looked for. It is singular that only 2 plates each have been found for types 36 and 37, as I had a very large number of copies of this series to look over.

EDITORIAL.

NOW that the philatelic season has well begun and the publication of the "Programmes" of the different Societies supplies an opportunity of surveying the various directions of philatelic activity for the coming months, we cannot but be struck by the evidence of the wonderful progress of fiscal philately during the past few years which such a survey affords. To justify the use of such an epithet as "wonderful" we merely refer in passing to the numerous allusions to the subject in the philatelic press and the fact that the International Philatelic Union intends to devote an evening to the subject in order to call our readers' attention to a circumstance which we have very little doubt will mark an epoch in the annals of this branch of philately. For the first time, we believe, in the history of the London Philatelic Society, an evening is to be devoted this session to a "Bird's-eye View of Fiscal Philately" which is to be provided by the energetic president of the Fiscal Philatelic Society, Mr. Schwabacher. This fact must be very gratifying to fiscal collectors as the subject will by this means be brought before a body of collectors who can exert a very powerful influence on the development of the subject if once their sympathies are aroused. Il n'est que le premier pas qui coute and if a collector can once be induced to pay a little attention to this class of stamp he will find the fascination grow upon him. The Philatelic Record in a recent number finds that postage stamps offer too wide a field to warrant an excursion into the realm of fiscals and considers that such things as "Judicature, "Dog Licences, Bankruptcy, Probate, Tobacco, Customs etc, et hoc genus are not the most enlivening reminders of the past." But for all that while the field of postage stamps is on the whole well known ground, the world of fiscals is practically unexplored and a vast amount of interesting pioneer work remains to be done and if it is not enlivening to be reminded of such things as Income tax yet surely the various modes of use of fiscals and the varied information as to what articles are or have been taxed in different countries is not without an interest to wider circles than stamp collectors. For example the history of the proposed Match Tax of 1872—the stamp for which exists though it was never used—is a striking example of a matter of general interest. Nevertheless our worthy contemporary admits a possibility of being tempted to be drawn into the fold if fiscal collectors would only collect their stamps unused. We have no doubt that fiscal collectors would only be too glad to collect "unused" and some even do to a limited extent but in the first place we are not—most of us at any rate—millionaires and in the second place it is not possible to obtain some classes of fiscals in an unused condition We have amused ourselves in attempting to estimate the cost at face value of a set of the current Revenue and Fee stamps of Great Britain and Ireland and find that assuming everything is purchasable (which is the case with all but one or two series) the sum total amounts to roughly £763.

* * * * *

The mention of the Revenue and Fee stamps of our own country will remind our readers that our knowledge of these stamps is very imperfect, witness the long list of additions, which have been made to the existing Catalogues during the past five years, collected together by Mr. Preston Pearce in the last three numbers of the recently defunct "Stamps". Now philately, like charity, ought to begin at home and something should be done to remove the reproach that we know so little of our own fiscals. It is 21 years since the publication of Philbrick and Westoby's work on the postage stamps and as practically the final word has been spoken on the subject though no doubt some details remain to be cleared up, in the magnificent work of Messrs Wright and Creeke, it is now high time that a work on the fiscals should be attempted. We propose to make such an attempt and have already begun to collect materials for a "History of the adhesive Revenue and Fee Stamps of Great Britain and Ireland". To further this object we have approached the Commissioners of Inland Revenue and are pleased to announce that we have received the permission of the Board to examine the "imprimatur sheets" at Somerset House. Without such permission our task would have been impossible and our gratitude is due to the Board for their courteous assistance. We were well aware of the magnitude of the undertaking even before we discovered that the "imprimatur" sheets at Somerset House go well back into the earlier half of the eighteenth century but we hope with patience and perseverance to produce an accurate framework for future elaboration. We need hardly say that we shall always be grateful for the opportunity of inspecting any newly discovered varieties not prevously chronicled but the hardest part of the work will be to ascertain the methods of use of the various stamps and the references to the Acts or Statutes under which they have been created, and we shall especially appreciate any help in this direction.

BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By "K."

Taff Vale Railway.

THIS railway furnishes, luckily, almost the only survival of the cheap and ugly design that was employed for the stamps of many small lines, such as the South Devon, in the early sixties and seventies. In the present instance, a large semi-transparent figure of value is overprinted, in four lines, with the name of railway, the words "Newspaper parcel," the conditions of weight, and the signature and rank of one of the officials of the railway company. In the halfpenny value, which is half the size of the others, the two central lines run "Single Newspaper" and "Frank." The ½d. stamp is 32 x 34 mm, and the other values, large oblong, 32 x 70 mm. The impression is in black on paper coloured green or greenish grey for the ½d., white for the 1d., blue for the 2d., pink for the 3d., and yellow for the 6d. values. I am chiefly indebted to the courteous secretary of the Railway Club for the approximate dates of issue and many of the varieties of signature and perforation given in the annexed "specialised" list.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Bavaria. Mr. A. Wulbern has discovered a sheet of the 10 pf. grey second issue, with the watermark (loops) of the first. The sheet consists of 40 stamps in two panes of 20 (5 rows of four), with white margins round and between panes. The no. of the sheet "2080" and the letter A appear in top left hand corner. A striking peculiarity is that the bottom row of stamps is without watermark.

Basutoland. Our publisher has received the 1d. and 2/-, current Cape of Good Hope Revenues, surcharged for this district. The first is surcharged "BASUTOLAND" in thin black sans serif caps. 21 x 2½ mm, and the other in somewhat thicker sans serif caps. measuring 18½ x 2½ mm. the latter not being "spaced" like the former.

These are said to be already obsolete.

Great Britain. The following together with the varieties we have already chronicled in July and October, make a complete list of all the new fiscal stamps, created by overprinting "Bankruptcy," etc. on the new "unappropriated dies" with the King's head, issued up to date. The pence values are watermarked "orb," the shillings, "script I R." and the pounds "two orbs."

It will be seen from the above list that the "unappropriated dies" for the values 3d., 2/6, 3/-, 4/-, 5/-, and 10/-, in addition to those given in July, have been approved and printed; the value £3 has also been printed but has not yet been made use of. Values 15/-, £10 and £20 are yet to be prepared.

Transvaal. Pass. Mr. Tamsen sends some interesting provisionals viz: the 1d. and 2/6, postage stamps of 1896-97, surcharged in black respectively "E.R.I.—PASS.—ONE—Shilling." and "E.R.I.—PASS.—TWO—Shillings." with the original values cancelled by two black bars. The word "PASS." on these stamps is in Roman caps, of the same type as "E.R.I." the word, with stop, measuring 9 mm. in length. The words "ONE" (7 mm.) and TWO (8 mm.) are also in the same type, while the words "Shilling." (12 mm.) and "Shillings." (13½ mm.) are in ordinary thick black type.

1/- on 1d., carmine and green
2/- on 2/6, purple and green

These stamps are already obsolete, as accompanying them we have the current 2/- King's head stamp surcharge "PASS" in black block caps, 15 x 3 mm. and Mr. Tamsen informs us that the 1/-, has been similarly treated.

1/-, olive green
2/-, brown and grey black

These stamps are apparently used by natives, for the stamps before us are all obliterated by a violet stamp on which we can decipher the words—Inspector—Native affairs Dept.—Johannesburg 1892.

VOL. III. DECEMBER, 1902. No. 12.

Provisional Fiscal Issues of the American Occupation of the Philippines.

BY A. PRESTON PEARCE.

DURING the year and nine months that have elapsed since my second article under the above heading was written for this Journal, a fresh series—preceded by a batch of provisionals—has been started, and our knowledge of some of the earlier issues has very considerably increased. Altogether, I find that I have sufficient new matter to warrant my troubling readers with a third instalment of what would bid fair to become a hardy annual, were it not for the expectation that the introduction of regular series printed in the States from properly engraved plates will, ere these lines appear, have put an end to the make-shift productions which the local authorities have had to get along with during the past four or five years.

The fresh series spoken of is entitled CUSTOMS, and, to preserve the usual alphabetical arrangement, it must come up for consideration in priority to those already known.

I have three entire documents bearing stamps of this series, and of these the earliest carries three varieties of the provisionals, which were duly authorized by law, and were in use for ten weeks during the preparation of a label bearing the proper inscription. This paper is one of the regular United States' forms of "Bill of Health," and was given in Manila on April 23rd 1902. It is a rather uncanny entire, showing as it does, inter alia, that there were 353 deaths from Asiatic Cholera in the port during the previous fortnight.

The accompanying illustrations show the two types of overprint that were applied to the four INTERNAL REVENUE, and to four of the SELLO stamps, but, whereas the first overprint comes out correctly, I find that the second has been considerably cooked. Evidently the overprint, which in this case is in green on dark red, failed to show up, and the engraver has endeavoured to assist nature by art, with the result that the cut affords a good idea of the appearance of the design without that degree of fidelity that might be expected—a condition of things that may turn out to be all for the best in days to come, when the extreme rarity of these provisionals may lead someone into temptation.

The denominations issued are INT. REV. 1, 2, 5, 10 c. de p., SELLO 25, 50 c. de p., 1p. 2p. The 2 c. de p. and 25 c. de p. were also bisected diagonally to make the halves of these values, but only two copies of the 12½ c. de p. provisional have been seen by my informant, and as he was only able to secure one of these, I have not been fortunate enough to get a specimen. The following is a list of the varieties in my collection, and as each type of overprint was impressed in three colours it is practically certain that a few others exist.

Overprinted CUSTOMS.

(a) Horizontally in red.
5 c. de p., blue
10 ,, green

(b) Horizontally in green.
2 c. de p. carmine
This variety was also cut diagonally for use as 1 c. de p.

(c) Diagonally upwards in blue.
10 c. de p. green
25 ,, lilac
25 ,, ,, with overprint inverted.

CUSTOMS. in double-lined square.

(d) In red.
1 c. de p. black
5 ,, blue
10 ,, green
50 ,, buff (very greasy)
2 pesos, slate, with overprint inverted.

(e) In green.
2 c. de p. carmine
1 peso, dark red
Variety: 2 c. de p. with double overprint—four times on a pair.

(f) In blue.
1 peso, dark red

I do not know the exact date of issue of these stamps, but my copies were sent off in May last, and the provisionals were then obsolete, all printed used up, and the blocks with which the overprinting had been done destroyed. The same letter brought me copies of the first regular issue, an illustration of which appeared in the fiscal chronicle last September. This locally lithographed issue consisted of 20 cents, blue	50 cents, pale green

20 ,, deep blue	2 dollars, red

and is noteworthy as being the first fiscal issue for the Philippines with values in American currency.

I have two Bills of Health, relating to the same steamer, drawn up at different ports in July and August of this year, each of which bears the 50 cents stamp of this issue, but I understand that engraved CUSTOMS stamps have arrived from the States and are probably now in use.

Orange River Colony, Bank Draft, 3d.

MR. MORLEY has sent us a pane of 60 stamps, the 3d. postage stamp, surcharged in three lines "V.R.I."—"B.D."—"3d." The V.R.I. has the usual "raised" stops but the stops after "B." and "D." are "level" and it is perhaps the most remarkable thing about this pane of stamps that although each stamp bears an overprint with five stops yet not one of them is out of place, so that there are no varieties due to "mixed" or "inverted" stops. Unfortunately however the types of the letters "B" and "D" vary and this taken in conjunction with the "thick V" variety of the V.R.I. overprint gives rise to a sufficiently formidable number of types of surcharge. We distinguish two varieties of each of the letters "B" and "D" viz.: a "small B" 1½ mm. across upper loop and a "large B" 2 mm. across, a "small D" 2 mm. across the fattest part and a "large D" 2½ mms. across. Of the possible permutations and combinations of these types we find the following appear on the pane before us.

a. "V.R.I.", large B and large D in "B.D."
b. "V.R.I." (thick V), large B and large D in "B.D."
c. "V.R.I.", small B and small D in "B.D."
d. "V.R.I.", (thick V), small B and small D in "B.D."
e. "V.R.I.", large B and small D in "B.D."
f. "V.R.I.", (thick V), large B and small D in "B.D."
g. "V.R.I.", small B and large D in "B.D."

The diagram below shows the distribution of these types of overprint on the pane and the number of times each occurs on the pane is given in the following table:—

The Newspaper Tax Stamps of Great Britain.

By Walter Morley.

Type 40.

Threepence halfpenny. 1½d. + ½d. + ½d. + ½d. + ½d., red. At top 4. p. ct. dis. and 18s p. ct. additional at sides. With die no. having a line and semi-circles at ends as illustration, type 40.

Die no. 797.

I have only seen one copy of this type with disct. at top reading 4 p. c t. The block for same is from this copy which has been in my collection for some years. I have been unable to trace any rate of discount at this figure, though of course such may have been in use. My own surmise is that it should be $4\frac{1}{2}$ though no trace of the $\frac{1}{2}$ is visible on the specimen, and that the engraver altered the 16 to $4\frac{1}{2}$ in error instead of altering the 18s at side to $4\frac{1}{2}$.

Type 40

Type 41.

Halfpenny, red. New design, with words "Semper eadem" replaced by "Dieu et mon Droit"—this motto now appearing on all following types. I have not met with any copies of this stamp, the illustration type 41 being from a proof in my Collection, being die 37, shewing that two plates at least were prepared.

Type 42.

Twopence, red. The value expressed as "TWO PENCE" with die numbers under, as illustration, Type 42.

Plate 1. Dies 1 to 25.
,, 2. ,, 26 to 50.

This value is somewhat scarce and was I think used on Supplements and half sheets.

Type 41

Type 43.

Twopence, red. New design, without die numbers, with £20 per cent discount at sides.

The design of each stamp is similar, but there are varieties in design of the crown and cross at top which with further investigation might possibly lead to the identification of the 25 types on a plate.

Type 42

During the publication of this series of articles, I have with the co-operation of a number of collectors (some of whose names have already been mentioned) obtained a very great deal of fresh information, which I purpose to leave till the series is re-written for publication in book form, but the information recently obtained by Mr. Fulcher at Somerset house is of such importance as to need introducing here.

As regards the $\frac{1}{2}$d. value, Mr. Fulcher writes :—"The plates are made up of 25 "separately engraved numbered impressions which we may call dies—two plates "form a sheet. The plates contains 1 row of 9 stamps and 2 rows of 8, and the "plate number is engraved in the neighbourhood of the 9th stamp of the first row, "usually immediately below it. The plates were frequently recut, and at each retouch "some distinctive mark was added to the die numbers below each impression. At the first "recut, for instance, a line was usually drawn through the number, at the second recut, small "arcs of circles were added at the ends, at the third, additional strokes added thereon &c."

EDITORIAL.

THE festive season is again at hand and will be past ere we again address our readers. We make our bow on the conclusion of our third volume and in thanking our various contributors for their co-operation and our readers for their support we wish them, one and all, a good old fashioned Merry Xmas!

* * * * *

Last month we completed the catalogue of the fiscals of the Argentine Republic, with those of its Provinces and Municipalities, a task which has taken us two years to complete. Our publisher intends to issue this as a separate Catalogue, a form in which no doubt some of our readers will find convenient for reference purposes. The Catalogue was however started as a "Catalogue of the Revenue Stamps of South America" and as it is our intention to endeavour to attain this end we shall continue it in our January supplement with the next two South American countries in alphabetical order, viz Bolivia and Brazil. The latter is a very difficult country to list on account of the bewildering variety of shade, perforation and paper, and we appeal as usual to the good nature of our fellow collectors for help towards the attainment of completion. As regards the perforations of this country, we propose, failing any definite information as to the perforating machines in use to divide them into five groups (1) 13½-14 (2) 12½-13 (3) 11-11½ (4) 8-9 and (5) 5-7, as there is reasonable probability that these fairly represent the gauges of the different machines employed. As in the case of the postage stamps there is a sad degeneration in the later issues from the beautiful early productions of American Bank Note Co. with the full faced Emperor's head, but still the later issues are not without interest and the country is probably a fairly popular one with fiscal collectors.

* * * * *

Our readers will be glad to note that the discovery of the two dies of the Seychelles, first introduced to the philatelic world in general by Mr. O. Firth in our first and second volumes, has been confirmed by one of our leading philatelists, Mr. R. Ehrenbach, who read a paper on the subject recently at the London Philatelic Society. Mr. Ehrenbach not only confirms the existence of the two dies but extends the discovery to all the colonies which employ the De la Rue "POSTAGE—POSTAGE" type such as St. Helena and Turks Islands for example. Collectors in general will have to await the publication of Mr. Ehrenbach's paper for further details but those who read Mr. Firth's articles and possess the two dies of the Seychelles stamps as far as they exist, will have reason to congratulate themselves on having acquired copies of the rarer die—for probably one will be found rarer than the other in each value—before prices go up. Now they will be ready to join in what will be an eager hunt for the two dies of the other colonies which use this type of stamp.

* * * *

A problem of a similar nature awaits fiscal collectors in the types of the first issue of Queensland discovered by Mr. A. E. Lawrence, particulars of which are given in our Fiscal Chronicle. Possibly we have to deal with a similar case to that presented by some of the later postage stamps of this country which are said to be printed from electrotypes in groups of four—i.e. four types. However we may leave the problem here for a while as the Fiscal Philatelic Society will shortly be at work on this country, when perhaps more light will be thrown on the question, if the Society recovers from the effects of attempting to deal with the fiscal issues of New Zealand.

* * * * *

Through the kindness of Messrs P. L. Pemberton & Co we are enabled to chronicle (see Fiscal Chronicle) two forerunners of a set of stamps for payment of Stamp Duties in South Australia. This set is, of course, rendered necessary by reason of the postage receipts now going into the Federal revenue, while the stamp duty receipts are for the present kept by the individual colony concerned. The stamps themselves are perfectly hideous, the portrait of His Majesty being a most outrageous caricature, while the combination of colours, on the 1d. at any rate, being bright violet and bright blue green makes one giddy. Nevertheless the stamps are interesting and Messrs. P. L. Pemberton & Co. inform us that they understand the full set will consist of the values 1d., 6d., 1/-, 2/-, 2/6, 5/-, 10/-, 15/-, £1, £2. 10s., £5, and £10. The lower values, if not the higher, are printed in sheets of 60 stamps, in six rows of ten. Messrs. Pemberton and Co. also favour us with a very interesting press cutting from the Adelaide Advertiser, giving useful information with regard to the duties for which these stamps are designed and practical information as to their method of use. We hope to give extracts from this in our next number.

BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By "K."

ANOTHER long defunct company, now known only by its Stamps, is the

LYNN AND FAKENHAM RAILWAY.

One solitary value is all that is known to exist, and its design, perhaps the least inelegant of all railway stamps, consists of a very antiquated engine in the centre, with white labels at top and bottom inscribed "Lynn and" "Fakenham Railway." The remainder of the stamp is filled in with ornamentation. Over this is the black three lined surcharge, "Single—Newspaper—½d." The size of the impression is 44 x 30 mm.

½d., black and red on white. Rect. Perf. 12.

The line was taken over, many years ago, by the

EASTERN AND MIDLANDS RAILWAY

which issued two stamps of exactly similar design to the above, the higher value being surcharged "Two—Newspapers—1d."

½d., black and green (shades) perf. 10½, 12
1d., " " lilac grey " 12
1d., " " red lilac " 11½

2nd issue. 1896. Upper part of band inscribed "Midland and Great Northern," and lower part "Joint Railways."

1d., lilac on white. perf. 11½.
Imperforate copies are known.

2 a. Special issue for Eastern Section. Similar to 1st issue, but lower part of band inscribed "Eastern Section."

½d., black and red on white. p. 10
Imperforate copies are known.

Grain samples.

Horse-shoe band inscribed with name of railway, enclosing a sack of grain and the joint shields of arms. White label at foot, with minute instructions in black: and the whole surcharged, in 5 lines, "Grain samples. One pound or under."

No value. Black and blue on white. p. 11

All the above are rectangular, the impression measuring 30 x 25 mm.

Letter Fee Stamps. (Waterlow type.)

1894. 2d., dark green, green. p. 11.

The earliest impressions are in a very dark shade of green, and are rare, but there has only been one printing.

An issue of Letter Fee stamps was made in Feb. 7th, 1891, in Messrs Waterlow's ordinary type. Postmarked copies are of extreme rarity, though unused and pencil marked specimens have recently become somewhat common.

2d., green, perf. 11½.

The Eastern and Midlands, in its turn, ceased to exist in 1893, becoming part of the system of the MIDLAND AND GREAT NORTHERN JOINT RAILWAYS.

The stamps issued by the joint companies much resemble those of one of them, the Great Northern.

Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits some more values of the postage stamps of 1898 surcharged Telegrafo, vertically, reading downwards, similarly to the 5c. chronicled last September, though in the latter case the surcharge reads upwards. The surcharge is in black

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Basutoland. In the S.C.F. for Nov 22nd, Mr. Pearce chronicles some additional values of the Cape Revenues with surcharge "BASUTOLAND" (18 x 3 mm.) to the two we mentioned last month.

Type with Queen's head. 2/6, ochre.
Type with Figure of Hope. 3d, lilac & green.
6d., ,, violet.

Belgium. Bills, 1884. Mr Schwabacher has discovered the same two types of the 4 frs. rose (for bills "payables à l'étranger") as described in our September no for the 4 frs., pale blue (for bills "payables en Belgique"). He has kindly submitted the rose stamps for our inspection.

Bolivia. Our publisher submits some copies of the 5c. Transacciones, blue with the surcharge "PROVISORIO—1898", in red (1) horizontal (2) vertical, upwards, (3) horizontal, 4 times repeated (4) vertical, upwards, double surcharge. As this surcharge is evidently done with a handstamp, these varieties are of very slender interest. Also the same stamp with the surcharge "S. CRUZ" diagonally, downwards, in thick black Roman caps. (21 x 8 mm.)

Ceylon. Stamp Duty. Mr. Morley submits the provisional "25 Cents" on 20 rupees, green, wmk. Crown & C.C.

Colombia. Habilitacion, 1891—92. Mr. Lawrence has discovered an unknown value of this series.

30 cent., black on yellow

Great Britain. Admiralty Court, Ireland. Mr. Pearce has sent us for inspection the first specimen of the Admiralty Court (England) stamps surcharged "IRELAND" which we have seen. The set is catalogued as surcharged in blue, but we find that the specimen before us has the surcharge in violet block letters, 20x4 mm. It is perf 14 and cancelled "Jan. 1868."

Chancery Fee Fund, Ireland. The same gentleman submits a copy of the £2, pink, Die A of the first issue, which is queried in the Catalogues.

Land Commission, Ireland. Our publisher submits a copy of the 3d, lilac and brown, with the letter "A" missing from the word "LAND" in the overprint. This variety appears to us to be merely due to a bit of dirt on the plate, as there are distinct traces of the presence of letter.

Petty Sessions, Ireland. Mr. Pearce points out that the overprint on the King's Head unappropriated die, chronicled in July last, is "sage" rather than "brown."

Orange River Colony. Our publisher submits a pair of the 6d., grey surcharged "V.R.I. —6d." with raised stops, one stamp of which has the "V" distant from the "R" quite double the usual distance.

Also the 4d. postage stamp, with MS obliteration or surcharge? "B.D. 28/11/87", the letters "B" "D" and figures "28/11" "87" being disposed in the four angles made by a couple of lines drawn diagonally across the stamp.

Philippine Islands. Derechos de Firma. Of Type 306 in the Spanish Catalogue Mr. A. E. Lawrence sends a 2 pesos and M. Albert Baillière informs us of the existence of the other values recorded below, but we have no information as to the dates of issue of these stamps.

20 c. de peso, red	5 pesos, rose
2 pesos, pale brown	5 ,, brown violet

The last named gentleman also informs us that the colour of the 1 peso of 1884 is grey and not bistre.

American Occupation Issue: Giro, 1901. Mr. A. E. Lawrence sends the 15 c. peso, blue, not hitherto chronicled.

Porto Rico. Mr. Lawrence submits the following varieties.

Aduanas, 1892. The 50 c. peso GIRO, of 1882 surcharged "ADUANAS—1892-93" in fancy caps, Type 291 in the new Catalogue of Revenues of Spain and Colonies (also illustrated in our journal for April 1901). There are three varieties.

50 c. peso, yellow green, sur. upwards in black
50 ,, green ,, ,, ,,
50 ,, ,, sur. downwards in red.
(M. Albert Baillière also informs us of the last mentioned.)

Also the 5 c. peso with sur. downwards.

Mr. Lawrence points out that in all the varieties of these stamps known the "paraphe" under the lettering is part of the surcharge, a fact which has been hitherto unnoticed.

Facturas ó Polizas de Cabotaje, 1892. The "Sello" stamp of 1892-93 (Type 92 in the Spanish Catalogue) with inscription in colour of stamp above top margin.

5 c. de peso, lilac

Primera Papeleta de Salida, 1892. Type as above.

5 c. de peso, carmine-lake

Recibos y Cuentas, 1891.

5 c. de peso, green, pin perf. 7-9½

Mr. Lawrence submits pairs of the 5 c. de peso, blue, of 1881 and the 5 c. de peso, claret, of 1882 each accompanied by a half stamp of the same value, apparently to make up a rate of 12½ c. de peso.

Queensland. Mr. A. E. Lawrence has made the highly interesting discovery that there are varieties in type of some of the values of the first issue of this country. He sends two specimens of the 1/-, green which show the undermentioned easily recognisable distinctions.

Type 1.	Type 2.
(1) Middle ornament of diadem under centre of the small crown at top of oval frame with inscription "QUEENSLAND STAMP DUTY."	(1) Middle ornament of diadem to left of centre of the small crown.
(2) Left shoulder of Queen touches oval opposite the end of the dash after the word "DUTY."	(2) Left shoulder of Queen touches oval just about half way between the "Y" of "DUTY" and the dash after this word.
(3) Right shoulder of Queen touches oval opposite to the end of the letter "U" of Queensland.	(3) Right shoulder of Queen touches oval opposite to the middle of the first letter "E" of "QUEENSLAND."
(4) Face narrow.	(4) Face apparently broader—perhaps due to absence of shading.

There do not appear to be any differences, except due to inking, in the frames enclosing the bust of the Queen.

South Australia. Duty Stamp. Messrs. P. L. Pemberton and Co. have shown us two values of a new series for Revenue purposes. Revised Price List of Railway Letter Fee Stamps.

Reference has been made in compiling this list to Mr. Ewen's History of Railway Letter Stamps to which work Collectors are referred for full particulars of the various issues.

In ordering specimens from this list, it is only necessary to give the name of railway, the ref. no. and to state whether used or unused.

Every variety of each railway is numbered consecutively, the thick type in the reference column is meant as a guide to general collectors who only desire more or less standard varieties.

I wish to purchase those varieties which are not priced in this List.

Revised Price List of Railway Letter Fee Stamps.

Reference has been made in compiling this list to Mr. Ewen's History of Railway Letter Stamps to which work Collectors are referred for full particulars of the various issues.

In ordering specimens from this list, it is only necessary to give the name of railway, the ref. no and to state whether used or unused.

Every variety of each railway is numbered consecutively, the thick type in the reference column is meant as a guide to general collectors who only desire more or less standard varieties.

I wish to purchase those varieties which are not priced in this List.

VOL. IV. JANUARY, 1903. No. 1.

Provisional Fiscal Issues of the American Occupation of the Philippines.

BY A. PRESTON PEARCE.

IT is now the turn of the GIRO issues to come up for examination, and I am pleased to say that the only addition I have to make to the first provisional issue is to record a specimen of the 2 pesos, Spanish type, initialled in black ink. The Spanish stamps of the three kinds utilized were only initialled in small quantities at a time, and were superseded as quickly as possible.

It is, however, my strong opinion that the overprint, U.S. INTERNAL REVENUE in three lines, applied to certain Spanish Giro stamps, merely took the place of the initials, and did not change the purpose for which these stamps were employed. If such were the case, the 20c. de p. Giro with this overprint, listed as No. 410a in the new catalogue, should be numbered 346a, and I can add the 2p. 40c. in the same condition. Other values will probably turn up in the course of time, and when discovered a note should be made of the manner in which they have been used.

I fear that the issues for 1899 and 1900 are likely to provide material for special research for some time to come, and that I shall have to leave the final scientific classification to someone more fully acquainted with the practical processes and vagaries of lithographic printing. One's ordinary comprehension of these processes may suffice to give a fair general idea of what has been taking place in Manila, but deeper knowledge than this is required in order that some of the minor varieties may be correctly assigned, either to one of the main types, or to a place of its own as the result of a distinct and separate drawing.

Bearing in mind the fact that in such a case as that now under consideration the natural course to follow would be to prepare a design complete in all respects except that the labels for the reception of the range and the value would be left blank, and after transferring this to as many stones as there were denominations to put in the latter from separate blocks, it is easy to account for the fact that marked differences in these top and bottom inscriptions are sometimes found. Then it should be remembered that the design may in the first place be engraved upon wood or metal, or drawn upon transfer paper, or that it may be drawn directly upon the stone itself, and that in the last case the drawing has to be executed in the form of a negative. I think it will be found that both the first and third of these methods have been adopted, and it is quite likely that all three have been used.

After careful study of a much larger number of copies than I had previously had access to, including the fine collections of Messrs. Walter Morley and D. Thomson, I confirm with some slight modification the correctness of the existing classification into four main types; but to prevent confusion of the kind to be found in the new Spanish Catalogue, where two varieties dated 1899 are incorrectly styled Type IV, and a specimen of 1900 is wrongly listed as Type III, it appears to be necessary to describe more fully certain distinctive features of each type, disregarding for the most part the top and bottom labels.

In the first place it is now quite evident that I made a mistake in the numbering of the types, and that Nos. I and III should change places. I am afraid that to make this change now would cause too much confusion, but I hope that it will be done in the next edition of the catalogue, and I would recommend collectors to adopt this amended order when arranging their collections.

Starting then with Type III, it must be confessed that the only real difference between this and Type II is that there is no serif to the figure 1 in the date. The figures of the ranges, however, differ from the corresponding figures in Type II, and the paper is quite different; no copy of any other type has yet been found on this hard greyish paper, and Type III has not been found on any other.

Type 1

Type 2

Type 3

Type 4

Type II is the chief design for the whole series, and has evidently been engraved on some durable material. I am of opinion that it, and possibly an exceedingly close copy of it, are the only ones that have been so engraved; and it will be noted that it is formed from Type I by the addition of the serif referred to above, did duty next year after the elimination of the date—which, presumably, was transferred to the stones by a second operation—and that it continued in use for the undated issue of 1901-2. Characteristic features are the position of the word UNITED, which exactly covers five stripes; the central stripe composed of seven lines, the outer one on the right almost joining the next, and making what looks like a thick line in the lower part though a moderate power usually resolves it into two; and a small circle in the central angular indentation of the ornament above the letter R of GIRO.

The close copy of this type of which I have made mention differs in the two last respects: the central stripe has six clear lines of equal thickness, and there are three small circles placed vertically in the place of the one above described. It may be provisionally labelled Type IIa, and as will appear further on, two values of the 1899 issue, and two different values of the 1900 issue, have been found in this modification.

Type I is not a satisfactory fixed type, and, after much struggling with it, I have arrived at the conclusion that for the present it had better remain as a general type to cover a number of varieties which have much in common, and which may, if necessary, be arranged differently later on. The design is not quite the same for both years, but in all cases the word UNITED covers only four and a half stripes, and the characteristic circle of Type II (and III) is absent. With one exception, all the copies of 1899 yet seen show six lines of equal thickness in the central stripe, but in 1900 I have only found two denominations that conform to this description, the other half-dozen known—like the 1899 exception—showing only five lines in the bar. I have not seen copies of the same value in this type with both five and six lines, except a "prominent variety" of the 1p. 20c., so it is not yet necessary to split it up on this account, but I will give later on particulars of what have been noted so that other workers may have at their service all that I have been able to gather.

Type IV is strongly defined by the fact that the corner ornaments in the upper part of the frame surrounding the word GIRO are quite different; the one on the left differs altogether from the ornament on the other types, being an unshaded loop enclosing a well marked dot, whereas that on the right is a heavily shaded ball resembling that on the others. As was pointed out when this type was first described and illustrated, it is poorer in general execution than any of the others; it may be added that the letters of the word UNITED are shorter and squarer, and almost cover five stripes, and that the middle stripe is composed of six lines, though the printing is usually so blotchy that these are rarely all separate. Another point to which attention may be drawn is the shapely appearance of the little ornament just below the date, which is quite different from that on the other types. These differences can be readily seen in the reproductions.

As in the case of Type II, a somewhat close copy of this type has been made, but the word UNITED is very slightly shorter, the stripes are all solid instead of being composed of lines, and the ornament below the date is a pyramid. I call this IVa, and it is the poorest and coarsest production of all.

On reading the above I think it may be as well to again repeat that my object in giving such lengthy and detailed descriptions is merely to prevent future erroneous classification. It is perfectly easy to spot each of the four main types at a glance, and it is only when a variant comes along, like No. 371 or 395 in the Spanish Catalogue, that one has to be specially careful to see that it is attached to the type that it most closely resembles in its chief details. As a matter of fact, it will, I think, be generally found that variations like the two just mentioned belong to Type I.

I must frankly state that I am quite at a loss to account for there being so many types and variations. From the nature of the process employed a number of minor varieties would inevitably be found, but I cannot think of any plausible reason for the existence, for example, of five distinct types of the 5p., in 1900, seeing that the main Type II was still in use and in good condition, as is evidenced by the reproductions from it in 1901-2. As little indications are often of value, I may say that, although I have a considerable number of unused specimens, I have not yet seen a single unused copy, nor a used pair, of either Type I, IIa, IV, or IVa.

Great Britain. Glove Tax. The only Glove Tax stamp mentioned in the Catalogues is a "3d. blue". Mr. Schwabacher has shown us an interesting stamp for the payment of this duty which, though not listed in the Catalogues, has been described by Dr. Legrand in his Manuel de l'Amateur de Timbres (page 28). It is a small oblong stamp with a double lined circle in centre lettered "GLOVE TAX TWO PENCE" with a Die no. "117" with a line through it. The circle encloses a crown and two sceptres. At each end are the words STAMP OFFICE on straight labels. Outside the frame are "ABOVE 10d." on top and NOT EX-CEEDING—1S ..... 4d. in two lines below. The whole is enclosed in a dotted frame. The stamp is engraved and printed in red. The line through the die no., judging by analogy from the News Tax stamps, indicates that this specimen is from a recut plate.

EDITORIAL.

THE old year is passing rapidly away as we pen these words. A few hours but remain and it will be numbered with the past. Though 1902 has been a year of notable events, which will live in history, we fear that it has also been a disappointing one. Let us welcome the coming year, bright with the promise of better things, and with raised glasses drink to a prosperous—especially philatelically prosperous—and Happy New Year to one and all!

The interesting but hideous issue of fiscals for South Australia which we were able to announce last month through the kindness of Messrs. P. L. Pemberton & Co. is quite a new departure for the South Australians and the Adelaide Advertiser is constrained to give a column of "Practical Information" as to the use of the stamps for the benefit of its readers. This article contains a good deal of matter which is of interest to fiscal collectors and so we proceed to extract such as is of most value. The Adelaide Advertiser says "The Commissioner of Stamps "(Mr. J. G. Russell, S. M) has drawn our "attention to a few practical points connected "with the new stamp law which will assist the "public to understand their obligations under "the Act.

"The new duties are:—On affidavits and "declarations; agreements not under seal; "annual licence on insurance offices; convey-"ance on transfer of property other than on the "sale of property: lease or agreement for lease, "power of attorney, receipts for 40/- and "upwards: totalizator (2½ per centage on "gross takings).

"The old stamp duties increased are—Bills "of exchange and promissory notes; conveyance "or transfer on sale.

"The relief from old duties is upon—Convey-"ance on sale of any share or shares in the "stock funds or capital of any corporation or "society whatsoever.

"The general public will be most interested in "the new duty on receipts for 40/- and upwards. "The receipt stamp was introduced in the first "Stamp Bill about 1876 and again in 1885. So "general is the receipt the subject of taxation "where stamp duties are imposed that Mr. "Russell does not know of the existence of any "Stamp Act anywhere that does not contain a "duty on receipts. Yet stamp duties have been "in force in South Australia for 16 years without "such a duty being previously imposed. This "affects by far the largest number of persons "under the new imposts.

"The receipt includes any note, memorandum, "or writing, whereby any money amounting to "£2 and upwards, or any bill of exchange or "promissory note for money amounting to £2 or "upwards, is acknowledged to have been "received or deposited or paid; or whereby any "debt or demand, or any part of the amount "of £2 or upwards, is acknowledged to have "been settled and must be stamped, whether "the same is or is not signed with the name of "any person; and any person who gives a receipt "liable to duty, or refuses to give a receipt duly "stamped or upon a payment of an amount for "40/- gives a receipt for a less amount or "separates or divides the amount paid with "intent to evade the stamp, is liable to a penalty "of £10. In proper cases a receipt may be "impressed subsequently to giving it within "14 days, on payment of the duty and a "penalty not exceeding £5 and after 14 days, "but within one month, upon payment of a "penalty not exceeding £10. The public are "advised to demand properly stamped receipts "in all cases or they will find much difficulty "from the absence of the proper stamp.

A curious feature is a clause which exempts from the duty "all receipts or discharges given "by any seaman, laborer or menial servant for "the payment of wages." After detailing how the stamps are to be cancelled "by marking across the face of the stamp in ink, with initials and date" the public is informed that "In no "circumstances whatever may postage stamps be "used upon instruments for duty purposes. New "stamps have been designed in South Australia "by the firm of Messrs Sands and McDougall "and the printing of the stamps has been carried "out under the instructions of and by the officers "of the Deputy Postmaster-General in South "Australia, whose department has given every "help with respect to the new duties. The new "stamps are each printed in two colors and are "larger than and quite distinct in form from "postage stamps. The design has an oval "centre containing the head of King Edward "VII and when the first mechanical difficulties "in the preparation of the stamps have been "quite mastered they will be regarded as most "creditable productions."

The article concludes with giving the reasons, which we detailed last month, for the necessity for different stamps for fiscal and postage purposes.

AT the meeting held on November 6th, 1902, the fiscals of Montserrat, Natal, Nevis and Newfoundland were discussed and catalogued.

The Exchange Sections are working well. From the October Home packet, £29 was taken from a total of £230, whilst the November packet totalled to £191. The total value of the October Continental packet was fr. 3261. and the contribution from home members for the November circulation was fr. 1426.

Mr Wülbern presented copies of his works on the fiscal and telegraph stamps of the German States, Austria-Hungary and Balkan States to the library.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday January 8th, 1903 at 6 30 p.m. at 65, Bishopsgate Street Without, London, E.C. when the remainder of the fiscals of New Zealand will be catalogued. Will members assist by sending notes of varieties, perforations, &c.

The December Exchange packet (Home) totals to £145, and the contribution from home members to the Continental Exchange to fr. 976. The sales from the November packet were over £10.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Afghanistan. Export Duty. We have before us two stamps, similar but with different inscriptions in centre, to that described and illustrated (Fig. 1) in the Philatelic Journal of India for May last. The colour of both is claret (water colour) and one is apparently on laid paper.

OUR present list of known varieties shows a great advance upon that published in the first volume of this Journal. Some of the stamps have not previously been chronicled, but all the varieties indicated, as well as those subsequently described, are either in my collection or have been seen by me, with the exception of the 5 pesos Type III, of which I have seen a photo of a proof.

Following my recommendation as to the more correct arrangement of the types, I have altered their order in the sub-joined table, but I have retained the old numbers in order to prevent confusion between this list and that given in the new catalogue.

NOTES ON THE STAMPS LISTED.

1899. Type I. The 10p., is the variety showing five lines in the central stripe,[a] and this stamp is additionally noteworthy on account of an error in the range, the "6" being reversed.

Type IIa. Both of these stamps have additional peculiarities. The 2p. is the variety without stop after 2, numbered 358 in the catalogue. It has a perfectly vertical accent over the "a" in the range, and I have seen a copy without stop after the date.

The 10p. has a much larger "0" than "1" in the value, and taller figures in the range. My copy shows that this design was transferred from paper to the stone, as the date is mutilated in such a way as would result from a crease at that part.

1900. Type I. The 4 pesos is the error showing a range of "6000 a/ 6800." This value with correct range is only known under Type II for this date, so No. 380 in the catalogue must be deleted. I am inclined to think that in this case the range and value were inserted directly on the stone, for the few copies I have seen all seem to differ more or less in these points.

As stated previously this issue may be divided as follows:

6 lines in stripe, 20c.; 1p. 20c.

5 ,, ,, 1 p. 40c.; 2p.; 3p.; 4p. error; 5p.; 15p.[b]

1901. Several months ago I was informed that all values up to and including the 4 pesos had been printed in this, undated, type, but four of these denominations have not yet been seen over here.

For some printings of certain values a curiously metallic looking ink was used, which imparts a distinctive appearance to the stamps, and in some cases appears quite brilliant when viewed in the right light.

Prominent Varieties.

1899. Type I. 2 pesos with conspicuous dot before the word ISLANDS. I have seen several copies, and possess the variety in pale blue, very deep blue, and with double perforation.

5 pesos, No. 371 in the catalogue, falls into this group according to my arrangement, but it differs from all other specimens seen, inasmuch as the letter "I" of UNITED falls on the centre stripe instead of outside it. Should any other value be found with this pecularity it might be necessary to label it afresh. No 370 in the catalogue does not appear to be forthcoming.

1900. Type I. 1p. 20c., No. 395 in the catalogue, must be temporarily assigned to this division, though I do not think that it will stay there. It has five lines to the stripe, and shows the peculiarity of no serif to the "1" in the date.

3 pesos. I have a specimen of the same type as the above 1p. 20c., the same description will therefore apply, and it may be further noted that in both cases the range fills up the upper label more completely than usual.

2 pesos. I have two copies showing a curious malformation of the second "3" in the range; and other specimens pulled from a very defective stone.

Type II. 15c. de p., No. 393 in the catalogue, is believed to be an offset; I have the 5c. de p., showing the same peculiatity.

30c. de p., without stop after PESO, (No. 394) occurs se tenant with the normal type.

Type IIa.[c] The 3 pesos is printed in a much paler and softer colour than the 3p., of Type II. I have three copies, and two of these have no stop after the "3."

Type IV. 30c. de p. Error with "6" in range reversed. I am inclined to think that in this instance also the range and value were added directly to the stone, a course that would render such a mistake much more likely to occur.

3 pesos. No stop after PESOS.

1901-2 My copy of the 4 pesos shows a period in place of the second "I" in the word PHILIPPINE, without any trace of a letter above it; to all appearance it is an actual stop correctly placed. The whole of the rest of the impression is very good, and the other nine letters of the word are quite perfect.

---

[a] Since this instalment was set up, Mr. Thomson has sent me another value printed from the same design, the new denomination being the 5p. It will now be necessary to restrict Type I to varieties showing six lines in the central stripe, and to label the five-barred design Type Ia.

[b] Now Type Ia.

[c] Mr. Thomson has shown me half-a-dozen copies of a 5 pesos of 1900 produced from yet another drawing. The type is that of IIa, except that the central stripe consists of seven lines of equal thickness. The date also is very irregular, the figure "9" being considerably larger than the figures on each side of it, and the final "0" larger and sloping towards the right. The letters and figures of the range and value are extremely uneven, and there are two varieties of the figure "5" in the value.

EDITORIAL.

ON Wednesday evening, Jan. 14th, Mr. Schwabacher read his paper on Fiscal stamp collecting before the I. P. U. and illustrated it by portions of his magnificent collection. The stamps of Argentine, Peru, United States and Austria were shown together with some selected varieties from other countries such as Glove Tax and Hair powder Duty stamps of Great Britain. That the audience were appreciative is evidenced by the fact that every one joined in the discussion which followed but it was unfortunate that Mr Schwabacher had been unable to find time to carefully arrange the stamps and provide MS. notes as to their uses and peculiarities. We are also afraid that some were aghast at a quantity of bands and labels of portentous size among the stamps of Argentina. But still the members had an opportunity of examining a large number of very handsome stamps and expressed their pleasure by passing a very hearty vote of thanks to the author. We may especially note that the opinion was freely expressed that the development of fiscal collecting was hindered by the lack of a guide to relative values. This is not an easy thing to provide but we think that progress is being made and the "necessary" if not the "ideal" will gradually evolve in time.

Since the publication of our Bolivia catalogue last month we have been wondering whether or no we ought to have included the first two issues given in the postage stamp catalogues, Nos. 1-31 in Gibbons. As collectors are aware these stamps bear the inscription "CORREOS—CONTRATOS" and by far the larger proportion have been employed fiscally, postally obliterated copies being rare. It seems to be tacitly agreed just now to omit stamps labelled "POSTAGE and REVENUE" from the fiscal catalogues and since this is so, logically we should exclude "CORREOS and CONTRATOS." The early Bolivians are however very interesting stamps and we fancy the purely fiscal collector would like to include them in his collection.

Has any fiscal collector seen a Judicial stamp of the Gold Coast?* We have before us the Report of the Acting-Governor of the Gold Coast to the Colonial office and under the heading of Postal and Telegraphic Revenue for 1901 we find the following entries (we have rounded off the figures to the nearest pound):—

Sale of postage stamps for postal purposes	£24,041
Sale of stamps for philatelic purposes	£177
Sale of stamps for telegraphic purposes	£20,633
Sale of Judicial stamps ...	£13,829
Sale of post cards	£20
Sale of registered envelopes ...	£62
Sale of embossed envelopes ...	£8

The current stamps of the Gold Coast are of course lettered "Postage and Revenue" and are no doubt employed for telegraphic purposes, but the change of phraseology in the fourth item in the above list appears to imply that there are special stamps for judicial purposes. We should be very glad if any one in a position to ascertain whether this is the case or not would do so and send us particulars. The second item is interesting and we presume represents the amount received by special remittances for stamps while the last three appear marvellously small. If collecting of postal stationery were ever again to become general the supply of Gold Coast Post Cards and Envelopes would hardly go round!

In connection with the re-use of old Medicine Labels to which we called attention in March 1900 thereby giving rise to some perturbation in the leading journals of the Drug trade, Mr. Preston Pearce sends us a cutting from the Chemist and Druggist referring to the conviction of a chemist who had unstamped goods exposed for sale and when one of the boxes was purchased by an Inland Revenue Officer wrapped round it a stamp that had been used before and carefully preserved for further use. The journal says "The case reported...is a fair "warning to all chemists and druggists in "regard to the use of old Medicine Stamps. "We are calling special attention to the matter "in our forthcoming Diary treatise on the "Medicine Stamp-Duty Acts, for the offence is "a more serious one than is generally realised. "It is illegal to expose such articles as Vinolia-"cream and Johnson's corn-silk in one's shop "unstamped, and the re-use of stamps which "have been on other medicines is also forbidden "by the Acts— in fact, under certain circumstances is a felony.

*While passing through the press we note the discovery of the late 1d. Queen's Head postage stamp, printed in grey, with value and name in vermilion, overprinted "JUDICIAL," see Ewen's W.S.N., February 14th.

THE RAILWAY STAMPS OF VICTORIA.

By G. W. J. Potter

It is my intention within these few notes to gather together a little information regarding the railway stamps of Victoria, and I should esteem it a favour if readers-more especially those in Victoria or Australia—would correct or amplify my scanty notes wherever possible. Unfortunately but little interest is taken at present in these and similar stamps, so it behoves those who are interested in such to work the harder to obtain due recognition of this branch of fiscal collecting. Undoubtedly this will come, though it may tarry on the way, and those who have built up their collections when the time was favourable will have no reason to regret their energy and foresight.

The railway stamps issued by this colony form a very interesting series, and afford ample scope for perseverance in their collection as there have been five or six issues, whilst some of the individual stamps are extremely scarce. Being considerably larger than the ordinary postage stamp a collection naturally takes up a fair amount of space, but surely a fiscal collector will not look upon that as a disqualification, rather will he be inclined to consider it as one of the characteristics of his hobby.

For those who like research there are many points connected with the different issues and values that require investigating, and so far as I am aware, there does not yet seem to have been any attempt made at classifying and arranging them other than the lengthy list in Morley's Catalogue and Price List of the Revenue Stamps of the British Colonies, (Nov. 1895) which I shall refer to. It must be borne in mind that in the absence of direct or confirmatory evidence several of the conclusions reached can only be regarded as provisional, although it is hoped with kind co-operation of readers to finally arrange all the issues in their proper order.

I propose to distinguish between varieties that I either have in my collection or have seen and those that I have not seen, but which are given in Morley's list, by placing an asterisk in front of the latter. It may be as well now to point out that in giving the size of the stamp in centimetres always show the width first, then the depth; thus in the case of an upright stamp of ordinary shape the smaller dimension comes first, if however the larger measurement is first the reading runs along the other way. This latter type of stamp is usually termed an oblong, properly speaking it should be an horizontal oblong and the other variety a vertical oblong, there being but few stamps that are really squares.

Although the railways are now the property of, and under the control of, the Government, it is to private enterprise that several of the early lines owe their inception and construction, these having been afterwards purchased by the State. For many years the Railway Department was administered by ministerial heads, but in November, 1883, it was deemed advisable to make a change in the system, and the department was placed under the immediate control of three commissioners. Later on it was decided that there should be only one commissioner with increased powers, so in March, 1896, Mr. John Mathieson, who had been commissioner of the Queensland Railways from 1889 to that time, was appointed to the office for a period of five years. Upon the expiration of this term, the Midland Railway of England offered him the post of General Manager which he accepted, and now his name is to be seen on the time-books, etc, in place of the once familiar Geo. H. Turner.

Type 1

The first railway stamps that the Colony issued seem to have made their appearance in 1876, and comprised five values; ½d., 1d., 2d., 3d. and 6d. The design (Type 1) was the same in all, and represented a primitive engine and tender with figure of value underneath. Above and below are the words VICTORIA and ECHUCA; the latter being the name of a town near the borders of the New South Wales, 156 miles from Melbourne, and probably representing the northern limits of the line, prospective or actual. In the four corners occur the names, Melbourne, Sandhurst, Ballarat, and Geelong, all well known places; Sandhurst now being called Bendigo. The issue was printed on thick unwatermarked paper, and was of an upright shape, similar to an ordinary postage stamp though somewhat larger. Beyond the six towns mentioned no wording or instruction of any kind appeared on the stamp, and this doubtless caused some awkwardness in use. Unused sets are not particularly scarce and may often be seen in old collections, though usually in poor condition.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Germany. Dr. Kalckhoff has sent us a specimen of the 50 pf. band for the duty on champagne which we chronicled last month. The band measures 359 x 20 mm and is divided into three panels, the right and left bearing the words "Schaumweinsteuer 50 Pf." while the middle one contains the words "Angebracht den.....", the date of cancellation on the copy before us being "9 Juli '02." The inscriptions and border are printed in dark green and in each panel is a groundwork of floral ornament in pale blue green, the whole band being covered with wavy lines of the same colour. It is perf. 11½.

Dr. Kalckhoff informs us that there is an additional value of 10 pf. (for sparkling cider) and that the band without value indicated (for imported wines) bears the inscription "verzollter Schaumwein" denoting that the customs duty has been paid.

Since writing the above we have received another communication from Dr. Kalckhoff enclosing a specimen of the 25 Pf. label. This is similar in design to the 50 Pf. but is brown in colour, not green as previously described, the size 298 x 20 mm., and the perf. 14½. Dr. Kloss also kindly sends us specimens of these two bands. Both these are perf. 14½—so that it will be noted that the 50 Pf. exists with two perforations 11½ and 14½.

Great Britain. Ireland, Judicature. Mr. Kay has shown us the 1/6, blue overprint on unappropriated die, wmk. "V. R.", of 1873, perf 12½.

Ireland, Marine Insurance etc. Mr. O. Marsh has shown us the 7/6 both in pale blue and dark blue, Die A and the 10/-, blue, Die Z.

Neuchatel. Epargne Scolaire Saint-Imier. Herr C. E. Hoffmann sends a specimen of a 10c. value which was issued on the 1st January. The design consists of a star on a plain horizontal band across three vertical shaded ones in circle lettered "EPARGNE SCOLAIRE SAINT JMIER" Value "10 Cts." on label below. Perf. 10.

10c., red.

Orange River Colony. Bank Draft. Our publisher submits the 3d., blue, sur. V.R.I.—B.D.—3d.—Type a as described in our December number, with no stop after "D." This stamp must be from a different pane to the one which we described or else from a new printing of the surcharge.

Queensland. Fee Stamp. Mr. C. E. McNaughtan has shown us a stamp, as yet unknown, of which we annex an illustration. It seems to be an adhesive and bears portions of a watermark not sufficient to guess the design. Imperf.

Provisional Fiscal Issues of the American Occupation of the Philippines.

BY A. PRESTON PEARCE.

LAST month's instalment commenced with a note of congratulation on the progress that had been made towards the completion of the list of Bill stamps, but the foot notes added after the main portion was in print showed pretty clearly that the end is not yet in sight.

Another value of the design labelled Type Ia has been unearthed by Mr. Thomson, and I would now amend the list on page 9 of this volume by deleting the x against the 10 pesos in the third column, and adding a fresh line above the small subsidiary list at the side reading :—

1899. Type Ia. 2p.; 5p.; 10p.

It would then be necessary to refer to the 10p., in the first Note as Type Ia.

I have not made any attempt to classify these stamps under the headings of blue and pale blue as is done in the catalogue. It is evident that small and frequent printings was the rule, and under such conditions there are sure to be variations of this kind. A more serious omission lies in the fact that I am not yet prepared to go into the subject of the varieties of perforation, and this threatens to be somewhat troublesome in the first instance. More pressing calls upon my time have not allowed me sufficient leisure to make the necessary investigations, and I must for the present be content to point out that some curious variations will be found. To make a single exception, I may say that the 2 pesos of Type IV (1900) is known pin perf. Another matter to which reference should be made is the possibility that some of the minor varieties may be forgeries. As mentioned in my article in the March number of the second volume, I strongly suspected misdemeanours of this kind when Type IV first came to light, and I sent specimens of each of the four types then known for examination by responsible officials. These stated that all the specimens submitted were genuine, and when my sheet was returned I found under Type IV the ambiguous expression "stone broken", which may refer to this particular type or may give the reason for its perpetration. It may be that some of the minor varieties lately discovered are the work of designing men not in the employment of the Government, and Mr. Thomson favours this view, though I do not share it at present.

The first instalment of the long expected supply of stamps from the States, intended to supersede the local productions, appears to have been placed on sale on or about the first day of this year, and specimens of the Giro set have reached me in time for the description to appear in its proper place. It must be frankly admitted that the new production is a most surprising one. In the first place it perpetuates the not particularly artistic local design, having been reproduced from a close copy of it; and, secondly, it has the distinction of being the first ever turned out by the half-tone photographic process. This naturally gives it a singular appearance, and the contrast between the rather crude drawing, reproduced in this somewhat unsuitable style, and the immense advance in certain minor respects, heightens the peculiarity, and completes a tout ensemble that mightily impresses the eye. The stamps are printed in dark blue on good white wove, unwatermarked paper, are splendidly centered with large margins, and are cleanly perforated 12. Contrary to expectation, value and range are still in Spanish currency, but the English word "to" replaces the equivalent "a/" in the latter. I have received unused copies of all values up to the 1p. 80c., except the 1p. 40c., and have seen a used specimen of the 5 pesos.

The next division is that of Internal Revenue, and here again there are additions to be made throughout.

As in the cases of the Giro and Sello series, the first American issue consisted of initialled copies of the Spanish Timbre Movil set. All four values are said to have been put in use, and the initials of four American officials are found thereon. I have not seen specimens of the 1c., and 2c., but entire documents are in my possession bearing copies of the 5c., and 10c. de p., and these were all used between Dec. 31st, 1898 and Jan. 31st, 1899. I have also seen four documents each franked to the extent of 25c. de p., made up by dividing one of the 10c., stamps vertically and using one half with two whole ones: these were used between Jan. 17th and Jan. 30th, 1899.

No document that has come under my notice has borne a stamp or stamps of less total value than 25 c. de p., save that one Customs authority, dated Jan. 9th 1899, has no adhesive at all, but was franked by the collector writing the word "Stamp" in a frame in black ink, initialling it across the whole in red ink, and then applying the usual rubber-stamp obliteration of "CANCELLED" in blue. This looks as though the supply of Spanish revenues had temporarily been exhausted at that office.

The Spanish set of four values is catalogued with overprint of U. S. INTERNAL REVENUE in three lines in blue, but I have not seen the two lower ones. I possess copies of the 5 c. de. p., on a document dated July 31st 1899, and a single specimen, used with two copies of the 10 c., of the first printing of the U. S. regular type, on a document that unfortunately is not dated.

I have already referred in this article to the stamps of the Giro set overprinted as above.

Plate nos. 79 & 80. Die numbers 1951 to 2000
" 81 & 82. " " 2001 to 2050

I have not seen a copy from plates 13 and 14 (Dies 301 to 350) or plates 55 and 56 (Dies 1351 to 1400), bearing the distinctive mark of this recut, but we get plates 81 and 82 with it, of which I have not seen copies bearing the previous recut.

Type 47a

TYPE 47a.

3½d., red. Another recut with short strokes pointing downwards at end of the line through die numbers, as illustration, Type 47a.

Plate nos. 13 & 14. Die numbers 301 to 350
" 17 & 18. " " 401 to 450
" 45 & 46. " " 1101 to 1150
" 55 & 56. " " 1351 to 1400

The 4 plates not found in type 47 are found in this type, but we find very few copies with this recut.

TYPE 48.

3½d., red. Discount £4 and 18s. per cent. at sides. Similar to preceding series, except that the rate of discount at sides is lower. This type possibly ought to have been placed in order before the preceding type with £16, 18s. dist., and it may have been of short duration as I do not find many copies and not such a long series of plates. Illustration, type 48, with plain die numbers (I have die 230 used in 1813).

Plate nos. 1 & 2. Die numbers 1 to 50
" 3 & 4. " " 51 to 100
" 9 & 10. " " 201 to 250

Type 48

TYPE 48a.

3½d., red. Dis. £4 and 18s. per cent. First recut, with line through die nos. (as Type 48 but with line through die nos.).

Plate nos. 1 and 2. Die numbers 1 to 50
" 3 and 4. " " 51 to 100
" 7 and 8. " " 151 to 200

TYPE 49.

3½d., red. Second recut, similar to Type 48, with arcs at end of lines through die numbers.

Plate nos. 1 & 2. Die numbers 1 to 50
" 5 & 6. " " 101 to 150
" 37 & 38. " " 901 to 950

TYPE 50.

3½d. Third recut, similar to Type 48, but with short strokes pointing upwards at each end of the line through die numbers.

Plate nos. 1 & 2. Die numbers 1 to 50
" 3 & 4. " " 51 to 100
" 5 & 6. " " 101 to 150

I have only been able to identify the above small number of plates from this series, and the copies used are from early plates, with one exception of plates 37 and 38, from which I hazard an opinion, that the rate of discount being changed after a short use the plates prepared were not put in use and may have had the parts refering to the discount altered on the plates for the new rate (our Types 44 to 47A.)

EDITORIAL.

WE have often had occasion to refer to the extraordinary development of fiscal collecting which has taken place during the past two or three years but the "revival" as we prefer to term it has lately been brought home to us in a new and forcible manner. The interest which is steadily increasing is this department of philately is clearly indicated by the number of novelties (both old—le vieux neuf—and new) which are now communicated to us from all sides. We have devoted an unusual amount of space this month in the endeavour to cope with the flood but nevertheless we are compelled to hold over a large number of interesting items for future consideration. The monthly lists of Colonial fiscals circulated among the members of the Fiscal Philatelic Society are, we are sure, greatly appreciated by the members and the comparison of these lists with their collections proves a fruitful source of additions to our chronicle. Yet new issues are being notified to us in greater volume from many quarters and this is a development which we heartily welcome. In our own country no official notice is given of a new issue of Revenue or Fee Stamps and this no doubt applies in a greater or less degree to other countries. New issues of fiscals are therefore generally unknown till documents mature—which occupies a greater or less interval of time—and this fact leaves us almost entirely dependent on collectors into whose hands early copies come for news of them. If this has disadvantages it has at the same time great and important advantages. It prevents the speculator from stepping in and "cornering" a small provisional issue and (together with the usual absence of information whence to purchase) renders all but impossible the early importation of new issues in large quantities to be sold at a small percentage above face value as now obtains with nearly all postal issues. The speculator is thus more or less eliminated.

Mr. Schwabacher, with the help of Messrs. Preston Pearce and W. Morley, made a very excellent display of fiscals at the London Philatelic Society last month. The stamps shown were Mauritius—including a complete set (first, second, and third of exchange) of the first issue bills and practically all the later surcharges—Transvaal, a fine lot of the "V.R.—Transvaal" and the war provisionals for Zeerust and Rustenburg—Great Britain, a selection of picked varieties—and a fine display of Mexicans, including a number of the rare high values. This is the first time that an evening has been devoted to fiscals at the L.P.S. As a matter of fact the statutes of the Society do not include fiscals as within the scope of the Society, though several of the members are known to interest themselves in these stamps. The evening was a decided success and we hear that Mr. Schwabacher has been asked and has arranged to give a similar display before the Herts Philatelic Society in October next.

* * * * *

In our last supplement, dealing with the "CONSUMO" and "FUMO" series of Brazil, we have catalogued certain stamps surcharged "Veado". This surcharge seems to have been first listed in L'Ami des Timbres but the question has lately been raised as to its meaning. We are told that "Veado" means "a stag" in Portuguese and that therefore the surcharge has no philatelic import being in all probability merely the name of a particular brand of tobacco. This opinion appears to be justified by the fact that, as pointed out by a correspondent, the stamp (No. 262a) listed with surcharge "CALCO" is incorrectly described, the surcharge being really "GALGO" meaning "a greyhound". These surcharges are then apparently merely brands of certain tobaccos and unless any valid reasons can be produced for their retention, the stamps bearing them had better be struck out of the catalogue.

* * * *

The difficulty of cataloguing fiscals is not always confined to seeking a meaning for surcharges or supposed surcharges which may occur but very often it is almost impossible to find an English equivalent for the names of the documents to which series of stamps are assigned. For this reason it is undoubtedly the best plan, and our usual practice, to retain the terms in their native language but it is sometimes important to know their English equivalent. One which long puzzled us and is perhaps not generally known to the bulk of English fiscal collectors is the series "TIMBRE DE DIMENSION" of France. These stamps pay a duty which is fixed according to the size of the document and there are five different sizes of Government stamped paper. Any paper presented for stamping of a different size from the Government paper must be stamped as for paper of the next largest size. We cannot pursue this subject further now but the method of application of stamp duties and their origin in different countries would be an interesting subject for an industrious fiscalist to investigate.

BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By "K."

AS a prelude to this article I must apologise in Mr. Morley's name for the awful hash which the printer's devil, or some other fiend served up over my luckless initial in the December number! Whether owing to the festive season, or some other cause, I know not, but the different lines and issues were inextricably mixed, with the result that about 15 new and unique varieties of railway stamps, none of which have ever existed, were described for the edification of the bewildered collector. I believe that my arrangements of the issues of the maltreated companies will appear in proper form when Mr. Morley eventually publishes another edition of his catalogue, but in the meantime should anyone desire to disentangle them, it can be done by numbering the article consecutively, in three paragraphs, at lines 1, 24, and 49, and then transposing paras 2 and 3, which will restore it to somewhat of its original form, except for the omission of the 1st issue of the Midland and Great Northern Joint Railway which is fortunately too well known to require detailed description.

I have recently been privileged to examine a very fine old collection of Railway Parcel Stamps, which included, amongst other hitherto unknown varieties that will receive attention in due course, the three following, which were completely uncatalogued and unknown at the time I wrote the articles which appeared in M. P. J., Vol I, pages 30 and 38, and Vol. II, pages 6 and 86.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

Issue 1a. Large oblong, Type II. Perf. 10. Surcharged in 3 lines with weight, mileage, and value in words.
1d., (1½ lbs. under 60 miles). Black on green.

The fact of the above stamp being of the later type apparently confirms my theory that the penny value was not issued until after the higher values of the first issue, but its other peculiar features seem to prove it to be of an earlier date than the 2nd issue.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY.

Issue IV. Large rect. Coarse printing, like "provincial" issue (see M. P. J. Vol. II, p. 6.)
6d., red. p. 12.

Issue V. Smaller rect. Finely printed. (see M. P. J. Vol. 1, p 38).
4d., red. p. 10.

K.

Herr Raimann informs us that he possess the 1d., red, Plate 200, perforated with the four "N's" by Sloper's Patent listed by Mr. Morley on page 6.

*We are sorry for the confusion of which our contributor complains. We have endeavoured to ascertain the cause and find that somehow or somewhere a page of the MSS got accidentally transposed, but how or where there is no evidence to show. ED.

THE FISCAL PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

MEETING held on February 5th, 1903. Present, Mr. Schwabacher (chair). Messrs. Cooper, Fulcher, Marsh, Morley, South, Thompson, Thomson, and Kay.

Mr. K. Peerbhoy (India) was elected a member, and the resignation of Mrs. Mackenzie accepted with regret.

A fine collection of New Zealand revenues sent by Mr. A. Hamilton (Dunedin) was shown, and an unanimous vote of thanks and admission to the privileges of membership for the current season was duly passed for the courtesy.

Several interesting fiscals were also submitted. Among others, Mr. Schwabacher showed a pair of G. Britain, Bankruptcy 1/6, perf. 12½; Mr. Fulcher, a range of upwards of 60 types of the first issue 8 sk Denmark, due to variation of lettering in value labels; Mr. South the new 5 and 10 kroner Sweden Savings Bank stamps; and Mr. Thomson a £3 10 0 Natal.

The fiscals of Niger Coast, Orange Free State and part of Queensland were discussed and catalogued.

Sheets amounting to fr. 1306.85 nett were contributed by Home members to the Continental Exchange Section.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Nicaragua. Our publisher submits some values of the postage stamps of 1899 surcharged "Telegrafo" by means of a handstamp.

Uganda. We extract the following particulars regarding a set issued on June 1st, 1902, of which we chronicled a 1 rupee value in November last, from Ewen's Weekly S. N.

The stamps consist of a pair of type set labels, of which we gave a diagrammatic illustration, one above the other and when used are cut in two, one half being attached to the telegram and the other to the sender's receipt.

The following values exist :—

2	as.,	black on	blue green
4	,,	,,	yellow
6	,,	,,	lake
8	,,	,,	pink
12	,,	,,	grey
1	rup.,	,,	white
2	,,	,,	yellow
3	,,	,,	blue green
4	,,	,,	lake
5	,,	,,	pink
10	,,	,,	grey

Errors and varieties:

(a) "G" of "TELEGRAPHS" in lower half of stamp has a serif at top.
2 as., 4 as., 6 as., (8 as., 12 as., ? not seen).

(b) Error "SIK" for "SIX" in top half of stamp. 6as.

(c) Comma after "Telegraphs" in lower half of stamp, instead of a stop.
2r. (and possibly others ?)

The three lower values are in sheets of 56 stamps in 4 rows of 14. Seven stamps were set in ordinary type and eight stereos taken: consequently there are seven types of each value. Variety (a) occurs on the 1st and 8th stamp on each horizontal row; variety (b) in the 7th and 14th stamp of each row. The position of variety (c) is unknown. Variety (a) sometimes shows an inverted "V" instead of "A" in "Telegraphs" probably due to defective printing. In the centre of each of the four margins is an embossed seal of the Uganda Railway, it sometimes slightly overlaps on to the stamps.

FISCAL CHRONICLE.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors, and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Argentine Republic. We have received from Prof. Dobranich particulars, obtained from official sources, of the various series of fiscal stamps issued in 1902. We have only space this month for two or three of the more important series, the list will be continued in future nos.

There appears to be an innovation in the fact that the series which we have usually chronicled under the term "Documents" is now confined to "Bills" (Pagares) only, a special set being provided for other documents (Estampillas Fiscales). We have no details as to design, but suppose they are the same as usual for the series already catalogued.

The label at the base bears the words "3a Clase." Imperf.

Provisional Fiscal Issues of the American Occupation of the Philippines.

BY A. PRESTON PEARCE.

THE next discovery to be announced is that there are two distinct types of the American Internal Revenue design, the earlier of which—with the exception of the little used lowest value—seems to have been but short lived.

Of these, type I has eight dots in the shield and eleven stars above the eagle, and can be immediately identified by the strong lines of shading that cross the first and last couple of letters of the inscription "PHILIPPINE ISLANDS". Type II has seven dots and nine stars, and an unshaded label.

Two printings of the 1c., and 10c., de p., appear to have been made from Type 1, but I have only recognized one printing for each of the other two values in this type:

1 c. de p., black	5 c. de p., deep blue
1 ,, grey	10 ,, brown pink
2 ,, pink	10 ,, yellow brown

From Type II there have been several printings of each value with the exception of the lowest, and it is difficult to assign correct terms to the many shades that present themselves. The last endeavour I can make to represent what I have found is:

1 c. de p., grey.
2 ,, rose; rose carmine; carmine; deep carmine; scarlet.
5 ,, light blue; blue; deep blue.
10 ,, pale yellow brown; yellow brown; orange brown; light red brown; terra cotta; dark brown.

The 10 c. de p., yellow brown, embossed with the letters "U. S." as a safeguard is, of course, of Type II.

Type II was also employed for the more recent issue of the 10 c. de p., in green; a stamp of which there have been two printings, easily separated, at least in the unused condition. The one I take to be the earlier is printed in a greasy yellowish green ink which makes a solid mass of the back-ground, the other is much more clearly printed in a bluish green.

As in the case of the initialled Spanish stamps, the temporary employment of two and a half copies of the 10 c. de p., yellow brown, Type I, was resorted to to make up the more useful 25 c. de p., value, but I am told that this provisional is of extreme rarity. I have received one document containing the stamps thus used, and it is dated Dec. 18th, 1899. It is addressed to the Captain of the Port of Manila and Cavite, and authorizes the departure of a steamer, the string of official signatures appended plainly showing the disabilities under which trade is carried on in time of war—the final entry is a rubber-stamp impression stating that "Guards will come ashore when Ship sails."

The new type received from the States is printed by some process analogous to that employed for the new Giro stamps, and the design is a copy of the old one, the inscriptions remaining unchanged. The 2 c. de p., is printed in red on white wove, unwatermarked paper, and is perforated 12. An examination of a large block shows that there are two slightly different types which are set up in pairs in such a way that the stamps in the first, third, fifth, sixth, eighth, and tenth vertical rows are all of Type I, and those in the second, fourth, seventh, and ninth rows are of Type II. Type I has the peculiarities of a short "I" in "INTERNAL," a long third and the fourth and fifth letters of "PHILIPPINE" joined; Type II has a short third and separate fourth and fifth letters in that word, and a short "I" at the commencement and something that does not represent any Roman letter at the end of the word "ISLANDS," the said something being rather like a reversed c.

TYPE 52.

4d., red. First recut, with line through die nos., as illustration, type 52. The following plates have been verified with this recut.

Plates 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 23, 24, 27, 28, 29, 30, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 47, 48, 51 (with reversed discount as Type 51a), 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128.

Type 52

TYPE 53.

4d., red. Second recut, similar to Type 51, with arcs at end of line to die numbers.

Plates 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51 (with reversed discount at sides, as type 51a), 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106.

I find in this set and the following one two distinct series each of plates 89, 90, 91, and 92 (Dies 2201 to 2300), but cannot find a single copy of the type 2 in the two preceding sets. It has puzzled me exceedingly and I cannot account for it at the present stage of our studies in these stamps. The first series has smaller die numbers identical to our illustration, Type 52. The words "discount £20 &c." are about 1½ mm's from the stamp, and these are numerous minor differences in the stamps from the second series, which has larger die numbers spaced wider apart and the words "discount £20 &c." are closer to the stamp. I at first suspected the second series to be a forgery, but other die nos. came into my possession and also a proof, and I am inclined to think that a set of 4 plates was numbered in error the same as a preceding set of four and if this is correct copies should be found of it from the original plates and first recut.

TYPE 54.

4d., red. Third recut, similar to illustration, Type 51, but with short strokes pointing upwards at ends of line through die numbers.

Plates 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51 (reversed discount), 52, 55, 56, 59, 60, 61, 62, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, (and 89, 90, 91, 92, with larger die nos.) 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 123, 124.

EDITORIAL.

WE were the first to announce as long ago as May last that a set of stamps was in contemplation surcharged—"NAVY—OFFICIAL" and now Mr. A. B. Creeke informs the London Philatelist that ½d., 1d., 1½d., 2d., 2½., and 3d., postage stamps as well the 3d., Registration Envelope and the ½d., Post Card have appeared with the overprint "ADMIRALTY—OFFICIAL" The gradually growing list of British Official stamps is thus assuming alarming dimensions for the general collector especially in view of the difficulty of obtaining copies of many of them. Everything, however, may become an "area of collecting" for the specialist and we know of one collector who devotes his energies solely to the Official stamps of Great Britain and the United States. There is however the prospect of a way of escape from the multiplicity of official stamps for the generalist, though whether he will take advantage of it will possibly be a matter of considerable discussion in the philatelic press. Quite lately we have seen some Australian stamps, which, instead of being overprinted "O. S.", are perforated with these initials and we have heard a rumour that this method will be adopted by the Board of Education for their stamps, a practice which may extend to the other Government Departments using special stamps. Now will these punctured stamps be collectible or rather, for anything is collectible, will they be collected and catalogued. For those who collect stamps surcharged "O. S." or "I. R OFFICIAL" etc. logic seems to compel the collection of stamps perforated with these words. But then on the other hand, as a matter of fact, there is at the present time, a decided tendency to ignore the old official stamps of Western Australia, which are only distinguished from the ordinary one by a piece punched out. The topic which thus arises for discussion involves some very nice points, for if "initial-perforated" official stamps are not worth cataloguing them why catalogue the overprinted stamps and if they are, where, especially in British Stamps, is the line to be drawn? Are stamps perforated with initials of County Councils official?

* * * *

No purely fiscal Exhibition has been held since that of the Leeds Philatelic Society in 1894, though a fiscal section has now and then been included with postage stamps, to mention only that of the I.P.U. in 1901. Some of the prominent members of the fiscal philatelic ranks think it is now high time that another should be held and the matter has indeed come before the Fiscal Philatelic Society in a more or less informal manner. That body, however, is not yet in a position to bear the burden of so great an undertaking and so the proposed Exhibition must stand over for future consideration. Perhaps this is just as well for, if the Society's Catalogue of British Colonials gets published during the next few months we may legitimately expect a number of new recruits in the fiscal ranks and the matter of ways and means for an Exhibition may find a solution. Yet though there is no prospect in the immediate future of an exhibition here, yet we find that our friends across the pond seem to have held a successful show under the auspices of the American Fiscal Society. We append a report taken from Mekeel's Weekly.

SPECIAL EXHIBITION OF REVENUES.

"The special exhibition of Revenue stamps "made by members of the American Fiscal "Society, of New York, at the rooms of the "Section on Philately of the Brooklyn Institute "of Arts and Science, Art Building, Brooklyn, "on Friday evening, February 13, 1903, was "largely attended by philatelists from surround-"ing boroughs, who were present to view one "of the first exhibitions of this character given "in this country.

"Foreign revenues were exhibited by Messrs "Albert E. Lawrence, G. W. Pepper and Dr. "L. W. Homburger, while regular issues of "United States revenues were exhibited by "Clarence H. Eagle and match and medicine "by A. G. Bishop. These magnificent collec-"tions cannot be too highly commented upon.

"Mr. Eagle made a very interesting address "concerning "Revenues and their Collection" "While Mr. Eagle has a large general collection, "his stronghold is United States revenues and "his collection of these probably has no equal in "in this country. He believes in doing every-"thing possible to encourage the boy to become "a collector, saying that very often the young-"ster will delve among old papers in the garret, "bringing out many specimens that older "collectors could not find after seeking for "years.

"The president of the section then thanked "the members of the American Fiscal Society "for the very successful exhibition of fiscals "which they had made and expressed the wish "that their society would make a larger exhibi-"tion at some future date."

THE RAILWAY STAMPS OF VICTORIA.

THE second issue demands considerable attention as it is of an extremely uncommon charactor, little appears to be known concerning it, and but few stamps have as yet come to light. It seems to have been issued in 1877, and was entirely different from its predecessor in shape, design, and usage.

In England few if any of the earliest stamps of the different railway companies bore the words 'Owner's Risk' upon them; however it was soon added, and the companies carried the parcels, etc under such conditions. In Victoria the authorities thought that it would be an additional safe-guard to have the signature of the sender upon the stamp, thus the practice of signing each stamp was initiated with this issue, and it remained in force until about a year ago. The most curious part of this series is that each stamp was divided by a horizontal perforation into two sections, the upper portion being attached to the parcel, and the lower being probably handed to the sender as a receipt or check. Type 2 shows the upper section of this issue As will be seen the engine has been abolished, in its place we have VICTORIAN RAILWAYS; the value in Old English text and figures; and a brief contract with spaces for signature of sender and name of station to which the parcel is consigned. The lower portion is smaller and bears a repetition of the contract. At present I have only seen three copies of this scarce issue, all of the 9d. value, two being the top and one the lower portions. It seems probable that the long list given in Morley's Catalogue as being issued in 1878 may refer both to this—the second—and the third issues. Should any reader have a difficulty in assigning specimens to either of these issues, it may be pointed out that in the third the border is continuous around the stamp; while in the second it is missing at either the bottom or top—according as it is a top or bottom section—and a small neat scroll pattern takes its place.

The measurements of the two sections are roughly 2·7 cm. and 1·5 cm. A thin smooth paper is used which is watermarked with the V and crown. Usually it is placed in its correct position, but in this and most of the succeeding issues, specimens may be found with the watermark turned to the right, the left, and inverted. It is also known with and without control numbers.

2nd Issue, 1877.

Perf. 12½. Size 5 cm. by 2·7 cm. Wmkd.
9d., dull rose on cream.
9d., carmine ,, ,, Blue controls.

The second issue does not appear to have had a very long life, probably it was found inconvenient in the working, and the third issue seems to have been substituted for it in the following year, 1878.

The new stamps were designed on somewhat similar lines; the title, contract and place for sender's signature were retained; but the space for address was deleted, and the stamp once again was made self-contained. If the half-tone block (Type 3) illustrating the one penny of this issue is examined it will be seen that there is a back-ground of crossed diagonal lines with plain spaces: this network is somewhat indented, and the blank spaces resolve themselves into words; presumably one penny, two pences, and so on, but their decipherment is not at all easy. The paper is fairly thick with a rough surface, and is watermarked as usual.

Ten values are given in the Catalogue on the authority of Moens, but I have only seen the 1d., 2d and 3d. values, and am inclined to think (as stated above) that the list probably contains several of the preceding issue. This series is also scarce, so that not much is known concerning it, but with the examination of more specimens—which will doubtless gradually come to light—it should be possible to revise this list and compile a fairly accurate account of these interesting stamps.

Fiscals of Guatemala.

The Issue of 1881-82.

By G. W. Pepper.

THE type set issues of Guatemala have always proved fascinating to me, for some reason or other. Their quaintness may be the reason, but whatever it may be, I have always made special efforts to secure them. Having gathered together a fine collection I will endeavour to point out the points of interest in the issue of 1881-82 as I find them. The stamps of this issue were printed in sheets of 50, on laid paper, in ten rows of 5 each. They were perforated 12. The side of the stamps, that is the first and fifth stamp on each row were not perforated on the outside edge, so that 2 stamps in every row have one plain edge. The border, date, and value were done at one printing and the Arms of Guatemala with another. As the two printings were done at different times the inks were not always the same, so that in some of the values some startling contrasts appear. For instance, the 5 centavos comes with a light pink border, date ,and value, and a bright vermilion Arms in centre. The 1 peso comes with a delicate green border, date, and value, and dark green Arms. Being type set, numerous varieties offer a large field for study. I will briefly give lists of those I have noted.

In the 1 centavo I find Stamp No. 18 on the sheet to have an inverted letter "L" in place of letter "T" in "TIMBRE." In stamp No. 28 on sheet I find a comma after "centavos," instead of the usual period. In the 5 centavos value the error maker got in his work in good shape!

Stamp No. 2 on sheet has a dash instead of a period after "centavos."
" No. 5 has the dot after "centavos" even with the top, instead of the bottom of the line.
" No. 8 has the letter "n" in "centavos" inverted, reading "ceutavos".
" No. 18 has inverted "L" instead of "T" in "TIMBRE."
" No. 24 has "e" inverted in "centavos".
" No. 26 has no period after "centavos".
" No. 28 has comma instead of period after "centavos".

This value is the only one I have found part perf., I have it in unsevered pairs both vertical and horizontal imperf. between.

In the ten centavos I find stamp No. 18 on sheet to read "TIMBRE" instead of "TIMBRE," i.e. inverted "L" instead of "T".

Nos. 20, 23 and 26 all have an inverted letter "F" in place of letter "E" in "DE".

No. 46 reads "TIMBBE" instead of "TIMBRE."*

In the 20 centavos, although I had more stamps of that denomination than any others, I was unable to find any errors, beyond an inverted "L" for "T" in "TIMBRE". I note though that two sizes of type were used indiscriminately in the dates.

In the One Peso I find stamps Nos. 4, 5, 17, 23 and 31 have no dot after "PESO."

No. 18 has inverted "L" in place of "T" in "TIMBRE."

No. 28 has comma after "PESO" in place of period.

No. 49 reads "PEEO" instead of "PESO."

I have never seen entire sheets of the 5 or 10 pesos, the latter appears to be extremely rare.

I find the following errors in the 5 pesos.

(a) No dot after "PESOS"

(b) Comma instead of period after "PESOS"

(c) Reads "TIMBBE" instead of "TIMBRE"

I find the inverted "L" for "T" on all values except 10 pesos, which makes it look as though a number of letter "L" had got mixed in with the letter "T".

Mr. Morley had an entire sheet of 10 pesos three or four years ago but could not detect any errors on it, except the stamp reading "TIMBRE" instead of "TIMBRE". It was somewhat heavily printed with the letters running into each other, and copies which appear to read "MEZ" for "DIEZ" are really due only to a badly printed "DI".

THE following diagrams show the arrangement of the surcharge "AT" on the postage stamps of the values of 1d., 3d., 6d., 1/- and 5/- and the fiscals 10/-, orange, £1, claret and £4, rosine, with varieties, on a pane of each of the postage stamps and a sheet of each of the fiscals recently examined by Mr. Morley.

No. II. Surcharge on 5/-.

* The variety "TIMBBE" for "TIMBRE" without inverted "L" for "T" also exists.—ED.

No. I is the arrangement on the 1d., purple, 3d. and 6d., blue and the 1/-, brown. The letters "AT" are 2 mms. apart and there are no varieties except that due to the thick "V" in "V·R·I·" which, of course, has raised stops.
For these values we have therefore

a. "AT" 2 mms, and "V·R·I·" with raised stops and value.
b. Variety with thick "V" in "V·R·I·"

No. II is the arrangement on the 5/-, green. On this value the "AT" is 3½ mms., apart, otherwise we have the two varieties "a" and "b" as on the lower values with four others viz:

c. Small "A" in "AT."
d. Stops after "V.R·I·" "mixed," the one after "V" being "level" and the other two raised.
e. Large stop after "I."
f. No stop after "V"

No. III shows the arrangement of the surcharge on the fiscals. The letters "AT" are 3½ mms apart. The same varieties a to f are found as on the 5/- stamps and in the same positions except as regards No. 45 of the 5/- pane and No. 24 of the fiscal sheet. It seems as if the same surcharging plate was used for the fiscals as for the 5/- postage stamps, the surcharges being more spaced to accommodate the larger size of the fiscals.

EDITORIAL.

THE next two or three meetings of the Fiscal Philatelic Society will be occupied by the discussion and compilation of a list of the fiscals of India. Of all the countries included within the British Empire the fiscals of India, owing to the numerous provisionals, the scarcity of many of them and the little known but somewhat numerous issues of the native states, are the most complex and will require the fullest energy which the Society can put into the work. The discussion of these stamps comes at a most opportune moment, for the Society will have the advantage of the presence at these meetings of two well known philatelists from that country, Messrs. Crofton and Wetherell. These gentlemen, who are both members of the Society, are "home" on leave. They have paid special attention to the fiscals of India and will be able by their knowledge of the stamps to materially lighten the labours of the Society and a useful and largely augumented list should be the result.

Our readers will be glad to hear that Mr. Wetherell will shortly commence in our own columns a series of valuable articles on the fiscals of Mysore. He has been engaged for several months in searching the official archives and the result will be a tolerably complete history of the various issues. The postage stamps of the Indian native states are largely neglected in this country, owing partly to their unfamiliarity of appearance, crudeness of production and general ugliness but chiefly to the fact that collectors resemble a flock of sheep in following one another. There is no doubt that for the bold and adventurous spirit who has succeeded in overcoming the initial difficulties these stamps would afford many hours of interesting study. This would appear to be so by the fact that they are not neglected in India where, of course, there are facilities for their study. Possibly the same fate will await the fiscals but on the other hand, unlike the general run, there are some of strikingly handsome appearance, as those of Baroda, Bhavnagar Durbar, Bhawulpore, and Morvee, states which are not represented in postage catalogues.

From all that we read and hear the philatelists of India are taking a very brisk interest in the fiscals of that country and we are glad to read in the Philatelic Journal of India that in the forthcoming handbook on the stamps of India by the Philatelic Society of India the fiscals are not going to be neglected. The mere fact that so important a body in the philatelic world as this Society contemplates the publication of a monograph on fiscals shows how well the fiscal cult is progressing and we shall most heartily welcome the realization of the project.

* * * * *

We have just received the information that the 1/-, King's head, has appeared with the overprint "BOARD OF EDUCATION". The stock of the Queen's head 1/- in the hands of the Board is, however, not yet quite exhausted, so that both are in use together at the present moment. Of the 30,000 copies of the Queen's head 1/- originally overprinted only a very small proportion (about 2000) has been actually issued the remainder having been destroyed.

* * * * *

Dr. F. Kalckhoff informs us that the meaning of the Greek inscription on the Samos stamps which we illustrated last month in our Fiscal Chronicle is "Inland Postal Adminstration". The question, therefore, arises as to whether they are really fiscals or local postage stamps—Can anyone inform us?

* * * * *

Most collectors pay some attention to obliterations as they are sometimes curious if not of special interest. We have lately come across quite a novelty in the shape of a 2 cent, carmine, U. S. of 1890 bearing a skull and cross bones. There is no other mark on the stamp and it does not seem to be intended for a joke. We should like to hear something more rē this curiosity.

* * * * *

There has been a good many fiscals in the London auctions lately and the day seems approaching when we shall have to devote a monthly column to prices realized. Our readers will perhaps be interested in the following prices realized at the sale of the Toppan collection of U. S. match and medicine stamps, by Wolsieffer in Chicago, taken from Mekeel's Stamp Collector.

BRITISH RAILWAY STAMPS.

By "K."

The North Staffordshire Railway.

THE early stamps of this company are of peculiar interest. Apart from their variety, their quaintly local design and bright colouring would make them a desirable addition to any collection of postage stamps, were it not for their unwieldy size, which, here, as in so many cases, operates against the more general collection of Railway Stamps. It appears that only 11 main varieties have so far been issued, which may be classified as follows.

Issue I. Large oblong, 56 x 84 mm. Imperf. Design, Staffordshire knot, with arms of Company in centre. The upper loop contains the name of railway, while below the knot is the curved inscription "prepaid" "newspaper parcel," in two lines.

1d., black on green
2d., ,, ,, vermilion
3d., ,, ,, grey lilac

Note. I have not yet seen the penny value, but there seems no reason to doubt its existence.

Issue II. Exactly similar to above, but bottom inscription in straight lines, and words "at owner's risk" added.

1d., black on green
2d., ,, ,, vermilion
3d., ,, ,, grey lilac
4d., ,, ,, lilac rose

Note. Most of the values of 1st and 2nd issues may be found on either surfaced or unsurfaced paper. There are many series of control numbers, which are to be found in the N. W. corner of each stamp. The first series of each value was numbered with plain numerals, but each succeeding series was distinguished by a letter of the alphabet, shown as a fraction under the control number. It appears probable that each series consisted of 10000 stamps. The letters, generally A. P. 66, often found in N. E. corner are merely the printers' contract number. With regard to controls, the highest series numbers I have yet seen of the first issue are

$$2d.\frac{235}{H,} \text{ and } 3d.\frac{9973}{B;}$$ while the lowest of the second issue are

$$1d.\frac{3580}{V,}\ 2d.\frac{165}{V,}\ 3d.\frac{7373}{D,} \text{ and } 4d.\ 7181,$$

I shall be glad to hear of any specimens that can throw a light on the intermediate series.

Issue III. Rect., 58 x 38 mm. Figure of value in conventional design, with name of railway above and usual inscription below. Black control number in white label at top of of stamp.

1d., rose, red. Perf. 10 x 11.
,, (A series.) ,, 10.
2d., rose, red. ,, 10, 11 x 12.
3d., ,, ,, ,, 10, 11.

TELEGRAPH CHRONICLE.

Ceylon. Our publisher has found the 40c., blue "provisional type" with a hitherto unrecorded date "1—12—00."

Colombia. Dr. F. Kalckhoff points out the existence of two types of the 10c, brown of 1891 (Type 152 in our publisher's Catalogue). One has a small shield in the Arms and the other a large one. We have the two types before us and find that the difference is so marked that further description is needless.

There are also 3 types of the 20c., brown of 1882 (Type 143) which differ in the shading in the space around the circle containing the Arms.

Ecuador. Dr. Kalckhoff calls our attention to the fact that the 40c., carmine and black, of 1901, offered for sale on last month's cover is as yet unchronicled.

Honduras. Of the set to which the values chronicled in March belong Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits the two following values.

1 cent., orange
2 ,, pale blue grey

India. Share Transfer. Mr. W. Corfield sends us a very interesting provisional viz. the 2as "Special Stamp" bright lilac, surcharged "SHARE TRANSFER" in thin block caps 2½ mm. high on upper margin, the word "SHARE" being on the left of the central circle and the word "TRANSFER" on the right.

Japan. Mr. Morley has found a block of the 10 sen, brick-red, of 1873, on native laid paper, showing a fine red line in the spaces between the stamps. If the rouletting should happen to fall on these lines, which it does not in the specimen before us, though possibly intended to do so, we should have to record the variety "rouletted on coloured lines".

Mexico. Renta Interior, 1902-03. We have seen one value only as yet of this series. It bears a head of Minerva to left, with name above and value below. The "Talon" has figure of value in centre with date on either side. Perf. 12.

2 cent., dark green

Mosquito Reserve. Nicaragua. We have been shown a circular stamp with a bow and arrows in centre surrounded by a wreath and letters "M. G." above, printed in black on blue wove paper. It is supposed to be an issue prior to the well known fiscals already recorded.

50 cent., black on blue

Peru. Our publisher notifies some hitherto unchronicled provisionals.

1876-77. 5 soles, green, surcharged "MOQUEGUA"
1883. 25c., carmine, of 1881-82, sur. "1883" and "PUNO" in block caps. in black.
5 sol., orange, of 1881-82, sur. "1883" in violet and PUNO in black block caps.
1883-84. 25c., violet, sur. "MOQUEGUA" in small black caps.

Ponce (Porto Rico). Cigarillos. A long thin band, bearing the U. S. Eagle on left and inscription "Consumo de Cigarillos— 1 centavo oro— Ponce, Porto Rico, U. S". Perf. 11½.

1 cent., yellow green.

Porto Rico. Sello 1898-99. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits specimens of the three highest values of the first and rare set for this year which have not as yet been recorded.

12 p. 50 c., brown
18 p. 75 c., vermilion
25 pesos, bronze green

The same gentleman also sends the 50 c. d. purple, of 1896-97, surcharged by a handstamp in three lines "HABILITADO—PARA- 1898 Y 99." in carmine and the 50 c. d. p. "1896 Y 97" of Cuba, in brown, with the same surcharge.

San Lorenzo. (Municip. Argent. Republic). M. Albert Baillière informs us that he possesses the 50c., Type 231 in our Supplement Catalogue, in dark blue and of the same type but lettered "centavos" without the word "fuertes"

20 cent., red
25 ,, brown

Also of Type 232, of which only the 25c., blue is catalogued the following additional values.

50 cent, orange
1 peso, brown
2 ,, green
5 ,, violet
10 ,, red

South Australia. We have received another value of the current set.

5/- pale red brown and blue green

Transvaal. We have not yet chronicled the two following values of the current set, although they are probably by this time known to most of our readers.

10/- ultramarine and black
£1 olive green and ,,

THE 10c. de p., is printed in dull green on the same paper, and is perforated 12. I have only received a block of six, but as in the case of the 2c., there appear to be two types, though the arrangement is different. The first, third and fifth of my block are of one type, the second, fourth and sixth of the other, but I cannot say if this arrangement holds good for the whole pane or not, neither do I know to which type the first stamp of the sheet belongs. Calling them arbitrarily Types I and II, the following points of distinction may be noted.

Type I. Short "I" and long "T" in "INTERNAL"; three strokes downwards, from right to left, against upper right portion of figure "O" in left circle; last letter of "PESO" square.

Type II. Letters of "INTERNAL" same length; one stroke downwards, from left to right, in left circle; last letter of "PESO" circular.

In Type I the left stroke of the "H" in "PHILIPPINE" is defective, in Type II the right stroke is incomplete. Curiously, in both types the first "I" of this word is composed of three dots.

I have not received the 1 c., and 5 c. de peso, and some months ago I was informed that these values had been discontinued.

With regard to the SELLO series I have a considerable number of the later issued varieties to add to the list, but no fresh information has reached me anent the first two issues. It is stated that the three highest values of the 1899 issue were never perforated, in which case Nos. 452-3-4 must be struck out of the catalogue. In their place can be inserted a later printing of the 25 c. de p., from the same plate, but in carmine rose on soft paper.

I am informed that the 1900 issue comprises all the values from 25 c., to 20 pesos, though I have only seen the 3 p., pink, in addition to those previously enumerated. The 40 c. de p., exists in blue on a wide meshed wove paper, slightly gummed, and in dark blue on a thick, very close wove paper, heavily gummed. The 2 pesos is found in grey-lilac and in brown, one of these—presumably the grey-lilac—is said to be an error.

It has previously been pointed out that the design was re-drawn for the 1900 issue, but I have only just noticed that this operation was repeated for the undated issue of 1901. The differences are, of course, very numerous, a specially noticeable one being that in the new type there are nine sets of rays issuing from the upper part of the shield instead of eight, so that the relative positions of the letters of the upper inscription are altered, the letter "I" of "UNITED" now falls to the left of a set, instead of to the right of one as in the 1900 type, or in the middle of one as was the case in 1899.

I have the following additions to make to the 1901 issue:

25 c. de p., mauve	50 c. de p., orange
25 ,, deep violet	50 ,, buff (very greasy)
40 ,, light blue	2 pesos, myrtle.

The 3p., and 5p., are said to exist.

Of the same type, embossed with letters "U S", I now possess the 2 pesos, reddish brown, and I am told that a few copies of this stamp escaped the embossing and were issued by mistake.

Either a forgery, or a still later drawing of the undated type has been made, which can be detected at once by the crude execution. There are plenty of differences to be found, but it will be sufficient to point out that the stars on the shield are much smaller and almost shapeless, and that there is a star right in the lower left-hand corner of the rectangle containing the eagle. I have seen the 1 peso, chocolate, on white wove paper, roughly perforated 12.

Specimens of the new States preparation have not yet reached me.

Before closing this article I must revert to the first instalment (Vol. III p. 90), and bring the CUSTOMS issues one step forward. The 50 cents stamp of this series produced in America reached me with the other novelties already described, and turned out to be an extremely close copy of the design illustrated last September. The details are clearer, the design being engraved, but the change in shade and the clear-cut perforation are the most conspicuous changes:

50 cents, dull blue green, on white wove, perf. 12.

EDITORIAL.

AN interesting discussion is opened in the April number of The Philatelic Journal of India on the effect that fiscal collecting is likely to have on the collection of postage stamps. The opener of the debate, Mr. A. J. H. Smith, is of opinion that the increasing costliness of postage stamps is the main cause which has led to the development of fiscal collecting and considers that the prices of postage stamps will fall in consequence, a gloomy prospect for those who have valuable collections which they may one day wish to realise. He rather irrelevantly blames the catalogues "with their misleading prices" for this state of affairs and proposes as a remedy the serious consideration of the preparation of a catalogue "by collectors for collectors", a subject on which we have heard a great deal lately. The editor of the P. J. I. rejoins that "To us it seems absurd to suppose that the "growing popularity of "fiscals" has the least "concern with the price of postage stamps or "that the growth of fiscal collecting is likely to "affect, or has in the least degree affected, the "price of postage stamps. "Fiscals" are col-"lected because of their intrinsic interest and "their popularity is no doubt enhanced by the "fact that good stamps are still to be had fairly "cheaply. But there is no hostility between "the two branches of collecting and the one in "no way interferes with the other."

The state of the case could hardly have been better put than in this reply. The great interest in fiscal philately is the fact that here is a new world to conquer and those who like pioneer work will find in it the fullest scope for their energies.

It should be remembered that in the early days of stamp collecting fiscals were placed on an equal footing with postage stamps, witness the spaces provided for the former in the most popular of albums of the period, viz. Lallier's, and it was only the accident of postage stamps being more easily obtainable that led to the temporary exclusion of fiscals. Now that a great deal is known about postage stamps and that what is to be found out, is mainly a task for the specialist, fiscals are once more coming into favour and to all appearance very rapidly so at the present moment. The last remark applies in particular to British Colonial fiscals—at least in this country—the studies of the Fiscal Society of these stamps during the season now closing having cleared up many difficulties regarding their classification and arrangement.

As regards the eternal question of the Catalogue "for collectors by collectors" we have no doubt that it would be perfectly possible to produce such a catalogue but it would have to be unpriced. The chief difficulties to be overcome are, first, that of expense and secondly to get together a suitable editorial committee willing to give their time and trouble with little or no return. But we do not see how any body of collectors is to price it satisfactorily. A dealer's catalogue shows what he has to sell and what price he wants for it. So far so good. It is the universal and only possible practice in trade. But what value would be the arbitrary prices affixed by collectors? It has been suggested that the difficulty might be overcome by the adoption of a table of relative rarities That is to say let the value of the commonest stamp be "1" then a stamp considered twice as rare would be "2" and so on. The unit would have to be the commonest stamp. Suppose the current 1d stamp of this country be taken as unit, what is the relative value of a Post Office Mauritius? We know not whether to laugh or cry at the prospect of a committee of a dozen zealous philatelists engaged in the endeavour to find a solution to this conundrum.

* * * * *

There is a prospect of an addition to the fiscal stamps of this country in the near future. We cull the following paragraph from the daily press. "At present stamps are not required on "legal or business documents in Guernsey, but "yesterday the States of Guernsey adopted a "Bill for stamp duty, insular stamps to be used, "subject to the sanction of the King in "Council". These stamps, if they appear, will no doubt be provided by overprinting the current unappropriated dies, as in the case of those used in the Isle of Man. Perhaps Jersey will follow suit but we hope we shall be spared sets for all the smaller islands of the group.

* * * * *

We are pleased to receive notification that a Fiscal Society is to be formed at Bath. Mr. J. W. Preater is to be Hon. Sec. We wish it all success. There is some talk of a Society to be formed in Paris, possibly as a section of the "Société Timbrologique"

* * * * *

The Herts Society will hold an exhibition of the stamps of Great Britain in the autumn and fiscals are to be included. The Society includes among its members several of our leading fiscalists and a good show should be obtained in this department. It will be difficult but practicable to fully represent the postage stamps of this country but we fear not possible to show the fiscals complete. Many rare English fiscals are lacking even in the best collections.

THE RAILWAY STAMPS OF VICTORIA.

By G. W. J. Potter.

ANOTHER issue was brought out in 1879, and after all these yearly changes, this presumably was found satisfactory as it continued in use for some years.

Type 4

Type 4 gives an excellent idea of this series, which may be described as the Board of Land and Works issue as it is the first set in which this authority makes its appearance. The general design is based largely upon that of the previous issue; the wording of the contract is somewhat amplified; the usual space is left for the sender's signature; but the whole is on a much larger scale.

The network background is also retained, and the III in Roman figures upon each side of the value can be clearly seen in the accompanying illustration. With one exception, to be noticed later on, the general design and the framework is alike in all stamps so far examined of this issue. In the top left-hand and bottom right-hand corner will be seen what are presumably plate letters; or possibly they may be reference marks to the plate, paper and ink to be used. The markings on such stamps as I have seen are as follows—

It must be distinctly understood that the figures and words of value shown above are in open skeleton characters and are formed by the interruption of the network background. This latter portion was probably printed first, and then the design, title, and wording of the stamp proper was overprinted on the network; the corner letters being in solid block capitals.

The two-shilling value has practically the same inscription, but it is arranged differently: thus we have "Victorian Railways" in Old English type and set in a curve instead of the straight line of the lower values. The words "Two Shillings" also appear in block capitals with the value in upright figures on each side; and the body of the wording is set in smaller type in a series of gradually diminishing lines. The network is retained, and the lettering—which is indistinct—appears to be

TWO SHILLINGS

The framework is totally different from the other issues, and the plate marks or letters (CF) are placed just above the two ends of "Victorian Railways". It will be noted that these letters letters are the same as those appearing on the 2d. of this issue, but the colour of the ink used in one case is mauve and in the other slate. The paper is white and throughout this series is of a crisp nature; the gum is very brittle, and unused specimens usually refuse to lie flat, except under great pressure.

A few years later, perhaps about 1886, some of the values were issued without the background, thus creating a sub-type. Those so far known are the 6d., rose on pale pink, and the 9d., brown on pale yellow.

In our Catalogue the 20c is described as "chesnut" and the 5 p as "carmine". These terms are scarcely correct, copies which Mr. Thompson has sent us being pale brown for the former stamp and red for the latter. The issue for 1900 is of the same type as that for 1899. We have the following values before us

20c., blue	2p., brown
50c., green	5p., mauve
1p., ochre	10p, vermilion

The 20, and 50c., and 10p are perf. 11½, the other values perf. 12 The set of double stamps "TALON—CONTROL" for 1901 which we chronicled in April last appears to be intended for some other purpose than for "Documents" generally for Mr. Thompson sends us similar sets for 1899 and 1900. Now we have partially catalogued in our Supplement Catalogue the Documentary series for 1899 and have added to it above and noticed some values of the set for 1900, so that these double stamps must be otherwise employed. The newly discoved set for 1899 has Arms in oval and "TALON" "CONTROL" on labels at the top of the stamp. The control no. is in black on a blank label below.

1c., pale blue	5p., lemon yellow
2c., dark green	10p., emerald green

2p., rosy red	50p., grey

The 5 and 20c., 1 and 50 pesos are perf. 12, the remaining values 11½.

The set for 1900 has the labels "TALON" "CONTROL" below the Arms and the date across the upper corners otherwise it is similar to the 1899 issue. The values and colours are the same as the 1901 set chronicled in April. There are no 3p and 100p. values in the set before us, but they doubtless exist. The 1c. and 10p. are perf. 12 and the remaining values 11½.

Notes on Indian Fiscals.

BY C. S. F. CROFTON.

INDIAN fiscals naturally fall into three divisions, those of British India proper, foreign territory temporarily administered by the Government of India e.g. the Berars, Travancore, Mysore, &c., and the Native States. Of these I propose to deal only with the first. The adhesive fiscals of British India consist of 186 different stamps of which a dozen show varieties of perforation and 20 show varieties of paper, and about 300 provisionals, nine-tenths of which were due to what I call the judicial chaos of 1870-72. This period of chaos is undoubtedly responsible for the ignorance and lack of interest which is exhibited in dealing with a country which in size, population, and political importance should have first claim on our attention: and it is essential for the study of Indian stamps that this should be as far as possible cleared up. Three main causes contributed to this resulting shoal of judicial provisionals, first the distance from India at which the permanent issues are made, secondly a change of policy, and thirdly economy in using up stocks of remainders. Shortly before 1870 it was decided to use adhesive stamps in High Courts and Small Cause Courts. Essay sets were made consisting of the lilac foreign papers surcharged High Court or Small Cause Court in large Egyptian letters but these do not seem to have been used. The well known lilac and red, and yellow brown and violet sets were approved of and provisionals were made by surcharging the Foreign paper stamps "High Court" in small black print and the Foreign Papers, Foreign Bills, and Receipt stamps "Small Cause Court, Calcutta" and a few "Small Cause Court, Madras." These provisionals were apparently intended for use pending the arrival of the permanent issues. No sooner however than the High Court and Small Cause Court stamps were ready, the Court Fees Act of 1st April, 1870 came and abolished them, substituting one issue of stamps for High Courts, Small Cause Court petitions and all other judicial fees. This issue was not ready until 1872, and what took place in the meantime was as follows. Three weeks after the Court Fees Act came into force High Courts and Small Cause Courts were allowed to go on using their own stamps till the Court Fee stamps arrived. The provisionals and the permanent issues were thus used concurrently as Court Fee Stamps for two years, in fact, I have never seen one that was not used within that period, hence we have the curious phenomena of almost the whole of the permanent issues being used posthumously, and the provisionals being doubly posthumous. Secondly a large number of the stock of superseded stamps, viz.: Petitions, High Court and Small Cause Court, were surcharged "Court Fees" to be used up mainly in up country Courts. Thirdly, other remainders such as the first issue Foreign Bills, Receipt, Bill or Draft stamps,

Notes on Indian Fiscals.

BY C. S. F. CROFTON.

Of these I propose to deal only with the first. The adhesive fiscals of British India consist of 186 different stamps of which a dozen show varieties of perforation and 20 show varieties of paper, and about 300 provisionals, nine-tenths of which were due to what I call the judicial chaos of 1870-72. Three main causes contributed to this resulting shoal of judicial provisionals, first the distance from India at which the permanent issues are made, secondly a change of policy, and thirdly economy in using up stocks of remainders. Shortly before 1870 it was decided to use adhesive stamps in High Courts and Small Cause Courts. These provisionals were apparently intended for use pending the arrival of the permanent issues. No sooner however than the High Court and Small Cause Court stamps were ready, the Court Fees Act of 1st April, 1870 came and abolished them, substituting one issue of stamps for High Courts, Small Cause Court petitions and all other judicial fees. This issue was not ready until 1872, and what took place in the meantime was as follows. Three weeks after the Court Fees Act came into force High Courts and Small Cause Courts were allowed to go on using their own stamps till the Court Fee stamps arrived. The provisionals and the permanent issues were thus used concurrently as Court Fee Stamps for two years, in fact, I have never seen one that was not used within that period, hence we have the curious phenomena of almost the whole of the permanent issues being used posthumously, and the provisionals being doubly posthumous. Secondly a large number of the stock of superseded stamps, viz.: Petitions, High Court and Small Cause Court, were surcharged "Court Fees" to be used up mainly in up country Courts. Thirdly, other remainders such as the first issue Foreign Bills, Receipt, Bill or Draft stamps,

Electric Telegraphs, 1 anna, lilac, Foreign Papers, and the Postage stamps surcharged "Service" in large type which were just about to be abandoned were worked off and finally as the demand for Court Fee stamps was enormous, parcels of other current stamps were called into request as they could be spared. After 1872 Indian fiscalism is plain sailing, and the few dubitable points will be referred to under the heading of the series in which they occur.

By far the best authority I have seen is Roussin's list of 1900 in which he incorporates Moens', but he is far from complete, includes many stamps that are discredited, and his dates are wildly inaccurate. Mr. Crosse in the P.J.I. adds a few varieties but must in some cases be taken with caution and does not seem to have any official information at his disposal. In the catalogue I have prepared I have inserted all the stamps mentioned by Roussin and Crosse and those in addition which are in Mr. Morley's and my own collections except where there is definite evidence of their non-authenticity. Among others I have excluded Court Fee stamps overprinted "H.C.O.S.," Foreign Papers overprinted with fresh or the same values and lilac Foreign Papers surcharged "High Court" and "Small Cause Court" in Egyptian.

COURT FEE STAMPS.

The first stamps used under the Court Fees Act were the current ordinary postage and "Petitions" without change of denomination, then a number of "Petitions" with manuscript surcharges, then hand surcharges and finally printed surcharges. These followed each other at intervals of a few weeks which are not worth recording. In 1872 the first permanent issue made its appearance in which it should be noted the 2a., 2r., 20r., and 200r. stamps are orange. In 1875 these were changed to grey and a marone 12a. stamp was issued. The 7r. stamp became rose about the same time. The 5r. stamp never changed its colour and the two 4a. stamps usually recorded are only two of the innumerable shades found in this issue. The 1a., 1r., 10r., 100r. should be the same colour as also the 4a., 4r., 40r., 400r. and the 7r., 70r., 700r. Somewhere between 1875 and 1883 these stamps up to the 20rs. value were surcharged "Service" in two types. The reason of this surcharge is not at present known but I may hazard a guess that it was intended to denote fees for the service of processes; for the receipts from this have always been carried to a separate head in judicial accounts. Whatever the reason it was soon abandoned.

CUSTOMS.

The Customs Stamp has probably long been out of issue otherwise it would have appeared with the 14 perforation and would have been commoner.

FOREIGN BILLS.

Both sets of the Foreign Bill Stamps were issued in 1861, but though the first had an official life of only a few months, large quantities were made and there are stocks in the stamp offices to this day. The issue is found with dates from 23rd Nov. 1860, to 2nd Feb. 1861. There are two dies A and B of the 4as. and 1r. but Die B of the 4rs., has not been seen. The paper varies from medium to thin and is white or azure. The plate has 5 rows of 8 stamps of which the two lower rows are upside down giving one row of tête bêches. The word "Foreign" measures either 19 or 21 mms. Of the two sheets I possess, in one the Foreigns are all wide, and in the other they are all narrow, except the last six stamps of the first row. The first stamps of the second issue were on thick surfaced paper, pinkish or bluish and the values below 1r. were also issued on thin unsurfaced, sometimes bluish paper, while in recent years, the 1r., 1½r., and the 3r. also appeared on thin unsurfaced paper. The colour of the stamps on surfaced paper has always been fairly constant, while the others began violet which gradually became red lilac. Mr. Crosse's further elaboration of shades is inaccurate for variety in shade depends on the date of issue and not on the value of the stamp.

FOREIGN PAPERS.

The two Foreign Paper issues are noted by Roussin 1867 and 1874, but I have seen the first used in 1866 and the second in 1871. The first are so rare that the interval should probably be considerably less than 5 years. Early impressions of the second issue are found on bluish paper. The 3 anna stamp differs from the other anna values in the Greek pattern at the right hand corners.

HIGH COURT.

The High Court Stamps consist of a set of provisionals and a permanent issue which I have noted already. The postage stamps surcharged "High Court" are thought to be departmental postals.

NOTARIAL.

There are seven varieties of notarial stamps made by surcharging one rupee Foreign bills. Of these one is still in use.

PETITION.

There are about the same number of mutilated Foreign Bill stamps surcharged "PETITION" in green. They were issued in 1866 along with similar postage provisionals and were superseded in 1872.

SHARE TRANSFER.

A provisional 2 anna Share Transfer stamp has lately come to light though it is by no means a new emission. The stamps of the well known permanent issue, perf. 14, do not seem to go above the 5r. value. Unperforate proofs are not uncommon.

The Postal notes, Postal Service, Receipt and Revenue stamps do not call for comment.

SMALL CAUSE COURT.

There is one general set of Small Cause Court Stamps but the Calcutta Court has four main sets of provisionals two each on the Foreign Bills and Foreign Papers. These are as I have stated a product of the chaos of 1870-72, but for some unknown reason Calcutta continues to use one each of these sets. The Madras Court is tainted to the extent of 3 or 4 provisionals of the above date, but so far none have been seen for the Courts of Bombay or Allababad.

Except the, to my mind, uninteresting Forest labels of 1853 this concludes the British Indian adhesive fiscals. The stamps at present in use are above reproach, the Foreign Bill and Share Transfers have been in use 40 years, Revenue 35 years, Foreign Papers 30 years, and Court Fee 20 years. Contracts of all kinds and high value Court Fees are paid by means of stamped papers. Some of the higher Foreign Bills have been recently surcharged with low values to make room for Kings Heads, which are to be unappropriated dies surcharged for different duties. There will be a separate set for Court Fees and a separate Revenue stamp.

EDITORIAL.

THE interesting "Notes on Indian Fiscals" by Mr. Crofton which we present to our readers this month throw a flood of light on many obscure points in connection with these stamps. In the first place we are glad to find that Indian collectors have taken to investigating so keenly the fiscal issues of that country and as we have been given to understand that many of the leading collectors there are hard at work on them by the time that the proposed handbook of the Philatelic Society of India is published we shall doubtless have a knowledge of these stamps as nearly as complete as that of the postal issues. Mr. Crofton's information respecting the numerous Court Fee provisionals explains the bewildering variety of them and collectors will note that the Foreign papers overprinted with the same value as the stamps or with a value on two stamps intended to be used together to make up that value, as for example, "five annas" on the 2a. and 3a., "nine annas" on the 3a. and 6a., "10 annas" on the 2a. and 8a. and so on, in fancy caps. and the Court Fee stamps with the overprint "H. C. O. S." will have to be deleted from the fiscal catalogues, as these overprints are only obliterations. Another noteworthy item is that the postage stamps overprinted "High Court Service" are on the same footing as those surcharged "Bengal Secretariat" etc. and in fact were employed for postal purposes only, so that the proper place for them is in the postage catalogues though as the "Bengal Secretariat" and such like overprints have been dropped, for the best of reasons, there is no likehood of these High Court stamps being listed. We are glad to say that Mr. Crofton has placed the results of his researches at the disposal of the Fiscal Philatelic Society and the valuable list of Indian Fiscals recently issued to the members, which will be duly published later in the Catalogue of Colonial Fiscals, incorporates the new facts which he has ascertained.

On looking through the lists representing the recent studies of the Fiscal Philatelic Society we should think that Transvaal revenues would form a very nice country for the fiscal specialist or if it is too early to talk of fiscal specialism, for the general collector. This country offers fiscally a wide field for discovery. It is noteworthy that the V. R. surcharges of the first British occupation are not the same in type as on the postage stamps and this would seem to be necessarily so, as the Revenue stamps are smaller than the postage. Up to quite recently the only surcharges known were in black but the 10/- stamp was shown to the Society with a red surcharge and it is highly probable that other values exist, as a copy of the £1 value was shown at the same meeting with an additional black surcharge over a red one. The collector of these stamps may also enjoy what may possibly be a fruitful hunt for narrow and wide roulettes and pin perfs. The stamps have been catalogued rouletted but no satisfactory copy was shown to the Society. Mr. Morley produced a copy of the 2/- pin perf., evidently the same perf. as is found on the postage stamps while Mr. Köhler showed another variety of unofficial perforation, the 5/-, perf. 12½. In the matter of perforations the students who delights in these will find plenty of scope in the last Boer issue. The Society has decided that the following five perforations must be recognized, viz. 14, 11½, 11½ x 14, 11 and 11½ x 11 and full sets of the issue have not yet been found with any one of them. We only note a few of the most striking points that occur to us and feel sure that any collector who takes up this country will find much pleasure therein.

A new State Revenue of the U. S. is likely to appear shortly for the State of New York. The Weekly Philatelic Era for May 16th, says "Dispatches from Albany announce that on "May 8th Governor Odell signed a bill allowing "druggists to sell liquor in quantities not "exceeding one pint without a physician's "certificate and requiring that a ten cent stamp "shall be affixed to each pint so sold. The "stamps to be provided by the Excise depart-"ment".

Mekeel's Weekly kindly informs us that the scull and crossbones cancellation to which we referred some months previously is a cancellation which was regularly employed for some considerable time at Columbus, Ohio.

Mekeel's Stamp Collector reports a "find" of $5 U. S. Proprietary stamps of 1871-75. The story goes that the fortunate discoverer offered them to a New York stamp dealer whose clerk, in the absence of the dealer, thought the stamps might be bought for $50—meaning $50 each. "The party having them for sale took this to "mean $50 for the lot and would probably "have closed the sale at that time, if the party "who had buying authority had been in the "store, but contented himself by buying a "catalogue and departing." The study of the catalogue, however, produced a surprising effect on the seller and the transaction was effected at quite another price.

THE RAILWAY STAMPS OF VICTORIA.

IN 1887 three additional values were brought out, ½d, 8d., and 10d., and these were of extremely uncommon and artistic designs. I am glad to be able to show readers of M.P.J. illustrations of these interesting stamps (Types 5, 6, 7), and I think that they will agree that these are of quite an original character and very pleasing appearance. Since the short-lived first issue no halfpenny value appears to have been included in any set during the ten years that had elapsed. The carriage of a single newspaper may have necessitated its introduction, but it is not specially distinguished for that service. The text, paper, perforation, and watermark remain as in previous issues.

Type 8

We now reach the most familiar of all the Victorian Railway stamps, that represented in Type 8. This series is of the same size and general design of its two predecessors, and is printed upon a similar paper; but the control of the lines is now vested in the Victorian Railways Commissioners instead of the Board of Land and Works. Several other changes are at once apparent: the youthful head of Queen Victoria instead of the Royal Arms occupies the place of honour; the figure of value is prominently placed in a square toward the lower left corner; and a neat border of Greek character surrounds the whole.

The general appearance of this issue may easily be gathered from an examination of Type 8.

It is usually supposed that this series was first issued in 1888, but I have a copy of the 1/-, blue on yellow, with the cancellation "Lethbridge 16 Dec. 87," and I have also seen the 6d., blue on rose, with date 3 days earlier; thus showing that it was in use at some places towards the end of 1887. These two stamps also enable the order of issue to be partly settled, as it will be seen by the following list that there are two types of the 6d., blue on rose and black on rose; and two types of the 1/-, blue on yellow and black on yellow, besides various shades of the latter. The 1d., 2d., 8d., 10d., 2/-, 3/-, also appear printed with inks of various colours, either upon white or tinted papers. I have placed all the values of this, the 6th issue, together in one list, and have assumed that the alterations have been made in the order that I have assigned to them, judging principally by the scarcity and condition of the various specimens, but this sequence can only be regarded as approximate. Some few copies are dated, but rarely definitely enough to form accurate conclusions.

Several alterations in the rates charged for parcels, etc., have been made at different times, thus accounting for the presence of the 5d., 8d., and 10d., values which were obsolete before December 1899. In that month 12 values of Freight Stamps—as they are officially styled—were on sale: ½d., 1d., 1½d., 2d., 3d., 6d., 9d., 1/-, 2/-, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/-; but no mention is made as to the various colours employed.

Although the annexed list of this series is fairly extensive, it is not suggested that it is complete, and it is probable that other varieties may be discovered. With the exception of the four stamps marked with an asterisk, I have seen all values that are now listed.

NEW ISSUES and DISCOVERIES.

We desire to make this feature of special value to collectors and would point out that it is one to which nearly all should be able to contribute at times. Subscribers resident abroad are requested to send early intimation of new issues. Whenever possible, all notes should be accompanied by the specimens referred to, of which every care will be taken, and which will be promptly returned, or an exchange tendered as may be requested. Communications should be addressed to the Editor.

Amazonas. (Brazil) M. Albert Baillière notifies the following additional value of the Commemorative issue of 1900.

5000 reis, orange and black.

Austria. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits the current 8 heller stamp with the border in pale bistre instead of blue. We do not know whether this is an error of colour or a new issue.

Bolivia. Tabacos. Mr A. E. Lawrence sends us a copy of 1 cent., brown of the first issue on buff paper.

Brazil. Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits various unchronicled stamps from this country.

Consumo. Foreign Manufactures. 1900. Type 275, with word "FUMO" omitted.

200 reis, blue, perf. 13.

Fumo. 1900. Type 270, with thin figures of value.

20 reis, ultramarine, perf. 5-7.

Sello. From specimens before us we are enabled to amend the description of Nos. 584—593 in our Supplement Catalogue.

584. 100 reis, black and pale rose, border blue
585. 200 reis, bark blue and pale rose, border dark blue
586. 300 reis, green and pale rose, border blue
587. 400 reis, red brown and pale rose, border red brown
588. 500 reis, rose and pale rose, no coloured border
589. 1000 reis, pale blue and pale rose, border pale blue
590. 2000 reis, blue lilac and pale rose, border blue
592. 4000 reis, orange and pale rose, border orange
593. 5000 reis, yellow green and pale rose, border pale yellow green

It is possible that the 500 reis, without border, which Mr. Lawrence sends is an error. Will some kind reader enlighten us?

Thesauro Nacional. 1895. 50,000 reis, rose-red, perf. 9.

British East Africa. Inland Revenue. Our publisher has found the 2½ annas, black on yellow, Postage stamp, surcharged as usual in violet.

Ceara. (Brazil.) Expediente. M. Albert Baillière possesses a value not catalogued in our Supplement Catalogue.

300 reis, green and red.

Cordoba. (Argent. Repub.) Mr. A. E. Lawrence submits the 2 cts. ftes. (Type 99) of 1888, lithographed, instead of engraved and states that he possesses the 4cts. ftes. in like condition.

Cuba. Arbitrios Municipales, Havana. Mr. A. E. Lawrence sends two provisionals, the first of which answers to the description of No. 1389 in the Spanish Catalogue except that the surcharge is in blue instead of "red" as described. It is doubtful whether the stamp exists with the surcharge in both colours, so that the "red" surcharge had better be deleted from the catalogue until confirmed. The second stamp is the "Policia" stamp of 1881, 12½ c. de peso, purple, surcharged as on the first (except the date) HABILITADO—ARBITRIOS—MUNICIPALES—1883 in four lines, in a single lined frame, in red and further surcharged "1884" in large black figures over the date "1883".

Fiji. Stamp Duty. Mr. Lawrence shows us the 3d., perf. 10, both with and without a stop after "3D" on the upper label.

General La Madrid. (Municip. Argent. Repub.) Mr. G. W. Pepper sends us a stamp with a portrait (presumably of the General) threequarters to right in oval, and figures of value in circles on either side below. Control no. in black on blank label at base. Perf. 11½.

50 cent., ultramarine.

Great Britain. Consular Service. The £1, lilac and black, wmk orbs, Queen's Head stamp, has been cut in half diagonally and used for a 10/- stamp, so Mr. S. A. Klagsbrun informs us. The stamps thus treated were in use at Lorenzo Marques from July 30th to the end of August, 1902. A copy before us, on a portion of the original document, bears the value "10/-" at the side on the paper and the date "8/8/02" on the half stamp in red ink.

Registration of Title, Ireland. Mr. O. Marsh has made the important discovery that the overprint on the current 1/-, King's head unappropriated die, has been re-set. The new surcharge is in rather larger sans-serif type, the letters closer together, and the whole surcharge is better spaced. In the new type the word "REGISTRATION" measures 15½ mm. as against 14 mm. in the old, "OF TITLE" 9½ mm instead of 10mm, while the word "IRELAND" is practically the same length, 12 mm., in both.

Guatemala. 1868. Mr. Pepper finds the ½ real printed in brown instead of red. An error?

1881-82. The following addition must be made to the list in Mr. Pepper's article in our May number.

1c., black.	No. 46 on the sheet is the error "TIMBBE"
	Nos. 30 and 44 have a wider space between "D" and "E" of "DE" than usual.
	No. 31 has a raised stop after "CENTAVOS"
5c., red	No. 46 is the error "TIMBBE"
	No. 31 has a raised stop after "CENTAVOS"
20c., violet.	No. 46 is the error "TIMBBE"
	No. 28 has a comma instead of a stop after "CENTAVOS"
	No. 31 has the stop dropped below the level of the word "CENTAVOS"

The Fiscals of Mysore.

BY E. W. WETHERELL.

MYSORE is the second largest of the Native States of the South of India and is the only one which has no representation in the postage stamp album; any deficiencies in this way are fully atoned for by the number and variety of its revenue stamps. Moens, so full and correct in almost all cases, is lamentably weak in description and enumeration of these revenues.

Fiscal stamps are used for Transfer duty, Foreign bills, Court Fee, Receipt Bill or Draft, Receipts and Notarial purposes.

I propose to consider the Transfer duty stamps first, as there is only one issue, and their history is clearer than the other series; but before commencing a detailed description it may be well to briefly describe the fiscal arrangement of the state. At the present time the stamps in use for various purposes are all manufactured at the Hozur Treasury Public Offices, Bangalore. All the stamps are now of native design and are printed from plates made up of single dies, thus all present Mysore stamps show types on the sheet. The receipt stamps are printed almost daily, and there is no recipe kept for the manufacture of the pigment. When one case of colour is used up another mixture is made, consequently stamps of the same printing vary in colour, and in consequence of the crude methods of applying the colour great variation is noticeable on one sheet. The paper is now European and is watermarked "Mysore Court Fees 1898" and all adhesive stamps are printed on this paper. There is only one perforating machine in the treasury, and this is a single line machine, gauging 10-10½, which periodically becomes so blunt that blind perforations are the rule rather than the exception. Double perforation and missed perforations are abundant and are not of the slightest interest, except in the case of entire sheets (two of which are known), which have entirely escaped perforation.

Records are kept of the numbers printed, but unfortunately the old records were burnt along with a great number of stamps in April 1874.

Stamps above 10 rupees are non-adhesive.

TRANSFER DUTY.

18th March, 1874. Printed in sheets of 30, six horizontal rows of five, 30 types to the sheet varying chiefly in the distance between the words "Transfer" and "stamp." The stamps are square with a central oval band lettered "TRANSFER STAMP" and the value. Across the centre of the oval is the name "MYSORE" in white letters on a coloured ground. Labels at the sides bear inscriptions in native characters. The groundwork of the stamp consists of wavy lines.

The colour is dull blue for all values and varies from light to dark, but as already mentioned these shades are of no importance and may be found on the same sheet. These stamps were designed and printed in Madras, and they are theoretically still in use but they have not been printed for many years—the majority have been destroyed but a few sheets were found in some of the district treasuries. Entire sheets are not now obtainable; I have the entire sheets of several values but only blocks of four or six of the other values.

The paper is thin and of very poor quality, white wove, and unwatermarked. The gum is thin, even and white, or thick, streaky and brown, and it does not extend to the margins of the sheets.

The corner stamps show signs of wear.

The values are :—

1, 2, 3, 4, 8, 12 annas.
1, 2, 3, 4, 5 rupees.

There are therefore 11 values multiplied by 30 types giving a total of 330 varieties.

The one anna value is the only one known imperforate.

In all cases the "O" of "Mysore" is considerably larger than the other letters.

With the exception of the 2, 4 and 8 annas none of these stamps can be considered common, and the one and three annas and the four and five rupee values are very rare.

Considering the date and amount of duty on each paper (4d.) these figures are astonishing.

Up to 1833, Advertisment duty was " 3/6 for every advertisment inserted in the " ' Gazette ', long or short, or in any newspaper or literary work published in parts." Reduced to 1/6 that year.

The preceding lists afford some information as to the enormous number of stamps required for the Newspaper Duty at this time, and as each plate only lasted about 6 to 8 months before a recut became necessary, it will be seen that a collector has a life-long task before him in attempting to obtain specimens from every die used. Before leaving the " Stamp Returns " the following is of interest, clipped from the " Kentish Observer " of May 28th, 1840, " speaking of frauds and the way in which quack tables of Newspaper circulation are got up, as an illustration of this quackery, read the following astounding declaration by the editor of the Maidstone Journal, " we, ourselves, were asked by our stationers just before the last returns were out, to know if, like other papers, we would order a large number, in order to STAND WELL IN THE RETURNS ? EDITORIAL.

AT one of the last few meetings of the Fiscal Philatelic Society, Mr. Morley showed a Hat Tax stamp "on a portion of the original lining". We have lately come across "an entire hat" with the stamp impressed on the lining in the crown. The hat in question is a military cocked hat of the early 19th. century. It is of black beaver, trimmed with black braid and has a glazed black calico cockade, in front of which rises a short plume of red and white feathers. The stamp inside is printed in white and mostly illegible except the words ". . . . exceeding eighteen shillings. Three shillings". This stamp is catalogued in Morley's Catalogue of Great Britain but on referring to the extract from the Act (34 Geo. III. c. 51) in the first number of the Fiscal Philatelist we were surprised to find that this value is not mentioned. We should be glad to be informed of the Act under which this stamp was created. There is another point which requires to be cleared up in connection with these stamps and that is were any used as adhesive stamps? The Act requires them to be "pasted or affixed" and so presumably they do exist as adhesives but the only copies we have seen, besides those printed on the lining of hats are the usual proofs or specimen copies on thick cartridge paper.

Mr. R. M. Kennedy writes "Referring to Mr. "Crofton's article on Indian Fiscals I wish to "say that I have several copies of the second "issue "Foreign Papers" used in 1868 and 1869 "whereas Mr. Crofton mentions 1871 as the "earliest date he has seen. These stamps are "on bluish paper"

Mr. G. W. Pepper has sent us specimens of some adhesive stamps issued last year by the National Department of Hygiene, Argentine Republic and chronicled by the Revista de la Sociedad Filatelica Argentina in October last. From this source we gather particulars of the issue both of the stamps and of a number of bands which accompany them and some notes as to the method of employment. The stamps are intended to pay duty on bottles of mineral waters, vinegar, syrups etc. and the sheets are somewhat curiously arranged with a number of "talons" as described in the tabular statement below. The use of these "talons" is best illustrated by an example. Suppose a merchant has a case of 24 bottles of mineral water in his warehouse or at the customs. Each bottle requires a stamp of 10 centavos. As only 5 cent. stamps are provided the contents of the case will require 48 stamps. Now it would be inconvenient or impossible to open the case to affix the stamps to each bottle, so a "talon" of "50 estampillas" is affixed to the case and 48 stamps are handed to the buyer. The remaining two stamps the vendor can utilize for other purposes.

The bands are divided into four compartments, the first contains the value "5 centavos" the second the Head of Mercury, the third the word "Importacion" (except where otherwise noted below) and the fourth "Ley No. 4039 Deciembre 23 de 1901.

The stamps bear the portrait of Dr. Guillermo Rawson (possibly an official of the Department of Hygiene) in oval above which, are the words "Ley 4039" and on a label below "Impuesto Sanatario, 5 centavos" They are engraved on steel by the South American Bank Note Co. and perf. 11½. To avoid forgery by photographic processes they are printed in navy blue on a paper surfaced with a brick-red or deep yellow green colour covered with a network of lines in the same colour.
